STONE & MURRAY'S CIRCUS, with a larger troupe of performers than they ever had before, will exhibit on Middle Street, to-day and evening. The street exhibition will take place this forenoon. M'lle Jeanette Ellsler will walk from the ground to the apex of the circus pavilion, and return on the tight rope at about noon. The principal attractions however, will be within the tent. An exchange says: The company includes all the necessary features, and the performances do not lag; the orchestra discovers a proper degree of animation, and the clowns are musical as well as comic. The Snow Brothers are doing the grotesque, and seem to be as popular as ever. M'lle Cooke has achieved a wide celebrity in Europe as the greatest Equestrienne of the age. Since her first appearance in America, her astonishing feats of equitation have excited universal praise. John Henry Cooke is the Champion Equestrian, without exception the best general performer who has ever lived, and is justly distinguished as the embodiment of skill, intrepidity and manly grace, whether in his marvelous feats upon a single horse or in his magnificent act upon four or six bare-back horses.

Den Stone, the comique clown and leaper, and the Snow brothers will be remembered as vaulters of no small capacity. The Stone & Murray company is composed of many of the best artists travelling and they always give a nice entertainment. For the convenience of the public, tickets may be had at Dr. Wm. R. Preston's. The afternoon performance will commence at 2 o'clock and the evening performance at quarter before 8.

Communication.

LAW AND MORALS.—In the Chronicle of June 6th inst., is the following remark—"A temperance friend wishes to know why all the rum-shops and houses of ill-fame in the city are not closed? Simply because the people do not desire it—that's the only reason." The expression, the people, implies that the people generally of this city are not in favor of closing the houses referred to. The charge, if true without any qualification, is a very serious one, and a stigma upon the moral reputation of the people.

Mr. Jefferson said that "great cities were great sores." The remark may be applicable to the lowest grade in small cities. It is not denied that Portsmouth has long been noted for dissipation. Too much time and money are wasted for idle amusements, which not only profit nothing, but have an injurious tendency. While we would defend the moral character of a majority, we trust a large majority of our citizens, there are some property-holders, who are the owners of houses of evil fame. Such owners ought to be prosecuted and indicted, according to law, for upholding such nuisances for pecuniary gain. They are as guilty in corrupting the morals of youth as the abandoned inmates of their house.

Such dens of prostitution should be broken up, as a hundred and fifty of them were recently in the city of Baltimore. The city of Boston has also more recently set a good example, and transported a large portion of the abandoned females, to the places whence they came. Every respectable person of this city, who values his character, or reputation, would be in favor of closing up such houses of ill fame, as well as the disorderly, noisy rum-holes. In the interior of this State, were the law insufficient for the purpose, the axe would be applied, as it has been in some instances.

That war is a corrupter in its tendency, of the morals of any nation, is a Historic fact. If in this city any of its evil effects are felt, let all who value the character of our city, unite their efforts to give it a prominent rank with any other city of equal population. A CITIZEN.

[Note.—We willingly give place to a citizen's article, but do not see that we can change our opinion or alter our statement. The people are certainly the government, in this country; and what they will not allow, cannot long be done. If there should be a madman flinging about fire, a villain spreading a contagious disease or a fiend dealing death direct in any shape on the public, —these enemies to the city's welfare would soon be abated. So would the brothels and rum-holes, if the prevailing sentiment was not in favor of them. Say what you will—officers cannot enforce laws not sustained by public sentiment.—Eds.]

☞ Capt. Albert T. Salter left this city on Tuesday morning, for Spain, to take command of the Ship Simla, owned by Messrs. Tredick & Son, Capt. Porter having requested to be relieved from the command.

THE RASCAL CAUGHT. — We' take pleasure in announcing that the scoundrel who committed the brutal assault on Miss Goodwin of York on Sunday, was caught near Beach Ridge in that town, on Tuesday, by Mr. John A. Sweat. He had disguised himself as much as possible, by sawing off his whiskers with a knife, changing his hat, and throwing away his overalls. He has been concealed in the woods since Sunday forenoon, and was captured by Mr. Sweat the first time he ventured out. Deputy Sheriff Geo. G. Tompson and Constable Geo. F. Plaisted, of York, took the scamp into custody from Mr. Sweat's charge; and he was brought up on Tuesday afternoon before Trial Justice Geo. W. S. Putnam, for examination. Miss Goodwin identified him as the man who assaulted her. He is a villainous-looking fellow, and calls himself a sailor. He gives Daniel Webster as his name, saying that he calls himself after the old packet ship Daniel Webster, in which he once sailed.

WILL THE COMING WOMAN CHEW? These summer days afford fine opportunties for ladies, and some who are not ladies, to show their new dresses and other charms to an admiring public. In some cases distance lends enchantment; and a stunning regalia shows off to advantage, although on closer examination the wearers prove to be representatives of the demi monde. A few of these adorn the sidewalks, reminding passers-by of Solomon's description of the lily, which they don't resemble, however, by any manner of means. It is expected that these individuals may chew, drink and swear to their hearts' content, but nothing is more repulsive than to see a fine looking young lady from the country, regardless of etiquette or an admiring public, swinging down Market Street, with jaws distended by a large lump of sticky spruce or some other fodder. A youth of twenty saw one of these innocent beings hard at work in the above mentioned occupation, last week, and seeking an introduction was horrified at his discovery; his feelings underwent a change and he spake to himself in words of chagrin and regret, thuswise:

She does not smoke, she does not drink
Beer, porter, ale or rum;
But, oh! she has one serious fault—
That lovely girl chews gum.

New Hampshire Legislature.

On Tuesday, Hon. AARON H. CRAGIN was re-elected U. S. Senator. The vote in the House stood as follows:—Whole number, 310. Necessary for a choice 156. John Bedel had 2; Sam'l Flint, Labor Reform, had 14; Harry Bingham, Democrat, had 110; Aaron H. Cragin, Republican, had 184. In the Senate the vote stood 1 for Harry Bingham, and 11 for Aaron H. Cragin. The members voted by pronouncing the name of their candidates.

By invitation of the President, Hon. Horton D. Walker, the Legislature visited the Reform School at Manchester, in the afternoon, going and returning on a special train.

It was voted to elect State Officers, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

On Middle Street,

Wednesday, June 15th.

The opulent resources of this

Superb Centralization of Arcanic Talen

To delight and amuse are of a character quite new in this country. The Exhibition this season will be enriched and adorned by Performers inimitable in their special roles; and the splendor of the Entertainments will be enhanced by every accessory requisite to make them elegant in style and finish, and magnificent in their general character.

The great variety of celebrated Performers in the Troupe is potent to sustain the elevated standard of excellence acquired by this popular Circus.

A perusal of the annexed list of famous actors will serve as palpable evidences to confirm the promise, that the attained eminence and conspicuous superiority of Stone & Murray's Circus will be amply maintained this Season.

Behold the attractions:

Exhibitions will be given Afternoon and Night.

Commencing at 2 and 7½ o'clock. Doors open one hour previous.

Admission 50 cents. Children under 10 years, 25 cents.

THE MAIDEN OF PASSAMAQUODDY.

BY JAMES DE MILLE.

Sweet maiden of Passamaquoddy,
Shall we seek for companion of souls
Where the deep Mississipi meanders,
Or the distant Saskatchewan rolls?

Oh, no,—for in Maine I will find thee,
A sweetly sequestrated nook,
Where the fascinating Skoodoowabskookis
Conjoins with the Skoodoowabskook.

There wander two beautiful rivers,
With many a winding and crook;
The one is the Skoodoowabskookis,
When joining the Skoodoowabskook,

Ah, sweetest of haunts! tho' unmentioned
In Geography, Atlas, or Book,
How fair is the Skoodoowabskookis,
When joining the Skoodoowabskook!

Our cot shall be close by the waters,
Within that sequestrated nook—
Reflected in Skoodoowabskookis
And mirrored in Skoodoowabskook!

You shall sleep to the music of leaflets
By zephyrs in wantonness shook,
And dream of the Skoodoowabskookis,
And, perhaps, of the Skoodoowabskook!

Let others sing loudly of Saco,
Of Quoddy, and Tattamaguoche,
Of Kennebeccasis, and Quaco,
Of Merigonishe, and Buctouche,

Or Nashwaak, and Magaguadivique,
Or Memmerimammericook,—
There's none like the Skoodoowabskookis,
Excepting the Skoodoowabskook.

THE CURRANT-WORM. — A correspondent of the Plattsburg American gives his method of fighting these pests, in which he seems to have been successful:

"The miller that deposits the egg is about the size of the common bee miller, with broader wings, and of a dark brown color. They deposit their eggs about the 10th to the 15th of June, on the under side of the leaves, generally on the new suckers, and close to the ground. The eggs are white and glued to the stem and branch stems of the leaf, in a row, the ends nearly touching—there being sometimes one hundred on a single leaf. They hatch in three or four days, the young worm crawling from the stem to the thin part of the leaf, where it at once begins its work of devastation, being invariably blessed with a ravenous appetite.

The first indications of their presence will be seen in the leaf in which they were hatched, being pierced with holes about the size of a pin head, each worm making a separate hole. They continue to gnaw round and round until the several holes meet, and the leaf is entirely consumed, when they all emigrate in a body to the leaf above, which soon disappears, and so on, leaving nothing but the withered stems behind them. After following up to the top of the sprout they started on, they then separate, and go off on different branches of the bush. They live about twenty-five or thirty days on the bush, when they fall to the ground, change to the chrysalis form, work themselves into the ground, and there remain until about the first of next June, when they reappear in the form of a perfect miller, to repeat the operation of the year before.

My method of fighting these plagues is as follows: Keep close watch of the bushes after they are fully leaved out, examining very closely the lower leaves on the new shoots, and as soon as you see one that is perforated with small holes, pick it and drop it into an old pail, and so go over all the bushes carefully every other day, so long as the worms continue to hatch, which will be about two or three weeks, and burning the leaves plucked. Be sure and pick, each time going over the bush, every leaf gnawed by the worms. I have about seventy-five as fine bushes as you often see, while most of the currant bushes in this vicinity are entirely destroyed. I have had to be vigilant and persevering, but I have conquered so far, which is some satisfaction, and have all the nice currants I want to use."

MR. GILBERT HORNEY, whose death we mentioned last week, was born in Portsmouth Dec. 17, 1792, and was 67 years old at the time of his death. Mr. H. was a defender of his country in the last war with England, and was captured from an American Privateer and carried to England and remained nine months in the old Dartmoor prison. At the close of the war he was exchanged, and returned to Portsmouth, where after remaining a short time, he moved to Meredith, and engaged in trade. He traded in Alton, and also in Farmington, a few years, after which he moved to Rochester, where he has since resided.

He was appointed Post Master under the administration of President Taylor and retained the office four years, or until the success of the Democratic party and the inauguration of Franklin Pierce. As a business man he was remarkably correct, and had a reputation for uprightness with his fellow-men. He possessed a fund of knowledge, as regarded the politics, history and condition of the country, from his youth to the present time probably equal to that of any other man in the country. His head was a perfect cyclopedia of political history. He was a strong believer in the principles of Webster and Clay and was as vehement in his denunciations of the Democratic party as he was zealous in the advocacy of his own party principles. His death was caused by heart disease. — Rochester Courier.

—The "Veteran Observer" of the New York Times, in a spirited article on political degeneracy says, "I defy any man from the facts of history to show me that there is any more degeneracy in politics at this time than there was in the days of Jefferson and Burr."

A HOME-MADE FERTILIZER.—Is it not a little strange that farmers will buy the costly patent manures, when they have on their own farms all the elements necessary for the manufacture of an article equal, if not superior, to most of phosphates and poudrettes in the market? Why is it that they have not engaged more freely in the home manufacture of fertilizers? Is it because they have given the subject no thought, or is it because they do not know how to do it? If the latter, I propose to give what light and knowledge my own practice may afford on the subject.

As soon as the busy season of haying is over, I go to a muck swamp and haul up two or three cords of the best muck I can procure; put it in some convenient place on the ground, or on a platform made for the purpose. Then I rake up all the loose chips and dooryard dirt, with that around and inside the buildings. Now collect all the brush and other rubbish from every part of the farm, pile it all in one heap and burn it. The muck, meanwhile, should be dug over in the sun until it is quite dry. Then procure a dozen good molasses hogsheads, which may be bought at the grocery stores for from fifty cents to a dollar each; or if these are not procurable, barrels will answer. Ashes from the burnt rubbish and elsewhere, are thoroughly mixed with this dry muck. It is then shoveled into the casks, which should always be kept under cover; mixing with it, meanwhile, all the vegetable and animal refuse on the place; all the dead animals, from a toad, snake or chicken, to a horse; all the waste blood, entrails, hair, feathers, &c., of animals slaughtered. At the same time save all the urine from the house and stables; all the soap suds and sink water; and dip up all the dark looking liquid that may be found standing in puddles in the low places of an uneven cow-yard every time it rains, and completely saturate the compost in the casks.

The next spring when you plant put from a pint to two quarts of this fertilizer in a hill, according to its strength, and you will not fail to raise such crops as you never raised before. — N. E. Farmer.

HOGS IN ORCHARDS.—I have thought for several years that a barn cellar reeking with offensive gases was not the best place to keep hogs through the hot weather. I have made pens under shady apple trees, and have enjoyed seeing my swine on fresh earth and breathing pure air.

Last summer I went a step further, and inclosed half an acre of apple orchard. My object was two-fold. I wanted the range and exercise for the swine, and I longed to see them root up and extirpate the witch grass, which I could not kill by any common means.

One old sachem among the four turned in soon tried his tusks upon the tender bark of one of the apple trees. I put on coal tar. This the hogs rubbed off upon their bodies, which made them look unsightly. So I washed all the trees exposed with whitewash, and had no more trouble.

It would have done you good to see the hogs root over that half-acre. They did it again and again. They found worms and roots in the soil, and seemed to enjoy their explorations marvellously. The lot was kept clean of every green thing all summer, on the surface, while the trees put on the deepest green and made wood rapidly. A part of the orchard was Hubbardston Nonesuch trees. These bore. I was proud of the apples. They were the finest I ever saw—large and high-colored.

After the apples began to fall considerably, I shut the hogs into a smaller space. This they rooted over often and deep, so I was not obliged to cart in any earth all summer to keep the manure covered. They only required wood shavings, which I believe in supplying copiously, not to produce fire-fang, but to absorb liquids and provide a comfortable bed.

My experiment was so satisfactory that I have prepared materials to inclose a larger lot the coming season. If such treatment won't wake up all the apple trees, they are past hope.

Call next summer, if you can, and see ploughing done without horses.—WM. D. BROWN, in N. E. Farmer.

DECINE OF AMERICAN COMMERCE.—Much has recently been published about the decline of our Commerce, and it is proposed in Congress to exempt from duties all materials imported, required for Shipbuilding. To the latter there may not be much objection, except for the materials manufactured, or which can be manufactured in our own country. We do not believe in the decline of our commerce, which is co-extensive with all the commercial nations of the earth. Many of our fishing vessels were destroyed during the late war, but these had nothing to do with foreign commerce. It is true that a large number of our mercantile marine were purchased and converted into war vessels, during the rebellion. Prior to that period no other nation had a more efficient mercantile marine. If more are now wanted, we have scores of enterprising shipbuilders in various parts of the country, ever ready to build ships, as heretofore, at a fair profit. But if more are needed, our government should convert many of our war-steamers into merchantmen, for we have no use for a large number of them.

This position was ably supported on the floor of Congress, by one well acquainted with the subject. There is now a vast national expenditure for the support of the Navy and idle naval officers with very large salaries. This increases the taxes on the people. There is no prospect of a future war with any other country, certainly not during the present generation, and we trust never more; for no other nation would venture to declare war against us, while we adhere to the principles of justice and fraternal feelings towards all nations.

By reducing the Navy one half, and as a consequence, the number of marines and naval officers, who could be employed in merchantmen, the nation would save about one half the annual expense, and to that amount the internal taxes would be reduced. It was reported to Congress that the United States Navy, which consisted of 8500 men, cost last year $28,203,671; while the estimate for the British Navy, which consisted of 67,000 men, was only $49,000,000. Every vessel in the United States Navy costs on an average annually $138,944, and in the British Navy $69,000. To keep the American Navy afloat, and keep it repaired, costs $600 a man, while the British Navy costs but $60 a man.

By converting part of our war-steamers into merchantmen, American vessels could then export all our surplus products, although there may be enough already for that purpose. But while English merchantmen crowd our markets with foreign merchandise, they will have a return cargo of our products. By the low wages of their mariners they can convey our exports to foreign markets at a cheaper rate than our vessels can. Besides, the cotton growers give a preference to English vessels. Is not this a solution of the decline of American Commerce? PRO PATRIA.

—A pianoforte duel has occurred at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. The challenge was offered by a Mr. Matheson and accepted by a Mr. Rooney. Gottschalk's "Last Hope" was played by Mr. Matheson in six minutes and a half, while Mr. Rooney came through it in five minutes and a half. The umpires on this occasion were ladies, and their decision was quite in accordance with the spirit of the contest. They awarded the laurels to Mr. Rooney, "not because Mr. Matheson proved himself less skillful, but because Mr. Rooney displayed superior skill." This strikes us as about the richest Hibernicism of the present century.

—Music is to be introduced as a curative treatment for insanity, hypochondriasis, and other chronic diseases of the mind, in some of the great asylums of Paris. Several of the greatest physicians have stated that, in their opinion, music, if well and skillfully applied, will cure, or at least moderate, or check insanity and kindred diseases.

—A major in the United States Army was crossing from England in one of the Cunard steamers, when one afternoon a band on deck played "Yankee Doodle." A gruff Englishman who stood by inquired whether that was the tune the old cow died of. "Not at all" retorted the major, "that is the tune the old Bull died of!"

THE OLD RELIABLE NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE. TO BE FOUND IN EVERY VILLAGE AND TOWN IN NEW ENGLAND, IS DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR. A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC. DODD'S NERVINE is not a new medicine, but has been before the public for the last fifteen years. Is compounded from the best and purest drugs. Contains no OPIUM, STRYCHNINE or MERCURY in any form, and is expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of NERVOUS DISEASES, &c., &c.

Coughs,	Neuralgia,	Female Weaknesses,
Colds,	Headache,	Fainting Fits,
Fevers,	Convulsions,	Palpitation,
Agues,	Sleeplessness,	Bad Dreams,
Biliousness,	Dyspepsia,	Dizziness,
Constipation,	Liver Complaint,	Children's Troubles
Diarrhœa,	Consumption,	&c., &c., &c.

DODD'S NERVINE Is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that good sleep is better than all medicines. And all folks that CAN'T SLEEP NIGHTS, Should use this truly wonderful medicine. DODD'S NERVINE Is one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS. For Whooping Cough. DODD'S NERVINE is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in Measles, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. For the disease which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no OPIUM in any form. LOOK OUT FOR COLDS. It is proverbial that people treat a cold (and the generally accompanying cough) as something that will cure itself; but neglect is serious and sometimes fatal. The game of DODD'S NERVINE in the relief of colds is established. Use this standard remedy, and so far abstain from liquids of all kinds as to keep somewhat thirsty for a few days, and the worst cold will soon be gone. DODD'S NERVINE Is a PURE TONIC—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE—gives increased energy to the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, and other viscera—and supplies FRESH LIFE for the work that is constantly taking place. It operates soothingly—is as pleasant to take as any wine, and with SLEEPLESS AND DEPRESSED NERVOUS, which it promotes, restores the afflicted to sound health of body and quietness of mind. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine, so often used for nervous complaints, and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative power. my17 4w For Sale by all Druggists. Price $1.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD. The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of this country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses. Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack or enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and without any visible, or even favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms; either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of this form of the SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems. Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicide will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or White, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaint, Torpidity Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial. PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass., Practical and Analytical Chemists. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE. WM. R. PRESTON, Agent for Portsmouth. fe2eod4mdaw

Constantine Delmonico, one of the famous New York restaurant keepers, committed suicide Saturday by shooting himself, through grief at the death of his wife.

Frederick Fitzold, a bank clerk, recently disappeared from Union, N. J., and parties have been searching for his dead body. It now turns out that he is a defaulter, and they are not looking for his dead body any longer.

B. F. Goss of Vergennes, Vt., has a lemon tree which has produced excellent fruit.

The striking Crispins at North Brookfield, Mass., have gone to work again, after losing $2000.

Some bold fellow lately vented his malice against a clergyman in Newton, Conn., by making a deadly assault on his vegetable garden, and pulling up all his cabbages.

William Douglas, the American yacht Sappho, declines to enter his yacht as one of the contestants for the Prince of Wale's cup, and the Prince announces that unless an American yacht is entered in the race, he will withdraw the prize. Mr. James G. Bennett, Jr., is expected to enter the Dauntless, in order that the race may not be prevented by default.

Another account of the landing of the George B. Upton's cargo at Punta Brava, Cuba, states that the Spaniards lost 10 killed in the first attack. A heavy force afterwards attacked the Cuban rear guard, and killed two and captured three, with a great quantity of stores which were taken to Nuevitas.

New Hampshire Items.

A fellow named Flanders, 18 years old, from Danbury, on the road to Wilmot Flat, met a daughter of Joseph Chase of Wilmot, 8 years old, returning from school on Monday afternoon, and forced her into the bushes by the side of the road, about thirty rods from her mother's house. The alarm was given by other children, and the mother pursued him through a field to the river, where he took to the water, but being unable to cross, was captured and is now in jail. He failed to accomplish his villainous design.

The dwelling of Joshua Hanscomb, of Campton, was burnt on Saturday, with its contents. Insured.

The only issue of patents to citizens of this State for the week ending June 7, were to L. W. Felt of Keene, for spinning machine, and a re-issue to R. F. Smith of Nashua, for device for shearing and clipping horses and other animals.

The reunion of the 8th N. H. Volunteers, who led the forlorn hope at Port Hudson, took place in Nashua, Tuesday. Col. D. W. King delivered an address, and there was a clam-chowder in the woods.

A wheel weighing 14,300 lbs. has lately been cast at the Swamscot Foundry, South Newmarket.

The New Hampshire Homeopathic Medical Society, was in session at Concord, Tuesday.

A freight train got off the track near Hooksett Bridge, Monday evening. 7 cars were thrown off the iron, and two of them deeply embedded in the ground. The track was torn up for about four rods. The passengers arrived at Concord two hours late. The track was relaid about midnight.

Stillman Eaton, employed in a card factory at Hillsborough, received a serious injury on Monday, by a handle striking him in the face, near his only eye, (the other having been lost some time ago) the sight of which was somewhat injured, but it is hoped that no permanent injury will result.

In Concord lately, the police had occasion to arrest an ex-saloon keeper, who was in a beastly state of intoxication, and so filthy that they were at a loss how to convey him to the lobby. At last he was rolled on a drag, and thus dragged to the lobby, where he was rolled in for the night.

Alfred Robb, of Stoddard, while engaged in peeling bark in the woods, was instantly killed by a tree falling upon him, Monday forenoon, the 13. He was chopping down a hemlock tree which lodged on a spruce. This he also cut so as to fall, and got out of the way of it, as he evidently supposed, against a rock; but the tree in falling struck another dead tree, which fell across his chest and killed him instantly.

REPUBLICAN LEGISLATIVE CAUCUS.—At the Republican Caucus for the nomination of State officers, at Concord, Wednesday evening, for State Printer the balloting was as follows: whole number of votes cast 170; necessary for a choice 86; Moore 85, McFarland 58, Miller 27. Second ballot: whole number of votes cast 180; necessary for a choice 91; Moore 118, McFarland 46, Miller 16; and Mr. Moore received the nomination.

Col. Peter Sanborn was unanimously re-nominated as candidate for State Treasurer.

For Secretary of State 176 votes were thrown; necessary for a choice 89; Nathan W. Gove of Concord 103, Lyman of Exeter (the present incumbent) 55, Stearns of Rindge 16, Scattering 2; and Mr. Gove is to be elected.

RICHARDSON'S LITTLE WASHER!

PRICE $5.00.

The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!

The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bedquilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.

More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.

MR. J. J. HATLINGER.

Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.

MR. HATLINGER.

Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success. MRS. L. E. MARTIN.

MR. HATLINGER.

Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.

J. J. HATLINGER, Sole Agent for Portsmouth.

HEADQUARTERS AT PORTSMOUTH:—SWEETSER & CLARK'S, 46 Market Street; OXFORD & JOHNSON'S, 78 State St. and 119 Fore and Middle Street; and D. H. MONTGOMERY'S Music Store, Daniel St., where machines can be seen, and orders left for the Agent to call at houses to demonstrate its qualities. je16tf

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Three Requisites of Health.

If all the sickly people in the world were to take to their beds, and demand medical treatment, their would not be doctors enough to attend them nor a sufficient number of the robust to nurse them. Three conditions are absolutely essential to health, viz; a good appetite, easy digestion, and the ability to sleep soundly. Seven-eighths of the many thousands who suffer from indigestion, yet do not labor under serious disease, complain that they "can't eat," that their stomachs are "out of order," or that they "don't sleep well." For this class of ailments few persons think of calling in a physician. Nor it is necessary. Inasmuch as a course of Hostetter's Bitters, will certainly relieve the derangements of the stomach, the liver, and the nervous system, from which want of appetite, indigestion and sleeplessness arise.

This excellent vegetable tonic and corrective is also a delightful anodyne. Insomnia (or incapacity to sleep) which has resisted all the ordinary remedies, will yield readily to a dose of this pleasant sedative taken just before retiring to rest. In ordinary medical practice it is usual to give a stomachic, an aperient, an invigorant, a soporific or an antiseptic, as the case for the time being may seem more particularly to require; but in this grand restorative all those medicinal properties, and many others are blended in due proportion. Thus, the digestive is stimulated, while the bowels are regulated, the liver toned, the strength recruited, the nerves calmed, the fluids purified and the circulation equalized.

It is believed that there is no other restorative and regulating medicine in the world which acts so beneficially and agreeably upon all the assimilating and secretive organs at the same time, and to all who lack the three fundamental requisites of health and enjoyment, a vigorous appetite, sound digestion and refreshing sleep, it is confidently recommended as a specific.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WCOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a nut. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus preventing in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 27 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; hundreds of cases have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

a PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. TRY IT. je13tjy12

☞ The Street Sprinkler made a start Wednesday. We felt cooler all day from merely seeing it pass our office in the morning.

☞ We observe among the many visitors coming north for the heated term, one of Philadelphia's oldest and most respected merchants, Mr. John B. Penn,—on a visit to his son-in-law, Major Lewis, Commandant of marines at this Naval station.

☞ Mr. J. J. Hatlinger advertises the "Little Washer," a machine that he is Portsmouth Agent for, at $5 only—the cheapest washing machine in the market, no doubt. Mr. H. calls at the homes of persons who desire to see the working of the machine, and gives a practical demonstration of its usefulness. He has high testimonials from several residents in the city, to the value of the Washer.

☞ Messrs. Hennessey & Grogan (successors to Pease & Conner,) showed that they know how to do things about right, by sending in "pop" to the Chronicle officials, Wednesday. They also know how to make good beer, and do it; such was the verdict of all hands; the "imp" even going so far as to say that he'd pray for them. If their beer only has such an effect, they may well be proud of it—nothing else could ever manage it, we fear.

STANDARD NOVELISTS.—The present age is called the Age of Prose Romance in Literature; some think that it is gradually changing into the Period of History and Biography, but there is no doubt that the great novelists have still the ear of the great public. Three writers are advertised in our columns by H. O. Houghton & Co., whose works are very distinct: Anderson the Dane, Dickens the Englishman, and Cooper the American; they will all dwell hospitably under any one roof, and the editions offered are cheap and durable.

☞ The staunch little steamer Appledore, having completed her alterations and been furnished with a new propeller, starts from Boston for Portsmouth this morning; and will, we understand, at once commence her regular trips to and from Appledore Island. She is commanded by Capt. Edwin M. Baker, whose courtesy and attention to his passengers, and sobriety and skill in his vocation, rendered him a universal favorite with the patrons of the Appledore House last season. We intended to have taken the trip down in the steamer but were unavoidably prevented. However, we promise to visit the Shoals in her at the first leisure moment, and dispose of some of the fish which the Laighton brothers serve up in such excellent style.

REV. W. C. FINNEY, formerly pastor of the Christian Church in this city, delivered an eloquent address on the occasion of decorating the soldiers' graves at St. Joseph, Missouri, on Memorial Day. From it we extract the following:—

Every thoughtful man and woman amongst us, must know that all true freepom, justice, and order is based on mutual reference and love, among the people. Whoever now seeks to embitter, divide, exasperate us—whoever proposes in any interest to cast down any portion of the people, is our enemy. This is a time for reconciliation, to draw near each other, respect each other's rights, to bind up each other's wounds, to bless and to forgive. We want good will that shall win all men to justice and union.

At this time we want the wisdom of Washington—we want the benevolence of Franklin—we want the justice of Marshall—we want the inspiration of Jefferson—we want the pleading eloquence of Clay, and above and beyond all, we want and must have,—must have or our Union is nothing but a name,—the patience, the forbearance, and the moderation of Lincoln. The field of National policy must no longer be obscured by the mists of passion, or brooded over by the awful clouds of civil war. Let the old bitterness go out of our hearts! Let the wounds be healed! We are one nation.

BASE BALL.—In New York, Tuesday, the Atlantics defeated the famous Red Stockings of Chicago, by a score of 8 to 7, after playing eleven innings. At the end of the 8th, 9th and 10th innings, the score stood 5 to 5.

In Washington, the Pastimes were beaten by the Nationals, 18 to 8.

At Cleveland, the Forest Citys of Cleveland were beaten by the Forest Citys of Rockford, Ill., 24 to 18.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

BOSTON, June 13.

Newspaper correspondents have drifted into a style of levity and frivolity that is frightful to staid old stagers of maturer years. To reform this fault would be a task beyond the powers of "yours feebly," but I hope by writing them a sample letter of sedate style I may induce those who read to entirely change their style.

The dog-star of the pulp who shone so brightly from sitting upright on the seat of an express wagon, has waned. He has had his day, and is suppressed by a little black Skye terrier who rides standing on the back of the horse driven in Fera's confectionery wagon. With quadrupeds, as with bipeds, the popularity which is based on novelty experiences the most perfect "rotation" in tenure. [I've written you this item four or five times, but your readers won't know it, because they don't read "M.'s" letters.]

Smith and Jones are not fictitious names, as I have long supposed. A firm under that name kept a hotel in South Paris, Me., only a few years since; and may conduct it at present, for all I know to the contrary.

In this wilderness the greatest cry is: "Evening Times, one cent." If it were only one sent, as in olden times, we might not get so nervous; but it seems as if a crop of hydra's teeth had been sown, from which springs up a myriad of these young newsboys who have taken arms against our peace.

Dogs are not suffered in the Public Garden, but at times I have noticed a number of insufferable puppies there.

Seven-league boots went out of fashion with the era of fairies, giants and dwarfs. "Miles' shoes" are still advertised in an Iowa paper. [If you can see the connection between the two, you are smarter than I am, for hang me if I can.]

A ladies' shoe store on Tremont street exhibits some very pretty boots for the charmers, at from $15 to $18 a pair; also, gold heels, at $10 a pair, to be applied to the understandings of the fair sex. [I hope you don't consider these matters trivial. I don't, for I'm anticipating the commission of matrimony.]

I have found out the answer to this: "Who is Mann that thou art mindful of him." A resident of the Sixth Ward tells me that Mann is assistant assessor of Internal Revenue in that, the wealthiest, district in the city.

One of our city papers mentions "the present absence" of well-known parties from the city. M.

U. S. NAVAL ACADEMY.—In its report of the recent annual examination by the Board of Visitors, at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, the New York Herald says:

The quarters of the marines, under Captain Phillip R. Fendall also showed great improvement since Captain Fendall's presence at the head of the marine force at the Academy. This branch of the service there has materially improved. In their general appearance, and in everything serving to increase the soldiery bearing and discipline of the men, there has been a great advance. The visit of the Board of Visitors to Captain Fendall was attended with many compliments.

We are glad to notice that the President's recent nomination of Capt. Fendall as a Brevet Major, for gallant conduct in the late rebellion, has been confirmed by the Senate.

—English pysicians and men of science have no equals in this country. The New York Evening Post says of an eccentric old lady who recently died in England, that "an inquest on the body showed that the deceased was the daughter of a Spanish nobleman of high distinction."

— The Big Indians yesterday had a pleasant time visiting around the city. The report that they are to have a scalping match with the Big Indians of Tammany is without foundation.—N. Y. Telegram.

L. O. A. N. OF THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coast.

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS, Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.

The Bonds are in denominations of $1000, $500 and $100, and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.

Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.

All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

RIVERSIDE PRESS BULLETIN!

BOOKS TO BE READ ON THE GRASS.

1. AMONG THE TREES.

This is a book by MARY LORIMER, giving a journal of walks in the woods, and flower-hunting through field and by brook. It is a quarto volume, with twenty-five illustrations from nature, and sells for $2.25. It is an exceedingly pretty volume, and has a calendar of wild flowers found each month. The "New York Evening Post" says of it, "It links lively short stories and incidents, bits of pertinent sentiment and gomsot poetry, to the plant-treasures it describes, and adorns many of them with graceful drawings, which make it easier to recognize them than the longest scientific description could."

2. DAME NATURE.

A book by SAINTINE, the famous author of "Picciola." It is a grandpapa's talks and stories about natural history and things of daily use. A capital book for young people, making them observant and curious about life around them. Price $1.50.

3. HOMESPUN.

"Homespun," by THOMAS LACKLAND (an assumed name,) is a charming book of rural scenes and incidents, in which country life, especially of the old-fashioned sort, is described in a way to bring back vividly the country choir, the country tavern, the district school, farmers' daughters, hard winters, huckleberrying, etc., etc. A pleasant book to read aloud. Price $1.75.

4. PICTURES OF COUNTRY LIFE.

One of ALICE CARY's enjoyable books. Price $2.00. "Philadelphia Evening Bulletin" sends this despatch: "We have seldom been more pleased with any light work than with 'Pictures of Country Life.' It is written in a genial, pleasant style, and abounds in little sketches drawn from rural life, and depicts society as it exists far from our great commercial centres. Every story is interesting, and just of the proper length."

5. THREE CLASSES.

These are three famous books which seem especially adapted for country reading. They can be slipped into the pocket, and read in the shade of a tree or by a brook, and will make a nature without. They are LAINTINE's "Picciola" and ST. PIERRE's "Paul and Virginia" (each $1.25,) and FOUQUE's "Undine and other Stories" ($1.50) They are pretty books prettily illustrated.

BOOKS FOR A RAINY DAY.

1. ANDERSEN.

HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN, who has been known to American readers by his wonderful stories for children, can now be known in his delightful novels and travels. There is publishing a complete series of his writings, each volume of which is entire by itself. Thus one can now procure "The Improvisatore," his famous novel of Italian life; and "The Two Baronesses," and "O. T." romances of Danish life; "In Spain and Portugal," a captivating volume of travels; and "Wonder Stories told for Children." Each of these is $1.75, except the last, which is larger and richly illustrated. Price $2.25.

2. COOPER.

COOPER'S novels are household favorites, and are selling now steadily as well as ever. So is not likely to go out of fashion yet,—he is too good a story-teller for that. His works are published in 32 vols. Household Edition, each 75 cts. HURD & HOUGHTON's Catalogue will give the names of each. Any volume can be bought separately, as "The Spy," "The Pilot," "The Water Witch," "The Last of the Mohicans," "The Deerslayer," etc.

3. DICKENS.

There is nothing quite so good to keep on hand for bright reading as DICKENS's novels. Every family out to have a set, and every one will have his or her favorite story. HURD & HOUGHTON'S Globe Edition, in 14 vols. (each sold separately at $1.50,) is the most complete of any in the market. "Edwin Drood" will be added to it when complete.

A Book that should be kept on hand,
DR. HALL'S
HEALTH BY GOOD LIVING.

This book is selling by thousands. Every one recognizes it as a most practical, sensible book on health. It is crowded with sound sense and experience. Its price ($1.50) ought to save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills. Another book by the Doctor can also be had at the same price, —"Sleep; or, the Hygiene of the Night,"—which tells sound truth about the way we do, do not, ought to, and ought not to, spend a third of human existence.

The Book that should stand side by side with Webster's Dictionary.

DR. WILLIAM SMITH'S
UNABRIDGED DICTIONARY OF THE BIBLE.

[Edited by PROF. H. B. HACKETT and EZRA ABBOTT, LL. D.

This magnificent work is to be completed this summer. Three of the four volumes are already out, and the remaining parts are rapidly appearing. Any one can subscribe now, get the three volumes, and receive the parts as they come out. It is the Great Biblical Work of 19th Century.

DR. HOWARD CROSBY says of it: "It is worth more on a Bible-reader's desk than fifty commentaries." One can find plenty of unsatisfactory abridged dictionaries, but no one should be satisfied until he has the Price in numbers, 75 cents each. There will be 32 numbers.

Three volumes now ready (24 numbers,) $6.50 each.

N. B.—Any one sending the name of three subscribers, with the money, WILL RECEIVE THE DICTIONARY FREE.

The summer offers an excellent opportunity to agents to procure subscribers in the watering-places.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. From both these deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a graceful perfume.

Morning Chronicle.

N. H. FARMERS' MEETING.—Simeon Abbott of West Concord said that he had been an experimenter for fifteen years. He believed too much labor was spent on corn. He cultivated four acres last season, ploughing nine inches deep with a Michigan plough. He turned coarse manure under, and after planting, ran over the field with a brush. On his four acres he had spent $180 and netted $148. All his fertilizers were home-made. Too strong fertilizers, such as poudrettes, &c., kill rootlets, and farmers ought to guard against this. He broke ground and sowed as early as possible, and ran between his rows, made well apart, with a cultivator, so but little hoe-work was necessary.

H. W. Greene spoke of a successful trial of fish guano, raising two hundred and twenty odd bushels of eight rowed corn on an acre and a quarter. Col. Clough favored the use of corn fodder on the farm, and thought it worth $6 a ton. Dr. B. S. Warren of Concord spoke of his profits from corn raising on pine-plain land.

E. Osgood of Canterbury spoke of the habit many families had of depleting their woodland to raise funds, which are too often spent for a horse, not to work, but for pleasure-riding. The horse eats the farm hay and its manure is lost upon the road. He almost dreamed the horse a curse. He ploughed six inches deep, turning in coarse manure and harrowing in fine. Half a shovel full is enough manure to a hill. He reckoned five loads of manure from each hog.

Mr. Connor of Hopkinton thought Mr. Abbott would have a hard row to hoe on his farm, where it took more hoe work and less of the cultivator among the rocks.

Gen. Natt Head agreed that deep ploughing was necessary, but said harrowing was one of the means used to prepare a turnpike, and operated to harden rather than loosen the field. He believed that fathers ought to split up their farms rather than let their sons leave them, and then one would vie with the other to see which did best. Above all, to be neat should be a maxim.

Col. J. Clough spoke in advocacy of mixed farming, saying that if a man failed on a speciality he was seriously out of pocket. There were, however, two sides to the question. Mr. Humphrey and E. Osgood followed, advocating farmers' clubs, saying that besides the benefit arising from the clubs themselves, they would make a good base of operations in aid of fairs.

Hon. John D. Lyman followed, saying that the hay crop, as shown by each census, was continually on the increase. After this subject the comparative profits of corn raising here and out west were shown to be in favor of New England. Farmers had said upon the floor to-day that their profit was nearly fifty per cent. while in the west it is either held or sold at less than cost of production. He meant to offer premiums for corn in 1870.

Levi Bartlett of Warner said that the census returns quoted by Mr. Lyman showed that cattle had decreased full twenty thousand in number since 1840, and he wanted to know what became of all this hay.

Mr. Lyman said cattle had increased a foot in girth, horses had increased in number, and some counties ship half their crop.

Mr. Bartlett showed various kinds of corn, New Jersey, hundred day and domestic. He thought that our common corn was the best for our climate. New Hampshire he thought one of the very best States for winter wheat. In thirteen years he had made excellent crops, all but two years. Sod ought to be inverted, as moisture would be prevented from evaporating by that means. He liked such land as Merrimack pine plains. Marl he thought was wisely applied to such lands. In summing up, he thought New Hampshire a good State to live in as well as to emigrate from.

Col Clough spoke of the effects of marl combined with muck. He had by it made forty acres of utterly valueless land worth over $50 an acre. Every year in figuring up he added two per cent. to the value of his farm,—and thought it was a real, interesting addition to his principal.

Simeon Abbott exhibited specimens of corn, but spoke mainly on potato raising. He advocated early digging. On inquiry from Mr. Lyman, Mr. A. said that he ploughed with a Michigan plough, as it left the earth loose. Col. Clough and Prof. Dimond spoke briefly. Mr. Abbott thought that California potatoes could be raised where white beans could.

Joseph Smith of Salisbury believed in Mr. Abbott's tactics. He did not plant till the middle of June and manured twenty cart-loads per acre. He thought it better to plough when grass was green. Isaac Clement spoke of his system, not essentially different from the general run.

Stephen Pattee of Warner thought grass ought to be turned in. He put a little fertilizer in the hill and got fifty-six bushels of corn an acre, at a cost of seventy cents. Did not like mixed manure and ashes, but put in some loam. Fertilizers had doubled and trebled his crops. He thought the State corn crop could be trebled. In last year's experience, potatoes had cost him twenty-six and a half cents a bushel and wheat $1.40.

J. D. Walker said that two-thirds must be added to our present corn crop to supply the State. He let his manure lie heaped for a few weeks, and ploughed it in. He thought the farmers did not make the most of their sink spouts, liquid manures, etc. By proper care, every farmer could save enough manure to raise an additional acre of corn. His corn crop was the most profitable crop he could get off of his farm. It cost him seventy-one cents a bushel to raise corn. At fifty bushels an acre, an acre of ground would give a profit of $35 at the present market rate, which was more than could be obtained by any other crop.

H. P. Rolfe of Concord agreed with Mr. Walker and spoke at length on his suggestion to save liquid manures.

JOHN CHINAMAN IN MASSACHUSETTS.—The Chinese laborers engaged to work in a shoe manufactory in North Adams, Mass., have arrived.

The New Englanders receive them cordially, and with intense curiosity, while emigrants from the other side of the world, French and Irish men and women, regard the spectacle with bitter anger and disgust, and breathe horrible threats which they do not execute.

The Boston Advertiser's correspondent at North Adams says:—

The Chinese laborers who came here under contract to Mr. Calvin T. Sampson, to make shoes, arrived Monday afternoon. For several days the railroad station had been crowded on the arrival of the western train, by indignant Crispins, waiting to see the new comers, and Monday the crowd was very dense. As soon as the blue shirts, long cues and queer faces were seen, the air was filled with hoots and all kinds of taunting shouts. The Chinese were quite imperturable, and did not even mind the appellations of wrath yelled into their ears from the wayside. An ample police force was in attendance, and the company marched in column slowly through the street to Mr. Sampson's shop. There was the greatest deliberation of movement, so that ample opportunity for attack was given, but though the wildest threats of vengeance were shouted, no general attack was made. Some stones were thrown, several Chinamen were hustled and one was struck. Two leading offenders were arrested, promptly arraigned before a justice, and fined. After an exciting scene of threatened riot lasting nearly half an hour, the new workmen were safely housed in Mr. Sampson's shop, doubly guarded to prevent attempts of blowing up, of which threats were freely made.

No attempt has been made to molest them in the premises of the factory. They chat briskly with each other in their tongue, or with Yankees in such English as they can command, many of them speaking very well. Several have tried experiments with the machinery of the establishment, and show a facility and eagerness in learning the trade which surprises those who have been most sanguine of the success of the experiment. The foremen say that they have never taught any green hands who took hold so well at the start.

The white shoemakers of the town are in a high state of wrath, but see no way of venting it effectually. The Crispin association is very strong here, and have hitherto fore had every thing their own way and carried matters with a high hand. A prominent leader of the order from Boston is here, and the Crispins are holding a secret meeting, but it is not thought probably anything serious will be done to disturb Mr. Sampson's arrangement, as the sentiments of the community at large are so strongly with him. The threats which are made promise all the enormities of Sheffield.

DANGEROUS KEROSENE.—The Ohio Legislature has just enacted a very stringent law against the sale of dangerous kerosene. The standard is fixed at 110° degrees F. for the flashing test, and the sale of an oil which flashes below this temperature is severely punished. In case a death results from oil flashing below 110° F., the seller is to be punished for manslaughter.—Chemical News.

PHILOSOPHY IN DEFEAT.—We commend to all who have met, or expect to meet disappointments in this world, the beautiful and affecting article the from Manchester Mirror. The editor of that paper, actuated solely by the most patriotic and disinterested motives, resolved, a few weeks since, to defeat the re-election of Senator Cragin. To accomplish this patriotic end, he "in his own peculiar and beautiful style," opened upon his predestined victim the sluices of his model newspaper, "of the size of the New York Tribune, and published in a city of 30,000 inhabitants," not doubting, for a moment, that the object of his assault was to be overwhelmed at once and forever. Finding, however, that his first discharge did not bring the expected annihilation, he went on increasing both the volume and the turbidness of his stream, until he aroused the sympathy of nearly all the Republican press of the State, and a majority, we believe, of his own readers. Not understanding however that his assaults upon Senator Cragin were helping him, in the minds of honest Republicans, he is disappointed at a result which everybody else was thoroughly prepared to expect.

Under these circumstances, our disappointed cotemporary feels very much like the "Samaritan woman," when she lost the last of her "five husbands." Her, "sufferings was"—his "sufferings" is—intolerable." We should have pitied "the woman of Samaria" had we lived in her day. We do pity "the woman of Samaria's" biographer, and are inexpressibly sorry not to have ready at hand a "sovereign balm" for what is in danger of proving a mortal wound. We think we can, however, give our friend a little of what the old nurses call "keep along," which may soothe the pain, if not cure the wound.

The great grief of our "departing friend" seems to arise from his belief that Mr. Cragin was the Pacific Railroad candidate, and that the money of that gigantic corporation (against whose thieves and thieveries the Mirror, was never known to utter a word), used its money to buy up men for Senator Cragin, "as you do turkeys and chickens for Christmas." This belief—the source of our weeping brother's deepest grief—we are authorized to assure him, is all a mistake. The Pacific Railroad was, indeed, here, in the person of its Treasurer and Clerk. But it was here to defeat Mr. Cragin and not to elect him. If men were bought up like "turkeys and chickens for Christmas," they were bought against him, and not for him.

And here we might allude to rumors, not a little current, though doubtless without foundation, that our "forlorn and ship-wrecked-brother" of the Mirror was himself one of the "turkeys and chickens" whose fate he so graphically laments. Of course we do not believe it, and only notice this rumor to discredit it, and at the same time to caution our afflicted friend against using weapons which may so easily be turned against those who forge them. "They who live in glass houses should not throw stones." "Those who have pots for bed-fellows, should let kettles and other hardware pass peaceably by." Those who have worked for months to place the Treasurer of the Pacific Railroad in the Senate from New Hampshire, should be the very last men to talk of bribery about others who opposed and defeated that corrupt plot.

But the most "alarming symptom" in our Mirror friend's case, is the "Parthian arrow" he lets fly at his presumed "enemies," of whom he "asks no favors, no concessions, no words except words of cursing." This reads as though our "departing" brother was "a little tetched in the upper story." Why, bless your soul, dear brother, we don't believe you have half a dozen "enemies" outside of your own household, in the world. We, certainly, are not your enemy. We don't know of anybody who is. It is all a mere hallucination, born of a heated cerebellum. No living man or woman has "words of cursing" for you, unless it be some Pacific Railroad official, who thinks "your zeal out-ran your discretion," and "helped the cause you would have killed." But such an "enemy," if such there be, will soon find other employment for his "words of cursing," and the Mirror will "still live," if not "as large as the New York Tribune," yet "as large as life and twice as natural." Monitor.

CAUTION TO BEE-KEEPERS.—If you have had a swarm issue just before the wet weather commenced, don't let them starve before they can gather sufficient supplies for themselves. I have known a swarm worth eight dollars to die of starvation before they had gathered 1-4 of a pound of honey, in consequence of weather such as we are now having.—J. MEADER, in Dover Dec.

— A contemporary puts a matter which it wishes to enforce in the following neat simile: "You might as well attempt to shampoo an elephant with a thimbleful of soapsuds as to attempt to do business and ignore advertising.

— Ambrose Henderson, a colored member of the Mississippi Legislature, in an earnest letter to Governor Alcorn, asks the appointment of his former master to the Mississippi bench.

THE OLD RELIABLE
NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE,
TO BE FOUND IN EVERY VILLAGE AND TOWN IN NEW ENGLAND, IS DODD'S NERVINE
AND INVIGORATOR.
A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC.
DODD'S NERVINE is not a new medicine, but has been before the public for the last fifteen years. Is compounded from the best and purest drugs. Contains no OPIUM, STRYCHNINE or MERCURY in any form, and is expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of NERVOUS DISEASES, &c., &c.,
Coughs, Colds, Fevers, Aguea, Billiousness, Constipation, Neuralgia, Headache, Convulsions, Sleeplessness, Dyspepsia, Female Weaknesses, Fainting Fits, Palpitation, Restlessness, Dizziness, Liver Complaint, Children's Troubles Diarrhœa, Consumption, &c., &c., &c.,
DODD'S NERVINE
Is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that good sleep is better than all medicines. And all folks that CAN'T SLEEP NIGHTS,
Should use this truly wonderful medicine.
DODD'S NERVINE
Is one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS.
For Whooping Cough.
DODD'S NERVINE is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of almost distressing complaint. It also works admirably in Measles, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no OPIUM in any form.
LOOK OUT FOR COLDS.
It is proverbial that people treat a cold (and the generally accompanying cough) as something that will cure itself; but it does not always, and sometimes fatal. The fame of DODD'S NERVINE in the relief of colds is established. Use it instantly and freely, and not forget to drink freely of liquids of all kinds as to keep somewhat thirsty for a few days, and the worst cold will soon be gone.
DODD'S NERVINE
Is a PURE TONIC—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE—gives increased energy to the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, and other viscera, and supplies FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. It operates soothingly and is as pleasant to take as any wine, and will SLEEP AND GOOD DIGESTION, which it promotes, restores the afflicted to sound health of body and quietness of mind. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine, (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative power. my17tw

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1870.

Editorial Correspondence.

CONCORD, June 15th.

The legislature is rapidly getting down to solid work, and scores of bills and petitions are presented every day. At first thought, it seems that the members are transacting business with perfect loosen-ess, but every measure is carefully considered in committee before being decided upon finally. The committees have their hands full already, although four hours a day is the general limit of the daily sessions.

To-day, both Houses met in joint convention and clerks read the proceedings of the previous day's balloting for U. S. Senator. Speaker Wheeler then declared Hon. Aaron H. Cragin of Lebanon elected U. S. Senator for six years from March 4, 1871.

Hon. Horton D. Walker introduced a bill, this afternoon, amending the charter of the Eastern Railroad in N. H., so that its capital stock may be increased to $1,000,000. A bill was also introduced allowing the Great Falls & Conway R. R. to change its route from Union Village and Wakefield to Brookfield and Wolfeborough.

Railroad matters have begun to engross the attention of the legislature, thus early. The movement for a Lake Shore road is revived, and the bill granting four years more time to build the Manchester and Keene road was favorably reported from the committee, to-day. Gen. James Wilson of Keene made a strong and eloquent speech in opposition to it, charging that the bill was intended to obstruct rather than construct a railroad for that section. The General is 73 years of age, but shows no consciousness of the fact. He made a telling speech which enlisted the sympathies of the House in his favor. Mr. Wadleigh of Milford replied in defense of the measure, and Gen. Wilson spoke again. His wonderful powers of persuasion have not of late years been shown to greater extent than then, and the applause which greeted him showed that had the vote been taken when he sat down, nothing could have saved the bill from certain defeat.

Its friends were alarmed at the prospect and the chairman of the Railroad committee found it necessary to endorse the measure. Mr. Wadleigh rallied again and produced facts and figures to confirm his statements. He said that nearly all the towns on the proposed route had voted appropriations toward building the road and their representatives were strong supporters of the bill. He was followed by Mr. Dunlap of Nashua and others in the same strain. Mr. Adams of Manchester finished the debate in an earnest, impassioned speech, in which he said the interests of Nashua, Manchester and Portsmouth would be benefitted by the railroad.

The convincing facts offered were too much for Gen. Wilson, the rules were suspended and the bill passed. He was on the wrong side; but it was evident that he has no equal in the House as a speaker. He has a wonderful tact of humor, and his manner of putting queries and making matters look ridiculous is strongly in his favor. The delicate vein of sarcasm which he maintained while speaking, refreshed opponents and friends alike, and the House adjourned in good humor at a late hour, some of the members feeling slightly annoyed, no doubt, that Gen. Wilson's sophistry had for a time so successfully deceived them.

The Republican caucus for nominating candidates for State officers was held in Central Hall, this evening. Twenty or more Republican representatives were absent. The check list was dispensed with and the balloting was conducted with decorum and despatch. On the State Printer question, nobody knew "who was who," previous to the balloting. The result was as might have been expected under the circumstances. There was a "conspicuous absence" of politicians from Portsmouth, more noticeable because of the large number present from Nashua. Gen. Stevens declared that he took more interest in the matter than in the Senatorial contest. Of course, Concord started a candidate; and it looked like a lively strife, with three in the field. Some of the Rockingham members and others from adjoining counties were so anxious to defeat Mr. Moore, the Nashua candidate, that they suddenly deserted their own candidate and went for the representative of a paper which had failed to support them in the Senatorial fight. Gratitude and promises among politicians are not common virtues, it is said, but policy does not always save them. The Portsmouth members were all present and stood by their colors.

We were pleased to see the result of the first ballot after the change of base was made, and are glad that Bro. Moore of Nashua is the successful candidate, as the State Printing could not come to Portsmouth this year. His earnest opponents hastened indirectly to elect him and came within one vote of doing it on the first ballot. Good for Moore! May he have the State Printing for three years and may Portsmouth try it on when he is rotated.

Judge Geo. M. Nesmith, of the Supreme Judicial Court, will resign next week, being nearly 70 years of age. John S. H. Frink, Esq., of Greenland, is prominently mentioned as his successor, and has hosts of friends, irrespective of party, who hope he will receive the appointment. G.

Communication.

TAXING U. S. BONDS. — The skies brighten. The House of Representatives in Congress voted not to tax United States Bonds by a majority of only 32—70 for and 110 against taxing them. When we consider the influence of the New York millionaires, and the Bondholders, and the Banks, and probably more than 32 members of Congress who are bondholders, and the N. Y. and other importers of foreign goods, it cannot be long before there will be a majority in Congress who will yield to the general voice of the people in favor of taxing the bonds, now amounting to over two billions. It cannot be right that such a vast amount of property should be exempt from taxation, and thus allow the Bondholders to realize an annual gain of from 12 to 15 per cent. Such exemption increases the already onerous tax upon the laboring classes, and what is still worse, tends to create a monied Aristocracy in this Republic. Let them be paid the amount of the debt and a fair interest in specie, and if they demand "the pound of flesh" besides, a refusal would not be repudiation. They will probably have the offer to exchange their present bonds for new securities or bonds, at 4 per cent., payable in 20 or 30 years, and that ought to be satisfactory to the wealthy shylocks. x.

It has been our custom, heretofore, to publish any well written communication on public matters, even though the sentiments of the writer were distasteful to and at variance with the principles of the Republican party, and our own views. We cannot, however, allow the foregoing communication to go unanswered or with any quasi endorsement which might be inferred from our silence on the subject.

We believe, and the Republican party occupies the same position, that the honor of the country would be violated by a cowardly resort to taxing the U. S. Bonds to help pay the national debt. At a time in our history when defeat and treachery cast a general gloom over the loyal men of this country, when disaster but deepened that gloom and good citizens became almost disheartened, our government asked for loans from the people and bonds were issued at a fair market price.

The great mass of the people had confidence in the government and purchased these bonds. The government needed the money and negotiated them on favorable terms. There were classes of people, sympathizers with rebellion, timid doubters, who croaked of disaster—rich and poor alike, who held aloof and cried ruin. They were afraid the government would drop out from under them and if they loaned their cash they would lose all. These classes are to-day foremost in advocating the taxation of bonds. The investments which they decried have become excellent securities and the holders of the bonds have reaped good dividends. Now, the growlers gnash their teeth over the success of those who would not heed their croaking in evil times. Had the bond purchasers lost their money they would have been called "poor fools," instead of "bloated bondholders."

The government lives, but no government can exist long by practising dishonesty. The government loans negotiated by its agents were understood to be exempt from taxation, and those who took the bonds, as well as those who failed to, knew that such was the agreement.

Many of the bonds, it is true, have been bought up by capitalists since the close of the war, and many smaller bondholders have declined to sell. This is their own business and not that of the public. Capitalists have as many rights as other men, and it is as wrong to rob them as to rob the poorer classes.

The proposition to tax the bonds is as absurd as dishonorable. A merchant, under the reasoning adopted by the would-be repudiators, may for a season be in dire distress for money, which he needs to save himself from ruin. A friend, his own brother, perhaps, knowing the danger, and seeing a chance for a good investment in case of success, loans the merchant the sum needed, for which he receives notes payable in five or twenty years. The staggering merchant regains his feet, is successful and prosperous, but has borrowed other monies and finds a large debt on his shoulders, which, however, is not a tithe to his possessions. He invents a new theory and declares that he will assess a tax on his brother's notes, because he thinks that brother made too good an investment when he risked his money. So the merchant proposes to tax the man who saved him from ruin, to make him help pay those very same notes! What would be thought of the sanity of such a merchant on 'change, not to mention his integrity! The merchant may fail and pay but a percentage on his notes, but the U. S. government has not failed and is not likely to.

Our correspondent "x" affirms that his project for taxing the bonds is not repudiation. It certainly is repudiation—nothing short of it. Should government tax the bonds one-eighth of one per cent., it would be but repudiating one-eighth of one per cent. of their value. And if government has a right to tax its bonds one-eighth of one per cent., it has as much right to tax them one per cent. or one hundred per cent. If that is not repudiating the public debt we know not what repudiation means.

The last clause of our correspondent's communication furnishes a balm for all wounded upholders of repudiation. Certain bonds are now redeemable at the pleasure of the government and we trust that Congress will soon pass a funding bill allowing holders of bonds to exchange them for bonds of thirty years or so at a reduced rate of interest.

The Crown Prince of Prussia has a new daughter, and Queen Victoria another grandchild.

A passenger train on the Pacific railroad ran into a squad of mounted Indians, Tuesday night. Sixteen horses were killed.

In consequence of the drought, the prices of breadstuffs have advanced in an alarming manner, in Paris.

Mr. T. L. Roberts of Greenwood, Maine, a few mornings since, found five of his cows dead and two in a dying condition at the foot of a precipice in his pasture, and one suspended half way down. From indications about the place, and the sound of men and dogs heard the previous day, it is suspected that the cattle were maliciously driven over to their death.

Hon. Moses Wingate of Haverhill, Mass., died Thursday, aged 100 years, 7 months and 17 days. He passed away very quietly, and retained his senses up to the time of his death. He was the oldest Mason in the world.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

SUNDAY HOURS FOR MEALS, for the accommodation of patrons at the ORIENTAL DINING ROOMS, 5 Ladd Street, will be from 8 to 9 A. M.; from 1 to 2, and from 5 to 6 P. M.

AN EXPERIENCE of a third of a century has given L. Rice, Esq., of the AMERICAN HOUSE, BOSTON, a knowledge of all the requisites of a first-class hotel. The popularity of that hotel indicates that the public appreciates his efforts to please.

LOOK AT THE RUINS!—Aye, look at the ruins of what once were magnificent sets of teeth, to be seen everywhere in society. Look at them, and ask yourself if it is not marvellous that such destruction is permitted, when by simply using SOZODONT, ANY TEETH, HOWEVER FRAGILE, may be preserved from decay or blemish as long as life lasts!

"SPALDING'S GLUE," useful in every house.

THOUSANDS OF PROMISING YOUTHS, of both sexes, go down to untimely graves, from general debility and weakness, who might be saved by fortifying their systems with Iron. SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Life Sustaining Organs.

The two organs which minister most directly to the support of the body, are the stomach and liver. In the former the first process of digestion takes place, under the action of that powerful solvent, the gastric juice. Thence the food, converted into a pulp, passes into the duodenum, where it is subjected to the action of the bile or gall, flowing from the liver, and of the fluid gen erated by the pancreas, or sweetbread, of the system. These secretions separate the nutritious portion from the rest, and it is then taken up by the absorbent vessels and conveyed into the channels of circulation in the form of venous blood, while the waste matter is discharged through the bowels.

Unless all these processes are duly performed, disease of some sort is inevitable, and the best of all medicinal agents for preserving or restoring the tone and regulating the action of the three organs—(the stomach, liver and intestines—) by which the three-fold work is carried on, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Indigestion is generally accompanied by constipation, and the gentle cathartic operation of the Bitters is no less important in cases of this kind, than its tonic effect upon the stomach and the biliary gland. Beauty of person as well as health, depends in no small degree upon the regularity of the excretive functions. A sallow complexion, a thick, opaque, and expulsive organs, and the cures it effects are consequently thorough and complete.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when other medicines had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

House and Land For Sale—Franklin Adams.
Strawberries and Cream.—H. M. Smith.

BASE BALL.—The Granite State first nine go to South Berwick to-day to play with the Minie club of that place.

☞ The Boston insurance clerks are on their third annual excursion, and will spend to-day fishing at the Isles of Shoals.

A HEAVY THUNNDER SHOWER passed over this city, Thursday afternoon, cooling the atmosphere and drenching things generally. The rain fell in torrents and was accompanied by a high wind.

BUSINESS CHANGE.—Wingate N. Isley, Esq., has disposed of his dry goods stock at No. 7 Market Street to Hartley W. Mason & Co. Mr. Isley is one of our oldest merchants, although not old in years.

NAVAL.—Rear Admiral John A. Winslow is detached from the command of this Navy Yard from July 1, and is ordered to hold himself in readiness for command of the Pacific fleet. Commodore A. M. Pennock is detached from duty as a member of the examining board at Washington and is ordered o the command of this Yard.

☞ MacEvoy's New Hibernicon is coming here, and will be exhibited on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week, at the Temple. The show is favorably noticed by the press, in cities where it has been exhibited, and is accompanied by a number of performers, musical and comic. The advertisement may be found in our columns.

☞ Mrs. John Chase, mother of the late William S. Chase, Esq., has presented the Mercantile Library Association with a beautiful group of statuary, representing four mythological characters. Mr. Chase was one of the founders of the Association, was for many years its popular and efficient Secretary, and its success was in a large measure due to his efforts in its behalf. The beautiful gift will be kept as a memorial of one whose memory is still cherished by the Association.

☞ Hon. Amos T. Akerman of Georgia, formerly of this city, has been nominated by the President for Attorney General, vice Judge E. R. Hoar of Massachusetts, resigned.

At the present time Mr. A. is the U. S. District Attorney of Georgia, having been appointed by President Grant. He is about 50 years of age. In 1842 he graduated at Dartmouth College, and soon afterwards removed to Georgia, of which State he has ever since been a resident.

He is regarded as an able lawyer, and one who is in every way well qualified to succeed Mr. Hoar. The nomination seems to be acceptable to all Republican Senators, and he will probably be confirmed promptly.

GRAND RECEPTION OF HON. JOHN P. HALE.—Dover manifested her regard for her distinguished son in a universal expression of welcome on Wednesday. He was met at the depot by the City Government, the military, firemen, benevolent societies, and many thousands of the citizens of Dover and vicinity, who escorted him to the Kimball House, where he was introduced to the vast throng by Mayor Stevens. Mr. Hale responded in a brief but feeling speech, the expression of his countenance showed that he felt more pleasure at the hearty greeting, and to be again among those who knew him best, than language could express.

The procession was long, and presented a very imposing appearance. It took up the line of march soon after the remarks at the Kimball House, for the residence of Mr. Hale on Pleasant Street. The honored guest was every where along the route greeted with the waving of flags and handkerchiefs from private residences.

In the evening, the City Hall was crowded to excess, the side galleries being exclusively devoted to the use of the ladies. Judge Woodman made a speech of welcome, to which Mr. Hale responded feelingly. He said that he had returned hoping to regain the health which has been somewhat impaired by his long residence abroad, and that amongst old friends and neighbors, he desired to pass the remainder of his days.

Senator Cragin, Hon. Geo. G. Fogg and others made speeches and a letter was received from Ex-Gov. Goodwin, expressing great regret at his being unable to be present.

☞ Goldsmith Maid won the great trot at the Beacon Park, Brighton, on Wednesday, in 2:25 1-2, 2:24, 2:24. Geo. Palmer was 2d and American Girl 3d.

SQUARELY STATED.—Mr. Miller of the Chronicle, in an article of some length in his issue of May 19th, in giving reasons for returning Mr. Cragin to the U. S. Senate, says:—

"First, New Hampshire, and especially Portsmouth, cannot afford to lose the Chairmanship of the Naval Committee, which would be the case were Mr. Cragin exchanged for any other man."

That is the truth in reference to Portsmouth, but not of New Hampshire. The Legislature may be cajoled, brought or wheedled into such a belief, but we doubt it. Nevertheless we admire Mr. Miller's candor and honesty in thus speaking of his city and its manifest welfare in connection with the Senatorship.—Exeter News Letter.

Now although the Legislature has neither been bought, wheedled nor cajoled into re-electing Mr. Cragin, but has deliberately and dispassionately decided that this was the best thing to do—still we desire to give a better reason for the faith that is in us as to this matter, rather than a purely selfish local one, though that is nothing to deny or be ashamed of. We say, that neither Portsmouth, nor New Hampshire, nor even New England, can afford to lose the powerful influence which Mr. Cragin's position in the Senate and Committee gives him for us, for them; and which position was gained by accident—the election of the chairman to the chair of the Senate, and the sickness of another Senator—and would not be at all likely to fall to this State, if to New England, again. This, in view of the recent vote of 109 to 60 against Mr. Lynch's shipping bill, and the foolish jealousy of the East, from the West, is to us a full justification of all support to Mr. Cragin, even if his re-election was not the customary rule, as it is.

THE CUBAN DEBATE in the U. S. House of Representatives on Thursday was exciting. Mr. Banks' speech of the previous day was a remarkably able argument against the President's policy, and Gen. Butler's defence of the President was looked for with interest. He produced documents conclusively disproving the stories of great fees paid to Sidney Webster, and in behalf of Caleb Cushing declared that Cushing did not write the President's message, did not see it until he read it in the papers, and is not now, and has not been since the troubles in Cuba began, counsel of the Spanish Minister.

Gen. Logan declared that the House never gave him any authority whatever to go into this inquiry, that he had scraped the gutters to get the worst class of lobbyists to swear against the Cubans, and that his insinuations about the use and distribution of bonds were wholly unworthy a gentleman or man of honor.

Gen. Banks closed the debate and Mr. Bingham offered a substitute for the resolutions reported by Gen. Banks, which is regarded as a compromise between the President and Congress. It authorizes the President to protest against the manner in which the war is conducted in Cuba.

On Thursday; Bingham's substitute was adopted by a vote of 103 to 86. This ends the Cuban question, and the administration is virtually sustained.

THE NEW YORK MUSICAL FESTIVAL was a first class squizzle. The members of the Handel & Haydn Society of Boston were shabbily treated. There were about 600 of them and they were stowed away in fourth rate boarding houses, twelve in a room. In one case three married couples were compelled to sleep in one room. Bed bugs were abundant and fought nobly for their rights. They were supplied with ice water by the thoughtful managers at two cents a glass. Food was as scarce as rooms.

☞ Major I. W. Ambler is doing noble service in the cause of Temperance, having devoted his energies for three weeks past to lecturing, and practising moral suasion. Major Ambler is to speak this evening from the open lot near the Kearsarge mill. All are invited. Where is the Washingtonian Total Abstinence Society?

RICHARDSON'S

LITTLE WASHER! PRICE $5.00.

The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!

☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bed-quilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.

More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.

MR. J. J. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.

MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success. MRS. L. E. MARTIN.

MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.

OF THE

CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad

Is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 227 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 427 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the coas

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of

TIGHT BOOTS.

BY JOSH BILLINGS.

I would jist like tew kno who the man waz who fust invented tite boots.

He must hav bin a narrow and kontrakted kuss.

If he still lives, I hope he haz repented ov his sin, or iz enjoying great agony ov sum kind.

I hav bin in a grate meny tight spots in mi life, but generally could manage to make them average; but there iz no sich thing az making a pair of tite boots average.

Yu kan't git an average on the pinch ov a tite boot, enny more than yu kan on the bite ov a lobster.

Enny man who kan wear a pair ov tite boots, and be humble, and penitent, and not indulge in profane literature, will make a good husband.

He will do more than that, he will do to divide up into several fust klass husbands, and be made to answer for a whole naberhood.

Oh! for the pen ov departed Wm. Shakspeare, to write an anathema against tite boots that would make anshunt Rome wake up, and howl again az she did once before on a previous occaskun.

Oh! for the strength ov Herkules, to tare into sha strings all the tite boots ov creashun and skatter them to the 8 winds of heaven. Oh! for the buty ov Venus, tew make a bigg foot look hansum without a tite boot on it.

Oh! for the pay shunes ov Job, the Apostle, to nuss a tite boot and bless it, and even pray for one a size smaller and more pinchfull.

Oh! for a pair of boots bigg enough for the foot ov a mountain.

I have been led into the above assortment of Oh's! from having in my possesshun, at this moment, a pair ov number nine boots, with a pair ov number eleven feet in them.

Mi feet are as uneasy as a dog's noze the fust time he wears a muzzle.

I think mi feet will eventually choke the boots to deth.

I liv in hopes they will.

I supposed i had lived long enuff not to be phooled again in this way, but i hav found out that an ounce ov vanity weighs more than a pound of reason, especially when a man mistakes a bigg foot for a small one.

Avoid tite boots, mi friend, as you would the grip ov the devil; for menny a man has caught for life a fust rate habit for awareing ov encouraging his feet to hurt his boots.

I hav promised mi two feet, at least a dozen ov times during my checkured life, that they never should be strangled agin, but i find them to-day az full ov pain az the stummuk ake from a sudden attack ov tite boots.

But this iz solemnly the last pair ov tite boots i will ever wear; i will hereafter wear boots az big az mi feet, if i have to go barefooted to do it.

I am too old and too respecktable to be a phool enny more.

Easy boots iz one of the luxurys ov life, but I forgit what the other luxury iz; i don't kno az i care, provided i kan git rid ov this pair ov tite boots.

Enny man ken hav them for seven dollars, just half what they cost, and if they don't make his feet ake wus then an angle worm in hot ashes, he needn't pay for them.

Tite boots are an insult to enny man's understanding.

He who wears tite boots will have to acknowledge the corn.

Tite boots hav no bowells or mersey; their inside are wrath, and promiskious cussing.

Beware ov tite boots.

Hon. George W. Nesmith will next week tender his resignation as one of the Associate Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court. He has been eleven years on the Bench, and though yet possessing a "sound mind in a sound body," is approaching the limit of judicial age, three score and ten, and gives way to the majesty of law. The question of a successor is discussed, and among those named are A. P. Carpenter of Bath, J. S. H. Frink of Greenland and Isaac W. Smith of Manchester.—Mirror.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wheeler celebrated their silver wedding at Reed's Ferry, June 2d. Four generations of Wheelers were present, 125 in number, the oldest 89 years old.

The term of office of two of the Board of Trustees of the Reform School expires next month,—that of Horton D. Walker, of Portsmouth, and Joseph Kidder, of Manchester. The former is President of the Board, and the latter Secretary. In case they are not reappointed, successors not less qualified should be recommended for the place. The visit to that institution by the Legislature has awakened great interest in its behalf, and calls out many a friendly word from those who have heretofore known nothing of its character.—Mirror.

The anniversary exercises at the Ladies' Seminary at Derry will take place on Monday and Tuesday next.

A freight train ran off the track at Hooksett, on Monday night last, smashing several cars. No persons were injured.

Negotiations are in progress for a mutual settlement of the difficulties and law questions between the new board of Concord railroad directors and Manager Stearns, but no result has been arrived at as yet.

—Jenny Lind is said to be so embarrassed in her pecuniary affairs that she thinks of opening a singing school in Paris.

THE WRONG MAN POULTICED.—At a famous and fashionable watering place, a gentleman one night was suddenly seized in bed with an excruciating pain in the stomach, which neither brandy, No. 6, nor any other remedy could remove. His wife, after trying a number of things in vain, and having exhausted all her stock of remedies, left her husband's bedside for the purpose of getting a warm application. Guided on her return by a light which she saw shining in a chamber, and which she supposed was the one just left, she softly entered and was not a little surprised to find her patient apparently in a deep slumber. However, thinking he might still be suffering, she gently raised the bed clothes, etc., and laid the scalding poultice upon a stomach—but not the stomach of her husband—which no sooner touched the body of the person than he, greatly alarmed, and writhing under the torture of the burning application, shouted: "Hellos, hellos! what in the name of heaven and earth are you about there?" then, with one spring from his bed he made for the door, and, rushing down stairs, declared, in a frenzy of excitement, that some one had poured a shovel of hot coals upon him.

The woman, overcome with excitement and alarm, gave a frantic scream, which brought her husband hurriedly in from the next room to her rescue. The husband was so much excited, and amused with the singular mistake and the ridiculous position of his better half, that he forgot all his pains; but early next morning he, his wife and trunks left for parts unknown. The poulticed gentleman still retains the handkerchief, a beautiful linen fabric, with the lady's name on it, which he considers of rare value.

New Publications Received.

Hearth & Home for this week (dated June 25th) contains the first of a series of sketches entitled "Jethro Throop's Night Thoughts," by John Thomas, who is no other than Petroleum V. Nasby. The great humorist will take an honest country boy to the city, conduct him through the usual experience, and restore him to his home a sadder and wiser boy, satisfied that the peaceful, honest, and temperate life of the farmer is the best and safest life that can be lived. This is a lesson greatly needed at this time, and Nasby is the man to teach it. New York: 37 Park Row.

—A most daring care of bigamy was that of ex-policeman James W. Brown, of Hartford, Conn., who, while living with a wife in that city, wooed under another name a girl in the same place, seduced her, took her to New Britain, and married her. The existence of the other wife has just been discovered by the girl's parents, who are very poor, her father being blind. By some outrageous defect in the laws, the rascal cannot be tried for bigamy, as the second marriage was in New Britain. He was threatened with a suit for seduction, and has been allowed to settle for $300. His first wife raised that amount, and he has fled to parts unknown.

—Forty-nine of the survivors of the Oneida were finally paid off in Brooklyn, Saturday. Some of those not paid tore up their discharge papers in disgust. It is no wonder the government is troubled to find sailors to man its vessels. The Boston Advertiser says it will not look well after this shameful neglect for government officers to take excursions in navy vessels this season.

— The Louisville Courier-Journal says: "Misfortunes never come singly. A man over in Indiana, last week, lost his wife and his family physician on the same day. He is now searching for their remains with a double-barrelled shot-gun, with the intention of burying them both in the same grave."

—The Democracy of Kentucky have two colored candidates in the field. One aspires to the sheriffalty, the other to the position of county jailor.

Lines on death of Mrs. Sarah Marshall.

Two little weeks the summer sods have lain
Upon her ever pulseless silent breast,
Who has put by our lot of griefs and joys,
Whose hands are folded in eternal rest.
So young! with happy beckoning years to be!
A mound of narrow earth is all we see.

To fade with all life's promises fair and sweet,
This was the sentence on her youth and love,
But earth took only to her close embrace
The mortal form she could not wear above.
Herself, her being, is gathered to that land,
Where every day unites some household band.

To fade with all life's promise fair and sweet,
It is a blighting fond friends weep to know;
Old age we sorrow o'er with gentle tears,
But youth and prime, ah, these should never go!
Their work is here, here in our midst to stay,
Why should they leave their tasks and melt away?

Out of the stillness comes the answer clear,
"It is His will," and so it must be best,
They who go on before us to that land,
Find there from pain and sorrow endless rest.
We have the heat and burden of the day,
But to a better home they pass away.

The summer suns will shine upon her grave,
The autumn grass will wither brown and gray;
She in her happy world of life and love,
Heeds not our changing seasons pass away.
The gloom is on the earth where she has trod,
Not where her happy spirit dwells with God.

YORK COUNTY.—The grading of the western division of the P. & R. R. R. between Alfred and Rochester is progressing rapidly, and large gangs of men are at work along the entire line. The bridge across the Jepson stream in Alfred will be one of the finest and most substantial pieces of work.

Col. Ivory Hall and wife celebrated their golden wedding at their residence in Alfred, last week.

A gentleman relates that he recently saw Mr. Samuel McKenney of Saco, who is 96 years old, fishing for trout with all the cautiousness and finesse of angling which a young man would employ in quest of the "speckled beauties."

Saco city appropriations amount to about $65,000.

Mrs. Harriet Andrews was killed near Great Works on the P., G. F. & C. Railroad last week. She was walking upon the track, and being deaf, did not hear the train. The engineer whistled several times, and finding she paid no attention, reversed steam, but was unable to stop before the engine struck her. She was much respected, and was aged about 54 years.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, mortid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in the evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. R. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised remedies without hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouragement induced me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel it my duty to publicly proclaim the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold:

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not believe there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicine agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, JAN. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Inclosed please find our rates of advertising. Yours, TILE H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer you could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, all squozed out medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me, if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I walked, it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had madeup my mind it was of no use to try, but concluded to wait the time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford, on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and stuck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of an iron ore, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking that might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. The stone was secured, wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time, so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD,

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Corner of 5th av. and 76th st., Central Park,
(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save some Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from habit, may be spared much shame, and misery (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping they may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and received the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies without finding them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you at that period of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to delay, and see if it would prove a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and others if such should be the result.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in my family.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, the unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack or enfeebling of fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on any part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.

Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and a lasting cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Spleen, Nervous Irritability, and all the offections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.

Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Inaction or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer of the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections of a nervous character, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, JUNE 18, 1870.

HON. JOHN P. HALE.—The greeting that Ex-Minister Hale has received at Dover is but an indication of the feeling towards him throughout the State. His long and faithful public service, closing with his resignation as Minister to Spain, has been an honor to the State, and party feeling was forgotten at his own home, so eager were his neighbors of all shades of political opinions to testify to their good will and esteem for him.

Mr. Hale has received many honors from his fellow citizens. He nobly represented them in Congress for sixteen years, and for five years ably represented the United States as Minister Plenipotentiary to Spain. Covered with honors, with a fame that few men in this Republic ever achieve, satisfied with his life's work for freedom and humanity, and the triumph of the principles he has so eloquently upheld, he now returns to his former constituents impaired in health, but still the same eloquent advocate as of yore.

Hon. John P. Hale did more for the redemption of New Hampshire from Democratic rule than any other person. He led the van in the fight for freedom, and won a national reputation. In time of need he was fearless and invincible, always responding to the call of his associates. His political ambition is satisfied, yet a necessity may arise which will call him once more to the post of duty.

Should he consent to the use of his name as candidate for Congress in this District, Mr. Hale would sweep the field clear of other candidates. Unpledged and untrammelled, he would be an acceptable candidate to the Republicans of the District, who would unite in giving him a triumphant election.

There is another position to which the Republicans of the whole State would delight to choose him. The position of Governor of the State of New Hampshire would not add to the laurels already won by Mr. Hale, an but opportunity for the Republicans of the whole State to show their appreciation of his past services would be offered were he to be the standard-bearer in the coming contest.

Besides ability, availability must be considered in connection with the next Republican nomination for Governor. A change of 600 votes would defeat the Republican nominee next March, and it is evident that the Democrats will put forward a popular man for their candidate at that time. The Republicans must be as wise. Hon. John P. Hale cannot be beaten for Governor by any man in New Hampshire if he will consent to lead the Republican hosts.

New Publications Received.

Blackwood's Magazine for June, (Am. reprint,) from Leonard Scott Pub. Co., New York.

Peterson's Ladies' National Magazine for July. Chas. J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia. This number has a beautiful engraving of a "Sun Shower," the usual fashion plates, and a large amount of reading matter. $2 per year.

Monthly part of Oliver Optic's Magazine: Boston, Lee and Shepard: $2.50 per year. Contains a large amount of reading matter for the boys and girls, four fine engravings and four wood cuts. An excellent magazine for youth.

Putnam's Monthly for July, New York: G. P. Putnam & Sons: $4 per year. This number commences the 6th Vol., and is fully up to the standard of the publication.

Private Life of Galileo: Boston, Nichols and Noyes. 300 pages of interesting matter, well printed on good paper. The copy of Galileo's abjuration has a special interest just now, in view of the promulgation of papal "infallibility." J. H. Foster has it.

Put Yourself in His Place, the most exciting of Charles Reade's novel, is on our table from the Publishers, Sheldon & Co., New York. The plot is ingenious and has for a foundation the merciless system of persecution in vogue in England by trades-unions, against labor saving inventions and workmen of superior abilities who decline joining these unions. For sale by J. H. Foster.

The Galaxy is at hand, among the first of the monthlies, and has the concluding chapters of "Put Yourself in his Place." Justin McCarthy has a chapter on American Women and English Women, and Ex-Secretary Gideon Welles has an article on the "Abandonment of Gosport Navy Yard," in reply to Thurlow Weed. Mark Twain continues his Memoranda. The Publishers, Sheldon & Co., announce the commencement of a new story by Justin McCarthy in the September number.

New Hampshire Legislature.

On Thursday, Mr. Walker of Portsmouth introduced a bill to amend the charter of the Kearsarge Mills.

Mr. Wyatt of Dover gave notice of a bill for the extension of the charter of the Portsmouth and Dover railroad.

Mr. Miller of Portsmouth gave notice of a bill to amend the charter of the city of Portsmouth that the city council may have power to pass an ordinance for the betterment of highway.

In joint convention, ballotted for Secretary of State:—

Whole number of votes	267
Necessary for a choice	134
John D. Lyman	3
Alonzo J. Fogg	11
J. W. Shirley	90
Nathan W. Gove	163

and was elected.

Proceeded to elect State Treasurer:

Whole number of votes	273
Necessary for a choice	137
Joseph Kidder	11
Alphonzo H. Rust	89
Peter Sanborn	173

and was declared elected.

Voted for State Printer:—

Whole number of votes	275
Necessary for a choice	138
Walter Harriman	1
George N. Johnson	11
Chester E. Cary	85
Orin C. Moore	178

and is elected.

On Friday, Mr. Whitford of Nashua introduced a bill for the consolidation of the Nashua and Lowell Railroad, the Boston and Nashua Railroad, and the Nashua and Wilton Railroad. A motion to lay it on the table received 103 yeas to 98 nays—not the requisite two-thirds. The subject was then made the special order for Tuesday.

PROGRESS BACKWARDS.—The U. S. House of Representatives passed a bill on Wednesday retiring all the three per cents, some $45,000,000, authorizing the issue of $95,000,000 new national bank notes and a redistribution of $25,000,000 more, by a vote of 98 to 81. The affirmative vote was made up of 3 democrats and 95 republicans, and the negative vote of 44 democrats and 37 republicans. The Senate will not concur.

—An unamiable remark is reported as being made by an ex-belle concerning a youthful beauty whose grace has become the talk of the day: "She reminds me of a comb when she laughs," said the ex-belle. "Wherefore, my dear X.?" "Because she shows all her teeth!"

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Life Sustaining Organs.

The two organs which minister most directly to the support of the body, are the stomach and liver. In the former the first process of digestion takes place, under the action of that powerful solvent, the gastric juice. Thence the food, converted into a pulp, passes into the duodenum, where it is subjected to the action of the bile or gall, flowing from the liver, and of the fluid generated by the pancreas, or sweetbread of the system. These secretions complete the digestion of portion from the rest, and it is then taken up by the absorbent vessels and conveyed into the channels of circulation, in the form of chyle, blood, while the waste matter is discharged through the bowels.

Unless all these processes are duly performed, disease of some sort is inevitable, and the best of all medicinal agents for preserving or restoring the tone and regulating the action of the three organs—(the stomach, liver and intestines—) by which the three-fold work is carried on is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Indigestion is generally accompanied by constipation, and the gentle cathartic operation of the Bitters is no less important in cases of this kind, than in its tonic effect upon the stomach and the biliary organs. Beauty of person as well as health, depends in no small degree upon the regularity of the excretive functions. A sallow complexion, a thick, occasionally coarse skin, a tainted breath, rush of blood to the head, loss of memory, headache, and extreme mental depression, are the usual accompaniments of costiveness.

A course of the Bitters will infallibly relieve and finally banish these obnoxious symptoms, while invigorating the stomach and promoting healthy action in the liver. This genial vegetable stomachic and alterative strikes at disease in its primary sources, the assimilating, secretive and expulsive organs, and the cures it effects are consequently thorough and complete.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a tact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus preserving in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 5, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cases have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

a PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color is not a false tint.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. TRY IT. je13ify13

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved from premature by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Notice—A. Jackson.
Cutler and Grinder, &c.—James Whalley.

☞ Auction of valuable real estate, (store corner Water and State Streets,) at noon this day, Saturday. See advertisement.

☞ The fishermen from this port and Newcastle, both in the mackerel and cod fisheries, report good success about this time.

☞ James M. Carr, Esq., of this city, was chosen President of the Universalist Sabbath School Convention held at Nashua on Wednesday.

☞ George Vandenhoff, Esq., the distinguished dramatist and elocutionist, is spending the summer at his estate on Deer Street in this city, purchased of the heirs of Peter Jenness last year.

BASE BALL.—The match at South Berwick on Friday was won by the Granite States of this city, by a score of 63 to 47. The Minie club held the lead until the close of the 7th inning, being then 11 ahead. By tall batting, the Granites added 31 to their runs in the last two innings, while the Minies scored but 4. A return game is to be played in this city on or before the 4th of July.

☞ The new Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank of this city, reports on the first of April last, the amount of their deposits and accumulations as $218,562.44. Nearly a quarter of a million dollars — quite a respectable sum for an institution only a couple of years old. The business will be removed into their elegant and substantial new banking-house, on the east side Market Street, at an early day.

☞ The Exeter News Letter, referring to an item in this paper a few days since, which gave the wrong town as the location of an accidental death, says "the Chronicle is famous for transporting individuals and events." Now mistakes will happen in all newspapers, as well as in the best of families, and we don't think we make more than our share; but if we can be the means of transporting any individuals, well and good, isn't it?

THE RATE OF TAXATION, this year, is $2.44 on $100—four cents more than last. The poll tax is $3.66—last year, $3.60. The increase is caused by a falling off of the inventory of taxable property, being $150,000 less than last year. The appropriations this year are $1063 less than last year. There are 2418 polls, a decrease of 81 from last year. There are 473 horses, 98 oxen, 141 young stock, 91 sheep, 99 hogs and 214 dogs. The decrease of valuation is on account of loss of shipping. The total valuation of polls and property is $6,017,002.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Thursday evening, the bond of Chas. A. Shannon, Collector of Taxes, was accepted.

The annual report of the School Committee of Ward Three was received and accepted. Voted not to print any of the School Reports, on account of the lateness of this one.

The Committee on Streets reported that the sewer in Washington Street could be extended into Puddle Dock for $150. Referred to the Committee on Streets and Mayor with power to act. The same Committee reported that William Varrell refuses to allow the City to enter his land to rebuild the common sewer, without compensation. Recommitted.

The subject of a common sewer in Bridge Street was laid on the table.

Ordered, that a hearing be had on the petition of John Stavers and others for widening Congress Street below Middle, at the earliest day; legal notice can be given to the abuttors.

Leave was granted for sidewalk on Langdon Street to Jonathan Dearborn.

Voted, that the subject of a supply of water for reservoirs be referred to the Committee on Fire Department to report what measures should be taken.

The Mayor was authorized to sell the lot of land at the Corner of Middle and Madison Streets for $700.

Mr. Dockum's request to remove tree on Daniel Street, was referred to Com. on Sts.

The Mayor and Com. on Police were voted another week to make a written report on the charges against Policemen.

A resolution was passed, that the City Clerk apply to the Clerk of Boston for a copy of their betterment law; and the Board meet Monday evening to consider the matter.

Adjourned to Monday evening.

At a special meeting of the Common Council, Friday evening, a joint resolution allowing the usual discount on taxes was passed in concurrence; and the Council adjourned to the call of the Mayor.

☞ The Portsmouth Journal is for Mr. Cragin for U. S. Senator.

☞ During the shower on Thursday a horse belonging to Mr. Nathan Berry of Greenland was killed by lightning.

☞ Steamer Appledore arrived from Boston on Thursday, bringing Mrs. Partington as supercargo. The old lady is in fine health, but Ike is missing. She reports that the Appledore, which has commenced making regular trips to the Shoals, glides over the waters swiftly, now that it has a new exerter.

☞ The Piscataqua Agricultural Society are to hold their usual annual Trotting Meeting on the 4th of July, at their Park near this city. $375 is offered for three races—$75 free to all horses, $100 for horses that never beat 3 minutes, and $200 for horses that never beat 2.45. The whole open only to horses owned 30 days previous by members of the Society.

☞ An elegant cut-under carryall, from the carriage manufactory of Messrs. Came in this city, was exhibited to many citizens last evening, and much admired. It is of the pattern known as extension top phaeton, and was built to order expressly for Admiral Thatcher, U. S. N., and will be sent to his residence near Boston. It is a stylish and convenient vehicle, and like all Cames' work, is warranted to do good service.

Happening in at Cames' yesterday, we noticed, among other fine carriages of all sorts in course of manufacture, a cosy and inviting pony phaeton for Ex-Gov. Goodwin, — being simply a four wheeled covered carriage with low wheels, and designed for one horse, and not especially for ponies. It is roomy and easy of access, and at once stylish and neat. There was also a handsome grocery wagon for a Manchester firm, and the painting and lettering were especially fine.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the New Hampshire Unitarian Association will be held at East Wilton, on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, opening at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. At 7 1-2 o'clock in the evening of Wednesday, a sermon will be preached by Rev. J. F. Lovering, of Concord. At 9 o'clock, Thursday morning, A. S. Scott, Esq., of Peterborough, will give an Address; Subject "Liberal Christianity must be propagated by Liberal Methods,"—to be followed by a discussion. At the opening of the afternoon session, Miss Mary A. Foster, of Portsmouth, will read an Essay; Subject: "Parish Organization and Parish Work,"—to be followed by a discussion.

RICHARDSON'S

LITTLE WASHER! PRICE $5.00.

The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1866; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!

☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bed-quilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.

More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.

MR. J. J. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.

MR. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success. MRS. L. E. MARTIN.

MR. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.

OF THE

CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad

is completed and running from RICHMOND, Va., to the celebrated WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, in West Va., 237 miles. It is being rapidly extended to the Ohio River, 200 miles further, making in all 437 miles.

In its progress Westward, it penetrates and opens up to market the Wonderful Coal Deposits of the Kanawha Region in West Virginia. And thus brings the superior and abundant Coals of that section into communication with the Iron Ores of Virginia and Ohio, and the Western, South Western and Eastern markets.

When completed it will connect the superior harbor facilities of the Chesapeake Bay with reliable navigation on the Ohio River, and thus with the entire system of Railroad and Water transportations of the great West and South-West.

It will make a short, easy, cheap and favorable route from the West, to the sea, and will command a large share of the enormous freights seeking transportation to the East.

It will thus become one of the most important and profitable East and West Trunk Lines of Railroad in the country, and command a trade of immense value.

The completed portion of the Road is doing a profitable and increasing Business, and is fully equal in value to the whole amount of the mortgage upon the entire Line—($15,000,000.)

The loan of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company, being a First Mortgage upon the entire Line, property and equipments, worth when completed at least $30,000,000, is therefore one of the most substantial, conservative and reliable Railroad Loans ever offered in the market, and is peculiarly adapted to the wants of

INVESTORS and CAPITALISTS,

Who desire to make their investments with the most satisfactory assurance of positive and undoubted Security.

The Bonds are in denominations of $1000, $500 and $100,

and may be had COUPON or REGISTERED.

Interest Six per cent. per annum, payable MAY 1st and NOVEMBER 1st.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

Price 90 and accrued Interest in Currency, at which price they pay nearly Seven per cent. in gold on their cost.

All Government Bonds and other Securities dealt in at the Stock Exchange, received in exchange, at their full market value, and Bonds sent to all parts of the country, free of Express charges.

They can be obtained by ordering direct from us or through any responsible Bank or Banker in any part of the country.

TAKING THE CENSUS.

GAINESVILLE, GA., June 3.

Hon. Sec. of the Interior:—Sir:—I left Maine two weeks ago, and came here for the purpose of taking the census. My appointment was due to the fact that there are not loyal men enough in the State to do the work, and rebels can't be trusted. I find the colored people all good Unionists, and willing to trust Northern men, and I may say here that I have been nominated republican candidate for Congress. Nevertheless, I must privately confess to you that I have much trouble in taking the census. The colored people are very intelligent in politics, but—and I regret to say it—in other respects they are lamentably deficient. This, I admit, is wholly due to the brutal institution of slavery, but still it exists, and it is forming an obstacle in the way of obtaining a correct census of the late slaves. To give you some idea of the answers I get to the inquiries, I append the result of an interview I had with one family of colored citizens. It will serve as the answers of nearly all the families I have visited.

I halted before a log cabin, and on the door being opened, two aged negroes, followed by some seven younger ones, ranging from men and women to infants, came out. When they learned I was from the North they expressed themselves very glad to see me, and offered me a seat and a calabash full of water, both of which I accepted. I then began my inquiries.

"How many persons are in your family?" I inquired of the old man.

"Lemme see," returned the aged patriarch. "Dar's me, de ole woman, Jim, Sal, Mariar, Jane, Ellen, Joe, Tom, de piccaninny, four pigs, two dogs an' "—

"Hold on," said I; "that's enough. Now tell me, my friend, how old are you?"

"'Bout seb'nteen, boss," he replied, scratching his head.

"What? Why, you are mistaken," I exclaimed.

"Not a bit ob it. 'Bout seb'nteen comin' last year."

"How old is your wife? I ventured to ask.

"Six year," she answered promptly.

I tried to persuade them that it was impossible for the old man to be only seventeen and the old woman only six years old; but they insisted they were right. They could not have been less than seventy each.

"Well," said I, pointing to a small girl of apparently ten years, "how old is that girl?"

"Who? Jane, you mean?"

"Yes."

"Lemme see. Reckon Jane past sixty by dis time. Last birt'day she war seventy."

"Good heavens! my old friend," I said, "Don't you see that is impossible?"

"Don't see nuffin ob de kine," he answered.

"How old is that baby, then?" I inquired, pointing to an infant nursing at the maternal fount.

"Reckon dat chile am gwine on to two hundred year old."

"You are wrong," put in the mother. "Dis chile am near on to tree hundred."

"Don't you contrundick me, ooman," he replied, reprovingly. "Dat chile am gwine on to two hundred year old. Put it down dat way, boss."

Mr. Secretary, I am in despair. How can a reliable census be taken when I have to deal with such ignorant people? Advise me what to do.

Your humble servant,
ZACHARIAH ZOOKS.

CORN ON THE ACRE.—A New York farmer named Nathan Pierce of Pawling, stated at the N. Y. Farmers' Club, he had tried with the effect of fertilizers used judiciously and with good culture to produce one hundred bushels of shelled corn on an acre, and has failed. He desires to know if any of the eminent agriculturists of the club had ever known of their knowledge that one hundred bushels of shelled corn were produced from an acre.

Mr. Carpenter said he had produced fully one hundred bushels of shelled corn to the acre, and the statements made by the State Agricultural Society, duly authenticated by affidavits, show that one hundred and thirty bushels of shelled corn per acre have been produced in this State during the past year. If he wanted to produce that amount, he would not select Dutton corn as the variety to plant.

He has found the production of other crops in the field profitable—such as pumpkins, the seed to be planted with corn and turnips to be sown immediately after the last cultivating and hoeing. The past season, at the time of the last dressing of his Early Rose potatoes, (which have small tops) he sowed among them Russia turnip seed, and secured thereby, with the potatoes, a turnip crop of two hundred bushels per acre.

Prof. Nash stated that in Conway, Mass., premiums were awarded for crops of corn said to have produced respectively one hundred and thirty-seven and one half and one hundred and twenty-four and one-half bushels per acre. The field was measured and the product estimated from the yield of a portion of the field. He saw the field said to have produced one hundred and twenty-four and one-half bushels per acre and doubts not that the product would have amounted, weighed, to one hundred and twenty-four and one-half bushels upon it.

Mr. Fuller had heard large stories of corn production; has heard it asserted that one hundred and sixty bushels have been produced to the acre. Neither East nor West had he seen a field that did or would produce one hundred bushels, per acre. He would go a thousand miles to see such a crop. He does not believe that amount was ever produced on one acre in or out of New Jersey—not one hundred bushels of merchantable shelled corn weighing fifty-six pounds to the bushel. Other gentlemen expressed their want of faith.

HOW SHERIDAN SAW HIS PICTURE.—During the late meeting of officers of the Army of the Potomac in Philadelphia, Mr. Pugh tendered to a number of the assembled heroes an invitation to visit the exhibition of Sheridan's Ride, at the Academy of Fine Arts. Sheridan himself went alone and early in the morning to see what Mr. Buchanan Read's idea of his ride would prove to be. How he liked the picture has not transpired. At all events, he exhibited no emotion which made him conspicuous, but without doubt his heart throbbed with a quicker beat as the canvas recalled the stirring scene. On leaving the hall he stopped for a moment before a chromo of the painting. The young man in attendance, ever anxious to extend the influence of art, inquired of the visitor (without looking up from the book in which he was rapidly entering the sales of chromos) if he would like to buy one of these pictures. "A capital likeness, sir, of Gen. Sheriden," said he.

The Major-General put his hands in the pockets of his citizen's dress, and mildly replied that he did not care particularly for a likeness of Sheriden.

"But the horse, sir," said the young man. "That famous black horse. There is no other picture of him in existence."

"Oh!" said General Sheridan, "I own the horse."

The clerk looked up! The curtain fell.

TO-MORROW.

BY MARTHA EMICK.

It will have its cares and crosses,
Like the days that one by one
Dawned and gently faded from us,
With the rising, setting sun
It will have its cares and crosses,
And its pleasures—we may pray,
But we never shall be happy
For a year as for a day.

It will be this bright to-morrow,
Like the days along the past,
In some we found contentment,
Or some a gloom is cast,
There are few with white stones glistening,
Where we look fondly back,
But broken dreams and sorrows
Lie thick along the track.

Here is a still death chamber,—
Here is a task undone,—
Here is some glistening bauble
We think we might have won,—
Here is a dear friend's features,
The dead, estranged, as cold,—
All these the still to-morrow
In waiting silence hold.

It will have its cares and crosses,
But it has a plan we know,
Though seeing here so darkly
In every step we go;
We shall see the plan perfected
When the journey all is past,
And we find that every fragment
Is gathered in at last.

AMERICAN CHARACTERISTICS.—Mr. Justin McCarthy has a readable article about "American men and Englishmen," in the Galaxy for June, from which we cut the following extract:

In almost every possible way, socially, morally, and politically, Americans seem to me to be distinguished from Englishmen by the absence of the influences of caste and traditional privilege, which in England are almost ubiquitous, almost omnipotent. Reform and progress with an Englishman mean the unmaking of old laws, the unwinding of old coils, the bursting of old chains. Reform with Americans seems to mean the introduction of new legal mechanism, to reduce disorder into order. The tendency in England is to reduce legal restriction down to its very minimum, reformers there believing that human nature can generally be trusted more freely than class legislation.

Of course, one great reason for this is that for generations, and almost from the beginning of our judicial and legal systems, our English laws have been made by a class, and as the nation grows it finds itself compelled to shake off successive coils of unwise and partial restriction. "Something is wrong here," says the American; "let us, the nation, make a law to set it right." "Something is wrong here," says the Englishman; "the fault must be in some measure passed long ago by this or that class or party; let us try to get rid of it."

I happened lately to be conversing with an American friend about systems of taxation, and I learned for the first time that people in this city are only informed by a public and general notification that their taxes are due, and then they are bound to go and pay them, or else—! I thought of our rate-collectors at home in England, who believe themselves lucky indeed if they can get the amount the third time of their calling at the reluctant rate-payer's door. I tried to picture to myself an Englishman seeing a general notice in the papers that everybody's taxes were due, and thereupon walking over to the public office and paying the money.

I have not a very high-soaring imagination, and my fancy could not reach this flight. My friend, on the other hand, could scarcely understand my surprise. "It is our business," he said, "to go and pay the taxes; it is not the business of the public office to keep sending after us; the taxes are our own, and we are bound to pay them." Fancy an Englishman talking in this sort of a way of a tax! Why, we all regard the tax-collector as our natural enemy; as a creature to be dodged, denounced, ridiculed; as a being who has no rights we are bound to respect; between whom and us the laws of morality and commercial integrity have no binding power whatever.

A great deal of this feeling undoubtedly originated in a fact that until very lately the great majority of the people of England had little or nothing to do with the making of the laws they were to obey, and the imposition of the taxes they were to contribute. It is not so much a sense of equality that seems to me to make itself evident in American society, as the sense of universal ownership or copartnership in the State and its possessions. Every American man appears to me to proclaim after his own meaning the L'etat c'est moi! maxim.

The Baptist and Congregational Societies in Chester have contributed six dollars for the American Tract Society, The Congregational Society in Stratham $12.50.

The bridge across the Pemigewasset river at Campton, which was burned last season, is being rebuilt and will soon be ready for use.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and color, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention of the urine, tinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dropsies, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

TESTIMONY.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

NASHVILLE, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining have every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECOLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of my bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an medicinal tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similar ly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, a good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and such permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in my practice for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases for which such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more disease of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.
August 11, 1865.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Inclosed please find our rates advertising. Yours, TIB H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about. I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had madeup my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the second time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time the stone or gravel came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw. It is covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mutt turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so bad. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as sound as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement need me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time, so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD,

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Corner of 5th av. and 76th st., Central Park.
(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning unsthinness of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from habit, may be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a habit) unjustly and unduly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

A. H. YOUNG, General Supt and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experienced but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Fluid Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you recommended it, I commenced using Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it two weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to defer, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for the three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not think it can be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, JUNE 20, 1870.

Newsings.

Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, son of Prince Jerome Bonaparet, brother of the first Napoleon, and Elizabeth Patterson of Baltimore died on Friday, aged 65. He graduated at Harvard College and married a Roxbury lady.

The Mechanics' National Bank in Louisville, Kentucky, has been robbed of $8,000.

Both branches of Congress have passed a bill establishing a Department of Law.

Copious showers have ended the drought in France, and there are hopes of saving a portion of the wheat crops.

Navigation on the upper Missouri is nearly suspended on account of low water.

The Vermont Democrats have nominated Hon. Homer W. Heaton for Governor.

A large four story brown stone residence on the corner of Fifth Avenue and Twentieth street, New York, fell Friday morning, while the occupants were taking breakfast. One was seriously injured, and another is missing. The workmen, in excavating the earth for the foundation of a new structure next to it, carelessly undermined the walls.

A London despatch says that the total value of Charles Di kens' estate will slightly exceed eighty thousand pounds sterling. "The Mystery of Edwin Drood" is complete, and the duty of editing the conclusion of this story has been assumed by his son-in-law, Mr. Wilkie Collins.

A southwestern paper thus epitomizes Lynch law:—"Four Kentuckians, in jail for murdering a neighbor, had a surprise party from a hundred or two citizens the other night. They hadn't any last words ready, and wouldn't have had time to say them if they had. All leave families."

The wild cats are making fearful havoc with the sheep at Bluehill, Maine, and vicinity. Many of the farmers have, since shearing time, had more than 50 per cent. of their flock killed. It is estimated that the wild cats within two years have destroyed $1000 worth of sheep in Brooksville.

PRISONERS' AID SOCIETY.—An interesting meeting was held in the Representatives' Hall, Tuesday evening, to complete the organization of the "N. H. Prisoners' Aid Association," the object to aid, furnish employment, and act as guardians to those released from the penal institutions of New Hampshire, who will put themselves under its care and comply with its rules. Brief but interesting addresses were made by Capt. Daniel Russell of Boston, agent for a similar association in Massachusetts; Ex-Gov. Smyth, Warden Mayo, Rev. S. L. Blake, Rev. F. D. Ayer, Rev. H. Quinby and others.

The following persons were elected officers for the present year: Hon. Frederick Smyth of Manchester, President; Col. David A. Warde, Concord, and Hon. J. D. Lyman, Exeter, Vice Presidents; Rev. Elisha Adams, Concord, Secretary; George A. Pillsbury, Esq., Treasurer. Councillors — Rev. Wm. Clark, Amherst; Hon. Horton D. Walker, Portsmouth; Nathaniel White, Esq., Concord; Wm. M. Weed, Esq., Sandwich; Joseph Mayo, Esq., Concord; Mrs. N. White, Concord; Mrs. W. H. Kimball, Concord; Mrs. Dr. Hunt, Manchester; Mrs. J. F. Lovering, Concord; Miss A. J. Herbert, Concord. Revs. H. Quinby, A. H. Brown and S. L. Blake were appointed a committee to petition the Legislature for an act of incorporation.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, Friday, a debate arose on the bill granting a pension to Mrs. Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Edmunds argued against the bill, contending that it would be an injustice to all the other women in the country made widows by the war, of whom over 213,000 are receiving only $360 a year each, to grant this large and unprecedented pension, however worthy the recipient.

An amendment to the franking bill was adopted, providing for a reduction of letter postage to two cents.

☞ The Exeter News Letter rages over the re-nomination of Senator Cragin, and denounces Hon. E. H. Rollins for "selling out" to Mr. Cragin. Shouldn't think you'd get mad, Mr. News Letter, at a "little thing like that?" Didn't another candidate "sell out" to Mr. Rollins several days before the caucus?

☞ The health of Hon. John P. Hale is such as to occasion much solicitude from his friends.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

MORALS AND LAW.—Messrs. Editors: The short article published in the Chronicle of the 15th inst. in respect to closing houses of ill-fame, and disorderly rum holes, by turning the attention of our citizens to the subject, may elicit truth and do good. It is an unpleasant subject to write about, but we ought never to shrink from exposing vicious practices, in order to promote the general welfare. You reiterate your belief that our people (meaning a majority) do not desire to close such houses. We take issue; but have some fear that the verdict may be in your favor, and thereby if true be a stigma upon the reputation of the city. Surely we would defend it so far as truth and justice warrant, and no further.

Sixty years ago, our population was a little over six thousand, and since that time has increased about four thousand, — but has not increased in proportion to other cities on the seaboard. This is a remarkable fact. Portsmouth is a very healthy place, and its native population doubles in a quarter of a century. But very many of our most active and enterprising young men and citizens, and others, have emigrated, and settled in various parts of the Union, where, we trust, their influence has been felt for good. We compute the number at not less than ten thousand! Yet Portsmouth has many natural advantages, superior to most other seaports.

Some thousands within the same period, coming from a distance, have settled here, some of them of the higher class, active business men, and many of the lower class, including a class of migratory females of the most degraded infamy. There is another class of transient persons, who are found in seaports, of which we need not speak.

You say, if the prevailing sentiment was not in favor of the brothels and rum-holes, they would soon be abated. If your opinion be correct, we would sound an alarm! We would call upon every good and upright citizen to use his best efforts, and adopt the most efficient and salutary measures to abate such nuisances, which are a disgrace to the city. It is true what you say, that "officers cannot enforce laws not sustained by public sentiment."

A few years ago, an intelligent civil engineer, who resided here a considerable time, said to me in confidence, that "Portsmouth requires regeneration." I replied that that was no secret to me, but long well known. Surely there ought to be an extensive reformation of morals, and the recent religious revival of a multitude of persons can hardly fail to have a most beneficent influence upon all who have made a public profession, and upon many others, even including the youth of the city. We advert to a period within half a century, when Portsmouth had quite a number of highly distinguished men, who were looked up to—who held a number of the highest offices in the State, and exercised a great influence in the State, and some of them in the national, Legislature We would like an answer to the question, whether this city has now more influence than an ordinary town, and what is the cause of the decline?

If the lowest and the lower classes constitute a majority (which we do not concede) which fear neither God nor man, and are in favor of houses of ill fame, still the minority, who are, with few exceptions, the property-holders, and persons of influence, who value character, can control the city by a united action. But should they decline so to do, a small number may invoke the strong arm of the State, and by appealing to the grand jury procure bills of indictment against the owners of houses of ill fame, the sinks of corruption, and also against the abandoned female inmates, whose pestilential atmosphere gives out as deadly poison as the fabled, fatal Upas tree. By such means the high moral character of this ancient town may be redeemed — regenerated, and fear no comparison with the best governed cities in the Union. From no other than a pure motive to promote the future welfare and prosperity of our people, we submit these remarks to their candid consideration. * A CITIZEN.

[Remarks.—We certainly do not desire to make out our city worse than it is,—nor is this necessary; but as probably few if any of the keepers of houses of ill-fame own their tenements, it follows that some of the respectable property-owners, "who value character," must accept such tenants. We don't know about the law against this letting, but have always understood that it is not a strong act. We believe there is not a single well-known public den of infamy in Newburyport, like a score or so said to exist in this city. When we shall see men who keep such, or who lease buildings to this use, ostracised socially and politically, we shall believe that the movement suggested by our correspondent has begun.—Eds. Chronicle.]

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Life Sustaining Organs.

The two organs which minister most directly to the support of the body, are the stomach and liver. In the former the first process of digestion takes place, under the action of that powerful solvent, the gastric juice. Thence the food, converted into a pulp, passes into the duodenum, where it is subjected to the action of the bile or gall, flowing from the liver, and of the fluid generated by the pancreas, or sweetbread of the system. These secretions separate the nutritious portion from the rest, and it is then taken up by the absorbent vessels and conveyed into the channels of circulation in the form of venous blood, while the waste matter is discharged through the bowels.

Unless all these processes are duly performed, disease of some sort is inevitable, and the best of all medicinal agents for preserving or restoring the tone and regulating the action of the three organs—the stomach, liver and intestines—by which the three-fold work is carried on, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Indigestion is generally accompanied by constipation, and the gentle cathartic operation of the Bitters is no less important in cases of this kind, than in its tonic effect upon the stomach and the biliary gland. Beauty of person as well as health, depends in no small degree upon the regularity of the excretive functions. A sallow complexion, a thick, opaque, coarse skin, a tainted breath, rush of blood to the head, loss of memory, headache, and extreme mental depression, are the usual accompaniments of costiveness.

A course of the Bitters will infallibly relieve and finally banish these obnoxious symptoms, while invigorating the stomach and promoting healthy action in the liver. This genial vegetable stomachic and alterative strikes at disease in its primary sources, the assimilating, secretive and expulsive organs, and the cures it effects are consequently thorough and complete.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WCOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. ☞ Chief Engineer S. L. P. Ayers is detached from this Naval Station and placed on waiting orders.

☞ Mr. Stephen Marden will sell some valuable cows, horses and carts, at auction at the Plains, next Saturday. Advertisement to-morrow.

☞ Native Strawberries are getting pretty plenty, at fair prices; but Dr. Gilbert sells the Jersey berries fully as low, and they are better than any natives we have seen.

☞ The Calais (Me.) Advertiser says that Rev. W. G. Nowell (formerly of this city,) read a poem at the recent Memorial Day services in that city, and that Mrs. Nowell prepared a hymn for the occasion. Hon. F. A. Pike, late M. C. from that District, delivered an excellent address.

☞ The Ladies of the Universalist Society, and Sabbath School, are to have a "Strawberry Festival" in aid of the Centenary or Murry fund, on Tuesday Evening, June 28th, at Congress Hall. The importance of the object, together with the energy and good taste displayed by them on former occasions, will warrant them success and a good time.

THE OUT DOOR TEMPERANCE MEETING, Friday evening, near the Kearsarge Mill, was attended by several hundred people who were deeply interested in the remarks of Sergeant Ambler, who is bearding the lion in his den and winning scores of people to the cause of Temperance from the depths of despair and misery. Addresses were also made by Messrs. Fred. W. Rogers, A. F. Craig and others. The efforts of Sergeant Ambler should be encouraged by all citizens who have the good of mankind and the best interests of the city at heart.

Our Legislative Correspondence.

CONCORD, June 17.

Dear Chronicle:—The elections are all over, those in the Legislature, we mean; and we are glad of it, for we can now all be allowed to attend to other business. The State Officers were a small matter compared to Senator, but there was a good deal of lobbying for these even. The third house really decides all these appointments; and for State Printer especially, all Nashua and Manchester wire-pullers were on hand here for days, including even Gen. Stevens, M. C.; while from Rockingham nobody appeared, except the Exeter News Letter clique, who of course pulled against Portsmouth.

You have ere this given the new State Officers. These are satisfactory to us. Peter Sanborn is to remain Treasurer,—forever, we guess, if he desires it. Concord gains one more of the offices, in the new Secretary of State. Mr. Lyman, after three years in the office, and in spite of his being reported as not a candidate, received a highly respectable and very complimentary vote. Mr. E. S. Stearns of Rindge was presented as a candidate, by friends who think all such offices should be occupied by able and efficient workers in and for the party—and in whose view the defeat of such men as Stearns is a mistake in policy.

The State Printing going to Nashua, is taken by many as an indication that it will not be given out in Concord again, until it has gone the rounds of the State. And we certainly think this is right; for unless it can be shown that the Concord Republican papers are the most and only efficient workers in the State for the cause, (as we never thought they were,) we really can't see why they should receive all the benefit from the party. It was reported that the Monitor and Statesmen united forces on this occasion. Mr. Moore was one of the first to advocate and promote its removal from Concord, in rotation outside; and, as Gen. Stevens happily said on Mr. Cragin's recent nomination, next to one other thing, Mr. Moore's election best pleases us. And suffice it to say, that had our city turned out to the rescue now, as did Nashua and Manchester, the result would have been different in degree if not in kind.

The formation of a Prisoners' Aid Society is a good move, though tardy. Ex-Gov. Smyth and Hon. H. D. Walker will aid in its organization and conduct, as they have done so efficiently in the Reform School.

I do not see how the Session can close before July 2d, but I hear none who care to stay longer. Rye Beach or the Mountains is a better place during the hot term, than Concord can ever be. F.

OLD TIMES CHRONICLE, No. 6.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

NOTTINGHAM SQUARE.—The Butler Family.—The second minister of Nottingham was Rev. Benjamin Butler, settled in 1758. After continuing 12 years in the ministry he requested his dismission, not considering his tastes and feelings adapted to the work. It is related that on retiring from the pastorate, and not designing to preach any more, he committed his sermon manuscripts to the flames, and remarked that they gave more light then than ever before. His residence was where the house of Col. Joseph Cilley now stands. He continued to reside in town, was a Justice of the Peace, and died Dec. 26, 1804.

Gen. Henry Butler was his son,—resided on the Square, was in the war of the Revolution, afterwards Maj. Gen. in the militia, Justice of the Peace, and in 1810 was Senator in the State Legislature. He died July 20, 1813, aged 62. Of his children, Henry lived at first on the Square, and then moved to Maine. Ebenezer lived on the Square, kept tavern, and we think was Representative in the Legislature. We have not the date of his death.

James Henry Butler, son of Ebenezer, followed his father on the homestead. He was Representative of the town in 1842 and '43. In the militia he was Aide to Maj. Gen. Pillsbury, and also to Maj. Gen. Gale. In 1852 he was appointed Associate Justice of the Court of Common Pleas for Rockingham County. He held this office till the form of the Court was changed.

Judge Butler has a farm cultivated much according to modern improvements. And for years he has been extensively engaged in superintending lumbering operations, such as getting out wood, ship-timber, &c. Latterly he has had a ship or two built for himself, and has been engaged in the flour trade. He has often done $150,000 to $200,000 worth of business in a year.

James D. Butler, son of Judge Butler, graduated at Harvard University, studied law with Mr. Frink, and is now in practice with him, at Portsmouth.

Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, descended from Zephaniah Butler, brother to Rev. Benjamin Butler. These two brothers were from Connecticut. The father of B. F. Butler resided in Nottingham, but B. F. was born in Deerfield. He entered Waterville College, and we think graduated. He became a lawyer, was General in the late civil war, and is now Representative in Congress from Massachusetts.

AT THE UNIVERSALIST CONVENTION at Nashua the committee on nominations reported Rev. L. Willis of Warner, clerical, Hon. W. T. Parker of Nashua, and Hon. R. Elwell of Alstead, lay delegates to the U. S. Universalist Convention, all of whom were accepted by the Council. Rev. S. H. McCollister of Nashua, was chosen preacher of the next occasional sermon before the Convention, Rev. G. W. Bicknell substitute. The Convention approved the Constitution of the General Convention adopted at Buffalo, 1869.

Rev. L. Willis presented a resolution prefaced with timely remarks, that the convention gratefully acknowledge the generous donation of five hundred dollars at the hand of the venerable and worthy Christian father, Isaac Wheeler of Amherst, to the Murray Centenary Fund.

On motion of Rev. L. L. Record of Marlboro', the Universalists of New Hampshire renewed their pledge to continued and earnest efforts to the great cause of temperance.

Resolutions of condolence were passed relative to the deaths of Revs. T. H. Miller and T. Barron.

It was voted that the Convention adjourn to meet at such place as the standing clerk shall designate. The closing services consisted of singing by the choir, prayer by Rev. L. L. Record, sermon by Rev. G. W. Bicknell, and a communion service.

DEATHS.

In Plymouth, Mass., June 14th, Mrs. EMILY M. S. POMEROY, aged 68 years, widow of Rev. Mr. Pomeroy, and formerly widow of Jacob Sweetser of this city. Her remains were brought here for burial by the side of her first husband, who died about thirty-five years ago.

RICHARDSON'S LITTLE WASHER! PRICE $5.00.

The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!

☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bedquilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.

More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.

MR. J. J. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.

MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success. MRS. L. E. MARTIN.

MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,

NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

MARRIAGE.

BY JOSH BILLINGS.

Marriage is a fair transaction on the the face ov it. But thar is quite too often put-up jobs in it. It is an old institushun, older than the pyramids, and so phull ov hyroglifics that nobody kan parse.

History holds its tongue who the pair waz who first put on the silken harness, and promised to work kind in it, thru thick and thin, up hill and down, and on the level, rain or shine, survive or perish, sink or swim, drown or flote. But who ever they waz, they must have made a good thing ov it, or so menny ov their posterity would not hav harnessed up since and drove out.

There is a grate moral grip to marriage; it is a mortar that holds the soshul bricks together. But thar ain't but darn few folks who put their money in matrimoney, who could set down and give a good written opinyun whi on arth how they cum to do it. This iz a great proof that it iz one ov them natral kind ov acksidents that must happen, jist az birds fly out ov the nest, when they hev feathers enuff, without being able to tell why.

Sum marry for buty, and never diskover their mistake; this iz lucky. Sum marry for munny, and don't see it. Sum marry for pedigree, and feel big for six months, and then very sensibly cum tew the conclusion that pedigree ain't no better than skim-milk.

Sum marry bekawse they have been highsted sum where else; this iz a cross match, a bay and sorrel; pride may make it endurable. Sum marry for love without a cent in their pocket, nor a friend in the world, nor a drop of pedigree. This looks desperate, but it is the strength of the game. If marrying for love ain't a success, then matrimoney iz a ded beet.

Sum marry bekause they think wimmin will be scarce next year, and live tew wonder how the crop holds out. Sum marry to get rid of themselves, and diskover that the game waz one that two could play at, and neither win. Sum marry the second time to get even and find it a gambling game—the more they put down the less they take up. Sum marry tew be happy, and not finding it, wonder where all the happiness goes to when it dies. Sum marry, they can't tell how, and live they can't tell how.

Almost everybody gets married, and it is a good joke. Sum marry in haste, and then sit down and think it carefully over. Sum think it over careful fust, and then set down and marry. Both ways are right, if they hit the mark. Sum marry rakes to convert them. This iz a little risky, and takes a smart missionary to do it. Sum marry coquets. This iz like buying a poor farm hevily mortgaged, and working the balance of your days to clear oph the mortgages.

Married life has its chances, and this iz just what gives it its flavor. Every boddy luves to phool with the chances, bekause every boddy expekts tew win. But I am authorized tew state that every boddy don't win. But, after all, married life iz full as certain as dry goods business. No man can swear exactly where he will fetch up when he touches calico. No man can tell what calico haz made up its mind tew do next. Calico don't know even herself. Dry goods of all kinds iz the child of circumstansis.

Sum never marry, but this iz just az risky; the disease iz the same, with another name to it. The man who stands on the banks shivering, and dassent, is more apt tew ketch cold than him who pitches his head fust into the river. There iz but few who never marry bekause they won't — they all hanker, and most of them starve with bread before them (spread on both sides,) just for the lack of grit. Marry young! iz my motto. I hev tried it, and know what I am talking about. If enny boddy asks you whi you got married (if it need be,) tell him you don't recollekt.

Marriage iz a safe way to gamble—if you win, you win a pile, and if you lose you don't lose enny thing, only the privilige of living dismally alone, and soaking your own feet. I repeat it, in italics, marry yeung! There iz but one good excuse for a marriage late in life, and that iz—a second marriage.

N. H. Legislature.

On Friday, in the House, Mr. Herring of Farmington offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the committee on Judiciary be instructed to investigate the past transactions of the Concord Railroad, the purchase of stock therein, and by other matters that the committee shall deem desirable for the interests of stockholders and the public, and that the committee have leave to send for persons and papers, and report by bill or otherwise.

Mr. Adams of Manchester proposed to amend the resolution so as to include the Northern Road.

The amendment was accepted, and the resolution was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Wadleigh, the vote was reconsidered and the resolution changed by substituting a select committee of ten to be appointed by the Speaker; and as thus modified, the resolution passed.

BEFORE SCHOOL.

"Quarter of nine!—Boys and girls, do you hear?"
"Where is my bunkwheat, then, be quick, mother dear?"
"Where is my lunch box?" "Under the shelf,
Just in the place where you left it yourself!"
"I can't say my table!" "O find me my cap!"
(One kiss for mamma, and sweet sis in her lap;)
"Be good, dear?" "I'll try" (9 times 9's 81.")
"Take your mittens!" "All right," "Hurry up, Bill; let's run."
With a slam of the door, they are off, girls and boys,
And the mother draws breath in a lull of their noise.

AFTER SCHOOL.

"Don't wake up the baby! Come gently, my dear!"
"O, mother! I've torn my dress; just look here!
I'm sorry! I only was climbing the wall."
"O, mother! my map was the nicest of all!"
And Nelly, in spelling, went up to the head!
"O, say! Can I go on the hill with my sled?"
"I've got such a toothache!" "The teacher's unfair!"
"Is dinner most ready? I'm just like a bear!"
Be patient, worn mother; they're growing up fast;
These nursery whirlwinds not long do they last;
A still lonely house would be far worse than noise;
Rejoice and be glad in your brave girls and boys!

THE LATE ANSON BURLINGAME.—A correspondent of the New York Tribune communicates the following interesting reminiscences of the late Hon. Anson Burlingame:—

The death of Anson Burlingame naturally recalls the at one time prospective duel between the lamented gentleman and Preston S. Brooks, of South Carolina. I remember the former's own account of the affair, which was related with great modesty, and with the good taste that characterized his conduct both in public and private life. After he had made up his mind to accept Brooks' challenge, convinced that its acceptance would have a good moral effect, he informed Nathaniel P. Banks, his intimate friend, and at that time Speaker of the House, of the intention he had formed.

Banks' election to the speakership, as will be remembered, had been regarded as a great political triumph, of which any man in the land might have been proud. No doubt it was the measure of his ambition—the crowning glory of his career. But when Burlingame, in the quiet of his own room, stood beside his friend, looking out at the moonlight, and gave his confidence on the subject, Banks drew nearer, and said, in a low and earnest tone of voice:

"Burlingame, do let me go with you as your second, and I will resign the speakership."

"No, I will not permit it," was the reply; "you shall not make such a sacrifice for me."

"I wish you would. It would be a pleasure and a comfort to me. No sacrifice is too great for friendship. I am willing to lay my life down for any man I regard as I do you. Only say the word, and I'll be ready in half an hour. I ask to do this as a friend—as one man asks another a favor."

Banks persisted; Burlingame obstinately refused. The same evening Lewis D. Campbell, then the Representative from Butler county, Ohio, offered his services as second, and all the necessary arrangements were made. When the two were in the suburbs of Washington, and Burlingame was practicing with a pistol, he saw a snake about twenty feet off, and said, aiming his pistol: "Campbell, if I kill that snake I shall come out of this business all right. And if I don't—well, then I won't." As he spoke he fired, and the bullet struck off the reptile's head. "By Jove," laughed Campbell, "if Brooks could have seen that he'd either back out or send his order to the undertaker."

Burlingame, on accepting the challenge, had named rifles, which Brooks' friends had declined, because they were unusual weapons, and because their principal was totally unskilled in their use. The second of the member from Massachusetts then agreed to fight with pistols, or any other weapon that Brooks' friend might choose. Canada having been designated as the place of meeting, Burlingame and Campbell set out for the North as secretly as possible. Reaching this city at night, they were compelled to wait until morning for the next train. They slept at the Everett House, and Burlingame was awakened in the morning by the clamor of the newsboys under the window, crying, "No duel after all! Bully Brooks backed down! Defeat of the fire-eater!" &c., &c. He said jestingly of this: "I had fully made up my mind to fight, but I don't think the fact that I didn't have to interfered with my appetite for breakfast. Indeed, I believe the breakfast that morning tasted a little better than it had for several days."

Burlingame never failed to do justice to Brooks. He always thought the attack on Senator Sumner was instigated by others, and that the remorse engendered by the acts which were so little in harmony with the South Carolinian's antecedents, was the indirect cause of his death; that Brooks, naturally a gentleman, and constitutionally brave, had, in a weak moment, allowed his passion and his prejudice to get the better of his judgment and his honor.

RIVERSIDE PRESS
BULLETIN!
BOOKS TO BE READ ON THE GRASS.
I. AMONG THE TREES.
This is a book by MARY LORIMER, giving a journal of walks in the woods, and flower-hunting through field and by brook. It is a quarto volume, with twenty-five illustrations from nature, and sells for $2.25. It is an exceedingly pretty volume, and has a calendar of wild flowers found each month. The "New York Evening Post" says of it, "It links lively short stories and incidents, bits of pertinent sentiment and gemsot poetry, to the plant-treasures it describes, and adorns many of them with graceful drawings, which make it easier to recognize them than the longest scientific description could."
2. DAME NATURE.
A book by SAINTINE, the famous author of "Picciola." It is a grand-papa's talks and stories about natural history and things of daily use. A capital book for young people, making them observant and curious about life around them. Price $1.50.
3. HOMESPUN.
"Homespun," by THOMAS LACKLAND (an assumed name), is a charming book of rural scenes and incidents, in which country life, especially of the old-fashioned sort, is described in a way to bring back vividly the country choir, the country tavern, the district school, farmers' daughters, hard winters, huckleberrying, etc., etc. A pleasant book to read aloud. Price $1.75.
4. PICTURES OF COUNTRY LIFE.
One of ALICE CARY'S enjoyable books. Price $2.00. The "Philadelphia Telegraph" sends this despatch: "We have seldom been more pleased with any light work than with 'Pictures of Country Life.' It is written in a genial, pleasant style, and abounds in little sketches drawn from rural life, and depicts society as it exists far from our great commercial centres. Every story is interesting, and just of the proper length."
5. THREE CLASSES.
These are three famous books which seem especially adapted for country reading. They can be slipped into the pocket, and read in the shade of a tree or by a brook, and will make a nature without. They are LAMTINE'S "Picciola" and ST. PIERRE'S "Paul and Virginia" (each $1.25,) and FOUQUE'S "Undine and other Stories" ($1.50) They are pretty books prettily illustrated.
BOOKS FOR A RAINY DAY.
1. ANDERSEN.
HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN, who has been known to American readers by his wonderful stories for children, can now be known in his delightful novels and travels. There is publishing a complete series of his writings, each volume of which is entire by itself. Thus one can now procure "The Improvisatore," his famous novel of Italian life; and "The Two Baronesses," and "O. T." romances of Danish life; "In Spain and Portugal," a captivating volume of travels; and "Wonder Stories told for Children." Each of these is $1.75, except the last, which is larger and richly illustrated. Price $2.25.
2. COOPER.
COOPER'S novels are household favorites, and are selling now steadily as well as ever. He is not likely to go out of fashion yet,—he is too good a story-teller for that. His works are published in 32 vols. Household Edition, each $1.25. HURD & HOUGHTON'S Catalogue will give the names of each. Any volume can be bought separately, as "The Spy," "The Pilot," "The Water Witch," "Last of the Mohicans," "The Deerslayer," etc.
3. DICKENS.
There is nothing quite so good to keep on hand for bright reading as DICKENS'S novels. Every family out to have a set, and every one will have his or her favorite story. HURD & HOUGHTON'S Globe Edition, in 14 vols. (each sold separately at $1.50,) is the most complete of any in the market. "Edwin Drood" will be added to it when complete.
A Book that should be kept on hand.
HEALTH BY GOOD LIVING.
This book is selling by thousands. Every one recognizes it as a most practical, sensible book on health. It is crowded with sound sense and experience. Its price ($1.50) ought to save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills. Another book by the Doctor can also be had at the same price, —"Sleep; or, the Hygiene of the Night,"—which tells sound truth about the way we do, do not, ought to, and ought not to, spend a third of human existence.
The Book that should stand side by side with Webster's Dictionary.
DR. WILLIAM SMITH'S
UNABRIDGED DICTIONARY OF THE BIBLE.
[Edited by PROF. H. B. HACKETT and EZRA ABBOTT, LL. D.
This magnificent work is to be completed this summer. Three of the four volumes are already out, and the remaining parts are rapidly appearing. Any one can subscribe now, get the three volumes, and receive the parts as they come out. It is the Great Biblical Work of 19th Century.
DR. HOWARD CROSBY says of it: "It is worth more on a Bible-reader's desk than fifty commentaries." One can find plenty of unsatisfactory abridged dictionaries, but no one should be satisfied until he has the

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and insidious foe, lurks in the system, undermines the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed itself through out the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating influence. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.
Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic or Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

AN IRISH COMPLIMENT.—The "Irish Times" of Dublin devotes considerable space to an account of Professor Hackett, the American Editor of Smith's "Dictionary of the Bible," who is just now travelling abroad, and who passed through Dublin lately. The article speaks in high terms of the improvement which the American possesses over the English edition of Smith's Dictionary. "The additional articles," it says, "and supplementary matter which it contains, make it substantially a different book; and readers may complain that the law of copyright deprives them of access to a valuable store of Biblical knowledge. If the American publishers, Messrs. Houghton & Co. of Cambridge, Mass., had effected such an arrangement with Dr. Smith as would permit their edition to circulate in the United Kingdom, it would probably have found many purchasers. As it is, the best thing that Dr. Smith can do is to bring out a supplement to his Dictionary containing all the matter which is now exclusively to be found in the American Edition."

The New York Standard says that in the game with the Unions, Allison of the Red Stockings batted the ball up somewhere in the vicinity of the moon, and all watched anxiously the line of its descent. A gentleman with a handsome silk umbrella, sat directly in the way, and, thinking to protect himself from injury, he held up the valuable parachute as a shield. The result was one smashed umbrella and a broken nose; for the ball smashed through the silk as though it had been tissue paper, and landed plum on the nose of the unlucky owner.

☞ Congress has done a good act in abolishing the Orphans' Court. The judge of that court was ducked in a brook out at Bladensburg last summer by young fellows, because of what he had said about certain ladies, and his character is such that one of the lawyers who advocated the bill before the committee said:—"It adds to the pangs of those dying in this district to think that widows and orphan daughters must go before him to get their business settled." As he would neither die nor resign, Congress has now legislated him out of office.

DEBATE ON THE REFORM SCHOOL.—The most interesting debate in the House of Representatives last week, was upon the report of the Committee on the Reform School. The majority of the Committee recommended an appropriation of $8000 for the School—the minority, the same amount for the School, and $4000 additional to pay its debt, incurred for the support of the School, and which has been carried ever since the commencement of the School. Mr. Herring advocated the payment of the debt and the larger appropriation. Mr. Sanborn of East Kingston opposed it, and thought the expenses of the institution were too large and he could run it much cheaper than the Trustees managed it, and thought it a poor place to carry on farming, and said people could not afford to be taxed as they are.

Mr. Ramsdell of Nashua advocated sustaining the "only child of the State," and paying the debt. He endorsed the character and ability of the Trustees, who were selected from our best citizens.

Mr. Marcy of Portsmouth said he was as much interested as any one in low taxes. He had observed the workings of this institution. When we send a ship to sea, we have to pay all the bills before we leave port. So it should be here. There should be no debt. He had had boys under his command on ship-board and those from this School had always turned out well. It was too important an institution to be neglected. What were a few thousand dollars to results like these? He had known the worthy chairman of the Board of Trustees, although always opposed to him in politics, he had prized him as a friend, and in business relations. [Capt. Marcy's commendation of Mr. Walker elicited hearty applause all over the House, and his speech made a sensation. He was warmly congratulated at the close of the session by members of both parties, and although in his remarks he disclaimed any pretensions to oratory, his speech was the effectual one of the occasion, showing he had a heart full of regard for the unfortunate. The Portsmouth delegation felt proud of the Captain and the impression his speech made.]

Mr. Walker of Portsmouth said he felt encouraged, after the complimentary remarks of his colleague, to say a few words. He spoke of his continuous services as Trustee; of the results of the school upon the boys and girls that had been there, and gave one or two interesting examples of the beneficial character of the school, and thought if the gentleman of East Kingston had visited it oftener he would have been better informed on the subject.

Mr. Sanborn made an ineffectual attempt to stem the current which ran against the views of the majority of the Committee.

Mr. Dunlap of Nashua, always sound in such matters, spoke in favor of the School, and deprecated the annual attacks upon the character and results of the institution.

The debate closed with remarks from Brackett L. Jones, Representative from Stratham. Mr. Jones rather astonished some of the members by informing them that he had been in the Reform School business. He had brought up three boys from the Massachusetts Reform School and one had since "graced this Hall as a member." He knew something about farming; and the proximity of the farm, if it is a poor one, to a city of thirty thousand inhabitants, afforded an opportunity for soil dressing which would bring up the farm. He advocating sticking to the farm and sticking to the school.

The report of the minority giving the larger sum was unanimously adopted. The minority report was signed by Messrs. Herring of Farmington, Francis W. Ham of Portsmouth, and one other member of the Committee.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

RYE, June 20.

Last Thursday's shower was the heaviest experienced here for years; rain, hail, thunder and lightning all being furnished. The only damage I hear of as having been done by the lightning, was done to a tree belonging to Mr. J. T. Marden, near Foss' Beach. The roads were badly washed in some places, and will need some repairs.

The warm weather has started folks towards the Beach, and already there are numbers of visitors at the hotels and private houses. Everything is in order for the reception of about a couple of thousand individuals, and no doubt they will be along soon.

The canker worms have been at work in some orchards in town, and have done much damage; the prospect for a heavy crop of apples is not so good as it was a few weeks since. So those who own the orchards say:—and it is also said that much difficulty is experienced in keeping cucumber and squash vines free from bugs this season.

A meeting, largely attended, the ostensible purpose of which was to inaugurate measures towards forming a society or lodge of Good Templars, was held in the Baptist Church on Friday evening last. Considerable talking was done, and that was about all; and the meeting dissolved without accomplishing anything further, except that a few persons present were induced to sign the pledge.

The "Social Circle" of the Baptist Society, which meets around at the houses of the different members of that Society on Wednesday evening of each week, was postponed till Thursday evening, last week, so as to give everybody who wished it, a chance to go to the circus; and judging from the number of teams in motion towards Portsmouth, Wednesday afternoon, a large delegation must have been present from Rye. SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Life Sustaining Organs.

The two organs which minister most directly to the support of the body, are the stomach and liver. In the former the first process of digestion takes place, under the action of that powerful juice, the gastric juice. Thence the food, converted into a pulp, passes into the duodenum, where it is subjected to the action of the bile or gall, flowing from the liver, and of the fluid generated by the pancreas, or sweetbread of the system. These secretions separate the nutritious portion from the rest, and it is then taken up by the absorbent vessels and conveyed into the channels of circulation in the form of venous blood, while the waste matter is discharged through the bowels.

Unless all these processes are duly performed, disease of some sort is inevitable, and the best of all medicinal agents for preserving or restoring the tone and regulating the action of the three organs—(the stomach, liver and intestines—) by which the three-fold work is carried on, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Indigestion is generally accompanied by constipation, and the gentle cathartic operation of the Bitters is no less important in cases of this kind, than in its tonic effect upon the stomach and the biliary gland. Beauty of person as well as health, depends in no small degree upon the regularity of the excretive functions. A sallow complexion, a thick, opaque, coarse skin, a tainted breath, rush of blood to the head, loss of memory, headache, and extreme mental depression, are the usual accompaniments of costiveness.

A course of the Bitters will infallibly relieve and finally banish these obnoxious symptoms, while invigorating the stomach and promoting healthy action in the liver. This genial vegetable stomachic and alterative strikes at disease in its primary source, the assimilating, secretive and expulsive organs, and the cures it effects are consequently thorough and complete.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, help otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

NORTH HAMPTON, June 20th.

Messrs. Editors: — The thundershower of last Thursday afternoon was one of the heaviest that we have had for many years. Trees were shattered and telegraph poles were damaged in many places. The poles of the line leading to the beach were injured for about a quarter of a mile, near Breakfast Hill, and a colt was killed while standing under an apple tree, on that hill. The air seemed to be completely charged with the electric element, and it decended in a great many places, in vivid balls of fire, exploding near the ground with a sharp, ringing sound, similar to percussion caps, but a hundred times louder. Immense quantities of rain fell, flooding everything in a very few minutes.

The destructive canker worms have been very numerous in some orchards this year. Various methods have been tried to get rid of these pests. Some have used coal tar on their trees; but the cheapest and best preventation, labor considered, is printers' ink, one application in five or six days being quite effectual; while the coal tar must be renewed every day, which is a heavy task on those persons having large orchards. The prevailing opinion, why the worms were more numerous this year than last, is, that during the warm nights last January, some of the grubs went up the trees, and deposited some of their eggs; which must have been the case, as many trees were afflicted with them which were closely inked and watched this spring.

When once on the trees, a very effectual method of destroying them is, to tar or ink the trees and then shake them, and knock the worms off with a pole as they spin down. In a short time they will all be found headed for and up the trunks of the trees; but the tar stopping them they soon die. They usually leave the trees, which they do all at once, about the 20th of June, but as vegetation has been earlier this season they have taken an earlier leave, and we hope forever.

It is not quite certain that there will be a great crop of apples this season, nothwithstanding the great quantity of blossoms. We have already heard complaints of the apples dropping off badly. The enemies of the trees and fruit are so numerous, that in the language of the "potato bug writer," we think that "eternal vigilance will be the price of apples" in all coming time.

Vegetation generally is looking well, especially grass, which promises an abundant crop of hay.

The few warm days the past week started some of the "birds of passage" to the vicinity of the beaches. The warmth of the season makes a great difference in the number of visitors to the various resorts in this vicinity.

☞ Dickens was born in 1812, in Portsmouth, England, and his first work was writing for the London Daily Morning Chronicle. This town was named for the English Portsmouth; and this paper was named for the English Chronicle. Dickens was a newspaper reporter at first, and was always proud of his profession. He leaves a wife and seven children. After living together 22 years, he and his wife separated in 1858, and they have not lived together since, owing to incompatibility of temper.

☞ The Dover Bee is down upon the Committee, for furnishing liquor at the reception of Mr. Hale. And well it may be, for in these days, no man can plead that he is obliged to furnish rum for his guests. Gov. Smyth has always set a noble example in this respect, Senator Cragin recently refused to furnish liquors for his friends, and at the elegant levee given to the press by Mr. Stockwell of the Boston Journal, last week, we were glad to see no wines among the costly viands and beautiful floral decorations. Away with the stuff!

New Publications Received.

The Handy-Book of Husbandry: A Guide for Farmers, Young and Old. By George E. Waring, Jr., of Ogden Farm, author of "Elements of Agriculture;" "Draining for Profit and for Health;" and Agricultural Editor of the N. Y. Evening Post. This is a thoroughly practicable book for practical Farmers. It should become the Handy-Book of every Farmer in America. It condenses within a small space so much of the Science of Agriculture as is important for every Farmer to understand, and only so much; and is devoted to questions that arise in everyday practice in the various departments of Agriculture. Complete in one large octavo volume of over 600 pages, with 100 practicable Illustrations and Maps; and furnished to subscribers,—in fine English cloth, substantial binding, $3.50, payable on delivery. This work is sold only by subscription, and cannot be obtained except through authorized Agents. E. B. Treat & Co.,654 Broadway, New York, are the publishers. Agents wanted.

The Atlantic Monthly for July,—a prime number of this magazine of literature, science, art and politics—which last all the magazines are getting to discuss, and of course in the ablest manner—is received from the publishers.

Also Our Young Folks, illustrated for the boys and girls—for July. "We Girls" is continued. Both from Fields, Osgood & Co., Boston.

—A Blossomite, with an intensely mathematical mind, propounded the following example of the Rule of Three —"Suppose a ship were loaded with 100 pounds of meat and 100 pounds of beef, who would be the captain of the vessel?" Dandy Pat, after covering two sheets of paper with figures, concluded —"The mate, bedad, commands that ship."

RICHARDSON'S

LITTLE WASHER! PRICE $5.00.

The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1863; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!

☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bedquilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.

More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.

MR. J. J. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.

MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success.
MRS. L. E. MARTIN.

MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.

Morning Chronicle.

THE EDITORIAL FRATERNITY.—The Printers and publishers of Maine were the first in this vicinity to form an Editorial Association; and we were present as an invited guest, at their organization, in Portland, six years ago, we believe. We also attended one other of their Conventions, at Biddeford, two years since; and several other New Hampshire editors were present—and the next season a similar Association was formed in New Hampshire, and the like has been done since in Vermont and Massachusetts.

At the New Hampshire Editorial Convention, at Plymouth last year, numerous editorial guests from Massachusetts and Vermont were in attendance; and a delegation from the Maine Association, suggested that the Maine and New Hampshire Associations, hold a joint Convention at Rye Beach this year. Our State Association voted to concur, and quite a large delegation from this Association were present by invitation at the Maine Convention in Portland last Fall. After the election of officers, (Hon. Joseph A. Homan of the Maine Farmer, President,) the committee chosen to report for the next meeting an essayist and a poet, recommended to invite B. P. Shillaber, poet, and Hon. J. G. Blaine, M. C., essayist. The report was accepted and adopted, and after passing the following resolution in regard to the proposed union meeting of the Maine and New Hampshire Associations together this year, the meeting adjourned:

Voted, To hold the next meeting of the two Associations at Rye Beach, Wednesday and Thursday, July 6th and 7th, 1870; and that Bro. Elwell of the Maine Association, and Bro. Miller of the New Hampshire Association, be a committee to make all further arrangements.

In the evening the Convention met at City Hall, where there was an address by Hon. Nelson Dingley, Jr. of Lewiston, a poem by Mr. E. R. Whitman, and a history of the press of Cumberland county by Hon. Charles Holden. There were many ladies present, and a promenade concert followed the literary exercises.

On the 5th the whole association went down the harbor on a clam bake, landing at Little Chebeague, where games and walks were enjoyed. An excellent dinner was served, interspersed with toasts and sentiments. The following toast was responded to by the President of the N. H. Association, Mr. J. M. Hill, of the Patriot:

Our Sister Associations of New Hampshire and Vermont—We are happy to-day in having present representatives of the former, and hope soon to open fraternal relations with the latter.

E. D. Boylston, Esq., editor of the Amherst Cabinet, then read the following verses, suggested by the participation in the convention of the goodly representation of the fraternity of his own State:

The Bridal of the Granite and Pine.

The hills of New Hampshire to the valleys of Maine
Repeat their kind greetings again and again;
Delighted her press-gang with yours to combine,
The Granite appears to honor the Pine.

When the bright orb of morn shines out o'er the Dispelling the darkness that rests on the lea, [sea,
His beautiful rays, like their Author benign,
Gild at same moment the Granite and Pine.

Old Ocean's proud billows rolling in state,
Alike love our shores, our joint service await;
While the sweet winds of heaven know not the line
That divides from each other the Granite and Pine.

The fleecy clouds gather far up on our hills,
Formed of the amber that feedeth the rills,
And guided by a Hand all-loving, divine, [Pine.
Poor their rich treasures o'er the Granite and

The streams of the mountains run down to the sea,
Rejoicing in blessing, wherever they be;
The Androscoggin, the Saco, both mine and thine,
Born of the Granite and blessing the Pine.

Iron bands bind our States fast together,
Pledge of the kindness we bear to each other;
And the Press, amanuensis of th' Telegraph
Recorideth the love of the Granite and Pine. [line,

Your lands join the lands of no other State,
Though others as worthy, your service await;
Yet thus the Maker would seem to design
To speak of friendship to the Granite and Pine.

True to the teachings of nature and art,
We give to each other a warm hand and heart,
And pledge in true words, 'neath this your vine,
To love and to cherish the Granite and Pine.

This "ditty," as the author called it, but beautiful poem as we call it, was received with much favor.

Among the resolutions, the following was presented by the New Hampshire delegation:

Resolved, That like the Judean Shepherds of old, we have been drawn by the Star in the East, and we are here with our hearts in our hands for your acceptance.

Resolved, That so long as pine trees grow and granite endures, we will cherish the memory of the courtesies we have here received from our fellow-craftsmen of Maine.

Resolved, That as members of the New Hampshire Editors' and Publishers' Association, we tender our hearty thanks to our Maine brethren for this kind invitation to attend their annual meeting, and for their very generous hospitalities and attentions, with the assurance that it will ever be a pleasure to us to welcome them individually to our homes or collectively to our State, as cordially and heartily as they have us on this occasion—more we could not do.

The citizens of Portland showed great respect to their editorial visitors, and they were given the freedom of the city almost. Of course they had a good time—for nobody can help it, in hospitable Portland. And of course the citizens of Portsmouth will be ready, able and willing to return the compliment. Messrs. Jenness of the Ocean House, Rye Beach, have invited the guests of the joint Associations, to become the guests of their famous hostelry; and it is probably that the whole party will number 200 couple or more. On account of the non-adjournment of Congress, it is proposed to postpone the meeting until about July 20th.

CONDENSED CONGRESS.—Punchinello condenses the discussion in Congress on the Roman mission:

Mr. Brooks said most of his constituents were Roman Catholics. Therefore there should be a mission to Rome.

Mr. Dawes said Mr. Brooks used to be a Know-Nothing. Therefore there should not be a mission to Rome.

Mr. Cox said that they used to burn witches in Massachusetts. Therefore there should be a mission to Rome.

Mr. Hoar said they didn't. Therefore there should not be a mission to Rome.

Mr. Voorhees said they burnt a Roman Catholic Asylum in Boston. Therefore there should be a mission to Rome.

Mr. Dawes said they burnt a Negro Asylum in New York. Therefore there should not be a mission to Rome.

Mr. Voorhees said Dawes was another. Therefore there should be a mission to Rome.

Mr. Bingham said Powell was a much better painter than Titian, and Vinnie Ream a much better sculptor than Michael Angelo. Therefore there should not be a mission to Rome.

Republican Chorus—You did.
Democratic Chorus—We didn't.
Solo by the Speaker—Order.

After weighing these arguments, the House adjourned without doing anything about it.

SIMPLE METHOD OF ASCERTAINING DEATH.—Dr. Garriere of St. Jean du Yard in reply to the offer of the Marquis d' Orches, of a premium of seventy thousand francs, for a practical method of determining death, furnished the following which he says he has practiced for forty years. Place the hand with the fingers closely pressed one against the other close to a lighted lamp or candle; if alive, the tissues will be observed to be of a transparent or rosy hue, and the capillary circulation of life in full play; if on the contrary, the body of a dead person be placed in the same relation to light, none of the phenomena are observed—we see but a hand of marble, without circulation, without light.

TO CURE SETTING HENS.—Among the devices for curing setting hens, we saw one the other day which proved effectual. It is simply by tying a red flag of flannel on her tail and let her run. She is frightened at the sight of it, and will round the buildings till she is thoroughly fatigued, and will not go on her nest again. Our informant told us that the hen would run and hide her head under a cock of hay and then look up and see the flag, and then start and run, presenting a most comical appearance.

—A little four-year old girl in Springfield, Ohio, on a recent evening was watching the setting of the sun, which, on the evening in question, was of peculiar brilliancy, when she called out, in ecstasy and wonder, "Oh, mamma, mamma! come quick—see! God's house is on fire!"

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly and retains its shade perfectly, gives a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, being a smooth, easy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.00 and will only cover 16 square yds. 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in keg, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the
which are for sale at the
GROCERY AND PROVISION STORE,
No. 16 and 18 Cabot Street, where are kept the best of Meats and Groceries, as low as can be bought in the city.

LITTLE NANNIE.

BY LUCY LARCOM.

Fawn-footed Nannie,
Where have you been?
"Chasing the sunbeams
Into the glen;
Plunging through silver lakes
After the moon;
Tracking o'er meadows
The footsteps of June."

Sunny-eyed Nannie,
What did you see?
"Saw the fays sewing
Green leaves on a tree;
Saw the waves counting
The eyes of the stars;
Saw cloud-lambs sleeping
By sunset's red bars."

Listening Nannie,
What did you hear?
"Heard the rain asking
A rose to appear;
Heard the woods tell
When the wind whistled wrong;
Heard the stream flow
Where the bird drinks his song."

Nannie, dear Nannie,
O take me with you,
To run and to listen.
And see as you do!
"Nay, nay! you must borrow
My ear and my eye,
Or the beauty will vanish,
The music will die."

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE. — Within five or six weeks 26 persons have been added to the Middle St. Baptist church in Portsmouth, by profession.

The Water St. Baptist Society in Exeter contemplates building a new house of worship.

Rev. E. T. Lyford, formerly pastor of the Baptist church in Deerfield, also of Seabrook, late of Rowley, Mass., has been obliged to retire from pastoral work in consequence of failing health.

Rev. Wm. Rogers, pastor of the Free Will Baptist church in Nottingham, has resigned, and taken charge of the 1st church in Strafford.

Rev. J. M. Mace, formerly of Hampton, has resigned the pastorate of the Baptist church at Cape Neddick, Me.

The Congregational church in Brentwood has had no preaching, unless it has been a Sabbath or two, since last September. The number of resident made members is 10; females 23.

The number of active made members in the Congregational church in Kingston is three.

The Congregational church in South New Market has but two resident made members. J.

IMPROVEMENT IN PIANOS.—The Orchestral Grand Piano, manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co., has in a short space of time gained a hold upon the musical public which very few instruments have attained in years. All who have heard them are loud in their praise, not only as regards the neatness and beauty of finish, which is in itself a very attractive feature, but in that which the lover of music delights in more, the sweetness, fulness and power of the instrument. A blended softness, with brilliancy of tone, richness and a clear utterance, coupled with great volume, are among the characteristics of this piano, added to which is a perfect balance of the whole, each register of the scale being shaded so exact as that not a break in changing from one note to another is in any degree perceptible.

The tones of the piano are remarkable for their fine qualities, resembling in a wonderful degree the human voice. The action is light and delicate, while the peculiarity in the construction of it renders the instrument not only more beautiful in form, but decidedly more convenient than the usual style of grand pianos. The Orchestral Grand is indorsed by numbers of our ablest pianists, prominent among whom are B. J. Lang, the well-known Boston pianist, whose indorsement is a flattering testimonial to the value of this instrument. The "Peabody Institute," through their Musical Committee, has lately secured one of these pianos, and in private circles, where the musical culture is of a high order, this piano and none others seems to satisfy, its adaptedness to the wants of player and singer readily meeting all requirements. The "Orchestral Grand" is recommended to all desiring a well made and finely balanced instrument, with the conviction that in purchasing one of these pianos of Messrs. Hallet, Davis & Co. none will be disappointed.—Boston Journal.

The Arkansas Temperance Society has dissolved. It allowed ale as a beverage, but the members found it "bunglesome to their stomachs" and fell back on whiskey.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22, 1870.

CONGRESS AND ITS DUTIES.

Not two years ago, the Presidential campaign was being fought by the Republicans under the lead of Gen. Grant. All declared that President Grant should be supported by a Congress unequalled in ability and wisdom by any of its predecessors. The coming administration should be strengthened by a respectable House of Representatives, composed of "great" men—men of calibre, men of standing, men of wonderful financial ability, men of erudition, men of honor, integrity and sagacity. So, in some cases, party usages were set aside and men supposed to contain all the cardinal virtues above mentioned came to the front, while those less experienced stood back a little for the coming flood of greatness.

At the same time, the Democracy seemed regardless of "greatness" in their nominations, and when the elections were over the result of their victories were contemptuously referred to. Their members elect were small in number and no "great man" among them had been chosen who was so far above his colleagues as to be settled on as a leader.

This Congress, with its marvellously great and marvellously little men, met, adjourned and met again. Besides the finishing touch towards reconstruction, nothing of importance has been done, comparatively. The business interests of the country have been paralyzed. Business men all over the United States have waited for help while weeks and months rolled by. Congressmen have frittered away their time in talk; personal abuse has sandwiched the gas exhibition; and the "great" men of the House have busied themselves in quarrelling jealously for the leadership.

The plans proposed by one are overslaughed by the others. Dawes, the grand Massachusetts humbug, has spent his time in belittling the navy and trying to destroy it. Butler, the bold, has been engaged in petty inquisitions which bear no fruit. Schenck, pompous and overbearing, did his utmost to defeat a bill for the aid of our ship building interest, while its author hastened its death knell by unwise denunciations of his opponents. Bingham is prepared to hunt for any scheme of his adversaries, that he may help crush it. Farnsworth, in his enmity to Butler, votes just the opposite way that Butler votes. Kelley doesn't show that he has a single idea beyond pig iron:—and so on through the list of intractables.

These "great" men were sent to Congress to transact the nation's business—not to disgrace their positions by petty feuds. They have three or four weeks in which to do something creditable. The people will hold them in fond remembrance, we trow! The business men of the country are wearied of long waiting for—nothing. Will Congress settle or unsettle the tariff? Will ship building interests be aided or be still further stricken down? Will a financial policy be settled on, that will bring us back to specie payment and business to a firm basis, or will the dilly dallying policy be continued and resumption remain afar off? The constituents of these "great" men will ask these questions, and should they display no more common sense in the future than the past, the roll call of the next Congress will not contain their names. One thing the people demand, a settled financial policy—that business may once more thrive. If the selection of "great" men for counsel will not assure it, the selection of a more sensible class must necessarily follow.

DEERFIELD, June 20.

A saw mill has been built at the west end of Pleasant Pond, near Epsom, and much fine lumber is to be cut there this summer.

The drought is beginning to injure the crops in this vicinity. The grass, that looked so finely two weeks ago, has suffered in many fields and pastures. Berries, of all kinds, have blossomed full. X.

THE COAL TAX.—The tax bill, as reported in the Senate, fixes the duty on coal at fifty-cents in place of the existing duty of $1.25. The House has declared for free coal by a large majority. A fifty cent duty seems likely to be finally adopted by both branches of Congress.

The estate of the late Albert D. Richardson at Woodside, N. J., was sold at auction, Monday, to Mr. Charles A. Richardson, brother of the deceased, who bid in the property for $8109, subject, however, to a mortgage of $7500, and unpaid interest amounting to $459, making the actual net price, $150, a nominal figure. The sale was made on the behalf of Mrs. Richardson, in her capacity of special guardian for Mr. Richardson's children.

A strip of land thirty by two hundred feet, covered with trees, is gradually sinking from the surface of the earth, one mile south of Fort Wayne, Indiana. The cause is supposed to be an underground lake or river wearing the earth away.

Dogs have commenced the work of destruction among the sheep flocks. The past week, Mr. Lewis Lamprey and Mr. Solomon Perkins, of Exeter, lost some valuable sheep.

The Keene Savings Bank loans its funds at 6 per cent. to help young men build houses—to half the value of the property, taking mortgage and insurance.

A letter from the clerk of the Diamond Island House, Lake Winnipesaukee, a Rochester boy, states that a trout was caught there last week that measured 34 inches from tip to tip and weighed 29 1-2 pounds.

☞ A riot at Whitefield, on the line of the Montreal Railroad extension, occurred on Sunday. Two Frenchmen were attacked by five drunken Irishmen and badly beaten. Sheriffs Colby and Beede of Lancaster, with other officers, went to the scene and were assaulted and driven off after having wounded one of the assailants and accidentally killed a workman not engaged in the affray. An armed force has gone to Whitefield from Lancaster.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, Monday, the bill for abolishing the franking act was amended. As it now stands it abolishes the use of the frank after the first of next October, except that newspapers are to circulate free in the county where published.

In the House, Gen. Butler got in his bill for the annexation of St. Domingo, and the fortification and army appropriation bills were passed.

New Publications.

Life of Charles Dickens. By Dr. R. Shelton MacKenzie. With Papers, Recollections, Anecdotes and Letters, by "Boz," never before collected. T. B. Peterson & Brothers, No. 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, have in press, for immediate publication, The Life of Charles Dickens. It will contain, besides a full history of his life, his Uncollected Pieces, in Prose and Verse: Recollections and Anecdotes, as well as Letters never before published; and will trace the entire career of the great Novelist from the time of his birth and first connection with journalism as a reporter, to its unexpected and lamented termination on the 9th of June, 1870. It will contain an engraved likeness of Charles Dickens, taken from a photograph for which he sat a few days prior to his death. The whole will be issued in a large duodecimo volume, bound in cloth, uniform with "Peterson's" various editions of "The Complete Works of Charles Dickens." Price $1.50. Agents wanted everywhere to engage in its sale. Advance copies will be sent to any one, post paid, on receipt of price.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE,

ROCKINGHAM, SS.

By the Hon. Judge of Probate for said County.

To the heirs at law and creditors to the estate of JEREMIAH SHEA, late of the State of Georgia, deceased, intestate, and all persons interested in said estate, Greeting.

You are hereby notified that CHARLES H. SANBORN, Administrator of the Estate of said deceased, will present his account of administering said estate at the Probate Court to be holden at Exeter in said County, on the Wednesday next following the second Tuesday of August next, at 10 o'clock A. M., for examination and allowance.

At the same Court the Report of the Commissioner of Insolvency on said estate will be taken into consideration for acceptance.

You are therefore hereby cited to appear at said Court to be heard thereon, and to make such objections as you may then have. And notice is hereby required to be given by causing this citation to be published three weeks successively in the New Hamp-hire Gazette, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, the last publication thereof to be at least thirty days prior to said Court.

Dated, at Exeter June 18, A. D. 1870.

By order of the Judge. Je23jy2w3

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Life Sustaining Organs.

The two organs which minister most directly to the support of the body, are the stomach and liver. In the former the first process of digestion takes place, under the action of that powerful solvent, the gastric juice. Thence the food, converted into a pulp, passes into the duodenum, where it is subjected to the action of the bile or gall, flowing from the liver, and of the fluid gen erated by the pancreas, or sweetbread, of the system. These secretions separate the nutritious portion from the rest, and it is then taken up by the absorbent vessels and conveyed into the channels of circulation in the form of venous blood, while the waste matter is discharged through the bowels.

Unless all these processes are duly performed, disease of some sort is inevitable, and the best of all medicinal agents for preserving or restoring the tone and regulating the action of the three organs—(the stomach, liver and intestines—) by which the three-fold work is carried on is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Indigestion is generally accompanied by constipation, and the gentle cathartic operation of the Bitters is no less important in cases of this kind, than in its tonic effect upon the stomach and the biliary glands. Beauty of person as well as health, depends in no small degree upon the regularity of the excretive functions. A sallow complexion, thick, opaque, coarse skin, a tainted breath, rush of blood to the head, loss of memory, headache, and extreme mental depression, are the usual accompaniments of costiveness.

A course of the Bitters will infallibly relieve and finally banish these obnoxious symptoms, while invigorating the stomach and promoting healthy action in the liver. This genial vegetable stomachic and aliterative strikes at disease in its primary sources, the assimilating, secretive and expulsive organs, and the cures it effects are consequently thorough and complete.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Costiveness, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

a PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Probate Notice—Charles H. Sanborn.

☞ Tuesday was like unto September.

☞ The U. S. Steamer Speedwell was taken from the dock, Tuesday, looking splendidly. She will proceed shortly.

☞ Adm. J. C. Butler's excursion to the Shoals to-morrow will furnish a fine opportunity for those who can spare one day from business for a general good time. The steamer came in on Saturday in 56 minutes.

☞ John L. Thompson of Boston hired a team in this city of Stoddard & Beacham, drove to Biddeford and offered to sell out for $10. City Marshal Hill brought him to this city and J. L. T. is in jail in default of $500 bonds to appear at the October term of the Supreme Judicial Court.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. A. P. Hayes of Kittery, drove off the causeway in Rice's Hollow, in that town, Monday night, and had his horse and carriage pretty well stove to pieces, the wreck of either being worth but little. The night was intensely dark, and Mr. Hayes had a narrow escape with his life.

☞ The Keene Sentinel and Portsmouth Journal, alone of all the State papers, so far as we know, out of Concord, think the State's Printing ought always to be done in that city. We will agree to this only when it shall be shown that the papers there have done and will do all the gratuitous hard newspaper work for the dominant party, whichever it may have been or may be.

MACEVOY'S HIBERNICON opened at the Temple, Tuesday evening, to a good audience. The representation is that of a tour through Ireland, which is interspersed by comic and pathetic singing by Mr. Robert Byrne in the character of Barney, the guide, and by Misses Kate Emmett and Mary Clements. The inimitable Whiston appears every evening in his comic impersonations. The entertainment is a good one to see and listen to.

TORPEDOES are plenty, and, being plenty, are nuisances. They may furnish a certain kind of amusement for the children, but our police force should prevent their being exploded on our streets. The city Marshal of Lawrence has forbiden their sale. A few days since as three small girls were returning from school, some one threw a torpedo which entered the mouth of one of the children, lacerating her tongue and disfiguring her face.

Communication.

SULPHUR BATHS.—We are pleased to learn that Dr. Strong has returned to his Rooms on Ladd street, and contemplates remaining a few weeks longer. Now, ye suffering humanity of Portsmouth, is perhaps your last chance to be helped. We can recommend these Baths as beneficial to nearly all diseases, and a cure for many, having taken a series of them. And to all those who are afflicted with humors of all kinds, whether hereditary or otherwise, or diseases caused by the impurities of the blood, we would say, take a course of Vapor Baths. They completely renovate the system, and make one feel bright, smart and happy this warm weather. This is rather a Strong notice, Messrs, Editors, but nevertheless it is pretty near the truth, and I give it for the good of the PUBLIC.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Monday evening, Ald. Miller was chosen chairman. Mayor Adams and Ald. Marvin and Cotton were absent.

The Committee on Streets, with the Mayor, reported that a Stone Crusher to crush 100 tons per day could be purchased for $1300, and that a steam engine of 10 horse power, complete, to run the Crusher, could be purchased for $1100. The report was accepted.

The Committee on Fire Department reported resolutions instructing Portsmouth Representatives in the Legislature to vote for an amendment to the charter of the Portsmouth Aqueduct Co., to secure a full supply of water constantly for the use of the Fire Department.

Voted, that Ald. Miller be requested to lay the resolutions before the Portsmouth delegation.

The City Clerk reported that John Dixon denies that the defect in Water St. is caused by his drain. Referred to the Committee on Streets with power to act.

Voted, that Ald. Nowell be authorized to hire the Portsmouth Cornet Band to play on the morning and evening of July 4th, for $110.

Adjourned to Thursday evening, June 30.

A GREAT THUNDER STORM visited nearly all the New England States on Monday, continuing with little cessation until midnight. In Boston and vicinity the storm was very severe, the rain descending in torrents for hours, accompanied at times by hail. The Boston Post says some of the hail stones were large as hen's eggs—large eggs, too! The Boston Herald says some verged upon the size of a man's fist, and the Journal thinks they were two inches in diameter.

The Herald says thirty or more places in Boston were struck by lightning, but no one was killed, although there were several narrow escapes. It struck the building No. 17 Milk St., on the site of Franklin's birth place, but Ben wasn't at home and it did no damage of consequence. Ladies caught away from home fainted in terror as the thunderbolts demolished flag-staffs, and struck churches and private dwellings. In Charlestown the lightning struck in ten places. The glass in windows and sky-lights, in both cities, was shivered in hundreds of buildings.

In Portsmouth, there was a great fall of rain, lasting from 8 o'clock till past midnight. The lightning, especially at midnight, was exceedingly brilliant, and the prolonged thunder, which followed closely after each flash, was magnificently grand and awe inspiring. We hear of no great damage to person or property during the storm.

☞ Schooner Allie Oaks, Pillsbury, from Saco for Providence, with brick, went ashore June 13th, on Nigger Island, near the mouth of Saco River, as she was going out to sea. It was at first thought she was ruined, but on the 15th, after removing her deck load, she was got off the rocks and taken into the river, where she will be repaired. She belongs in Rockland, and was built in Kennebunk two years ago.

☞ The Salt Lake Herald of the 8th was severe upon Senator Cragin for his anti-Mormon speech, and said, "in a few weeks he will retire from Senatorial prominence, for his place is to be filled by another." The prophet missed his mark that time.

☞ A nuisance in any community—not particularly here — are the boot-blacking boys. They are in a school pretty certain to make blackguards of them. In fact, we don't like a travelling peddler of any sort, especially if he cries his wares.

☞ The Methodist Strawberry Festival this (Wednesday) evening, promises to be a very successful affair. Admission only ten cents. We bespeak a full room and a good time. Don't forget the place, Congress Hall.

☞ Barnabee sings in Dover, with Mrs. H. M. Smith, Mr. Wisch and Prof. Wallach, this (Wednesday) evening; and at Exeter, Thursday evening.

☞ Grummakins suggests that the hail storm of Monday was occasioned by the return of Hon. John P. from Europe!

NAVAL.—Chief Engineer Oscar H. Lackey is detached from duty at the Norfolk Yard and placed on waiting orders.

☞ The first annual commencement of the Robinson Female Seminary, at Exeter, will take place to-day.

☞ Hulled strawberries were selling in this city on Tuesday at 25 cents a box, others at 23 cents.

RICHARDSON'S

LITTLE WASHER! PRICE $5.00.

The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!

☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bed-quilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.

More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.

MR. J. J. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.

MR. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success.

MRS. L. E. MARTIN.

MR. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.

Morning Chronicle.

JIM SMYLIE'S FROG.

He cotched a frog one day and took him home, and said he calculated to educate him; and so he never done nothing for three months but sit in his back door and learn the frog how to jump. And you bet he did learn him too. He'd give him a little punch behind, and the next minute you would see that frog whirling in the air like a doughnut—see him turn a summerset, and maybe a couple, if he got a good start and come down flat footed and all right, like a cat. He got him up so in the matter of catching flies, and kept him in practice so constant that he'd nail a fly every time as fast as could see him.

Smylie said that all the frog wanted was education, and he could do almost anything, and I believe him. Why I've seen him set Daniel Webster—Daniel Webster was the name of the frog—and sing out: "Flies, Daniel, flies," and quicker'n you could wink, he'd spring up and shake a fly off'n the counter there and flop down on the floor again as solid as a gob of mud, and fall to scratching the side of his head with his hind foot, as indifferent as if he hadn't any idea he'd done anything more'n any frog might do. You never see'd a frog so modest and straight-forward as he was, for all he was so gifted. And when it came to a square jumping on a dead level, he could get over more ground at one straddle than any animal of his breed you ever did see. Jumping on a dead level was his strong suit, you understand, and when it came to that, Smylie would ante up money if he had a red. Smylie was monstrous proud of his frog, and well he might be, for fellers that had travelled and bin everywhere, all said that he laid over every frog that they seed.

Well, Smylie kept the beast in a little lattice box, and he used to fetch it down town sometimes, and lay for a bet. Once a feller—a stranger in camp—came across him with his box, and he says:

"What might it be you've got in the box?"

And Smylie said, sorter indifferent like:

"It might be a parrot, or it might be a canary bird, maybe; but it ain't; its only just a frog."

And the feller took it, and looked at it carefully, and turned it round this way and that, and says:

"H'm—so 'tis. Well, what is he good for?"

"Well," Smylie says, easy and careless, "he's good enough for one thing, I should judge—he can outjump any frog in Calaveras county."

The feller took the box, and took another long and particular look, and gives back to Smylie, and says very deliberately:

"Well, I don't see no points about that frog that's any better'n any other frog."

"Maybe you don't," Smylie a id. "Maybe you understand frogs, and maybe you don't understand 'em; maybe you ain't only an amateur, as it were. Anyways, I've got my opinion, and I'll risk forty dollars that he can outjump any frog in Calaveras county."

And the feller studied a minute or two, then says, kinder sad like:

"Well, I'm only a stranger here, and I ain't got no frog, but if I had a frog I'd bet you."

And then Smylie says, "That's all right. If you'll hold my box a minute I'll go and get a frog;" and so the feller took the box and put up his forty dollars along with Smylie's, and sat down to wait.

So he sat there a good while thinking to hisself, and took the frog out and pried open his mouth, and tuk a teaspoon and filled him full of quail shot—filled him pretty near up to the chin, and set him on the floor. Smylie went out to the swamp and slopped around in the mud for a long time, and finally he ketched a frog and fetched him in and give him to the feller, and says:

"Now, if you are ready, set him along side of Dan'l with his forepaws just even with Dan'l's and I'll give the word!" Then he says "one—two—three—jump" and him and the feller touched up the frogs from behind, and the new frog hopped off lively, but Dan'l gave a heave, histed up like a Frenchman, but it was no use; he couldn't budge; he was planted as solid as an anvil, and he couldn't no more stir than if he was anchored out. Smylie was a good deal surprised, and he was disgusted too, but he didn't have no idea what the matter was, of course.

The feller took the money and started away, and when he was going out of the door he sorter jerked his thumb over his shoulder at Daniel, and says again very deliberate:

"Well, I don't see any points about that frog that is any better than any other frog."

Smylie stood scratching his head and looking down on Dan'l for a long time, and at last he says, "I do wonder what in the nation that frog throwed off for. I wonder if there ain't something the matter with him; he appears to look mighty baggy somehow," and he ketched Daniel by the nape of the neck and lifted him up saying, "Why blame my cat if he don't weigh five pounds" and turned him upside down, and he belched out a double handful of shot; then he saw how it was, and he was the maddest man! He set the frog down and took after that feller, but he never ketched him.

—Ethan Spike in a speech before the Hornby Board of Trade favored the seventeenth amendment, which he described as "an act entitled an act, which is further supplementary to several other acts, and which repeals all other acts—except the acts of the Apostles—wotsoever and wheresumever inconsistent herewith."

WE BROTHERS BROWN.

BY HIRAM RICH.

We sing no songs of camps or kings,
We write no love lorn story;
We tend no conquering column on,
Yet we uphold its glory.
High, brothers, high,
The banners fly and fly—
We brothers brown—
We two bare hands.

In many a port the hatches fall,
The ship is full and ready—
The crawn reef is just a-lee,
Look lively, lads and steady.
Sway, brothers, sway,
Haul and belay, belay—
We brothers brown—
We two bare hands.

In forests deep awaiting us,
The keels to be are growing—
The sea hath never sails enough,
The winds are ever blowing.
Swing, brothers, swing,
The axes ring and ring—
We brothers brown—
We two bare hands.

The prairies roll and bloom and lure
As were the world one meadow;
The clouds are only looms that drop
Their rippling wefts of shadow.
Sow, brothers, sow,
The grain will grow,—
We brothers brown—
We two bare hands.

The sea is kind; throw net and line,
It cannot well deny us,—
There's always need upon the land—
The winds were made to try us.
Pull, brothers, pull,
Our nets are full and full,—
We brothers brown—
We two bare hands.

We sow and pull, we swing and sway,
We whirl the wheel of Labor,—
We bring the day when king and king,
Will be but man and neighbor.
Sing, brothers, sing,
Our song shall ring and ring,
We brothers brown—
We two bare hands.

DISENTHRALLED.

He had bowed down to drunkenness;
An abject worshipper;
The pulse of manhood's pride had gone,
Too faint and cold to stir;
And he had given his spirit up
Unto the humblest thrall;
And, bowing to the poisoned cup,
He gloried in his fall.

There came a change, the cloud rolled off
And light fell on his brain—
And like the passing of a dream
That cometh not again,
The shadow of his spirit fled;
He saw the gulf before—
He shuddered at the waste behind,
And was a man once more.

He shook the serpent's folds away,
That gathered round his heart,
As shakes the sturdy forest oak
Its poison vine apart;
He stood erect—returning pride
Grew terribly within,
And conscience sat in judgment on
His most familiar sin.

The light of intellect again
Along his pathway shone,
And reason, like a monarch, stood
Upon its golden throne;
The honored and the wise once more
Within his presence came—
And lingered oft on lovely lips
His once forbidden name.

There may be glory in the night
That treadeth nations down—
Wreaths for the crimson warrior,—
Pride for the kingly crown;
But glorious is that triumph hour,
The disenthralled shall find,
When evil passion boweth down
Unto the God-like mind.

The Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway Railroad intend to build ten miles of road the present season.

A Nashua liquor seller, named Kelsey, came to grief last Friday, and was conveyed to the Manchester jail to await the action of the Grand Jury in September.

The eighth biennial session of the New England Gallaudet Association of Deaf Mutes, will be held in Concord, Wednesday, September 7th, and will probably be in session for two or three days. The last time the association met in this State was in 1856, and the convention was a very interesting one.

A son of Rev. Wm. House, of Londonderry, aged ten years, broke his right arm in jumping over a wall, Friday evening.

White, who, in company with the desperado Shinborn, robbed the Walpole Bank some years ago, was arrested on board the up train at Charlestown, last Saturday noon. White claims to have settled with the losers for his share in the robbery.

Alexander Noble was drowned at Leavitt's Mills, near the White Mountain House, on Sunday.

W. F. Daniell of Franklin has sold his paper mill and the tenement houses connected with it to the Wood Pulp Co. of Lawrence for $70,000.

Horace F. Cummings, formerly of Exeter, now a clerk in the Treasury department, has been designated by the Second Comptroller as law clerk, in place of B. B. French, resigned.

New potatoes measuring 7 by 5 1-2 inches have been raised by Dr. A. H. Varney, of South Newmarket, this season.

The passenger station at Salem, on the Manchester and Lawrence road, and the house and barn of Mr. Calvin Boardman, were destroyed by fire on Monday night.

Hiram Jones, the Newmarket murderer, bids fair to live long enough to be hanged.

Rev. W. Rogers of Nottingham has accepted a call from the Freewill Baptist church in Strafford.

Elmer, son of Mr. Ingalls, of Canterbury, was accidentally killed on the 16th. His father had purchased him a new axe, and while his parents were absent, by consent of a sister he went out to try it. He was found soon after, lying dead against the stone wall and the tree he had felled across his chest. He was about nine years of age.

The body of William Jewett of Franklin, who has been missing since the 18th, was found just above F. in the Pemigewasset river, on the 18th.

A. M. Shackleford, of East Canaan, recently picked up a barrel of ale, shouldered it, and did his duty as station agent by delivering it to the parties it was consigned to, about eight rods from the depot—all without bursting his suspenders. The weight of the cask was four hundred pounds.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack of endemic or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and in length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.
Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Newslings.

A backman at Newport gained the custom of the Friends, at the late yearly meeting, by saying thee, but upset his chances by asking, "Where's thou's baggage?"

Five hundred Sioux Indians have attacked and killed most of the woodchoppers at Fort Buford.

300 New Jersey editors are on an excursion to Saratoga and Lake George.

Two hundred Irish and German emigrants, just arrived, enlisted in the army, Monday, at Governor's Island.

A large excursion train on the great Northern Railroad, England, was run into by a freight train on Tuesday. Thirteen persons were killed and thirty wounded.

Providence helps those who help themselves. A coal-heaver in Providence, R. I., helped himself to a mouthful of a friend's proboscis, and Providence helped him to a position in the county jail for six months.

An Indian woman in Philadelphia claims to be 120 years old.

Madame Demorest is to go to China and engage in tea business.

It seems too bad that after all Theodore Tilton has done for her sex that Red Cloud's squaw wants his scalp for a door mat.

A man named Edward Connors, employed in Charlestown, Mass., deliberately threw a boy, 11 years old, named Benj. M. Eastman, an only son of an officer in the State Prison, into the water at Prison Point bridge, on Saturday afternoon, and he was drowned. The body was recovered, and Connors arrested.

Mr. J. W. H. Rogers, of the firm of Rogers, Fuller & Co., and Charles W. Holmes, of Boston, were drowned by the capsizing of a boat in Portland harbor, Tuesday.

The great orator of the Spanish Cortes has made a brilliant speech in favor of emancipation.

Five more of the Greek brigands have been executed.

The New York Mutuals defeated the Lowell Clippers—32 to 14.

Ten cases of sunstroke, two of them fatal, occurred in New York, Monday.

Daniel Lyons has secured a verdict of $20,000 from the Erie Railroad Company, for injuries received in the Carr's Rock disaster.

The Builder announces that false chignons, plaits, and curls can be, and have been, made of spun glass, which, for cleanliness and other reasons, is preferable to human hair, hitherto used for that purpose.

Mr. David Ricker of Manchester was drowned in Massabesic pond on Tuesday.

An earthquake, the most serious since 1844, was felt at the Island of Gandaloupe, one of the principal French colonies in the Atlantic, on June 10.

BASE BALL.—The Lowell Club of Boston has been re-organized. Alline, Gorham and Reed go into the nine and Newton and Joslyn go out. We are glad to see our old friend Alline back again in the nine. He is one of the best, if not the best, general player in the Club. We hope Mr. Newton is replaced by as good a player as Newton is.

☞ The Rockingham County Representatives have voted to visit the County House at Brentwood on Tuesday morning, June 28th.

DESTROYING CURRANT AND GOOSEBERRY WORMS.—A fly or miller deposits small white eggs on the under side of the tender leaves of currant and gooseberry bushes, which yield the large number of white worms that devour the leaves. For a day or two after they are hatched the worms are scarcely perceptible to the naked eye. But they grow rapidly, and devour tender leaves greedily. The only reliable remedies are crushing with the fingers or sprinkling with powder of white hellebore (veratrum album,) which may be obtained at most drug stores. Put a few cents' worth—say one or two table spoonfuls—in a pepper box, turn up the branching bushes, and sprinkle a small quantity on the leaves when the eggs or worms can be seen. If the smallest perceptible atom comes in contact with a worm it will give him all sorts of fits. Now is the time to watch for them. Let the powdered hellebore be handled with caution, as the minute dust will produce terrible sneezing if inhaled.

—A vicious dog gave vent to his spite against a man on the street in Indianapolis recently, by biting him in the leg. Instead of driving him away the man stood still and let him work. The log being a wooden one, the biting didn't hurt the man, and seemed to afford the dog the greatest satisfaction.

—There is but a short leap between righteousness and self-righteousness, and many make it.

CONGRESS.—The Senate, on Tuesday, defeated the bill for the abolition of the franking privilege, 26 to 28.

In committee of the whole on the naval appropriation bill the following amendments were made. Increasing the appropriations for fifteen-inch guns, $140,000; for gunpowder, $50,000; for labor at navy yards, $300,000; for labor in navy yards, and on foreign stations, $1,500,000; for the purchase and preservation of timber, and general maintenance of the navy, $800,000; to enable the Secretary of the Navy to discharge the liabilities provided for by contracts made previous to March 4th, 1869, $515,960; for repairs of machinery, tools, labor, &c., $750,000; and striking out the provison that in payment of funeral expenses no distinction shall be made between the officers of the line and staff.

The naval committee reported amendments revising the entire pay list of the navy, and for regulating promotion, but without disposing of them the Senate adjourned.

In the House, Mr. Butler of Massachusetts from the reconstruction committee, reported a bill for full and general grace, amnesty and oblivion of wrongful acts, doings and omissions of all persons engaged in the late rebellion. Ordered to be printed and recommitted.

Among the bills reported was one by Mr. Ela of New Hampshire, reciting that $678,362 was due by the United States to the State of Massachusetts for interest on expenditures during the war of 1812; that one-third of it had been assigned to the State of Maine, and that the claim of the States had been assigned to the European and North American Railroad Company, and directing certificates to be issued for the same to that company.

The case of B. F. Whittemore of South Carolina came up by special assignment, and Mr. Logan of Illinois offered a resolution reciting the action of the committee on military affairs and the House in reporting a resolution declaring that Whittemore, by selling military and naval cadetships, was unworthy of a seat in the House, reciting his election and presentation of his credentials, and resolving that the House of Representatives decline to allow the said B. F. Whittemore to be sworn in as a representative in the Forty-first Congress, and directing that his credentials be returned to him.

After debate, the previous question was seconded—84 to 57—and Mr. Logan's resolution adopted, 131 to 24. Messrs. Brooks, Butler, Hoar, Twichell, Ela, Farnsworth, Poland, Morrill of Maine, Jenckes, Kelley, Maynard and Coburn voted nay.

Mr. Dawes spoke on the general appropriation bill. The bill appropriates $464,000 for navy yards and naval stations. The estimates for the next year to be $8,098,295 less than the estimates for the preceding year. The estimates for the year ending June 30, exclusive of what was called permanent appropriations, were $155,096,727. The committee had reported appropriations amounting to $141,753,502—a reduction of $13,343,522. The appropriations for the present year were $148,741,447, being $6,987,939 more than those for next year. These figures did not include permanent appropriations, such as for the payment of interest on the public debt, the collection of customs, &c. If these were added, in order to obtain the sum total, the result would be as follows: The estimates for the coming year would amount to $298,315,842, and the appropriations recommended by the committee to $284,972,617, being a reduction under the estimates of $13,342,225. The appropriations for the present year, including permanent appropriations, were $297,173,923, being $12,201,306 more than the appropriations recommended for the next fiscal year.

New Hampshire Items.

The barn of Mr. N. H. Wood in Hudson was struck by lightning on Monday night and burned. Two valuable horses were killed. The loss is estimated at $1000 and it was insured for $250.

Three men, named Dodge, Hutchinson and Boynton, were seriously injured at Milford ou Monday by falling from a roof which they were shingling. It is feared that Boynton is injured internally.

Miss Ida Bliss of Milford, aged fifteen, on Friday last took a pinch of snuff, which so affected her that she continued to sneeze without cessation for five hours, when she was seized with spasms, and is now lying at home with her grandparents in a critical condition. Dr. Dearborn pronouces it one of the most singular cases on record. Miss Bliss is not addicted to snuff-taking.

New Hampshire Legislature.

On Tuesday, In the House, a bill introduced by Mr. Wyatt of Dover, to amend the charter of the city of Dover, was read twice. The following bills were also read.

By Mr. Adams of Manchester—To incorporate Carroll County Railroad.

By Mr. Putnam of Manchester—To incorporate the Candia and Rochester Railroad.

By Mr. Wadleigh, of Milford—To grant the right of way through New Hampshire to the Portsmouth, Rutland, Oswego and Chicago railroad.

Mr. Bowle of Lisbon, offered the following:

Resolved, That the Committee on the Judiciary be instructed to inquire whether any legislation is necessary to protect stockholders in corporations against unauthorized contracts by directors and agents of the same, and report by bill or otherwise. Agreed to.

Mr. Brown of Stratford, offered the following.

Resolved, By the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, that the present session of the Legislature be brought to a close on Friday, the 24th day of June. Lost by a vote of 125 to 92.

A special committee was appointed to investigate whether any members were acting as counsel for important measures pending before the House. Also referring an inquiry in relation to the arrangements, contracts and the freight business of General Geo. Stark as agent between the connecting lines from Boston, Lake Champlain, etc. The bill for the consolidation of the Nashua and Lowell and Wilton roads, was, after a warm discussion of two hours, indefinitely postponed by a vote of 302 to 87.

The select committee to investigate the affairs of the Concord and Northern Railroads consists of Messrs. Lang of Orford, Herring of Farmington, Marcy of Portsmouth, Hill of Sandwich, Preston of New Ipswich, Moore of Goffstown, Ryder of Dunbarton, Carter of Keene, Farr of Dalton and Long of Claremont.

A bill has been passed authorizing the Governor to appoint the State Prison Warden.

In the Senate, a bill introduced by Mr. Peavey repealing an act in relation to the measure of milk was ordered to a third reading.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

DEERFIELD, June 20.

Messrs. Editors:—My conscience has long troubled me, and I wish to make a public confession, if you will permit it. When I was a boy, I killed many woodpeckers, besides wasting much time and ammunition. I thought they injured father's trees; but I did wrong, and have repented of it. The orchards which these woodpeckers were protecting are now mostly ruined, by the borers.

I have now about 150 trees, exposed to these insects, that breed in the bushes adjoining, and the woodpeckers have helped me much in saving them. I dig around the trunks, removing grass and brush, and killing what insects I can find, and the woodpecker follows me, killing five to my one. Where I have properly opened the way for him, my trees have suffered little for five years. I have found ashes applied to the roots beneficial.

I wish to say to every boy and to every man that loves apples and desires to see healthy trees, "Don't kill the birds"—the guards that God has placed over the fruit trees." For fifteen years I have watched these birds, and there is no species (except the jay) which has not done my trees ten times more good than harm. The Blue Jay has sometimes driven away better birds, and then taken five times his share of my fruit.

P. S. Since I can't restore the birds I killed, I wish, if possible, to save some of those now living, and to keep some boys from doing what may hereafter trouble their consciences. J. C.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Life Sustaining Organs.

The two organs which minister most directly to the support of the body, are the stomach and liver. In the former the first process of digestion takes place, under the action of that powerful solvent, the gastric juice. Thence the food, converted into a pulp, passes into the duodenum, where it is subjected to the action of the bile or gall, flowing from the liver, and of the fluid gen erated by the pancreas, or sweetbread of the system. These secretions separate the nutritious portion from the rest, and it is then taken up by the absorbent veins and conveyed into the channels of circulation in the form of venous blood, while the waste matter is discharged through the bowels.

Unless all these processes are duly performed, disease of some sort is inevitable, and the best of all medicinal agents for preserving or restoring the tone and regulating the action of the three organs—(the stomach, liver and intestines—) by which the three-fold work is carried on, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Indigestion is generally accompanied by constipation, and the gentle cathartic operation of the Bitters is no less important in cases of this kind, than in its tonic effect upon the stomach and the biliary gland. Beauty of person as well as health, depends in no small degree upon the regularity of the excretive functions. A sallow complexion, a thick, opaque, coarse skin, a tainted breath, rush of blood to the head, loss of memory, headache, and extreme mental depression, are the usual accompaniments of costiveness.

A course of the Bitters will infallibly relieve and finally banish these obnoxious symptoms, while invigorating the stomach and promoting healthy action in the liver. This genial vegetable stomachic and alterative strikes at disease in its primary sources, the assimilating, secretive and expulsive organs, and the cures it effects are consequently thorough and complete.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable, medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a sact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the malignancy of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs. A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended a PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cared by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

THE HIBERNICON is to be exhibited here for the last time, this (Thursday) evening, at the Temple. They have had two good houses, and deserve another; for the show is really a fine one, and the comicalities of the humorists are amusing, without any trace of vulgarity.

THE EXCURSION to the Shoals in steamer Appledore, under the auspices of Adm. Butler, to-day, promises to be a pleasant affair. Many tickets have been already disposed of, and the company will be numerous enough for comfort. J. C. knows how to conduct such excursions as they should be conducted, and may expect the same encouragement this season that he received last year.

KEARSARGE S. F. ENGINE No 3, just received by the City from the Amoskeag Co. of Manchester, was tested on Wednesday afternoon, in presence of the joint Committee on Fire Department of the City Council, the Mayor and the Chief Engineer. The engine and hose carriage are fine specimens of work, and thoroughly satisfied the examining committee, both as to finish, and the performance of the engine; though the high wind prevented a trial with a perpendicular stream, and did not give a horizontal one fair play.

The trial was conducted by Mr. N. S. Bean, Superintendent of the Amoskeag Works; and from the time the fires were lighted until the engine commenced to work, with 20 lbs. of steam, was but 5 1-2 minutes—and the circumstances for the trial were not the most favorable.

The cost of the engine is $4000; weight when ready for use, with water and coal, 6400 lbs.; length of stroke, 8 inches, with double cylinder; diameter of steam cylinder, 6 7-8 inches; diameter of pump, 4 1-8 inches.

Cost of hose carriage, $600; weight with 1000 feet of hose, 2810 lbs. The hose carriage is so manifestly superior to the old ones, that there is already some talk of having the latter sent to Manchester to be overhauled and remodelled.

TRUE PHILANTHROPY.—A week or two ago we published an item stating that Mr. Lowell Jenness, of this city, had been severely bitten by a blundering, stupid brute of a bull-dog. This statement came under the notice of "Doctor" J. A. Page, of Waltham, Mass. The Doctor's sympathies were at once enlisted in Mr. Jenness' behalf; and, boiling over with a desire to benefit mankind and to transfer $25 from the Jenness to the Page exchequer, he forthwith sent to our worthy townsman the following important information:—

MR. JENNESS:—Dear Sir:—I notice by the Manchester Mirror, that you have been severely bitten by a dog! I am a Practising Physician of over twenty years standing. Have a remedy in my possession that was said to have cured over four thousand cases, or rather prevented that number from the dread monster, hydrophobia after being bitten. The discoverer of this remedy who died many years ago, makes the above statement; and I have never known it to fail of meeting his recommend. Some men would make an independent fortune on this remedy; I am no sensationist, consequently, when I see a case like yours, I for the sake of suffering humanity inform them I have the Antidote against Hydrophobia!

And leave the subject wholly with the parties interested, there are so many humbugs, and articles having no specific value advertised, is my only reason for not making this article known broadcast; I dislike the appearance of humbuggery, therefore use my own judgment in making a good thing known to such as are in need of it!

My invariable price for the remedy is Twenty Five dollars. I name the price to save time, should you desire it; on receipt of price, It will be forwarded free of expressage, To Address;

Very respectfully, Dr. J. A. PAGE,
Waltham, Mass., June 16.

If your pleasure, address as above.

Mr. Jenness, fully appreciating the benevolent motives which prompted the "Doctor's" letter, and admiring the "exercise of his own judgment" which guided him in selecting a dupe, wrote the following reply, which we trust will convince the "practising physician of twenty years' standing" that he will have to keep his feet twenty years longer, and "practise" a sharper game, before he can finger $25 of Mr. Jenness' cash:—

PORTSMOUTH, June 21.

"Doctor" Page: — Sir: — I have received your kind letter of the 16th, and duly appreciate the same. I was severely bitten by a dog, and do not care to be bitten by a shark. How are you, for the sake of suffering humanity and twenty-five dollars? Things are looking very verdant in this section at present, and no doubt crops will be good. Are you doing much with the Antidote for Hydrophobia—for the sake of suffering humanity and twenty-five dollars? My friend, did you ever know a biter to get bitten? Very affectionately,

LOWELL JENNESS.

☞ The Strawberry Festival at Congress Hall on Wednesday evening, by the ladies of the Methodist Church, was well attended, and passed off very pleasantly.

BASE BALL.—On Wednesday afternoon at the Plains, the Junior Jacksons warmed the Shoo Flies in 5 innings, 13 to 9. A game between two picked nines resulted in a tie, 20 to 20, on the 4th inning. On the 5th and 6th innings there were ties also, and the game was drawn.

☞ The U. S. Naval Band, under the direction of H. J. Harlow, by permission of the proper authorities will give a free concert to our citizens this (Thursday) evening at half-past 8 o'clock, on Haymarket Square. Should the weather be unfavorable the concert will be given on the first pleasant evening.

THE EDITORS.—The committee of arrangements for the joint Convention of the Maine and New Hampshire Printers, and Publishers' Associations, have decided to hold the annual meeting at the Ocean House, Rye Beach, July 20th and 21st. The visit will doubtless include a call at Portsmouth and the Shoals; and of course our citizens will be ready to extend every courtesy in their power to the noted visitors. The fraternity of the quill will be accompanied by ladies, and will form a large party.

☞ The Western Union Telegraph have at last established an office in the business part of Exeter, located in Perkins' Express Office. The office has heretofore been at the Depot, to the great inconvenience of persons doing business in that town. The International line have just established an office at Exeter, connecting with the line over the old stage road between Boston and Portsmouth.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

KITTERY, June 22.

A good joke on our worthy citizens, came off this week. A young lady, well known and always resident here, actually got married to a gentleman from Brooklyn, and no one heard a whisper of the affair until after the ceremony! 'Tis the first thing that ever happened in Kittery that was n't known a long time before it took place.

Jesse Atwood, Esq., who recently took to himself a mate, was serenaded in the regular calithumpian style on Monday evening, by about 75 persons, who took this method of showing their respect and good will to groom and bride, and were very bountifully provided for by those they thus honored. May both couples enjoy all they anticipate from their union.

Some one writing from Kittery to the Portland Press, says everybody you meet here is talking Mr. Lynch for Congress. 190 to 58 against him in the caucus, don't look much that way; and our county committee say the nomination belongs to York county by usage. This is a poor way to attempt to affect caucuses—very few here favor Mr. Lynch's re-nomination, except his appointees and those they control. K. M.

"WHAT I KNOW ABOUT FARMING"—After Greeley.—Turnips should never be pulled; it injures them. It is better to send a boy up and let him shake the tree.

The guano is a fine bird, but great care is necessary in rearing it. It should not be imported earlier than June or later than September. In the Winter it should be kept in a warm place, where it can hatch out its young.

It is evident that we are to have a backward season for grain. Therefore it will be well for the farmer to begin setting out his cornstalks and planting his buckwheat cakes in July instead of August.

Concerning the pumpkin—This berry is a favorite with the natives of the interior of New England, who prefer it to the gooseberry for the making of fruit cake, and who likewise give it the preference over the raspberry for feeding cows, as being more filling and as fully satisfying. The pumpkin is the most esculent of the orange family that will thrive in the north, except the gourd and one or two varieties of the squash. But the custom of planting it in the front yard with the shrubbery is fast going out of vogue, for it is now generally conceded that the pumpkin, as a shade tree, is a failure.—MARK TWAIN in the Galaxy.

RICHARDSON'S

LITTLE WASHER! PRICE $5.00.

The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!

☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bed-quilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend a year's labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.

More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have their washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.

MR. J. J. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.

MR. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success. MRS. L. E. MARTIN.

MR. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer," I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,

NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

Morning Chronicle.

From the Boston Transcript.

STEAMER APPLEDORE.—This handsome and convenient little steamer having come to Charlestown for an additional paddle to her propeller, left her berth at Tudor's wharf on Thursday, for her return trip to the Appledore, with a gay and gallant party, who embraced this occasion as a preliminary to the 17th, the next day, as we take oysters on the half shell to give zest to a feast. Mr. Oscar Laighton, of the Appledore House, was chosen principal caterer by a unanimous vote, and he laid in a whole deck load of provisions for contingencies of the voyage, ostensibly for the House. The matter of lemonade was intrusted to an efficient hand, but he signally failed in his estimate of sugar, that commodity being short some twenty-five miles by dead reckoning.

The elegant little vessel, under the command of Captain Baker, a "salt" of whose savor there is no question, and a gentleman who, in the capacity wherein he is placed, gives unqualified satisfaction—did nobly with her new improvement, moving without jarring, and going through the water as gracefully as a swan. Of her sea-going properties she gave abundant proof before reaching her destination. The day was bright and pleasant at starting, and the pressure of genial influences made the occasion very enjoyable. There were very few incidents that occurred on the voyage worth mentioning, outside the boat's limits, where, however, there were many and stirring. The seamanship of last year was more than equalled this, and Captain Baker "cut off" about three miles of the trip by going through the "gut" somewhere about Cape Ann, without injury to the sensibilities of the voyagers. They admired the scenery of shore and sea, as seen through their glasses, and many adventures were narrated of this and other shores by those who had taken part in them, making the time pass merrily.

It was about two o'clock when they "made" the Shoals—a good substantial bit of rock work—and beyond in the northwest an ugly cloud portentously loomed, as if preparing to contest the entrance of the steamer to the port of Appledore, which then lay broad before her. About four, the vessels between the steamer and the storm began to take off their jackets as if awaiting the blow, and then, a minute afterwards, down came the spirit of the storm—and water. How it blowed and rained! How the waves rose and hissed at the steamer as Captain Baker held her on her way! How the gale blew at the steam pipe as though it were a whistle, and then shrieked away to leeward as if after a schooner it had just got its eye-on! But amid it all the Appledore held her own, and that of all on board, and breasted the waves as if they had been of caoutchin, moved by supernumaries in a theatre.

A staunch sea-boat she proved, truly, lying there without taking a drop of water, beyond the dripping of the rain. The storm was over in twenty minutes, with no casualty beyond the loss of a hat that escaped from the owner's head and ricocheted over far to leeward, to become the home, may be, of a brood of Mother Cary's Chickens, whose hencoops are limited on our coast. During the whole of it there was no feeling of apprehension, no sea-sickness, no whining wish to be on land, no wonder if the "dear ones at home" were thinking of anything in particular, and not one of the number, even him who had lost his new hat, would have foregone that exhibition of thunder, lightning, wind and rain for a good many dollars. One took to poetry, and quoted till a shriek from the steam-whistle cut him off right in the middle.

The landing was happily effected about 5 o'clock, where a warm welcome and a fine fish dinner awaited the guests from Cedric, whose welcome has a warmth as grateful as are the cool breezes of Appledore. Here the philosopher who lost his hat supplied himself easily, as all people's hats seemed to fit him. He was a philosopher truly. There was no matter mundane he was not conversant with, most of which he knew from actual experience, and he demonstrated to a dot that the persistent motion of a tame bear there in swinging his hind legs over a chain, by balancing himself on his fore paws, was the same thing in principle with the magnetic needle, citing many things bearing on the subject, the only objection being a remark made by the supervisor of the lemonade, that it didn't seem to him correct, because this was not a polar bear!—had it been, the magnetic needle theory might have had some point to it. The question was left unsettled by the call of "all on board," and with stout hearts, but shaking hands, the party left that rock-bound coast for Portsmouth, which they reached a little after nine, without demonstration on the part of the inhabitants.

The boat commenced her trips the next day. Several sojourners have already taken up their abode there, and all the principal rooms are engaged already. A good summer business is evident. The house has been improved much during the recess, and arrangements made that the boarders will appreciate. In process of making, is an artificial salt-water pond, before the house, to be kept full by means of a dyke, in which the boarders may bathe. The water will be comparatively warm, and will be admirable for invalids and children. A fountain is to occupy the centre of it, from a head of water furnished by Oscar's ingenuity, somewhere in the upper regions, and the thing promises a delightful success.

VOYAGEUR.

An Auburn man has married his aunt and it's nobody's business.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

PORTLAND, June 21.

The 4th July is to be celebrated in grand style here—the celebration in Maine. The programme will be, ringing bells, sailing and rowing regattas, military parade and review, dedication of fountain on Lincoln Park, addresses there by Judge Shepley, Pres. of Water Co., and Mayor Kingsbury, Firemen parade and prize competition, and fireworks. Gov. Chamberlain and staff will be present and review the military. Some six or eight companies from Bangor, Norway, Augusta, Skowhegan, Auburn, and other places are coming, making the first appearance of the new regiment. Gov. Chamberlain will address the troops. Thousands of strangers will be here, but there is room for our Portsmouth neighbors. Portland is a fine place for celebrations, and the coming one will be one of the best ever given here.

Mr. W. C. Thompson, of the Lynn Opera House, announces for three nights, June 22d, 23rd, 24th; Kate Reignolds and a sterling company, including John Murray, Harry Crisp, William Scallan, Georgia Reignolds and others. We are to have "Miami, the Huntress of the Mississippi," "Colleen Bawn" and "Oliver Twist." Thompson is a worthy manager, and the actors named above are all capital. Portland needs a first-class theatre. Instead of building so many stores, which now remain unoccupied, if some moneyed man had erected a fair sized cosy theatre for the high order of dramatics, it would have been a profitable investment and induced the best class of amusements to visit this city—thereby proving, as many moralists affirm—that a good theatre is a public benefit.

The Portland Mechanic Blues celebrate their 63rd anniversary on the 24th with an excursion down the harbor to one of the islands, target firing and a general good time.

The Army and Navy Union are making arrangements for next winter's amusement. Some talk exists of trying for M'lle. Nillson or M'lle. Cari, (Miss Cary of Gorham) the two stars of the year. Speaking of Miss Cary—the Boston papers continually speak of her as "of Boston," but she is of Gorham, Me.

"Twinkle, twinkle, Little Star" exclaimed a young friend as he took up and read the newly reconstructed Sunday paper of this city.

Capt. Enoch Knight, formerly of the Daily Evening Advertiser, formerly Star, and afterwards of the Press, has purchased the Sunday Advertiser and transformed it into a tasty, readable, choice, Sunday paper. Mr. Knight has had large experience in newspaper matters, and will make it, we, know a first-rate paper. Instead of the usual astronomical order of things, "Knight" will shine in the "Star."

The work of mounting the new fountain on Lincoln Park is nearly finished, the design of the pedestal being the four seasons in shape of four youths. There are three basins. The fountain throws its spray about 12 feet, and the fall of water is 26 feet. With the exception of the Brewer fountain on Boston Common, this is said to be the finest (considering its size) in the United States. The establishment in New York of whom this was bought have a contract with parties in France for a fountain like this, only larger, to cost some $37,000.

DOW'S FLAT.

Dow's Flat. That its name.
And I reckon that you
Are a stranger? The same?
Well, I thought it was true—
For thar isn't a man on the river as can't spot the place at first view.

It was called after Dow—
Which the same was an ass—
As to the how
That has thrug kem to pass—
Jest tie up your hoss to that buckeye, and sit yo down here in the grass!—

You see this yer Dow
Had the worst kind of luck;
He slipped up somehow
On each thing that he struck.
Why, after he'd straddled that fence rail the derned thing 'el get up and buck.

He mined on the bar,
Till he couldn't pay rates;
He was smashed by a car
When he tunnelled with Bates;
And right on the top of his trouble kera his wife and five kids from the States.

It was rough—mighty rough;
But the boys they stood by,
And they brought him the stuff
For a house, on the sly;
And the old woman—well, she did washing, and took on when no one was nigh.

But this yer luck of Dow's
Was so powerful mean,
That the spring near his house,
Dried right up on the green;
And he sunk forty feet down for water, but nary a drop to be seen.

Then the bar petered out,
And the boys wouldn't stay;
And the chills got about,
And his wife pined away;
But Dow, in his well, kept a peggin' in his usual pidiliious way.

One day—it was June—
And a year ago—jest—
This Dow keen at noon
To his work like the rest,
With a shovel and pick on his shoulder, and a derringer hid in his breast.

He goes to the well,
And he stands on the brink,
And stops for a spell
Jest to listen and think;
For the sun in his eyes, (jest like this, sir!) you see, kinder made the cuss blink.

His two ragged gals
In the gulch were at play,
And a gownd that was Sal's
Kinder flapped on a hay;
Not much for a man to be lovin', but his all—as I've heer'd the folks say.

And——that's a pearl hose
That you've got—ain't it now?
What might be her cost?
Eh? Oh——Well then, Dow—
Let's see—well, that forty-foot grave was'nt his, sir, that day, anyhow.

For a blow of his pick
Spoiled a vein in the side,
And he looked and turned sick,
Then he trembled and cried.
For you see the dern cuss had struck—"Water?" beg your pardon, young man, there you lied!

It was gold—in the quartz,
And it ran all strike;
And I reckon five ounces
Was the worth of that strike;
And that house with the copplow's his'n—which the same isn't bad for a Pike.

That's why it's Dow's Flat;
And the thing of it is
That he kinder got that
Through sheer contrariness;
For 'twas water the derned cuss was seekin', and his luck made him certain to miss.

That's so. That's your way
To the left of you tree;
But—a—look h'yur, say?
Won't you come to tea?
No? Well, then the next time you're passin'; and ask after Dow—and that's me.

—[From the Overland Monthly for June.

FODDER CORN.—Now is the time to plant it. You have finished your other planting, and hoeing is not yet pressing. Plough up a small piece, and apply all the manure you have at hand broad cast—harrow thoroughly. Furrow three feet apart, and sow the corn liberally in the furrows. If you have no manure, drop ashes, leached or unleached, upon the corn. Do not drop the ashes first, but put the ashes upon the corn, and the corn will come up as well as if covered with pure earth, and grow much better.

If you have no manure or ashes roll your corn in plaster paris; if you have not, that, plant the corn without it. Be sure to put in the fodder corn for the cows next August and September, when the pastures begin to fail and the cows dry up. No work is so well repaid. A small piece of land and a little labor will produce a crop which, if judiciously fed at the proper time in the fall, will pay in milk, flesh and butter, double the cost of raising.

—Mrs. H——, young mother, was exhibiting with considerable pride to a number of admiring friends her first baby. Finally approaching little Dan, a boy of five years, the happy parent said: "Dan, isn't this a dear little baby?" Dan hesitated a moment, turned up his eyes and answered: "Yes, but it's bald headed."

Communication.

TAXING U. S. BONDS. — We make but a brief reply to your remarks relative to our article in favor of taxing U. S. bonds. You have made the most plausible and able argument against taxing the bonds that we have seen. If your conclusions are correctly drawn from the facts, we would readily reject our position. This is not, or ought not to be a party question, for it concerns the vital interests of all the people of the republic.

We contend only for the principles of equity and justice, as paramount to some contracts in legal form. It will be conceded that the people had no hand in the contract exempting the bonds from taxation. True, it was made by a few of their agents or public servants. They may have done the best they could under the public exigencies.

A minister plenipotentiary may enter into a treaty with a foreign nation, but if not satisfactory to the nation he represents, it may justly be rejected. Contracts in legal form, but opposed to equity and justice are sometimes set aside by our judicial tribunals. Although the Federal government cannot be compelled to answer to a civil action for any claim in the U. S. Courts, we hold that it is bound by the highest principles of honor and justice to liquidate all just claims against it.

We now submit the question to the candid and intelligent people of our country, whether it is right and just that two billions of property should be exempted from taxation, and thereby increase the taxes assessed upon the laboring classes? Whether nearly all the bonds are or are not held by capitalists and persons of wealth, is not material to the argument, although it seems to be inequitable that those, who are the best able to pay their proportion of the taxes, should be exempted. The bonds here and abroad have become articles of traffic, like merchandise, and although at their first issue many were purchased by patriotic persons of small means, are now held by the wealthy classes, and by the national banks as a substitute for a specie basis.

The advocates of exemption contend that at the period when the Government was in danger of subversion should the rebellion be successful, the bonds were issued as a substitute for specie, the sinews of war, and exchanged (often at a discount) for specie. They would induce us to believe that the N. Y. capitalists and others invested their funds in the bonds from patriotic motives. The latter is true in respect to some of small means, but not so in respect to the millionaires, who may be compared to soulless corporations, whose sole motive is gain. Another motive had its influence. They well knew that should the rebellion be successful, property would be of little value. Democrats, many of whom possessed great wealth, from mercenary motives, invested largely in the bonds, and still hold them because exempted from taxation.

It affects not our position, whether half the bonds are or are not now held in Europe. Many of them were purchased by Americans in Europe at a large discount. For the English bondholders, whose sympathies were with the rebels, we have no sympathy.

It is a serious consideration, that should the bondholders be allowed to hold the bonds 15, 20, or 25 years, with the annual gain of the interest in specie, and exemption from taxation, amounting to from 12 to 15 per cent., the laboring classes would ultimately be taxed for more than four billions! But this will not long be endured, for it would lead to an aristocracy of wealth (of which the nation is in danger from other causes) as odious and oppressive as that in England. The aristocracy there grew out of her war debts. Now our position is, that capitalists and the N. Y. millionaires took advantage of the distress of the government to raise the sinews of war, and required that not only the principal and interest should be paid in specie, to which all now agree, but dictated that part of the contract, which exempts the bonds from taxation for a long period. This part of the contract should upon moral and just principles be rescinded or not complied with. If that be repudiation, repudiation and justice are synonymous terms. At former periods of the republic, it was to be consistent with moral honesty to pay a just debt, and the lawful interest. But there is an old maxim that "times change and we change with them." There were Shylocks in past ages, and now they seem to be on the increase with such a host of advocates, that it may be temerity to attack them. But the virtuous and enlightened citizens of our Republic, fearless of the powerful combination of all the interested advocates of exemption, will ultimately render a true verdict upon the issue submitted to them. It requires no great prophecy to foresee that any party, that should oppose their decision, would soon be dissolved like dew before the morning sun.

No matter what motive actuated the original bondholders in loaning their treasure used in defence of our free institutions,—the act deserves the grateful acknowledgment of the people, although they perilled not life on the battle field; yet the act bears no comparison to the sacrifices and noble deeds of the valiant sons of the North and Northwest, whose blood crimsoned the sunny plains of the South, causing bitter anguish and sorrow of bereaved parents, brothers, sisters, and friends. The bondholders will be paid all that justice requires, although they may refuse to exchange their bonds for new securities bearing a reasonable interest.

X.

[Remarks. Our esteemed friend offers no additional argument in favor of this doctrine, which we consider the doctrine of repudiation; but we allow him sufficient space in our columns for fair play. If, as he says, he contends "only for the principles of equity and justice," he certainly cannot wish to violate an agreement made understandingly by the parties of both parts. The agreements made were sanctioned by the government, whose members were chosen by the people.

The question as to who holds government bonds is irrelevant. They are held by rich and poor, and the wealthy classes have as much right to protection as the poor. Monetary transactions are made with reference to the market rates at the time of negotiation. No person complained, when the national bonds were issued, of extravagant rates of interest. They were sold at par, redeemable in gold—some with interest payable in gold. The great profit arose from the inflation of paper currency. Since currency has nearly reached a gold value, the profit on the gold interest has been greatly lessened.

If some of these bonds have been sold below their value, the seller is the loser, not the government. The highest rate of interest allowed on these bonds in gold is 6 per cent., and the highest rate in currency is 7 3-10 per cent. Money is to-day worth more than either.

X shows no reason why government bonds should be taxed—because there is no reason. The idea is absurd. The bonds were no more issued as a substitute for specie than notes are when one man borrows of another. The greenbacks were issued as a substitute for specie, and according to the line of logic pursued by X, can be taxed or the whole amount repudiated.

An aristocracy of wealth will come not because of holders of bonds, for were there no bonds the holders of money would find other investments. We abominate an aristocracy of wealth or position as conducive to a life of laziness and comparative worthlessness on the part of such an aristocracy, yet we see no justice in despoiling even an aristocracy of what is its own by right.

If the people of this country are so dishonest and unjust as to require that any party should "dissolve like dew before the morning sun," because of its advocacy of the principles of right and justice.—anti-repudiation,—then do not deserve to live in a free country. We should prefer to advocate the principles of honor and justice with a minority, rather than to be suspected of sympathy with any party which has only sophistry and prejudice with which to influence voters, and which can have no more noble principle of action than have the grand army of bummers and corner loafers, who, to use a vulgar but expressive quotation, "live on the interest of what they owe." — Eds. Chronicle.]

N. H. Legislature.

The House has passed a joint resolution thanking Hon. Jacob H. Ela, for his endeavors to prevent the squandering of the public lands, and for his efforts to equalize taxation.

In the House, on Wednesday, a proposition to give $3500 towards a State map was laid on the table, 143 to 77.

☞ The Senate Committee on Military Affairs have reported some curious developments by Col. Jacquess, who has a claim on the government for services as a spy during the rebellion. By his story, it seems that on learning of movements on foot at Richmond to burn the principal Northern cities, he entered the rebel lines and persuaded the chemist who had the manufactory of the powder in charge, to substitute an inflammable powder, which would extinguish itself after igniting; and this saved New York and other cities from ruin. He also claims to have proven to Gov. Seymour of New York that Southern leaders were fighting solely for independence and not for slavery, thereby turning Seymour's sympathy from the rebels to the Union cause. Very singularly, the open opposition of Gov. Seymour to the Union cause ceased from that time.

ANOTHER CONGRESSIONAL TILT took place in the House on Thursday. Gen. Farnsworth charged Gen. Butler with being a paid attorney on one side of a case outside the House and with being on the other side, unpaid, in the House, having received $2000 for one month's work on briefs in a claim case. Butler retorted by likening Farnsworth to an assassin and coward, who had more beard than brains. Brave boys both belligerents. They deserve to be remembered by their constituents.

Newslings.

Hon. John W. Stewart is the Republican nominee for Governor of Vermont.

The Denver Pacific Railroad is finished.

France is sending ships to the Black Sea ports for grain.

Mr. Junius Henri Browne has been married to Miss Lillian Louise Gilbert, a sister of Mrs. Lucia Gilbert Calhoun Runkle.

England complains of hot weather.

The Democrats in the Connecticut legislature have defeated a proposed amendment of the State constitution striking out the word "white."

W. Scott Smith comes out of the congressional inquiry business all right.

By the explosion of nitro-glycerine on board a freight train on Thursday, at Worcester, Mass., three men were killed, the track was torn up and several houses blown down.

☞ The Republican Convention for the nomination of a candidate for Congress in the 1st Maine District will meet next Wednesday at Saco. There is a strong feeling in York county against being Lynched again, a feeling that is not self-exhaustive.

At the Republican caucus in Biddeford, Wednesday evening, six anti-Lynch men were chosen delegates and the meeting adjourned to Thursday evening to choose six more.

☞ The annual examination at Phillips Academy, Exeter, took place on Tuesday. There were present President Eliot of Harvard College, Professor Peabody, Professor Brown and other eminent gentlemen. Three classes, containing in all 140 boys, were examined: in the senior or graduating class were upwards of thirty boys who go to Cambridge next week to be examined for admission to Harvard, the largest class ever sent there. In it are U. S. Grant, Jr., the President's son, and also a son of Governor Clifford and of August Belmont. The examination passed off well, and the ancient school was never in better condition.

BASE BALL.—The Harvards won the match with the Mutuals of New York on Wednesday by a score of 24 to 22.

The Red Stockings beat the Philadelphia Athletics, same day, 27 to 25.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Want of Vitality.

Sometimes there is a lack of vitality in large and apparently well developed frames. Herculean sinews and muscles are not always indicative of stamina and constitutional vigor in their possessor. Health depends more upon the condition of the stomach, the liver and the bowels, than upon the breadth of the shoulders, or the size of loom levers and pulleys of the system in which strength is supposed to reside. All this grand animal machinery is of itself no protective against sickness and decay. Easy and perfect digestion, regular and healthy secretions, uncontaminated blood, and a regular discharge of the waste matter of the body through the intestines, the kidneys and the pores, are the most potent safeguards against disease, the best guarantees of longevity. To promote these objects is the great end and purpose of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The ingredients of which the Great Tonic and Alterative is composed are taken solely from the vegetable kingdom and their medicinal virtues are not counterbalanced by the acid and poisonous elements which exist, more or less, in all the powerful mineral drugs. Sufferers from indigestion, biliousness, intermittent fevers, nervous debility or constipation, not only find immediate relief from the use of this agreeable stimulant and invigorant, but become cured ones, as time wears on, of an increase of constitutional elasticity and vital force. Labor and exposure no longer produce the same effect upon them as heretofore, and they feel as if they had acquired a new hold on life, a new reserve of physical and mental energy.

This has been the experience of thousands of both sexes, and every day adds to the mass of confirmatory testimony. At this season of the year when the temperature and state of the atmosphere, exercise a peculiarly depressing influence over the minds and bodies of invalids, Hostetter's Bitters is the only tonic upon which the debilitated can rely for swift and permanent restoration.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from disease and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings—says: I have used BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and then he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

PORTSMOUTH OUTDONE.—The large price offered at Portsmouth for a Pine Tree cent has been going the rounds of the press. We were shown the other day, by Mr. James M. Pendexter of Durham, a Pine tree silver coin of about the size of an American quarter, as we recollect it. On one side was "New England Dom," occupying the circle and 1652 — XII in the centre. This piece of money was plowed up in Mr. Pendexter's field a few years since, and is a great curiosity because it is a specimen of the first money coined in the New England States, and is valuable because of the great scarcity of that kind of money.—Dover Enquirer.

A goose race, like unto those of the West, is talked of for the coming Fourth. Entries to be made at Trafton's. The six-in-hands are expected to furnish sufficient force for propulsion, being compelled to draw a tub and driver. There's more fun in this kind of water contest than any other, because they sometimes duck, as do the drivers. Ho! for the goose race. An entry from Portland is expected.

The proposed railroad route from this city to Dover is 10 1-2 miles; just as long as it was three years since.

A photo of the old house on Congress Street, facing the Academy and Middle Street, would suggest to our citizens' grand children what an old set of covies their ancestors might have been, had those ancestors lived longer.

Intoxicated people find it somewhat difficult to make their way on Congress Street, o' evenings, there are so many people, this year.

The individuals who went to the Shoals, in charge of Capt. Baker and Adm. Butler, on Thursday, experienced a sudden change of complexion.

We hear the names of Hon. Horton D. Walker and Hon. John H. Bailey spoken of for the Republican nomination for Governor. Both are avowed temperance men.

The head quarters of teaming are at the North church.

An indignant proprietor of a hack thinks the depth of meanness is reached by people who hire job wagons to carry trunks to the depots and walk themselves, when it would only cost them 10 cents more, each, to hire a hack and ride with their baggage. He probably forgets that 10 cents will buy two thirds of an ice cream.

NAVAL.—Orders have been received for the U. S. S. Plymouth to drop down to the lower harbor to-day. She will proceed to sea soon, and may go to New York after men. She has been made into a full rigged Ship being formerly a Bark. She was noted for her speed before, and the alteration, will give her some more canvas.

New Publications Received.

Hammer and Anvil by Friedrich Spielhagen, translated from the German by Wm. Hand Brown. Leypoldt & Holt, publishers, 25 Bond St., New York. This is one of Spielhagen's best productions, 691 pages, closely printed, and is sold for $2. The reader lives among the characters as he does among his acquaintances, and may plead each one's case as plausibly to his own judgment as he can those of the men whose mixed motives and actions he sees around him. It has no superior in German romance for its enthusiastic and lively descriptions, and for the dignity and the tenderness with which its leading characters are invested. For sale by J. H. Foster.

Sanctum Sanctorum by Theodore Tilton of the N. Y. Independent, from which these "proof sheets" are gathered. A volume of 325 pages, published by Sheldon & Co. New York. Anything from Theodore Tilton's pen is interesting and this little volume contains many of his best contributions. For sale by J. H. Foster.

Harper's Magazine for July is received from the publishers through E. A. Batchelder, who has it for sale. It contains lots of good things, as usual. The Vaudois, The Ocean Steamer, Frederick the Great, continued, Me and My Son, About Walking Sticks and Fans, Jane Austen, A Dream of Fairies, The Old Love Again, Second paper on the Running Turf in America, Prof. Heron's Mistake, Recollections of W. M. Thackeray, Anteros, Flirtation, &c., with the Editor's Easy Chair, go to make up the very readable contents.

Life in Utah; or the Mysteries and crimes of Mormonism; being an expose of their secret rites and ceremonies, with a full and authentic history of Polygamy and the Mormon sect, from its origin to the present time; by J. H. Beadle, editor of the Salt Lake Reporter. Published by the National Publishing Co., Boston, Mass. The attention which Mr. Beadle's letters on Mormonism written from Utah to the Cincinnati Commercial, attracted throughout the country, justifies us in predicting that this new work from his pen will command a large and rapid sale. Of all the writers who have yet touched upon this theme, Mr. Beadle is, perhaps, the best prepared for the task. His long residence among the Mormons, and his position as editor of the Salt Lake Reporter, have given him a familiarity with the subject, which it is impossible for any mere transient visitor to acquire. Agents wanted.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.—The Commissioners ask the County Convention (the Representatives from the County) for $77,400, for the expenses of the coming year. This was voted, as follows:

For State Pay Rolls,	$3,600
Jury "	5,000
Expenses County Farm,	15,000
County Paupers off Farm,	5,000
N. H. Asylum for Insane,	6,000
Reform School,	300
Bonds due 1871 and Interest,	25,000
Jail Expenses,	2,000
Barn & Tool House at Co. Farm,	4,000
Insane House at Co. Farm,	1,500
Miscellaneous Expenses, including Books, Stationery, Sheriff Fees, Salaries, Printing, &c.,	10,000
	$77,400

The Commissioners were requested to inquire and report as to the expediency of purchasing a Wood lot for the use of the County Farm, and to report to the Convention.

A resolution was passed authorizing the Commissioners to constitute the County institution a House of Correction, for the reception of drunkards, and women and youth who for minor offences can be set at work here, but must otherwise be committed to jail in costly idleness.

RICHARDSON'S
LITTLE WASHER:
PRICE $5.00.
The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the First Premium over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!
☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bed-quilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.
More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and not doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.
MR. J. J. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.
MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success.
Mrs. L. E. MARTIN.
MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.
J. J. HATLINGER, Sole Agent for Portsmouth.
HEADQUARTERS AT PORTSMOUTH:—SWEETSER & CLARK'S, 46 Market Street; OXFORD & JOHNSTON'S, Grocers, 78 State St. and 521-2 Middle Street; and D. H. MONTGOMERY'S Music Store, Daniel St., where machines can be seen, and orders left for the Agent to call at houses to demonstrate its qualities. Je16tf

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.
NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Conducts Applications, Reissues, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered relative to matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

Morning Chronicle.

REPORT OF THE STATE TREASURER. The report of the Treasurer makes a good exhibit of the finances:

The receipts are put down at	$1,123,628.19
Expenditures	$1,086,350.23
Cash on hand	$36,677.96
In debtedness June, 1869,	$3,139,579.32
" " 1870,	$2,779,291.96
Reduction of debt	$359,287.35

The State debt draws only six per cent. currency interest, and consists of

Trust funds	$45,619.26
Floating debt	20,639.00
Funded debt	2,712,233.60

It was stated in the last annual report that evidence had been prepared covering the balance of our war claims, amounting to some seven thousand dollars, which would probably remove existing objections and secure their payment. On that evidence $6,193.44 was allowed and paid. The account may now be considered as finally closed and stands as follows:

Claims presented		$1,197,597.45
Claims for bounty withdrawn	$371,980.00
Allowed	1,006,397.45
		$1,381,487.45
Disallowed		$26,020.00

Which was mostly for expenses incurred in the early part of the war, on account of commissioned officers, and later for agents sent to the field to care for our sick and wounded soldiers. The comparatively small sum disallowed affords the best evidence of the care with which the expenditures were made, and the faithfulness and efficiency of the State agent in preparing and prosecuting our claims.

The finances of the State are in a most satisfactory condition. The revenue, which for the past year exceeded the expenses by morethan $358,000, will probably be increased during the present year, while the expenses will be still further reduced.

The law taxing foreign insurance companies, which went into effect September 15, 1869, has yielded to the Treasury $3,544.86, and would have yielded $10,632.82 had the law been in force during the whole year.

The floating debt has been reduced to a mere nominal sum, and all obligations bearing over six per cent. currency interest have been extinguished.

There will be required for payment on the debt during the year for

Notes	$30,850.00
Bank overdraw	2,000.00
Bank due July 1, 1870	97,300.00
Bonds due October 1, 1870	250,000.00
	$370,850.00

As a large part of the revenue is not received until after the first day of December, it will be necessary to hire temporarily a portion of the money required to meet the above-named obligations and the current expenses of the State, therefore the Treasurer would respectfully recommend that the customary authority to hire money for the temporary use of the State be granted.

LOOK TO YOUR GRAPES.—Burning of the odds and ends of tobacco, to be obtained at some stores and at all tobacconists, for two or three cents per pound, is the best thing to smoke out all the early vermin from the grapery; and just now is a delicate time to watch the vines to see that they are free from these decaders. The smoking, however, should be done without regard to their presence. It is a protection. No one who knows anything about raising grapes under glass, will water the vines while they are blossoming. But when this is fully over, the large syringe should thoroughly sprinkle everything inside, including vines, soil, grass, &c., twice or thrice a day. This must be accompanied with powdered sulphur, placed in the vicinity of every vine as a protection against mildew; and should mildew unfortunately make its appearance, the vines themselves should be sprinkled with it.

Just now the out-door grapes are liable to suffer from the steel blue bug, which feeds upon the blossom, and leaves behind its progeny, the small brown maggot, that feeds ravenously upon the leaves, and seriously damaging whatever of the crop is left by the bug. A solution of whale oil soap and water is sudden death to them; but the larvæ is difficult to get at, and the best way to destroy them is to go over the vines and use the thumb and finger. Last year there were very few and they did but little damage, and there may be no damage from them this year, but the vines should be carefully gone over — and not an hour should be lost in doing so. — Germantown Telegraph.

BUGS ON VINES, ETC.—To save your vines from the ravages of bugs, scatter air-slacked lime profusely over and about them. Have no fear of harm from the lime. It is a real comfort to the sorrowing plants. Do the same with currant and gooseberry bushes, and you will not repent it, our word for it, on a fair trial.

—A correspondent of the New England Farmer says his method of destroying dock is to cut the roots about an inch or one and a half inch below the surface, using a chisel with a handle long enough to allow the operator to stand erect. The plants are carried from the field when cut.

—Kissing was introduced into Rome, according to Pliny, as a means of detecting the ladies who were given to wine; a practice contrary, on their part, to old hereditary delicacy.

NEW PUBLICATIONS. — For many years we have rarely failed when in Dover to call at the Book Store of the Lothrops. Their store has always had a good supply of books, and a great variety of useful and fancy articles, fit for such an establishment, and we have felt better accommodated there than at any other book-store in the State.

Within the last two or three years we have had interesting accounts of the good business the firm of D. Lothrop & Co. were doing at 38 and 40 Cornhill Street, Boston, in publishing books of useful character, but not till lately have we seen them. We have been favored with two. The first has this title page, "Sybil's Way, by A. W. C." Nothing striking about this. But in reading the book we thought the title page in comparison to it, was like that of a sign-board over a store in pale letters, but in going in one finds an assortment of the most useful goods; or like an unpainted, weather beaten house, where nothing without seems inviting, but on visiting the inmates, it is found the abode of intelligence, refinement and happiness.

Sybil Osborne is the principal character of the book. Sybil is described in the family, at school, among her companions, and as a member of the church. She is all life and animation, full of frolic and fun, and by these traits severely all with whom she has to do. Miss Ridgway, her Sabbath School teacher, is a Puritan in religion of the strictest sort. She tells her class how "truth comes home to her heart," but Sybil cannot suppress a smile at what she says. Sybil is not much benefitted by her pastor, Rev. Mr. Horace, as she notices some mistakes in his expressions, which she criticises.

Her mother is impatient and scolds her. Sybil, however, has one redeeming trait. She knows herself. She calls herself the worst girl and not fit to be a member of the church. And she finds a true friend, Miss Hall, her teacher in the public school. She gains her confidence, reproves in kindness, yet in faithfulness, and leads her to reform. The book will repay an attentive perusal. J.

THINNING OUT FRUIT. — Thin out pears when they over-bear, remove every knotty and wormy specimen. There are some varieties that grow in cluster, and do not generally over-bear; from these the wormy or worthless ones only should be removed; but where the trees are not too large to manage, and are not cluster-growing, no two specimens should be allowed to touch, as they are almost certain to become wormy and both are lost. Many persons not well acquainted with fruit-raising hesitate to thin out their trees, on the ground that the crop will be diminished. This may be possibly, but not positively true if the fruit is intended to be fed to the pigs. But even should it be otherwise true sometimes, who would not prefer to have one bushel of large, beautiful, luscious pears, to five bushels, with probably not half a peck among the whole fit to put upon your table or send to market? Germantown Telegraph.

ABOUT OXEN.—A good oxen should have a long, lean face, and bright hazel eyes, which shows capability to receive instruction and disposition to obey it. Large nostrils denote the capacity of the ox to work in a hot day. Very large horns at the base denote laziness. Full breast, straight back, wide ribs—by which is meant ribs that round out nearly as wide as the hip bones — and wide gambrel, denote strength. Straight knees, broad toes, pointing straight forward, show an ox can travel on hard roads or pavement. They should be matched, especially in disposition and speed.

The farmer who has a pair of oxen answering this description has a good team. The next thing is a good teamster. The better the ox, the easier he is spoiled by a man who knows not how to drive. The teamster should have judgment in loading. Some teamsters know no better than to think an ox can draw any thing until they try him. An ox should never be overloaded to begin with. He never should know how much he can draw, but always have such confidence in his driver as to think he can draw anything he may ask him to.

A good teamster will have a name for every ox, and no two in the same team should be called by the same name; nor should he ever speak one word that has no meaning; but be sure when he calls an ox by name to make him understand, and also to make him mind what he says.

When breaking a new team, the best way I ever found to make them know their names is when I call "Star," or "Broad," or "Bright," or "Buck," to touch the one I speak to with a spur. By that means the ox will soon know that he is meant, whenever he hears his name distinctly pronounced.

The driver should also have one particular word to start his team with. "Come boys," I ever found the best word to start a heavy load with. Some seem to think, when they are driving a team, that they must work the whole time, either with their tongue or whip. It would be a most desirable thing for such to learn, when the team is going just right, to keep both tongue and whip perfectly still. What would you think of an officer who, when his men were marching along as handsomely as possibly, should keep jabbering incessantly without meaning? All the words needed driving are very few. I think the following are sufficient: "Come," "Haw," "Whoa," "Back." These, properly used, are all that are needed.

I have known some men to halloo and bawl all day long, and make themselves hoarse, who could not at night give any meaning to one word in ten they said. Such would do well to learn themselves, before they try to teach their oxen. A good teamster will make his cattle love him. This only can be done by constant kind treatment; such as carding, stroking their faces, and occasionally breathing in their nostrils; this last method is the best to find out the disposition of an ox. When you have breathed a few times in his nostrils, if he is kind he will hold up his nose, otherwise he will catch it away, and perhaps toss a horn at you. In short, make yourself sociable with them, and they will amply repay you for your kindness. Never strike an ox unless compelled by obstinacy, and by proper management that necessity will occur very, very seldom.

THE FARMER'S SHOP.—Every farmer should have a shop fitted up with such tools as are used by the carpenter, joiner, machinist and blacksmith, or with those that would be valuable in making repairs. Above all, we consider a good foot-lathe very desirable. It would be impossible within the limits of a newspaper article to merely notice the advantage of this machine and its varied uses. A very good foot-lathe costs from sixty to one hundred dollars, and the money is well expended in the purchase. Articles of use and ornament made of wood, ivory and metal may be turned out by the foot-lathe, convenient for use in the house or on the farm. The practice on the lathe is one of the most fascinating pastimes for a stormy day or an unemployed evening. Apart from its use in making and repairing, the foot-lathe is a pleasant companion for the business-haunted and brain-weary. One who adopts it as a companion of his lesiure hours will become an adept, and the more he uses and becomes better acquainted with his machine, the better he will like it. He will be surprised at the number and elegance of the little articles of use and ornament he can produce from the rough material, and at the pleasure that the practice of a mechanical art can afford.—Scientific American.

☞ The Exeter people are thinking of locating their County Fair at Newmarket Junction, for five years—leasing grounds, putting up fence, pens, &c. We wish them success; and although the sport is rather an uninviting one, it is easy of access by railroad, and the abundance of tippling houses there, would preclude the usual necessity of building these within the grounds

CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU.
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention of the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

TESTIMONY.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ROGLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT,

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicine cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the last thirty years. I do not think there is any form of preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twenty years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Incensed please find our rates of advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and unable to pass water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I have been by the quart, also liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently). When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had sending my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel I was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling badly. I commenced another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are at liberty to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement caused me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time. so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD A. JOYCE,

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Corner of 5th av. and 76th st., Central Park.)
(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the one of our little Lieutenants, A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more than mortal weakness, from which may be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of its ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, juniper berries, and nitrate of potash, to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you at that time, but as I was so at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to defer, and see if it would permanently cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

M. MCCORMICK.

Should any doubt Mr. McCormick's statement, he refers to the following gentlemen:
Hon. Wm. Bigler, ex-Governor of Penn.
Hon. Thomas B. Florence, Philadelphia.
Hon. J. C. Knox, Philadelphia.
Hon. J. S. Black, Philadelphia.
Hon. D. R. Porter, ex-Governor of Penn.

The Red Stockings defeated the Keystones 37 to 26.

The U. S. Senate voted to abolish the income tax, on Friday, 34 to 23.

THE TERRIFIC EXPLOSION of nitro glycerine at Worcester, Mass., resulted in the killing of one man only. Thirty people were wounded. The Gazette says the train had just stopped before crossing the junction, and the explosion took place at the moment of starting up again. The car was totally demolished, the trucks driven deep into the ground, or broken into fragments, the axles severed like pipe-stems, the tracks displaced, bent like withes, and hurled a great distance from the road. Heavy bars of iron were thrown a distance of nearly a quarter of a mile, and the shock was distinctly felt at points twenty miles away.

The devastating effect on the surrounding buildings was frightful. The houses on Southbridge street, for a distance of a quarter of a mile, were either utterly destroyed or so badly wrecked as to be rendered untenable. Gardens were swept away as by a sirocco, destroying every living plant. A large tree near the track was broken in every joint, crushed to the earth, stripped of its leaves, and almost entirely denuded of bark.

In the Sycamore street schoolhouse, stove pipes and blackboards were thrown down, and children thrown from their seats. The frightened pupils ran pell-mell from the building.

The man who was killed was crossing the track behind the car in which the glycerine exploded.

The damage by the explosion is variously estimated at from $150,000 to $500,000, the judgment of many experienced business men, however, setting it at about $300,000.

☞ The new regulations in regard to the sale of liquors in Massachusetts, make it lawful to sell cider, ale, porter, strong beer and lager beer; provided that cities and towns may by vote each year prohibit the sale within their respective municipalities.

From the Independent.

"PEACE, TROUBLED SOUL."

BY HARRIET MCEWEN KIMBALL.

Sweet grows the world to-day and fair,
Seen through the spring time's lovely sheen:
A tender mist of golden green
That veils the earth and fills the air.

And lightly, softly blows the breeze,
With blossom-odors interblent,
And interwoven with their scent
The murmurous hum of golden bees.

And mingled with their braided balm
A voice of dreamy sweetness near,
Half sings, half sighs, in plaintive cheer,
A strain that linketh calm with calm.

On Nature's heart mine own I rest;
"Peace, troubled soul," she soft entreats;
'Peace, troubled soul," the voice repeats,
In the low psalm that suits me best.

And through the mist of faith I see
A vision fair of one who stands
And stretches out his pierced hands,
Saying, "My peace I give to thee."

Our Legislative Correspondence.

CONCORD, June 23.

Dear Chronicle: — Mr. Coffin, the Boston Journal's Carleton, delivered a lecture in the House of Representatives Wednesday evening, on the Northwest—said to be a plea for the Northern Pacific Railroad, and made in their interest. It was largely attended, he having been invited by the House to give it.

The Governor's Legislative Levee, Wednesday evening, was an extensive and brilliant affair. His elegant residence on Main Street, was thronged with the members and others, with ladies—a portion of the grounds being carpeted, covered overhead with canvass, and gaily lighted and ornamented with numerous Chinese lanterns; while a Band discoursed good music, and refreshments in the shape of strawberries, cake, ice creams, lemonade, &c., were bountifully served, both in the house and beneath the trees.

The joint resolution approving Mr. Ela's votes in Congress against the land grabbers, which passed the House Wednesday, was by many considered as implying censure on our other members of Congress; and it was a little singular that Senator Patterson should happen (if happen it was) to be sitting at the Speaker's side when it was introduced, and pushed through to its passage by suspending the rules. The Pacific Railroads seem to be a subject which few will approve, but most are afraid of. In view of the fact that Mr. Ela recently introduced into Congress a bill giving the Rochester Railroad a considerable grant of the public lands, this special and invidious endorsement of his course is regarded by some as strange. Not that we ever questioned, or now question, his integrity,—by no means; but the resolution was ill-timed and useless.

The bill to amend the Portsmouth Aqueduct Co's Charter, proposes to give the City the right to water for use of the Fire Department, as asked for by the Board of Aldermen.

Most of the members of the Legislature went to Hanover Thursday, to lay the corner stone of the Agr. College; so the House adjourned till Friday morning. No time was lost, however, as the chief committees sit in their absence. The Session will doubtless close July 2d. F.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have by thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to healthy, regularly recurring motions, when such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawje15d1m

TO THE SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

ROCKINGHAM, ss. SARAH A. TOWNSEND of Portsmouth in said County, brings this her libel against JOHN E. TOWNSEND of said Portsmouth, and says that she was lawfully married to said John at Newburyport, in the State of Massachusetts, by a then settled Clergyman of that city, on the twenty-eighth day of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and fifty-two, and has ever since conducted herself as a chaste and faithful wife.

That she and her husband came to said Portsmouth to reside in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-four, and have since resided there, and where she now resides.

That her said husband, said JOHN E. TOWNSEND, has willing absented himself from this libellant for three years together, without making suitable provision for her support and maintenance, which said abandonment has continued down to the filing of this libel, and commencing in March, A. D. 1867.

Wherefore she prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony existing between said John and herself may be decreed—and that the custody of Arthur Everett Townsend, her child, an infant of tender years, who has been supported solely by her, during said period referred to above, may be decreed to her. SARAH A. TOWNSEND.

In the Supreme Judicial Court.

Rockingham, ss. June Law Term, 1870. This libel having been filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court and entered at this term. It is ordered that said SARAH A. TOWNSEND notify the said JOHN E. TOWNSEND to appear at an adjourned Law Term of said Court, to be held at Manchester on the eleventh day of August next, then and there show cause, if any he has, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said libel and this order thereon to be published three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed in Portsmouth in said County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said term.

Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

A true copy of the original libel, and of the original order thereon.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Want of Vitality.

Sometimes there is a lack of vitality in large and apparently well developed framer. Herculean sinews and muscles are not always indicative of stamina and constitutional vigor in their possessor. Health depends more upon the condition of the stomach, the liver and the bowels, than upon the breadth of the shoulders, or the size of loose levers and pulleys of the system in which strength is supposed to reside. All this grand animal machinery is of itself no protective against sickness and decay. Easy and perfect digestion, regular and healthy secretions, uncontaminated blood, and regular discharge of the waste matter of the body through the intestines, the kidneys and the pores, are the most potent safeguards against disease, the best guarantees of longevity. To promote these objects is the great end and purpose of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The ingredients of which the Great Tonic and Alterative is composed are taken solely from the vegetable kingdom and their medicinal virtues are not counterbalanced by the acid and poisonous elements which exist, more or less, in all the powerful mineral drugs. Sufferers from indigestion, billiousness, intermittent fevers, nervous debility or constipation, will find immediate relief from the use of this agreeable stimulant and invigorant, but become convinced, as time wears on, of an increase of constitutional elasticity and vital force. Labor and exposure no longer produce the same effect upon them as heretofore, and they feel as if they had acquired a new hold on life, a new reserve of physical and mental energy.

This has been the experience of thousands of both sexes, and every day adds to the mass of confirmatory testimony. At this season of the year when the temperature and state of the atmosphere, exercise a peculiarly depressing influence over the minds and bodies of invalids, Hostetter's Bitters is the only tonic up to which the debilitated can rely for swift and permanent restoration.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says; "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction to every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a tact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and from his own personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was of used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state it it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions for using bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

a PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color is imparts natural.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. TRY IT. je13tjy12

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

☞ Dr. Strong's Sulphur Baths are just the thing, these warm days. They invigorate the system.

☞ Mr. John H. Hutchinson is selling nice jewelry at fair prices at No. 10 Market Square. He is always on time, too.

YOUNG AMERICA is coming to the front in Portsmouth. The South End Union Store on Washington Street has been started by a youth of about 20 years of age.

☞ The weather was so warm on Friday that a couple of individuals in their desire to raise a breeze, came to blows on Congress Street, but were parted before either could be seriously damaged.

☞ Mr. Wendell will sell at Auction, at the Plains, at 3 o'clock this (Saturday) afternoon, a mare and colt, work horse, cows, horse carts, 'mowing machine, farming utensils, &c., &c. See advertisement.

☞ The Little Washer takes well among the citizens of Portsmouth. Mr. J. J. Hatlinger, the courteous Agent, has already sold 76 machines, and every one of the 76 purchasers are delighted with its working.

☞ We are glad to be informed that arrangements have been completed to have the whole of Market Street sprinkled—the few persons referred to as holding back, having at last concluded to contribute their very small share necessary to so great a public improvement. Also Daniel Street to Penballow.

The Sprinkler says he contracts to keep the dust laid, and not to keep water standing in the streets.

☞ The nomination of Hon. Amos Tappan Akerman, of Georgia, a native of this city, to be Attorney General of the United States, was unanimously confirmed by the U. S. Senate on Thursday. Mr. Akerman is the son of the late Benjamin Akerman, Esq., who always spelled his name without the modern c. We believe the appointment is a good one—Mr. Akerman belongs to a good family, and we doubt not is the worthy son of a worthy sire.

☞ The plans for the new Congregational Vestry on Middle Street, show a beautiful building, with ornamental front, and two pointed towers on either side of the entrance, which will be by a porch or vestibule. The building will be placed sixteen feet from Middle Street and nine from Warren Street; and will be of two stories in front and one in the rear. It will be an ornament to that portion of the city, and a great benefit and convenience to the Society.

☞ Speaking of public morals,—does anybody believe, that if women could act through the ballot and jury boxes, that courtezans would walk our streets in herds, as they do now? Or that every third building would contain a rum-shop? or that men who occupy or lease buildings for brothels, could be elected to any office of trust or honor? or that men who habitually stand bail for infamous characters, would be deemed respectable? How long, Oh Lord, how long shall these things be?

And if fault is found with the officers for not enforcing the laws—will anybody tell us how they can do this, if not sustained by the people or the Courts?

THE N. H. MEDICAL SOCIETY held its eightieth annual meeting in the Court room in Concord on the 21st and 22d. The President, Dr. Wm. Brown of Manchester, delivered an able address on Medical progress. Interesting and scientific papers were read by Dr. A. B. Crosby of Hanover, Dr. Twitchell of Keene, Dr. Marshall of Mason, Dr. Smalley of Lebanon, Dr. Parsons of Portsmouth, and Drs. Robinson, Russell and Conn of Concord.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—President, W. H. H. Mason of Moultonborough; Vice President, J. F. Hall of Portsmouth; Secretary, G. P. Conn of Concord; Treasurer, Thomas Wheat of Manchester.

The session was one of great profit and interest and was more fully attended than for years. The sessions of this ancient Society seem to gain favor among the profession each year. The adjournment was to the first Tuesday of June, 1871.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

HON. AMOS TAPPAN AKERMAN.—To the Editors of the Independent Democrat.—Gentlemen:—While you advocate correct principles and economy, and expose the misappropriation of the public money, we applaud the stand you have taken. But when you publish nearly two columns in order to defeat the appointment of Hon. Amos T. Akerman to the high office of Attorney General of the United States, we tell you emphatically that you are wrong.

While denouncing that gentleman, you confess that you have no personal knowledge of him, and care nothing about his eminent legal attainments. You say that he is about 46 years of age, is a native of this State, and was graduated at Dartmouth College. It would be an honor to our State, and especially to Portsmouth, Mr. A.'s native place, to have one of her most talented sons elevated to the high office to which President Grant has been well advised to appoint him. Mr. A. is the son of the late Benjamin Akerman of Portsmouth, a Republican, a shoemaker and a Christian, who had but little property, and therefore had to make an effort to give his promising son a liberal education. The father enlisted in the Abolition party thirty years ago, and we have no doubt his son still holds to his sentiments.

We knew his son while a youth. After leaving college, he knew that this State was filled up with about 300 lawyers, many of them not too good, and he went to Georgia, and studied law in the office of Mr. McPherson, an ex-senator of the United States, and President Jackson's Attorney General. Was it an offence for a northern man, long prior to the rebellion, to read law in the office of that eminent counsellor? Perhaps not one half of the students of law adopt the political sentiments of their legal instructors.

Nor is Mr. A. accountable for the rebellious conduct of Mr. Berrien, or Gen. Toombs. The only charge of any weight you make against Mr. A., is that he was one of the staff-officers of Gen. Toombs, a station in which Mr. A. knew there was not much danger of meeting a bullet. We all know that had he not resorted to some artifice, he would have been driven with his family out of Georgia; for to have remained there would have been at the peril of all their lives.

When President Grant appointed Mr. A. Attorney General of the United States, he knew his high legal qualifications, and that he was a Northern man with Northern principles; and we trust that the Senate will confirm his nomination, although one or two aspirants for the office may attempt to blast his fame.

FAIR PLAY.

☞ Pearl Street and Court Street Societies will unite in baptizing services Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, at Noble's Island.

RICHARDSON'S

LITTLE WASHER! PRICE $5.00.

The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!

☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bedquilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.

More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons dealing such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.

MR. J. J. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.

MR. HATLINGER.

Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success.

MRS. L. E. MARTIN.

MR. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. E. W. WEBSTER.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,

NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to procure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

Morning Chronicle.

SECURING THE HAY CROP—EARLY CUTTING.—The time has arrived for the hay crop to be secured. Are we ready for this important crop? Have we concluded to cut it early? or are we going to do as we have done in the past, put it off till the crop is ripe, then commence and finish when it is more than dead ripe, when the seed has all dropped and the stem is wood?

Our hay is cut too late. The wretched excuse comes up, "I have as much as I can do to get over my lot once, to say nothing of the time and trouble of cutting two crops. Besides, I cannot cure it." And so wood is cut and fed, and stock suffers, for it is not economical, but a loss, to feed such hay under any circumstances. We need not tell our farmers that this is so—that ripe hay and much grain will not do. It will but just keep the stock, and the expense is great.

Now all this can be remedied, is yearly remedied, by simply putting the harvest a few weeks forward. Cut when just getting into blossom, if it is clover, for then two crops can be gathered as well as one, and the two will far outweigh the one mature crop of late cutting, besides being so much better. The quality, that is the main thing. This we tested yearly to our satisfaction, and we have the testimony of the best men on the subject. Do not spoil your hay by letting it get hard. Cattle do not like to eat it then; it is dry and woody, and it is but slightly nutritious. Cut early; use the hay tedder; it is the most valuable instrument the farmer possesses, for it is this which comes in opportunely to aid the early hay, aiding it in two ways, one putting the hay in an airy position, the other by preventing the sun from scorching the fine leaves. These, by the constant use of the tedder, turning the hay half a dozen times or more, are kept under a sufficient part of the time not to become brittle, which they otherwise would under the long direct rays of the sun. But they are cured in the shade—in the shade of the grass—their own shade, so to speak.

This seems too much like play—like needless work—to keep the tedder going and repeating itself, when the hay, with one passage of the instrument, will be put in an airy position. It will be still more airy when constantly stirred. It will, as we said, keep the sun from scorching it. The thing has been tried, and it works admirably.

In this way (with the constant use of the tedder) hay can be cut in the morning, or the evening before, (dew will not hurt it then) and put in the same day. Without the tedder it would be difficult to do this. Now it can be fitted for the rake by three o'clock, and if the stem is light, though the crop may be heavy, sooner, much of it.

Then you have in your mow, put in one day, not hay, but June grass, with the flavor of the grass secured, for the sun has not burnt it, and the putting at once into a body, instead of the cock to cure, &c., holds the ordors and volatile essences. And when this is fed out there is summer in its effect. This we know by experience thoroughly. We see it done yearly with the greatest satisfaction.—Utica Herald.

THE ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S REPORT. The annual report of the Adjutant-General has been circulated. He says:

"The idea which is entertained by many, that with the cessation of hostilities and the disbandment of our immense volunteer army—which for upwards of four years waged such a patriotic and persistent war against, and so gloriously triumphed over, treason and the hordes of deluded but brave men of the South—the necessity for the continuance of this office ceased to exist, is as erroneous and groundless as was the idea of secession itself.

During the past year more than two thousand certificates of enlistment, muster, service and discharge or death, have been furnished to soldiers, their heirs or agents, to aid them in establishing their claims against the government, or the towns from which they enlisted."

The annual enrollment shows 37,414 persons liable to do military duty in 1869, and only 34,826 this year. The roster of the two regiments is given, also of some independent organizations. Gen. Head has reduced the indebtedness of the State to the general government from $142,000 to about $20,000. He is opposed to disbanding the militia.

Gen. Head has held the office for six years, and has devoted time, talent and money to its proper management. He found it in confusion, without system, without records, without clerical force, and utterly without efficiency. He organized system, collected vast amounts of material which was fast going to ruin, and has presented to the State a full and authentic history of the New Hampshire military organization and achievements during the war. No office has been better managed, and no man in our State government will be more cheerfully remembered for his service to the State than Gen. Head. The General now retires from office, tendering his resignation to the government in fitting words.

☞ A large woman's suffrage meeting was held at Concord Thursday evening. Mrs. Livermore and Mrs. Howe of Boston were among the speakers.—Exchange.

The small woman's suffrage convention will probably meet at other time, we presume.

CUTTING FLOWERS.—Never cut your flowers during intense sunshine, nor keep them exposed to the sun or wind; do not collect them in large bundles, nor tie them tightly together, as this hastens their decay. Do not pull them, but cut them cleanly off the plant with a sharp knife, not with a pair of scissors. When taken indoors, place them in the shade, and reduce them to the required length of stalk with a sharp knife, by which means the tubes, through which they draw up the water, are left open and the water is permitted to ascend freely; whereas, if the stems are bruised or lacerated, these pores are closed up. Use pure water to set them in, or pure white sand in a state of saturation, sticking the ends of the stalks into it, but not in a crowded manner. If in water alone, it ought to be changed daily, and a thin slice should be cut off the ends of the stalks at every change of water. Water about milk-warm, or containing a small quantity of camphor dissolved in spirits of wine, will often revive flowers that have begun to fade. Place a glass shade over them during the night, or, indeed, at all such times as they are not purposely exhibited shade them from very bright sunshine, and when uncovered set them where they may not be exposed to a draught of air. A cool temperature during summer is favorable for them, and the removal of the slightest symptoms of decay is necessary. When carried to a distance, carry them in a shallow, air-tight tin case, or cover them with a cloth, to exclude them from air and light. Charcoal saturated with water is also a good medium to stick them in, and the thinner they are kept the better.—The Villa Gardener.

A WHOLESOME FIELD DRINK.—The excessive use of cold water during the sweltering heat of summer often results in serious and alarming illness. It is therefore advisable that some beverage should be substituted for it, of which those oppressed can partake with safety. For this purpose I am aware of no better or refreshing drink than the following: Take of the best Jamaica ginger root, carefully bruised, two ounces; cream of tartar, one ounce; water, six quarts, to be boiled for about five minutes, then strained; to the strained liquor add one pound of sugar, and again place it over the fire; keep it well stirred till the sugar is perfectly dissolved, and then pour it into an earthen vessel, into which you have previously put two drachms of tartaric acid, and the rind of one lemon, and let it remain till the heat is reduced to lukewarm temperature; then add a tablespoonful of yeast, stirring them well together, and bottle for use. The corks must be well secured. The drink will be in perfection in four days. This is a very refreshing and wholesome beverage, and one which may be largely partaken of without any unpleasant results even in the hottest weather.—Germantown Telegraph.

TO PRINT ON FRUITS.—When a handsome fruit is intended to be shown at a fair or sent to a friend, it will add something in the way of novelty to have its name or that of some printed indelibly upon its surface. This may be done, in several ways, but the most common methods are as follows: Just before the fruit has attained its maturity, cut from thin paper the name proposed, and paste this upon the side of the specimen most fully exposed to the sun. That portion of the fruit covered by the paper will assume a different color from the other, and when ripe the paper is removed, leaving the name distinctly visible. Upon squashes and melons names and figures may be indelibly impressed by slightly scratching the surface while they are growing.

HOW HER HEART BEAT.

BY WILLIAM ST. BUSHNELL.

"Bert, I wish you would choose between your lovers and get married and be done with it. I am tired to death of having a lot of men hanging around the house."

"A great lot, father! only two?" and perhaps pretty Bertha Judson tossed back her rich auburn curls and smiled a saucy smile.

"Only two, indeed! What in the name of the world has become of the rest. Only two? How many would you 'have on the string' as I heard you tell Katy Thompson, the other day?"

"For shame, father! But I did not say that I had any lovers in particular, though there are two gentlemen who come here frequently."

"Come frequently, do they? Don't come to see you, I presume. Oh, no! I must be the attraction;" and the old man smoothed his gray head and laughed merrily. "But who are the two gentlemen, Bert?"

"You know as well as I do that Charley Parsons and Fred Robbins come—"

"A man and a popinjay!"

"You are unjust to Mr. Robbins, father."

"So you know how I class them? But I am not unjes', my child. There is more of true manhood in Charles' little finger than there is in Robbins' whole body, and you'll find it out some day."

"But he isn't a gentleman."

"If you mean that he does not wear as fine clothes, and rings on his fingers, and pretend to be what he is not, grant ed; but in every other respect he is much the superior. He has heart and brain and muscle. I don't intend to control your choice in the least, Bert, but I can't help saying what I think, and if you want my opinion, Charles Parsons is worth a regiment of such Miss Nancy men as the other."

Bertha sat and thought upon the bluff words she had heard, long after her father had departed. She could not but acknowledge their justice, yet with the foolish fancies and perverseness of girlhood clung to the fancifully dressed, glib tongued, young merchant, in preference to the strong limbed, modest farmer, who though the owner of many broad acres and a "rising man," was not ashamed to labor. To have decided then as to which she loved the best would have been very difficult. She was flattered by the preference of both, but to choose between them as a partner for life was not easy. With her the lacquer as yet shone as brightly as the pure gold.

And so she treated them with equal kindness, especially as neither had been bold enough to ask her hand—accepted their trifling presents and half have answered the all important "yes" to the few who asked it. But if married to her fashionable lover the time would come when her native good sense and sterling worth would be disgusted by his superficial learning—want of manhood and intense self love, and she would bitterly regret that she had taken the shadow for the substance.

And such it appeared would be the result, for while the farmer-lover worshipped her in almost silence, his rival improved every opportunity to impress his superiority of birth, education and wealth, and poor Bertha fell into the snare as thousands had done before—engaged herself without due reflection—promised to be a wife without thinking of the solemn obligations it entailed—that she must "summer and winter" with one man, in sickness and in health—leave father and mother—forsake all the rest of the world for him.

In his presence she fancied she was happy—sported her costly diamond ring with pride. Yet when alone doubts would creep in and she sighed when she saw the manly figure of Charley Parsons walking along, or received his respectful greeting—sighed that he came no more to the house and at length became nervous if the subject of marriage was mentioned; and contrary to the repeated entreaties of her would-be-husband postponed the time from Thanksgiving until the opening of another spring. In this she was seconded by her father.

"Bert was still young," he said, "there was to be no haste in getting married, and besides it would take mother a good spell to fix up the things, for she had old fashioned notions of the kind of a setting out a girl ought to have."

Perhaps the old man with his "hard sense" saw deeper than he was given credit. It was true his treatment of his intended son-in-law could not have been found fault with in the least, but it was certain that his voice was more tender, his manner more kind and his hand-clasping more warm when he met the young farmer, and he regretted that his only child should have made what he considered to be a fatal mistake, and hoped that the scales would yet fall from her eyes. Had he but known the true state of her feelings, that hope would have been much stronger, and he would have more patiently waited for the result.

The autumn glories had faded—were hidden beneath the snow flakes; the

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and mucous, like that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

TESTIMONY.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six months ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on an exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to state that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,
D. M. LAREN.

DR KEYSER

is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my preference for Helmbold's Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in question for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or know to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give your preparation over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.
August 11, 1865.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physician's present. Inclosed please find our rates o advertising. Yours, T. B. R. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this state, and have taken a great deal of medicine, so liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently). When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second bottle. I had madney my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have cut a stone out of my water. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result. But the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well a man ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish it more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time, so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD,
Paper Maker, Burnside, Hartford County, Conn.

(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable kidney medicine (the Institute) have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from habit, may be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,
COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, and have tried the best advertised medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious. In fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and I concluded to wait a letter, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any medicine for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

THE RAILROAD QUESTION.—In view of the present complicated situation in Railroad matters, we venture to suggest whether it would not be best for the Legislature to put some limit to the number of votes which can be cast by any one stockholder. We understand there was once such a law. It is for the interest of the people to keep the railroads of the State within their control, and the most obvious way to do so is to keep the stockholders as numerous as possible, and prevent the accumulation of stock in the hands of a few, for the purpose of speculation, or to make themselves officers of the road.

Under the present law, what has happened to the Concord road may happen to any other. These same gentlemen who constitute the "ring" may next year buy up a controlling influence in the Northern, and elect themselves Directors also of that, and in this way the whole line from Boston to Ogdensburg may be consolidated, in defiance of the popular will. We have no doubt this is the intention of the movement, and probably the Lowell road would furnish part of the funds in some indirect way. It is the opinion of many intelligent men, well posted in railroad matters, that the only possible way to prevent the consolidation of all the roads from Boston to Ogdensburg was to enter upon the contract—consolidation being the object of the ring. Col. Tappan gave this as his deliberate conviction, at the annual meeting.

Moreover, while we hope the present contract will stand the test of law, because in this instance the interests of the people, particularly of Northern New Hampshire, will be served thereby; yet it may be best to put up the bars against such contracts in the future. We would recommend no unjust or ungenerous policy towards the railroads of the State. They are its life.—But they should nevertheless be kept within the control of the people.

We would wage no general war upon "consolidation," because to some extent it is absolutely necessary to the existence of roads. But anything that ought to be allowed in this direction, the people will readily grant, and they are the safest depository of power in the matter. It is the strong point of Gov. Stearns and those who act with him, that he is moving strictly with public opinion, and in accordance with the public interest; and the people will be greater losers than he, if his work does not stand the test of law.

NAVAL ARCHITECTS AND NAVAL OFFICERS.—Our naval constructors frequently complain among themselves, if not publicly, of the interference of naval officers with their work—work of which the naval officers know but little. The constructors receive their orders and designs from Washington, and are expected to carry them out to the letter; yet they are annoyed by some of the naval officers stationed at the yards insisting on deviations and alterations to suit their peculiar notions. If not of much importance, for the sake of peace, a naval constructor will yield; but if he is firm, and adheres to his instructions, he is almost sure to incur the dislike of the naval officers.

It has been frequently stated that when the line-of-battle-ship Ohio, now lying in port, was designed, a naval officer of high rank insisted that she should be altered, but the designer would not yield to his whims, and defiant words passed between them which made them personal enemies. The naval officer, as the story goes, boasted that the ship should never go to sea while he had influence to keep her in port, so that the designer should not enjoy the gratification of trying her sailing qualities. And yet, as every one who saw her at sea knows, she was in her day the most magnificent ship of the line in the world, not only for her matchless beauty, but for the ease with which she bore her armament, and her fine sailing qualities. The naval officer, it is said, while he lived managed to have her kept in port against the frequently expressed desire of her constructor to have her sent on an experimental cruise if nothing more.

A case somewhat like this occurred recently. A talented machinist was insulted by a naval officer because he succeeded in having an important invention applied to one of the naval steamers. The machinist first submitted his invention to the commodore, who condemned it without understanding it. The inventor, then on his own responsibility, applied to the proper department at Washington. His plans were not only adopted but he himself was complimented. From that time forward the naval officer was his enemy.

In view of facts like these, would it not be well for the powers that be to define the duties of naval officers and mechanics, so that they should not interfere with one another?—Traveller.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS IN WYOMING.—The history and result of woman suffrage in the new territory of Wyoming, is singular and interesting. The legislature was Democratic, while the Governor and other officials, appointed at Washington, were Republican; and the Governor was frequently called upon to veto bills passed by the Legislature. At last they passed an act allowing women to vote, designing it as a trap for the Governor—supposing that of course he would veto it, and then intending to use this veto against the party at the polls, to prejudice those in favor of woman's rights.

But Judge Kingman, formerly of Dover, who married a daughter of D. M. Christie, Esq.; who as Colonel of the 15th N. H. Regt. proved himself one of the bravest of the brave—and who, as gallant as brave, has always been in favor of the women having all their rights — he and other appointed Judges and officials, at once urged the Governor to sign the bill, and he did so—and this is how it became a law, and woman suffrage an accomplished fact.

By the provisions of their constitution, all voters are liable to jury duty. So at the next Court, a Grand Jury was drawn, consisting largely of women—the most respectable ladies of the territory. Their husbands and other male friends were highly indignant, and threatened to tear the Court House down; but the excitement finally cooled off — and when the presiding Judge, while expressing the hope that the ladies would not leave the Court and shirk jury duty, yet stated that they were at liberty to do so, as he should not detain them against their will, they, woman-like and human-like, decided to remain and serve.

And the result proved, what is apparent to all, that this was the most just and efficient jury that was ever empanelled. Rascals stood no chance at all—justice was meted out to all. The Jury visited all the brothels in the vicinity, indicted and cleaned them all out — as women, and women alone, could and would do everywhere, only give them the power.

Seeing this to work so well, the Judges nominated three women as Justices,—who are there confirmed or appointed by the Governor, and have jurisdiction in cases not exceeding $100 in amount. But His Excellency was hardly prepared to stand this, and refused to concur; but being called to Washington soon after, the Secretary, who acts in his absence, confirmed the women justices, and one of them has proved the most popular officer in the Territory, and does a great business.

Women's voting may be set down as a fixed fact in Wyoming, we should say, as it is opposed only by the vicious and lower classes. Judge Kingman has recently employed a sixty days' leave of absence from his post, to visit his friends in Dover, Concord and elsewhere in this State, and takes his family with him on his return. From him the foregoing facts are learned; which go far to convince reformers that women will ere long have the right to vote everywhere, and the community thus secure the greatest safeguard to public virtue. So mote it be.

MASSACHUSETTS POLITICS.—A Washington correspondent of the New York Standard writes that it is generally conceded in political circles that General Butler will be the next Governor of Massachusetts, and that the gentlemen most prominently mentioned in connection with the Senatorship are Henry Wilson, Boutwell, Banks, Judge Hoar, Dawes, and Ex-Gov. Clifford. He thinks Boutwell is a wonderful financier and statesman!

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Want of Vitality.

Sometimes there is a lack of vitality in large and apparently well developed frames. Herculean sinews and muscles are not always indicative of stamina and constitutional vigor in their possessor. Health depends more upon the condition of the stomach, the liver and the bowels, than upon the breadth of the shoulders, or the size of those levers and pulleys of the system in which strength is supposed to reside. All this grand animal machinery is of itself no protective against sickness and decay. Easy and perfect digestion, regular and healthy secretions, uncontaminated blood, and a regular discharge of the waste matter of the body through the intestines, the kidneys and the pores, are the most potent safeguards against disease, the best guarantees of longevity. To promote these objects is the great end and purpose of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The ingredients of which the Great Tonic and Alterative is composed are taken solely from the vegetable kingdom and their medicinal virtues are not counterbalanced by the acid and poisonous elements which exist, more or less, in all the powerful mineral drugs. Sufferers from indigestion, biliousness, intermittent fevers, nervous debility or constipation, not only find immediate relief from the use of this agreeable stimulant and invigorant, but become sound, as time wears on, of an increase of constitutional elasticity and vital force. Labor and exposure no longer produce the same effect upon them as heretofore, and they feel as if they had secured a new hold on life, a new reserve of physical and mental energy.

This has been the experience of thousands of both sexes, and every day adds to the mass of confirmatory testimony. At this season of the year when the temperature and state of the atmosphere, exercise a peculiarly depressing influence over the minds and bodies of many, Hostetter's Bitters is the only tonic up n which the debilitated can rely for swift and permanent restoration.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

a PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

Commodore Pennock is expected this week, to relieve Rear Admiral Winslow.

The Plymouth dropped down to the lower harbor, Saturday forenoon.

☞ Instead of sweeping dirt and litter from stores and offices into the street, to blow about and annoy the neighbors and all decent people,—we think the clerks or errand boys would be better set at work in burning it up, or placing it where it will be removed. Cleanliness is akin to godliness, and a good deal nearer to it than most people ever get; but if each abuttor on a street or road would keep his own premises neat, even by picking the stones and sweeping the litter from the highway, it would be very little trouble for any, and promote the comfort and well being of all.

Market Street is not kept clean this year as it was last; and the crossings of our principal streets should be swept daily before the sprinklers make mud to defile the ladies' white dresses, and pique the dear creatures indeed. Who shall do this, the City or individuals?

ROCKINGHAM CONFERENCE of the Congregational and Presbyterian churches of the County, was held at Kingston, June 14th and 15th. The changes for the past year were Revs. Chapman of Raymond, and Thayer of Windham, who had died. Revs. Parker and Parsons of Derry, Pratt, of Hampstead, Tomlinson of Chester, Barrows of Exeter, had resigued; while Revs. Tirrill of Plaistow, Bartlett of South Newmarket, Peabody of Stratham, and Mr. Lane of Hampton, had come as new members. Rev. G. M. Adams of Portsmouth, was chosen Moderator, and Rev. E. Robie of Greenland, Secretary.

The opening sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Pickering of Stratham. From the churches, Chester, Hampstead, Brentwood and Raymond were reported as without pastors, and the two last without preaching. The additions by profession reported were as follows: Stratham, 1; Northwood, 3; Greenland, 3; Auburn, 4; Kensington, 6; Hampton, 22; Portsmouth 23, Deerfield 32.

LONG BRIDGE.—This bridge, about seven hundred feet in length, over which the main tracks of the Eastern Railroad cross the Saugus river, has been for some weeks undergoing thorough repairs, which are now approaching completion. About twenty-five hands are engaged on the work, principally ship-carpenters from Portsmouth, N. H., and Charlestown. The work is intended to last thirty years without further repairs.—Lynn Rep.

John Bickford of Ossipee committed suicide on the 20th inst.

A lady in So. Kingston last week presented her husband with two fine boys at a birth, unattended by either nurse or physician, and was alone from 6 1-2 o'clock A. M. to 2 1-2 P. M. The day before, she carried 20 pounds of flour and some other bundles from a store, two miles distant. Some two weeks previous, another lady in the same neighborhood set the example, by adding a couple to the Census list. The neighborhood is known as "Hampstead Handle," and the fecundity has been remarkable for half a century.

Isaac Wheeler, the only surviving hearer of Rev. John Murray, who preached the first Universalist sermon in New Hampshire, died at his house in Amherst, on Tuesday, aged 91 years.

One hundred and seventy-eight cords of wood were burned at West Epping, Monday, the fire catching from a locomotive spark.

On the 18th, in New Hampton, fire ran over an area of fifty acres of pine lumber, and was only stopped by a general turnout of the inhabitants.

Capt. Jasper Wallace of the Strafford Guards of Dover, met with a severe accident at Manchester, on Wednesday. He had been to Concord during the day, and stopped at Manchester, and attended the band meeting of the Manchester Cornets, and on leaving the hall, by a mis-step, there being no light in the entry-way, he fell down a flight of over thirty steps, breaking an arm, splintering the bone of one of his legs, and otherwise badly bruising him.

Mrs. Joseph B. Tilton of Deerfield was injured by lightning during the shower on Monday afternoon. As the shower came up, she started with her daughter to go to the house of Mr. Warren Tilton, which was struck by lightning soon after they entered, and Mrs. Tilton was so much affected as to be for a time unconscious.

The house of Mr. Henry Coleman, at Dover Point, was, on Monday last week struck by lightning. It entered the southwest corner, passed across the house and down into the cellar, and what is singular spent its force without setting fire, notwithstanding it left its blackened track in nearly every part of the building. Mrs. Carrie Coleman, the only person in the house except an infant, was knocked sensceless from her chair; partitions were separated, doors unhinged, windows displaced, and much other mischief done by the unwelcome visitor. Lightning had before struck a tree in the vicinity of the house some two or three times.

The dwelling house of Elias Vittum, in North Sandwich, was struck by lightning Monday night, and very badly shattered.

The house of Mr. James Addison, in Goffstown, was consumed by fire on Wednesday last.

The corner-stone of the agricultural college at Hanover was laid on Thursday last.

The Universalist church at Manchester at a recent centenary meeting raised $4000 to pay the church debt, and $1300 more the next day to extinguish the entire liability.

—A thoughtful person thus muses on the story of Daniel in the lions' den: "How sad it was for those poor lions, when Daniel was dropped into their den, to be compelled to go sniffing about him and think how nice a small chop from the calf of his leg would taste, and be denied the luxury. It was rough on them lions, but it taught them self-Daniel."

—At a Sunday school in Ripon a teacher asked a little boy if he knew what the expression "sowing tares" meant "Cousth I does," said he, pulling the seat of his little breeches around in front. "There's a tear my ma sewed, I tared it sliding down hill."

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

RICHARDSON'S LITTLE WASHER! PRICE $5.00.

The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!

☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bed-quilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.

More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.

MR. J. J. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.

MR. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success.

MRS. L. E. MARTIN.

MR. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.

J. J. HATLINGER, Sole Agent for Portsmouth.

HEADQUARTERS AT PORTSMOUTH:—SWEETSER & CLARK'S, 46 Market Street; OXFORD & JOHNSTON'S, Grocers, 78 State St. and 521-2 Middle Street; and D. H. MONTGOMERY'S Music Store, Daniel St., where machines can be seen, and orders left for the Agent to call at houses to demonstrate its qualities. je16tf

HATHAWAY'S SUPERIOR SHIRTS for sale by CHAS. E. SHEDD & CO. m

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from 1st page.

streams were bridged over by ice, and glittering pendants hung from the eaves. The winter had set in early, but only to render the semi-country life more gay, for with the partial suspension of business, sleigh riding and skating and dancing could be more indulged in.

And foremost among the group of revelers were ever to be found Bertha Judson and her lover. Their known engagement placed them upon an easy footing, and he was proud of showing off her beauty, and she restless when unoccupied. As for Parsons he mingled but little in the festivities—was, it was said, devoting himself to study and the care of his business.

But Christmas eve, when he was lured from his solitude as the protector of a young sister who was home from school upon a visit, his tall form was a marked one in the ball room. But he avoided Bertha as much as possible—appeared afraid to trust himself near her, although a man noted for his reticence and perfect self-command. Yet his love for her had not grown cool in the slightest—was, if possible, more intense, and if it once did obtain the mastery, would burst forth beyond all control. But there was something noble in his manner—nothing of pique in it—nothing to give her he loved pain. He moved calmly through the group of dancers, once only taking his place among them, and then at the request of her he would have shrank from.

"Come, Mr. Parsons," Bertha had said, walking to where he was standing, and laying her little gloved hand upon his arm—"come, you must dance the next set with me."

"I rarely ever dance," he replied, struggling all the more against his feelings as he saw the diamond of the engagement ring cutting through the snowy kid. "You must excuse me, Miss Judson."

"Miss Judson!" From childhood they had been upon the most familiar terms, and she never remembered to have been thus formally addressed before. For a moment she bit her lip in embarrassment and hot flushes stole up from throat to brow, but she instantly recovered herself and continued: "I cannot take 'no' for an answer. It is the last dance before supper. The music is calling us to our places. Come."

There was no possibility of escape without being rude, and he proffered his arm and led her upon the floor, soon to forget his annoyance. But, though his keen eeys saw deeper than his beautiful partner intended he should—saw that much of her gaiety was assumed—that there was an undercurrent of anxiety, he did not attribute it to the right cause—fancied she was only kind to him out of pity, and as soon as he could politely do so, escaped from her side, rejoined his sister and prepared for departure, resolved to never again cross her path until she had become a wife and time had blunted his feelings.

But they were destined to meet again that night, and under very different circumstances. He had scarcely driven a mile on his homeward journey, before a remarkable bright light attracted his attention.

"What can it be, Charley?" asked his sister whose eyes had been first to notice it.

He half turned his horses—kept them quiet for a moment, then wheeled them entirely, and urged them rapidly forward exclaiming:—"Great God! It is the hotel, and all in flames!" Not another word was spoken—their speed was so great as to almost render them breathless. But long before they reached the scene of the late festivities, they saw that the entire building was enveloped in flames. The air was filled with the flying cinders, and the shrieks that went up from the surging mass of men and women gathered around, foretold of some terrible calamity and almost caused the heart of Parsons to stand still. Scarcely pausing to check the speed of the frantic horses—leaving his young and terrified sister to her fate, or to be cared for by others, he sprang out and demanded the cause of their alarm.

"Bertha Judson has not come out! She must be burned alive!" was whispered by white and trembling lips.

"Bertha? Oh, God!" he groaned, and turning to where he saw her affianced husband standing and idly wringing his hands, he demanded savagely, "so you left her to her fate?"

"What could I do? the house was all in flames, and I could scarcely save my own life," was the selfish and heartless reply.

"Coward! Brute! Dare you weigh one life like hers against a thousand miserable ones like yours?"

"But Mr. ——"

"Out of my way!"

Despite all opposition Parsons fought his way towards the roaring mass of wood. A few of his friends endeavored to stay him, but he frantically struck them down—hurled them aside and dashed amid falling beams and rafters and hissing flames—a roaring sea of fire! The red, forked tongues shot out spitefully from every side and the black smoke almost stifled him, but he fought his way upwards towards the ball-room — climbed the stairs that creaked beneath his weight and threatened every moment to fall with and engulf him, until he reached the third floor. Then he could no longer stand erect. It would have been instant death to do so, and stooping with his face to the floor he crawled, shouting the lovely name of Bertha.

But room after room he explored in vain—was about to descend, thinking she must have been rescued, when he stumbled over an inanimate form. One glance at the inanimate form was sufficient. He saw that the flames had not reached her—that she was at least safe from fire; and tearing off his coat he wrapped her in it so as to protect her head and lungs and sought the stair-way—to find that it had fallen since his coming up! But there was not a moment to be lost. He folded his precious burden more closely to his heart with one arm, stooped down and swung himself below with other.

There was a crash as if the floor had given way—in part did so—but with the energy of despair he arose to his feet and commenced traversing the long hall that led to the other and only means of descent.

But would he reach it. It appeared impossible for human strength to battle successfully against such terrible odds—was passing through a wall of flames on either side—beneath a wild shower of blazing rain—above a flaming pit of doom! Never did volcano rage more furiously; never did smoke roll more densely!

"Oh! God!" burst from his anguishing lips as he reeled along. "Let me be the sacrifice, but save, oh! save her, my darling!"

With his clothes on fire—with blistered hands, face and neck, he reached the landing. The passage had been quickly made, though it appeared a century to him, and a cry of joy rang forth—one that was heard above the roaring of the flames, as he saw that his retreat was not cut off, as it had been before. He wrapped his arms around the limp and nerveless form—hugged her still more closely to his heart and placed her feet upon the stairs. Half the distance to the ground floor was accomplished in safety. Then the stairs gave way and lover and loved were hurled down into a bed of glowing coals and flame!

Still the indomitable heart of the man was unbowed—still he fought desperately for the (to him) dearest prize of earth, and in a moment after staggered out amid the gasping multitude, half stunned by the thunder of applauding voices.

"Take her," he gasped, trembled, tottered and fell.

In an instant he was lifted up, carried to his sleigh, muffled in robes and hurried homeward, but had he known into whose arms he had given the worshipped one for whom he had ventured his own life—had he known that he had placed Bertha in the arms of his cowardly rival, he would have even then burst through the bonds of insensibility.

And that rival tacitly claimed the credit of the entire affair! All that Bertha knew was that she had been brought home by Robbins, and when she thanked him for her life, he was not man enough to explain. But better would it have been for his future had he done so.

The day came and that quickly when she was undeceived. Such an act as that of Charles Parsons' could not be kept still. Even as Bertha was praising Fred Robbins to some friends—lauding him to the skies—thinking how very much he had been misjudged and how she could retaliate upon her father for his sneering remarks, his perfidy was revealed.

"What!" she exclaimed starting to her feet in amazement and indignation. "What! he run away and leave me to die such a horrible death, and worse than all, receive my thanks when another did the work he was too cowardly to attempt. Shame! Shame!"

There was much of the stern honesty of the father in the girl, and she went straight to him, told all, and asked his advice.

"I said, I would not interfere in your love matters," was his reply, "and I will not. Trust to your heart, my child, and I know you will do right."

And trust to her heart she did. She immediately returned the engagement ring, with a letter of the most burning scorn, and then sought the house where her true lover was lying suffering and disfigured.

"Bertha! you here?" he exclaimed with a great hope rising within him.

"Yes, Charley. I've come to take care of you."

"But, Bertha—"

"I know all—am free. With us it must henceforth be a life for a life. As you gave yours for mine, even so shall mine be given for yours if—if you will accept it, Charley."

"Bertha!"

"Hush, dear! I have been a weak, foolish girl—been dazzled by a false glitter—knew not my own heart. Can you forgive me?" And she dropped her head and whispered, "But I always did love and honor you, Charley."

"And that almost fatal fire?"

"Taught me how my heart beat though I had many a premonition before," she answered, blushingly, as he drew her nearer to him and stole the first kiss of recompense.

S O R O S I S .

We women will maintain our rights,
Go through the thickest of the fights,
We'll walk 5' days and talk o' nights,
So roar, sis!
Our bark we'll launch upon the deep,
Upon our oars we will not sleep,
But an eye to windward always keep,
So row, sis!
The other sex may foam and fret,
Our blows will tell upon them yet,
For quarters they will cry, "you bet,"
Sore, oh! sis!
We will not let our banner lower,
But hold it up with all our power,
Our watchword be "excelsior,"
Soar, oh, sis!
I am an old and ancient dame,
And if you think I'm not to blame
I'll give to you my real name,—
SORCERESS.

BUSHEL HEADS.—Can it be a belief in Phrenology which induces small-minded women to wish to seem to be great by having the semblance of large heads? or is it the whim of foolish fashion? We may assure the dear creatures their admirers think no more of them because of the stuffed bag of dead hair, flax, or hemp hung on their heads. Indeed, sensible lovers will think something less of them for the foolishness.

Now that warm weather is upon us, copious perspiration will result from much bodily activity, and if the chignon be worn at such times, it will smell badly. Besides, those organs of the brain covered by the thick, heavy pad will become unduly heated, excited, and probably perverted, by this most unphysiological and unhealthy foreign fashion. Headaches will follow; and even aberrations of mind will be traced to loading down the head with such artificial abominations as these. What are they but generators of brain fever? Do they not draw the blood to those parts, and produce abnormal action? Certainly they do; and the amative propensity, with its adjacent organs, are the ones injuriously affected.

If ladies prefer to wear their hair in curls, braids, or in nets, of course it is their privilege to do so; but to pile on those ridiculous "waterfalls," vulgarly so called, indicates something worse than foolish vanity. If modest and virtuous women realize the significance of the present head-gear, they would drop it for very shame. As it is, many sensible women, disgusted with the "swell-head" style, are cutting off their hair, a la Anna Dickinson, Laura Holloway, Florence Nightingale, Gail Hamilton, etc. A word to the wise is sufficient.—Phren. Jour.

ANECDOTE OF DANIEL WEBSTER.—A Boston correspondent assures us that the following, one of the many funny anecdotes that Portsmouth, New Hampshire, people tell of Mr. Webster, has not appeared in print:

During Mr. W.'s residence in that city, in his younger days, there was a furniture dealer named Judkins doing business in the town, who was a very well informed as well as ambitious man. He was patronized by Mr. Webster, who often dropped into the shop to order or superintend the making of some piece of furniture. These opportunities of conversing with a man so learned as Mr. W. were the delight of Mr. Judkin's life; and on the removal of the former to Boston, the payment of a considerable debt due Mr. J. was willingly left for future settlement. Attempts were made at various times to collect the debt—always in vain. Finally, Mr. Judkins determined to go to Boston and see Mr. Webster himself. He reached the city after a long and fatiguing stage-ride, and making a Sunday toilet, proceeded to the large house on the corner of High and Summer streets. "Is Mr. Webster in?" asked he of the servant who answered the bell. "Yes, but he cannot possibly be seen." "But I must see him." "No; he is entertaining some Washington gentlemen—they are dining." Mr. Judkins had heard of subterfuges, and believed not the serving-man. "Well, I will come in and wait till dinner is over." The puzzled servant, needed below stairs, decided to take the importunate stranger's name to his master.

Fancy the surprise of Mr. Judkins at seeing Mr. Webster rushing up stairs and insisting upon the poor man's joining his friends at the dinner-table! He would take no denial, and carried him forcibly almost, introducing him as "my old and dear friend, Mr. Judkins, of Portsmouth," and seating him between a distinguished Bostonian and the Secretary of the Navy; and, to use the words of the worthy cabinet-maker, "I was for four mortal hours just as good as anybody; my opinion was asked on a good many subjects, and they all seemed to think I knew a good deal. I was invited to visit them, and to go to Washington, and everybody asked me to drink wine with them; and, by George! I made up my mind never to ask for my bill again. I was a poor man, and needed money, but I had been treated as I never expected to be treated in this world, and I was willing to pay for it."—Harper's Magazine for July.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the glossy gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty compound, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS.
FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,
Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more efficacious remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
Their power and wide and powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.
Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these PILLS rapidly cure:—
For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.
For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.
For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.
For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.
For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.
For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.
As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.
An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageously used in large and frequent doses by those who from their occupations are exposed to the digestive apparatus. dawly&dim

TAXING THE BONDS.—A fair-minded writer is advocating in your columns, the taxation of United States Bonds. He has not yet considered the controlling considerations, which have heretofore prevented, and likely hereafter will restrain Congress from allowing these bonds to be taxed specifically as the debt of the United States.

The taxation, by State authority, of the debt of the United States, is a restraint upon the vital power of a government—the power to borrow money. The Revolutionary war and the war of 1812 would have been failures, and the Rebellion would have been a success, if the U. S. Government had not possessed the undoubted power to borrow money. How much money could the Government have borrowed in the Rebellion, if it had been proclaimed that their bonds were liable to be taxed by the States? During the war, New York was as much a rebel city as Richmond. How much money would the New York aristocracy have loaned the Government, if the rebel sympathizers had had the power to tax the bonds as they pleased? [This power in the States to tax the debt of the United States, would overthrow the General Government the first time it should be engaged in war.] But the Government had the sagacity to avoid New York capitalists, and borrowed the money directly from the people. Thousands of the men who served in the war took their pay in Government bonds, and now hold them. It was because the people, as contradistinguished from the large capitalists, took these bonds, that the Rebellion was put down and the Union preserved. It was because the money went to preserve our endangered Government, and was exempted from taxation, that the people so freely purchased these bonds.

The purchasers of these bonds of the United States paid the tax in advance. That is, the bonds sold for a higher price because they were exempt from taxation. At what rate can our Government hereafter borrow money if they now repudiate this consideration?

Whether these bonds are taxed or not, is of little importance to the holders. The really vital point is this: the Government cannot afford to tarnish its honor, by repudiation—the capitalists will manage to take care of themselves, but the Government cannot afford to save money or to seek popularity by violating its contracts. To do so would increase rather than diminish the burthens of the people. Besides, a large part of our bonds are held abroad, and local taxation would not affect them.

But the writer in the Chronicle seems to complain because the holders of 5-20 bonds are not willing to exchange them for bonds of 4 per cent. Why not complain of human nature? Is it common for men to give up notes bearing 6 per cent., before they are due, and take notes at 4 per cent? The way that the Government is to fund the public debt at a lower rate, is by making its credit so good that money may be hired at a reduced rate of interest, to pay off the debt as it becomes due.

Now the threats to repudiate the whole debt, in some quarters, to pay but a part, in others, and to tax the bonds in others, have so injured our credit at home and abroad as to obstruct the Government in an effort to fund the debt at a lower rate of interest—have really increased the burdens of the people more than the taxation of the bonds would relieve them.

There is one fact that ought to satisfy fair-minded men, and that is that the Government bonds as a general thing are now taxed higher than any other kind of property. There undoubtedly are some bonds in this neighborhood which entirely escape taxation, but as a class of property the bonds of the United States held in Portsmouth are taxed higher than any other kind of property. It has been estimated that a million and a half of U. S. bonds are held in this city. Not far from $1,000,000 are held by the banks and deposited with the Government on capital for the National banks—upon them a tax of more than 4 per cent., or more than 2-3 of 6 per cent. is paid as taxes; something more than 2 per cent. to the city, and nearly 2 per cent. to the general Government.

Perhaps this matter may be better understood by stating an actual fact. During the Rebellion, two persons about the same age and with about the same amount of property, happened about the same time to have some money — one $1300, and the other $1000. The first one purchased with $1300 a few acres of land and a house, which was valued last year at $800, upon which he paid less than $17 tax. The other with $1000 purchased a 5-20 bond, (which most people think is not taxed,) and with it he paid for 10 shares in a National Bank, which paid last year a tax to the city of more than $22 and more than $18 to the United States, making more than 40 dollars tax for the thousand dollars bond, or three times as much as his friend paid on his $1300.' So it will be seen that if there be $1,500,000 of the U. S. bonds held in this city, as a class of property, even if a part escapes taxation, they are taxed higher than any other class of property.

THE BLOOD owes its red color to minute globules which float in that fluid, and contain, in a healthy person, a large amount of Iron, which gives vitality to the blood. The Peruvian Syrup supplies the blood with this vital element, and gives vigor and strength to the whole system.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY is no Patent medicine humbug gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, nor is it represented as being "composed of rare and precious substances, brought from the four corners of the earth, carried seven times across the Great Desert of Sahara, on the backs of fourteen camels, and brought across the Atlantic Ocean on two ships." It is a mild, soothing pleasant Remedy, a perfect Specific for Chronic Nasal Catarrh, "Cold in the head," and kindred diseases. The proprietor, R. V. Pierce, M. D., of Buffalo, N. SPECIAL NOTICES.

Want of Vitality.

Sometimes there is a lack of vitality in large and apparently well developed frames. Herculean sinews and muscles are not always indicative of stamina and constitutional vigor in their possessor. Health depends more upon the condition of the stomach, the liver and the bowels, than upon the breadth of the shoulders, or the size of loose levers and pulleys of the system in which strength is supposed to reside. All this grand animal machinery is of itself no protective against sickness and decay. Easy and perfect digestion, regular and healthy secretions, uncontaminated blood, and a regular discharge of the waste matter of the body through the intestines, the kidneys and the pores, are the most potent safeguards against disease, the best guarantees of longevity. To promote these objects is the great end and purpose of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The ingredients of which the Great Tonic and Alterative is composed are taken solely from the vegetable kingdom and their medicinal virtues are not counterbalanced by the acid and poisonous elements which exist, more or less, in all the powerful mineral drugs. Sufferers from indigestion, billiousness, intermittent fevers, nervous debility or constipation, not only find immediate relief from the use of this agreeable stimulant and invigorant, but become conscious, as time wears on, of an increase of constitutional elasticity and vital force. Labor and exposure no longer produce the same effect upon them as heretofore, and they feel as if they had acquired a new hold on life, a new reserve of physical and mental energy.

This has been the experience of thousands of both sexes, and every day adds to the mass of confirmatory testimony. At this season of the year when the temperature and state of the atmosphere, exercise a peculiarly depressing influence over the minds and bodies of invalids, Hostetter's Bitters is the only tonic up to which the debilitated can rely for swift and permanent restoration.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a tact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

PERSONAL.—Hon. John P. Hale was in town Monday, and spent the day quietly with his relatives Aaron Young Esq., and other friends. He has grown quite thin from sickness, so much so that, his old acquaintance do not recognize him; but he is the same interesting gentleman as of old.

John J. Pickering and ladies arrived home a day or two since, from their six months' trip in Europe. We are pleased to know that his health is much improved. Our thanks to him for late Loudon papers forwarded.

Capt. James M. Hill and family are to resume their former residence on State Street, after two years or more absence—the family of Paymaster Cahoone having vacated the same to proceed to New York.

Capt. James N. Tarlton and family are to remove to Medford, Mass., where he has purchased a rural residence.

Mr. J. F. Shores, Jr., treasurer of the old Portsmouth Savings Bank, who has been suffering severely from rheumatism for several weeks, had the added misfortune to sprain his ankle last week, and has been very low. Mr. J. F. Shores Senior, who we believe is within about one year of fourscore, is one of the most prompt and brisk young men in the city, and performs his duties as cashier of the M. & T. Bank better than most men of half his years could.

Mrs. Woodbury and family are spending the summer at their fine estate in this city. Few ladies carry their years so lightly as she.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.—Messrs. Editors: In your Saturday's paper you ask sundry questions as to the effect of woman-suffrage on public morals. Allow me to ask (in Yankee fashion of answering one question by asking another,) whether the courtezans complained of are not women, and would not be entitled to vote, just as much as Mrs. Stowe or Mrs. Howe? Whether many of the liquor-holes, and some of the worst description, in our town, are not kept wholly, or in part, by women? Whether in more than one instance buildings occupied as brothels have not been owned by women? Whether a man who is a notorious drunkard or profligate is therefore always or usually excluded from what is called "our first society?" The true answers to these questions will, I think, suggest some doubt whether the mere fact of allowing women to vote will much advance the millenium.

H. .

[Answer.—Yes; the courtezans are women, and would be allowed to vote, as well as the virtuous and pure. But that does not disprove our implied statement, that if women could act through the ballot and jury boxes, prostitution and rumselling would be less open and defiant, and less common. For, even admitting that brothels and gin-mills of the worst description are kept by women, yet these establishments depend for their support and existence almost entirely upon the vices of men—and the number of women who support brothels, in any community, is very small, compared with the number who oppose them. Every virtuous wife, mother and sister, is interested in their suppression; and—as proof is better than prophecy—we see that in Wyoming Territory, (and it is notorious that a large "dangerous class" always finds its way to a new country, and that in our territories the law is generally administered with a due regard to the pleasure of that class,) where a Grand Jury composed of both sexes has been sitting, the dens of infamy have been closed, by the strong hand of the law—yet the vicious women vote there, as well as the good ones, just as vicious men and worthy ones do here.

As to the ownership of brothels in this city by women, either at present or in times past, we know some have owned those they kept, but doubt if a woman ever let a tenement for a house of ill-fame. But it does not matter, in this connection. As to drunkards and profligates being "usually excluded from what is called 'our first society,'" we did not say they were; on the contrary, one of the reasons we advanced in favor of giving the ballot to women, was that then men who lease buildings for brothels could not get elected to offices of honor and trust, and that men who habitually stand bail for infamous characters would no longer be deemed respectable. We think we have the best and soundest of reasons for the faith that is in us concerning female suffrage; nor can we revise our argument, on considering the suggestions offered. Women are better and purer than men, and we feel sure would govern more wisely.—Eds.]

THE N. H. UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION held its annual convention at East Wilton, last Wednesday and Thursday. In the absence of the President, Mrs. J. F. Lovering of Concord, one of the Vice Presidents of the Association, presided. She performed her duties with complete satisfaction and success, and by special vote, the thanks of the convention were extended to her.

A very valuable and interesting essay, written by Miss Mary A. Foster of Portsmouth, was read by the Secretary. The subject of the essay was "Parish Organization and Parish Work." A successive of earnest speeches followed, by various members of the Convention. It was evident all were deeply interested in the consideration of the topics suggested, and which concerned the relation of the Church to the Society, the importance of Sunday School effort, and the urgent necessity of exciting and strengthening a more lively social spirit in all religious societies. From beginning to end the Convention was a decided success.

The Board of Government chosen for the association for the ensuing year is as follows:

Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, Portsmouth, President. Woodbury Melcher, Esq, Laconia, Mrs. J. F. Lovering, Concord, Vice Presidents. Rev. J. F. Lovering, Concord, Secretary. P. C. Cheney, Manchester, Treasurer. Directors, Rev. Geo. M. Rice, Dublin; Hon. A. H. Bellows, Walpole; Rev. A. M. Pemberton, East Wilton; Mrs. A. E. Daniell, Franklin; Miss Mary A. Foster, Portsmouth; Mrs. A. Fuller, Peterborough.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

YORK, June 27.

At the Republican caucus, Saturday, to choose delegates to attend the convention for the nomination of a candidate for Congress, in the 1st Congressional District, to be holden at Saco, the 29 inst., the following persons were chosen, receiving 97 ballots out of 113: Joseph Bragdon Jr., Josiah D. Bragdon, David Moulton, Ashael Goodwin, Benjamin F. Rogers. They are pledged to vote for Nathaniel G. Marshall, Esq.

Several Copperheads were in attendance, four of whom attempted to vote the above ticket, but were promptly challenged by Capt. John B. Fernald and G. W. S. Putnam, Esq., who are ever on the alert for the highest interests of the party, and their ballots were rejected. The opposition were unpledged, and were supported because they were opposed to the presentation of the above gentleman's name in convention by the town, thinking the matter was complicated enough without the addition of any more candidates. The Chairman, Joseph Bragdon Jr., Esq., deserves, as he receives, credit for the honorable and impartial manner, in which he presided.

VANDALISM.—Some villainous wretch, who should have been planted long ago, destroyed from $100 to 200 worth of marble work at the Yard of Mr. John S. Treat, Sunday night, by hammering it. Pity somebody's monument couldn't have fallen on him.

☞ Special meeting of the Antiques and Horribles at Union Hall this (Tuesday) evening, at 8 o'clock. All those intending to enter the Tub Race, must do so immediately.

☞ Steamer Appledore is to commence her Saturday evening trips to the Shoals next Saturday.

James D. Gove of Henniker has been appointed Deputy Secretary of State.

BASE BALL.—The second nine of the Granite State Base Base Ball Club of this city, go to Kittery to-day to play the Forest State of that place.

—One of the oddest defenses on record has just been at Hamburg by a man who had murdered his wife from motives of jealousy. According to his own account he had not murdered her, but had killed her in a fair and honorable duel as he had placed a pistol in her hand and told her to shoot at him.

DEATHS.

In this city, June 24th, SARAH SANBORN, widow of the late Ezra F. Sanborn, aged 51 years and 9 months.

In Minneapolis, Minnesota, Mr. EBENEZER LORD ADAMS, aged 56 years, formerly of this city, and last surviving brother of Rev. John G. Adams, now of Lowell, Mass.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected app lications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in about ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

RICHARDSON'S
LITTLE WASHER!
PRICE $5.00.
The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!
☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bed-quilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.
More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:
Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.
MR. J. J. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.
MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success. MRS. L. E. MARTIN.
MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.

OLD TIMES CHRONICLES, No. 7.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

NOTTINGHAM SQUARE, — The Cilley Family.—The Cilley family that came to Nottingham was from Salisbury, Mass. Capt. Joseph Cilley was one of the earliest settlers, and came in 1727. There were people in what is now Epping, then a part of Exeter; Northwood, then a part of Nottingham, (called Northwoods,) was an unbroken forest; there were no people in Deerfield, nor scarcely any in Freetown, now Raymond.

Capt. Cilley's father was Thomas. We think he came to town also. The place where the Cilleys settled was not on the Square, but a mile or more easterly.

Gen. Joseph Cilley was son of Capt. Joseph, above named. He entered the army of the Revolution at its commencement, commanded the first N. H. Regiment, and was distinguished for bravery and patriotism all through. After the war he was Representative in the Legislature, Senator in 1795, Councillor in 1797 and '98. He was also a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1781. He was Gen. of the Militia, and in 1788 was called upon by Gov. Sullivan, to quell the insurrection of an armed mob that appeared in Exeter to overawe the Legislature, convened there. He died in Aug., 1799, aged 65.

The sons of Gen. Cilley who lived at the Square, were Hon. Bradbury, Maj. Jacob and Greenleaf. Col. Daniel lived at Epsom and Horatio G. at Deerfield. Hon. Bradbury was chosen Representative to Congress in 1812, and in 1814 was re-elected. Both times he was chosen on a general ticket headed by Daniel Webster. Maj. Jacob was a trader on the Square. J. L. Cilley, late of Exeter, was his son. John C., another son, lives on the Square, and was Representative in 1860. Jacob G., the third son, lives in Manchester, where he has served as city Treasurer and Post Master. Bradbury P., the fourth son, graduated at Dartmouth College in 1843, and is a lawyer in Manchester. The wives of Hon. Bradbury and Maj. Jacob were daughters of Gen. Enoch Poor of the Revolutionary army. Greenleaf Cilley died early. His son Jonathan graduated at Bowdoin College, became a lawyer, was Speaker in the Maine Legislature, Representative to Congress, and killed in a duel provoked by other parties. His son, Jonathan Prince, graduated at College, and is a lawyer in Rockland, Maine.

Col. Joseph Cilley, another son of Greenleaf, lives at the Square. He was in the second war with England, had an Ensign's commission, was in the battles of Chippewa and Lundy's Lane. He was made a Lieutenant, and finally a Captain; and was in other battles. He received a wound, of which he is lame now. After this war he had various offices in the State Militia, and in 1827 was Aide to Gov. Pierce. In 1846 he was chosen by the Legislature to fill a vacancy in the U. S. Senate, caused by the resignation of Hon. Levi Woodbury. Joseph N., son of Col. Cilley, has made preparations to practice law.

Horatio G., son of H. G. Cilley of Deerfield, graduated at Dartmouth College in 1826, studied law, practiced at Deerfield, was Represenative of the town, and moved to Lewiston, Me.

Daniel P., son of Col. Daniel Cilley of Epsom, was ordained to the ministry in the F. W. Baptist church at Epsom, in February, 1834.

Bradbury L. Cilley, son of the late Joseph L. Cilley of Exeter, graduated at Harvard College. He is Prof. of Ancient Languages in Phillips Exeter Academy. He became one of the Instructors there in 1859.

PRINTER'S PROVERBS.—Do not read aloud in the office of the printer, for, peradventure, he may have read the article a dozen times; and he and his workmen are not interested by the buzzing.

It is not well to occupy the editor's chair longer than one hour in the morning, when there are half a dozen waiting for their turn. Of course the editor has no use for it.

'I should like to take your paper but can't afford it; I will step in and read it occasionally,' is poor encouragement of the printer. Profitable employment of the time thou 'loungest' about his office would enable thee to pay for a dozen papers.

Stop the paper, if thou dost not like it; and then stop whining about the manner in which it is conducted. It is not printed for thy special amusement or edification alone.

Never inquire thou of the printer for news, for behold it is his duty at the appointed time to give it unto thee without asking.

It is not fit thou shouldst ask him who is the author of any article; for his duty requires him to keep such to himself.

Look thou not at the copy which is in the hands of the compositor; for that is not meet in the sight of the printer.

THE REFORM SCHOOL.—The fourteenth annual report of the Trustees of the N. H. Reform School has been published. From it we make a few extracts, which show the workings of the institution better than we can present them in any other way. The Secretary of the Board says:

"When the idea of its establishment was first brought to the notice of the Legislature, through the generous bequest of the late Hon. James McKeen Wilkins, and for a long time afterwards, it was honestly believed by many good men and careful legislators, to be an enterprise of doubtful expediency, and involving unnecessary expense. Others regard it as some new political hobby which designing and unscrupulous men would turn to their own personal advantage, if not aggrandizement, while others still, shutting their eye against the great moral needs of the day, could see in the streets and by-ways no juvenile offenders against the laws that could be redeemed and saved from the meshes of sin and suffering.

But that time has passed away, and with it the fears and fallacies of those who argued against the institution. The feeling now very generally obtains throughout the State,—especially where the aims and objects of the school are thoroughly understood and the gratifying results attained through its healthy discipline witnessed,—that it is one of the best methods, if not the cheapest, for reclaiming wayward youth, that has yet been devised. We who have seen its effects upon four or five hundred children, and who but for the Reform School might now be outcasts from society, a burden to themselves and plague spots in the community, can well bear the most unquivocal testimony in favor of its practical utility. Correct information only is necessary to raise up armies of friends in its behalf, in every nook and corner of the State."

He then goes on to show that the arrangement by which due proportions of work and study are required is successful. He advocates learning some mechanic art by the inmates. But there are no facilities for learning a proper trade in the institution. Making stockings has been tried, but does not pay. Chair-bottoming is now practiced, which produces a hundred dollars a month.

The instruction is regarded as judicious, and the school discipline excellent.

The matter of the departure of the late Superintendent is fully discussed.

The whole amount of funds is put down at	$18,079.99

Expended	15,257.00
Deficiency	$2,815.99

The following statistics indicate the number committed to the institution during the year, and the number discharged:

In school April 30, 1869	106
Committed since	49
Discharged before expiration of time	10
Discharged at expiration	15
Escaped	1
Died	5
Entrusted to care of friends	20
Remaining in school April 30, 1870	92

PROFIT OF GRAPES.—A grape grower stated that after twenty years' experience in fruit growing in Niagara County, N. Y., he has found nothing to compare with the grape in profit. Has cultivated acres of pears, but not with success. The past season the receipts from the pears would not reach over $75 per acre, though the trees were healthy. Grapes yielded $1500 per acre more than apples or pears. The grape can be grown at three cents per pound and be as profitable as wheat at two dollars per bushel. His Iona vineyard bore a fair crop the third year, and brought over $1400 per acre.—Exchange.

That is, in grape climates, we presume.

—The fly has uses. It serves to keep bald-headed sinners awake at church on a warm day, so that their unregenerated hearts may be touched by the preacher's word.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It has proved itself, West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.

It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best Lead Paint. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and retains its shade perfectly; with a beautiful surface, smooth as glass, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper, making a much glossier finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.

One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds. 2 coats: while Gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 10 lbs., and costs but $2.50, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.

The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case, or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.

The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago. Before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the FREQUENT HOEINGS, even during the dryest seasons, contribute to the benefit of the crop. By the loosening of the soil, the air, and especially night air, charged with moisture even in times of severe drouth, obtains ready access to the roots of plants, and becomes condensed in the soil. Very often during a hard summer drouth we have seen corn leaves and other vegetation roll up during the day time, but come out again at night in consequence of the falling of the dew, or the prevalance of moist air. Where the ground is not stirred it becomes crusted over or "baked," as it is called, and hence the moisture from below does not find its way up through to meet the condensed moist air of night. But where ground is frequently hoed the reverse is the case, hence the benefit of repeated hoeings during the summer months. Upon this point one of our late English journals mentioned the fact that during the extremely dry season of 1826, a gentleman was in the habit of hoeing, with his own hand three drills of turnips, daily. The result was that the drills thus hoed were a good crop, while the yield upon the remainder of the field, hoed less frequently, came almost to nothing.—Maine Farmer.

CROWS.—These pests of the cornfield are very numerous this season, and it will require care on the part of the farmer to keep them from biting up his spears of corn to see whether there is a worm under it; as a writer in one of our agricultural papers affirmed, that their only object in pulling up corn was to get the worms at work on the corn roots; and another one recommends sowing one peck of corn in drills around the margin of the corn-field for the crows to pull up till the corn gets up so large that they could not pull it up. Now such items, published in our agricultural papers show that they are penned by some one entirely unacquainted with the habits of crows, as they almost invariably alight on the center of the piece, and commence operations; and the best preventation is find the nest, take your shot gun, well loaded, and hide, and when they come to feed their young, blaze away, hang up the birds in the field, and the corn is safe.—Wolfeborough News.

CUTTING HAY.—A correspondent gives the following plan of getting hay, which he says has been practiced successfully by several of his acquaintances, who think it a great saving of labor over the way commonly practiced of mowing in the morning:

The hay is cut in the afternoon, when entirely free from external moisture. Next day after the dew is all off, it is turned. After dinner it is raked, and got in without delay. There is no cocking at night, and opening day. All such labor is saved.

One man who has practiced this several years, is justly considered one of the best farmers in town. His stock looks well, and produces as much as any. His farm improves yearly and he makes an annual investment every year outside. He considers his hay to be better than when cured the old fashioned way, and it certainly looks and smells as well as any I ever saw.—N. E. Farmer.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
This
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Examiner in the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
No. 15 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
Also, an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign records to determine the validity and utility of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington. 3m

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During the months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.
"Regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

40,000 French, Italians and Austrians assembled on the battle field of Solferino, Friday, to assist in the dedication of a monument to those who fell there.

☞ In a spasm of conviction the other day, the Cincinnati Enquirer felt compelled to say; "The Democracy is dying of vice and fraud; of folly and knavery; of cowardice and ignorance; of the displacement of its true and great souls by the soulless scoundrels who control the organization."

SUICIDE.—Capt. Nathaniel Baker, of York, Me., committed suicide at that place Tuesday morning, by tying his legs with a rope and then falling into the water. He was in good circumstances, and leaves a family; and was about 75 years old.

☞ No less an authority than Mr. James Parton says there is no good authority for spelling the word Raleigh with an i, Sir Walter himself having called his name Ralegh.

☞ The Democratic State Convention of Maine met Tuesday, chose Hon. E. F. Pillsbury chairman, and then adjourned on account of the intense heat.

New Publications Received.

The Phrenological Journal and Packard's Monthly, for July, with marked improvements. S. R. Wells, 389 Broadway, New York.

Good Health, for July. Alexander Moors, publisher, 11 Bromfield St., Boston. This number has articles on the Circulation of the Blood, Tea and Coffee, &c. $2 per year.

Beecher's Monthly, for July. J. A. Beecher, publisher, Trenton, N. J. $1 per year. Am. News Co., agents, 117 Nassau St., New York. Well-conducted, readable and valuable.

Old and New for July, Boston; Roberts Brothers, 143 Washington Street. It has articles on the Quakers in New England, the Woman Question, American Bishops and Infallibility, the Hidden Hemisphere, and a great variety of other subjects, grave and gay, lively and severe.

New Hampshire Items.

The house of J. P. Marshall of Bradford, was struck by lightning on Saturday evening and badly damaged. The electric fluid went down through the house to the cellar, making destructive havoc along its course. The inmates were stunned but not injured.

Mrs. W. G. Brown and a little daughter, and a Mrs. Averill, were thrown from a carriage at Whitefield Saturday and all badly injured.

The extensive flour and woollen mills of Josiah Dearborn, at Effingham Falls, were burned on Sunday. Loss estimated at $12,500, no insurance.

During the thunder-storm Saturday evening the lightning struck the house of Henry Mason in Concord, on the roof, and passing down into a bedroom, came within a few inches of Mr. Mason's head.

The farm-house and outbuildings of Jonathan Hill, of Litchfield, were burned on Saturday, by an unknown incendiary. The flames were discovered by Mrs. Hill soon after she had seen a strange man pass out of the house.

Two houses were struck by lightning in Nashua, Saturday night, and one in Hudson. The latter was burned.

EGGS.—The Journal of Agriculture says, though most farmers keep fowls and raise their own eggs, there are many who have not learned the difference there is in the richness and flavor of eggs produced by well fed hens, and those from birds that have been half starved through our winters. There will be some difference in the size, but far more in the quality. The yolk of one would be large, fine colored and of good substance, and the albumen or white, clear and pure; while the contents of the other will be watery and meagre, as in the parent fowl, to properly carry out and complete the work nature have sketched. In order, therefore, to have good eggs, the fowls should be well fed, and also provided, during the months they are unable to come to the ground, with a box containing an abundance of fine gravel, that they may be able to grind and prepare their food for digestion. Of eggs, those from the domestic hen are decidedly the best, but those of ducks and geese may be used for some of the purposes of domestic cookery.

—Abraham Lincoln [illegible] to say that the best story he ever heard of himself was this. "I'ma [illegible] travelling on the railroad [illegible] heard discussing the [illegible] of the war [illegible] first, "that Jeffers[illegible]" "Why does [illegible] other. "Because Jeff[illegible] man." "And so is [illegible] man," objected the second, "but the Lord will [illegible] joking," the first replied, [illegible]

—An extremely fashionable [illegible] lady, who was showing a [illegible] terior of Trinity Church, [illegible] asked what the nipples and [illegible] baptismal font signified. [illegible] the response stands for the Almighty, and that other thing there is a horse-shoe to frighten away evil spirits. Ever since the Lord was born in a stable, the horse shoe you know represents his divinity." And the fair theologian smiled complacently.

—An individual the other day went to one of the drug stores in Boston, and called for a pint of good whiskey, claiming that he wanted to put it on some roots for medicine. He obtained the whiskey, and immediately raised the bottle and imbibed a grown person's dose of the ardent. The drug clerk remonstrated with the customer for his duplicity, and was informed that it was the roots of his tongue for which he desired the whiskey.

—Southey says, in one of his letters, "I have told you of the Spaniard who always put on his spectacles when he was about to eat cherries, that they might look the bigger and more tempting. In like manner, I make the most of my enjoyments, and though I do not cast my cares away, I pack them in as little compass as I can, and carry them as conveniently as I can for myself, and never let them annoy others."

JOLLY DOGS.—It has never been doubted that as a general thing our Congressmen are a jolly set of dogs. Recently, members before repairing to the House, thoroughly fortified themselves against the arduous duty of discussing the Cuban resolutions, and even went there fully supplied with the liquid aliment. This fact is well established, not only by the number of empty soda-water bottles which were afterwards picked up in the Capitol grounds, but also by the style and language of the debate. Observe particularly the report of extraordinary sounds said to have proceeded from the mouth of Butler. The great man had declared that our Government gave Cuba the same chance it gave Spain, whereupon Sam Randall, in a fiery and yet analytical frame of mind, shouted out from the Democratic side:

"Where? When? Name the time and place, won't you?"

Benny paid not the slightest attention to Randall's barbed interrogatories. Then Sammy stood upon his tip toes and, raising his voice to its highest pitch, again shrieked:

"Which? Where? How? When? What?"

Benny looked as demoralized as a green militia man in a shower of grape shot, and stretching his not small mouth to its full capacity, uttered this response:

"Bah! Bah! Bah!"

Once more Randall demanded, with increasing earnestness:

"When? Where? How?"

And once more Benny made the mysterious answer:

"Bah! Bah! Bah!"

Hereupon a sharp voice in the gallery yelled out:

"Won't somebody choke that old sheep?"

At this cheerful proposal all the spectators roared with laughter, and the lobbies caught it up and roared too, and then the members roared, and the Speaker rapped his gavel until it broke, and the hammer bounded over the desk striking the Clerk upon the head, and there was what Joe Bagstock would call "a devilish jolly time" all round; but where, when, and how the Government has given Cuba the same chance as Spain remains as much of a conundrum as ever.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

—An inventive genius has produced an apparatus which he says is a cure for snoring. He fastens upon the nose a gutta-percha tube leading to the tympanum of the ear. Whenever the snorer snores he himself receives the first impression, finds how disagreeable it is, and of course reforms.

GLITTERING TEETH.—Not only does Sozodont impart the whiteness of the purest porcelain to the teeth, but its POLISH, too. They glisten after being brushed with it, like the inner surface of an ocean shell, and the effect of this peerless dentrifice is to render the enamel as hard and indestructible as adamant.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Want of Vitality.

Sometimes there is a lack of vitality in large and apparently well developed frames. Herculean sinews and muscles are not always indicative of stamina and constitutional vigor in their possessor. Health depends more upon the condition of the stomach, the liver and the bowels, than upon the breadth of the shoulders, or the size of loose levers and pulleys of the system in which strength is supposed to reside. All this grand animal machinery is of little protective against sickness and decay. Easy and perfect digestion, regular and healthy secretions, unadulterated blood, and a regular discharge of the waste matter of the body through the intestines, the kidneys and the pores, are the most potent safeguards against disease, the best guarantees of longevity. To promote these objects is the great end and purpose of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The ingredients of which the Great Tonic and Alterative is composed are taken solely from the vegetable kingdom and their medicinal virtues are not counterbalanced by the acid and poisonous elements which exist, more or less, in all the powerful mineral drugs. Sufferers from indigestion, billiousness, intermittent fevers, nervous debility or constipation, not only find immediate relief from the use of this agreeable stimulant and invigorant, but become conscious, as the time wears on, of an increase of constitutional elasticity and vital force. Labor and exposure no longer produce the same effect upon them as heretofore, and they feel as if they had acquired a new hold on life, a new reserve of physical and mental energy.

This has been the experience of thousands of both sexes, and every day adds to the mass of confirmatory testimony. At the season of the year when the temperature and state of the atmosphere, exercise a peculiarly depressing influence over the minds and bodies of invalids, Hostetter's Bitters is the only tonic upon which the debilitated can rely for swift and permanent restoration.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say.

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DOUGHTY, D. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical medicinal agent for the cure of diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a nact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt action takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was but per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Sprains, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

a PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. TRY IT. Je13djy12

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Varieties—Sweetser & Clark.
July Meeting—Rockingham Trotting Park.

☞ U. S. Steamer Juniata has sailed from London for this port.

☞ Our item respecting Mr. J. F. Shores Jr., was written that he had been very lame, but the types made us say very low. We are glad to hear that he is better, and wish him speedy recovery and future exemption from rheumatism and all other such isms.

☞ By an error of a figure in our York letter of the 27th, our correspondent was made to say that the delegates to the Congressional Convention, chosen at the York Republican caucus, received 97 out of 113 votes cast. It should have read, 97 out of 163.

THE FEATHER-BED RENOVATORS, whose advertisement may be found in another column, do all they promise with beds which have become unfit to sleep on. We have seen one, which when taken to be "renovated" was hard and matted,—more like a thick piece of leather than anything else—which was returned with the feathers as clean—cleaner, in fact, and more elastic, than when they were first put into the ticking.

☞ Among the most beautiful trees in the city, the purple beech at the residence of Aaron H. Hill, Esq., on Mason Hill, is hard to excel anywhere; a larch, "with all its tassels hung forth," in the green fronting Ex-Gov. Goodwin's residence, on Islington Street, has for years been greatly admired; the sweet linden off Daniel Street, near the residence of the Messrs. Goodrich, is now in full bloom and fragrance—a week or two earlier than usual, as is the season generally; and the majestic old linden or lime tree at the old Gardner mansion on Mechanic Street still lifts its head to woo the sunshine and defy the gale of many a year.

Communication.

Much has been said and written against the Dogs, and our City Fathers have passed a Dog Law, but as yet we can't see that they have diminished any. There are very many worthless curs about the city, and we suggest that the Marshal collect a car load and send them out to board for a season.

The attention of our City Fathers has been called to the condition of our "City Hall," and recommendations for alterations made, whereby the homely looking structure might be modernized; but as yet the suggestions remain unheeded, and the Brick Market undisturbed; it should be painted and sanded, if nothing more.

The idea of placing the new steamer Kearsarge in the same Engine House with the Dearborn seems a poor one. The building being of wood, and with such an enormous weight, is liable to break through, and our firemen may find their "tubs" in the cellar at a time when most needed, perhaps.

The Cess Pool at the Creek still continues a disgrace to the city and a curse to the West End. We have seen it stated that it was to be filled in soon, but at this time of writing see no signs of it. During the recent warm nights, the tide being out, the stench was too much to endure, and the immediate residents were compelled to close doors and windows in consequence. Deliver us from all such!

The question of Salt Water Bathing Houses seems to be forgotten, and our City Fathers would not probably make any appropriation for them for the public good, but as it is too late to talk of now, we recommend as a much better substitute the Sulphur Bath administered by Dr. Strong on Ladd street. Your correspondent has taken a course of these Baths and can recommend them to all those afflicted with humors, and to the convalescent, especially.

Mr. William Livingston, the recent leader of the Christmas Carolers, who occupies the late residence of Capt. Robt. Shillaber, on Langdon street, has started a hosiery factory on the same premises, and will soon give employment to a number of weavers. The hosiery business has got to be quite an institution in this city, and we welcome all such industrious sons of the mother country, as those concerned in it, to our midst.

A friendly game at Cricket is to be played at the Plains on the Fourth between the Portsmouth Club and a Club from Ipswich.

Lieut. Fred. L. Dodge, U. S. A., is home on a visit to his friends, looking hale and hearty after a Western campaign.

Those enterprising grocers, Messrs. Butler & Laighton, have bought out W. A. Peirce, No. 1 Market Square, and will remove their stock there to-day (Wednesday). REPORTER.

MR. EDWARD A. HAM, a native of of Portsmouth, died at Sacramento, California, of consumption, on Saturday last. He was about 45 years of age; was a printer, having learned the trade in the Journal Office, with the late Charles W. Brewster, Esq.; and up to the time of his decease was engaged in the office of the Sacramento Union newspaper. He went to California in the early days of the gold-digging excitement, in the barque Martha, which may be remembered as having taken quite a number of Portsmouth boys to the land of gold; and though he returned to this city some years afterward, he made no extended stay. He married Miss Ellen Tripe, of this city, who survives him. He leaves no children.

THE FIRST TROT OF THE SEASON, at the Rockingham Trotting Park, is advertised for the coming Fourth of July; and lovers of the turf may expect some good sport on that occasion. Three races are made up, the premiums amounting to $375.

For the Citizens' Purse of $75, H. R. Stoddard's "Fanny," Frank Jones' "Lady Emma" and W. Locke's "Rosa Bonheur" will contest; and the animals are very evenly matched. For the second race (for 3 minute horses) there are five good entries; and for horses that never beat 2.45, (premiums $200,) Stoddards' "Topsey," Jones' "Mountain Maid" and S. H. Gaytes' "Wild Eddie" will make lively work; for either of the three is so likely to win that it is impossible to predict the victor with any certainty—and the one that comes in ahead will have to trot for it. All the races are to be mile heats, best 3 in 5, to harness. A special train will be run on the Concord Railroad, stopping near the Park, and returning after the races.

The officers of the Park Association, M. Eldredge, H. R. Stoddard and H. L. Scott, Directors, and C. H. Hayes, Secretary,—announce it to be their determination that no liquors whatever shall be sold on the grounds; and we guess they have energy enough to carry their resolution into effect. Glad of it; the very many lovers of racing, in this vicinity, will not be annoyed by the lovers of bad whiskey,—and we do not question that a first-rate afternoon's sport will result from the arrangements for the day. The rules of the American Trotting Association will be observed. For further particulars see advertisement in another column.

☞ The match game of Base Ball, at the Plains, Tuesday afternoon, between the second nine of the Granite States of this city, and the first nine of "Senior" Whipples of Kittery, resulted in the victory of the latter by 29 runs.

☞ A free concert will be given on the Square near Spring Hill by Harlow's Marine Band, at 8 o'clock this (Wednesday) evening, if fair weather.

The new Masonic Hall at Bangor was dedicated Tuesday, with the usual ceremonies.

RICHARDSON'S
LITTLE WASHER!
PRICE $5.00.

The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!

☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER in the lead competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bedquilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.

More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.

MR. J. J. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.

MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success. MRS. L. E. MARTIN.

MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. E. W. WEBSTER.

FRANKLIN HOUSE,
Corner CONGRESS and FLEET Streets,
Portsmouth, N. H.,
By DAVID G. FULLER.

THE CONCORD RAILROAD CASE is before the people in several ways—first as a high court of public opinion, which after all is the highest and most important tribunal, and which so far as we can judge, is decidedly in favor of the old management and the Northern contract; and is also entered in the Supreme Judicial Court, in the shape o both suits and counter suits, and likewise in the Legislature, in at two least different characters,—investigations being instituted before committees, into the actions and motives of all concerned.

Before the special committee of ten, of which Mr. Lang of Orford is chairman, and Mr. Marcy of this city a member, appointed to examine the Northern and Concord contract, Judge Minot, the late President of the Concord Road, made the following statement:

Mr. Chairman, I do not intend to participate generally in this investigation. I desire only, at the outset, to say a few words for myself, and in explanation of the views and purposes of some of those who have been instrumental in calling the attention of the Legislature to the matters embraced in this resolution.

The recent transactions connected with the Concord Railroad have been very fully discussed throughout the State. All the members of the committee are doubtless familiar with the general facts; and I need not, therefore, refer particularly to them. It is well known that I, as a late officer of the road, have been concerned in some of those transactions; and charges impugning the motives and the official integrity of my associates and myself have been made in certain quarters.

I do not intend to refer to any merely personal matters, not because I am in any degree insensible how dear anything affecting his good name ought to be to every man, but because I well understand that it is not a matter which concerns the Legislature. But there are other considerations which, it seems to me, render it the duty of the Legislature to make this investigation. Our railroads are by far too important to the material interests of our State, their influences in other respects, for good or for ill, are too great and too powerful to allow their management ever to be properly a matter of indifference to the public or the State. There should at all times be the most absolute control over them, and the most rigid examination and scrutiny into their affairs, whenever there is any occasion for it.

And if there be now ground for any suspicion that there has been any improper motive, or any official wrong, prejudicial either to the interests of the stockholders or the State, on the part of those who have been concerned in the past management of the Concord Railroad; and, still more if there has been, on the part of others, an attempt to introduce into this State a practice with regard to our railroad affairs which has deservedly brought so much reproach on railroad management in other States, then it seems to me that not only the interest of the public, but the honor of the State demands an investigation, and that the Legislature should interpose and provide whatever legislation they may think necessary, either to remedy the past or protect the future.

Sometime before the commencement of this session, repeated statements were made in certain quarters, of an intention to call the attention of the Legislature to this matter. That was exactly what I desired, and I have waited patiently to see such a movement made; but as it has failed to be from another, I have only to say for myself and my late associates in the management of the Concord Railroad, that we court an investigation into our conduct and motives. Let it be free and full as you please. We invite the most rigid scrutiny in every respect. All we ask is, that there shall be a full knowledge of the facts and an honest judgment. That is what we desire, and I may say for myself and for my associates, that whatever information or aid, in any respect, we can give the Committee in that regard, it will be our pleasure to furnish.

Hon. George W. Sawyer said that he appeared in behalf of the Northern Railroad to reiterate the statements which had been made by Judge Minot in reference to that road. The President and Directors had been waiting in expectation that assurances that had been made, that an investigation into the proceedings referred to by Judge Minot would be had, would be carried into effect; but being disappointed in that respect, they had come forward of their own accord and asked for such an investigation, believing that the Committee would find that there was need of legislation to put an end to the attempt to introduce into New Hampshire a railroad policy which had brought reproach upon some of the neighboring States. He believed that the Committee would be satisfied that an attempt had been made, and was still persevered in, to put one of the most important railroads of the State into the hands of men of the class of James Fisk, Jr.

The Governor of Massachusetts had recently vetoed a bill giving aid to a railroad, on the ground that it had already squandered millions of the people's money, and he could not consent that any more aid should be given to it until it was put on a different basis and entrusted to different hands; and the speaker hoped that the Committee, if they found that there were persons who were seeking to lay their hands in that way upon any railroad in this State, would put a stop to it forever.

The Northern Railroad, for a long series of years, had been managed in a way to give general satisfaction, and had become successful and prosperous. The Concord Railroad, for the last four years, had been managed by a board of directors, with Judge Minot at its head. Previous to that time complaints were made, resulting in the passage of a resolution by the Legislature directing an inquiry into the management of that road, which resolution was finally defeated in a night session of the Senate, by one or two Senators voting to reconsider, and thus giving the matter the go-by. A new board was then elected, which continued in the direction until May, 1870, and it was in reference to the causes that produced the latter change that this investigation was to be had.

During the session of 1868, an attempt was made, by legislation, to take the Concord Railroad (upon a bribe of $250,000 offered to the State, by certain gentlemen, under a pretended claim of a right on the part of the State to do so, at any time, by paying the stockholders the par value of the stock, $50 per share, and making up to them a dividend of ten per cent. per annum from the beginning,) away from the stockholders, create a new corporation and give it to them—* * * all of them being, generally, persons who had, or claimed to have had, from some preceding period down to this time, grounds of complaint against the road. * * * There was also some gentlemen who had formerly been directors and were disappointed because their places were supplied by others, one of whom, Mr. Isaac Spaulding, was the wealthiest man in Hillsborough county and a former President of the road. * * * * * * * * * *

This dissatisfaction resulted in a combination among these individuals, which went to this extent; they entered into a written agreement, during last spring, that they were to purchase of the capital stock of the Concord Railroad to the amount, if necessary, of 15,001 shares, being one share more than half the stock, which consisted of 30,000 shares at $50 per share, making a capital of $1,500,000. They agreed to purchase stock to this amount, and bound themselves not to sell out their shares without the consent of a large proportion of the parties who entered into the agreement. * * * * *

Mr. Frederick Smyth, one of the parties, was treasurer of the largest Savings Bank in Manchester; Mr. Moody Currier, another of the parties, was President of a Savings Bank in the same city. Mr. Isaac Spaulding and some relatives of his, had the management and control of the Savings Bank in Nashua, and another in Lawrence, so that the gentlemen who were combined for this purpose could control the greater part of the bank capital of the State. It was agreed that this capital should be used in this way:—Mr Smyth called upon Mr. Currier for $42,500 for this purpose, and Mr. Currier called upon Mr. Smyth for the same amount; and they thus exchanged, from the right hand pocket to the left, these amounts, out of these Savings Banks, and used it for the purchase of stock of the Concord Railroad.

After they had succeeded in obtaining such an amount of stock as would give them the control, as they supposed, of the road, it will appear that one of these gentlemen was elected to the tune of $10,000 for his stock, purchased thus with the funds held by him in trust as Treasurer of a Savings Bank, for his personal and private benefit. He was offered $10,000 for his bargain, and was unable to accept the proposition because his colleagues, his confederates, his associates in this combination would not consent that he should sell his stock.

In view of this, the speaker said, it might be desirable that there should be legislation in this State to protect the Savings Banks, the public, and the depositors in Savings Bank, against operations of this kind, which, if allowed to go on, will lead to the treasurers and officers of Savings Banks taking the funds and appropriating them to their private use, in matters of speculation, to their private ends—not for the benefit of the depositors, but for their private purposes and their personal gain, and at the risk of the loss, in such speculations, of all the money that they may thus take from the bank.

The avowed object of these gentlemen was to get possession of the road for the purpose of making money. And it would appear that this was understood and concocted as a scheme by which this purpose was to be accomplished—that having secured a majority of the stock they were to elect the directors, and having control of the road, their avowed purpose was in the first place, under the statute allowing them to divide ten per cent. of the earnings of the road, to take such amount as would make up a percentage upon the investment from the beginning, giving them some $16.33 a share—perhaps it was 19 1-2 per cent. upon the par value of the stock. They claimed that that amount was justly due the stockholders, and declared their purpose to divide that amount among the stockholders.

Another thing was avowed that the Concord Railroad was worth $3,000,000, that it would cost that sum to build and equip such a road, and that it was but just that the public should pay ten per cent. dividends upon a capital of that amount; and a proposition was discussed among them to thus double the stock and thus put $1,500,000 into the pockets of the men who had obtained control of the road by a purchase of a majority of the stock, upon which the public were to be taxed ten per cent. It would appear that this scheme was entertained, and a combination formed to get control of and hold the road, and compel the people to pay them 19 1-2 per cent. upon a capital of $3,000,000.

They believed that if this policy could be carried out, they could make a good bargain by selling the road to speculators, who would come in and succeed to the rich inheritance which they had obtained by paying $80 or $85 purchase for this stock of the Concord Railroad and using trust funds for the purpose.

Communication.

Messrs. Editor;—Whatever may be said or remains to be said in regard to all "dogs," for some cases in this age of the world, the only available if not the only reliable watch dog is "the Press." This should be used freely; giving notes of warning or encouragement as occasion may require.

It needs no discussion to show that whatever practice or habits in a community are endorsed by the church and the clergy, have a retroactive effect through all departments of worldly operations and industry. Let a rampant theologian call all of a tender age to unseasonable excitements in regard to subjects belonging only to mature minds, and wide-spread insanity will result.

It cannot be charged against the clergy of this day that they are addicted to "lying down and loving to slumber," but from some causes which they may understand and which we have no right to judge, they may be "dumb dogs," awaiting notes of alarm from other quarters. Until very recently the church preached a self-denying, cross-bearing religion—that one must be wary in regard to excess of appetite or pampering of the body. The home was exalted, because the necessities of hunger and thirst drew its members from abroad to gather about the frugal board, and to partake of needful nourishment with the consciousness of the Divine blessing. But now it is getting to be thought necessary, in what may be called the temporal affairs of the church, that the appetite should be exalted to the greatest possible degree; so that by the more cups of mixed drink persons can pour into the "temples of the Holy Ghost," the more pence shall flow into a treasury for the building of some costly temple.

Not to enlarge on this head, I mean only to hint that all the power or influence that may be tolled into the church by ice cream delicacies and mixed drinks, by unseasonable pandering to vicious and perverted tastes, will in the end prove an element of weakness to the best cause. Excepting it may be thought expedient to have a general kitchen to supply the poor, let there be no encouragement given to riotous eating and drinking away from home and the circle of those who should be loved—no night feastings, and irregularities;—but let all proper means be used to excite a desire for truth, and "healing of those who are overpowered by the devil." Let all money contributions be made directly and specifically; then unalloyed benefit will flow to the cause, and full blessings will return upon the giver. Keep all eating and drinking separate from the church; and encourage none within its sacred enclosures and to a part in its operations, who cannot come with clean desires for the benefits and blessings it offers to every human soul—whatever its conditions and need.

In that "pattern of things in the heavens" given to Moses, the prominence given to the noble oxen prefigured strength of the church. The vain follies of this age will prove a poor support to that altar which is the centre of all earthly good and from which alone can emanate heavenly hope. Q.

ACCIDENT AT SEA.—The schooner E. A. Hutchins, of Gloucester or Harwick, Mass., capsized off Casco bay in the storm of last Saturday, and all hands, consisting of six or eight persons, were lost. The crew of the schooner which was sailing with her report that no trace of her was seen after the squall, and it is probable she capsized and sunk. The hatches, trolls, &c., belonging to the Hutchins, were subsequently picked up by another vessel, which confirms the loss.

—A little girl who had been favored with glimpses of the upper sky, having been told by her mother that she was always surrounded by guardian angels, grew very thoughtful, and after drawing a long breath looked up and said, "Mamma, do you mean that all the whole time they are with me?" On being answered yes, she exclaimed, with an impatient fling, "Well, really, I should like to be alone a little while sometimes."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,
FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,
Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.
Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—
For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.
For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.
For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.
For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.
For Dropsy and Swellings, they should be taken [illegible] frequent doses to produce a [illegible] effect.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
Restores Gray Hair to its Natural Healthy and Color.
This preparation is at once agreeable, healthy, and invigorating. It will cleanse the scalp of all impurities and dandruff, promote a luxuriant growth of hair, prevent its falling out and baldness, and restore it to its original color, when gray, with the freshness of youth. Thin hair thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed, but such as remain may be saved for months by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a sticky sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.
It wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing can be found so desirable, combining neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.
Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,

THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 1870.

Newsings.

A sneak thief stole trunks containing $150,000 in government bonds and railroad bonds, from the N. Y. office of the Maryland Fire Insurance company, Tuesday.

Gonzales Junino, an insurgent leader who surrendered some time ago, and was pardoned, was tried and convicted last week for crimes committed while a rebel leader, and executed at Fort Cabanas, Cuba.

The firm of Hurd, Miller & Co., of New York was levied upon and seized Saturday by the sheriff, under attachments issued in the interests of parties who hold bills against the management of the late so called Beethoven musical festival.

The New York Express reports that Mr. Motley's place has been offered to Ex-Senator Morgan of that city.

Edward Darnell, 19 years old, was hung at Dover, Delaware, on the 24th, for the murder of John Hogan in March last. Seven hundred men and women witnessed the execution.

A son of Thomas Owens, of Portland, Me., was accidentally killed, Tuesday.

Princess Metternich has a daughter.

Lieutenant Young's command killed 15 Indians near Rawlins, Monday. He hopes to do more business of the same sort.

A Chinaman who has been in this country nine years preparing for missionary labor at home, was married in Newark, N. J., Monday to a China woman who was brought to this country when a child.

At Hartford, Conn., Tuesday, the mercury reached 100 in the shade. There were two fatal cases of sunstroke.

Captain J. D Robinson, of the United States navy died in San Francisco, Monday. Captain Robinson commanded the Pensacola during the engagement in Mobile Bay.

An explosion occurred Tuesday morning in Hyatt's billiard ball manufactory, Albany, N. Y., which blew out the rear wall of the building and caused damage to the amount of $2000. The explosion was caused by mice nibbling matches lying among a quantity of gun cotton, used in the manufacture of billiard balls.

An attempt is being made to save the life of Real, the New York murderer who killed policeman Smedick in cold blood. "Hanging for murder in New York is played out."

New Hampshire Items.

Benj. Wheeler, 2d, of Hollis has raised a strawberry seven inches round.

Among the patents granted to citizens of this State last week, is one to G. B. Wiggin of South Newmarket, for water metre,—a great desideratum, when it shall be obtained.

Mrs. Sophia Dickey, the last surviving child of Maj. Gen. John Stark, the hero of Bennington, died at Reading, Mass., June 25th, aged ninety years or more. Her remains were buried at Londonderry.

A young man named George Newell had his left arm fractured by being caught in a belt in the Stark Mills at Manchester, Monday.

The candidates for the Adjutant Generalship, resigned by Gen. Natt Head, are Captain John R. Haines, now chief clerk of the office, and Col. Timothy W. Chellis of Manchester.

Major Foster Kimball, formerly quartermaster of the 10th New Hampshire Regiment, and late Hospital Steward of the United States Soldier's Hospital at Augusta, Me., died in Manchester, Tuesday, aged about 37 years. He was unmarried.

The Reporter says that a white rose has been found on an apple tree owned by Mr. Welcome Aldrich of East Canaan.

The steamer Drew ran into and sunk the tow boat Telegraph at Rhinebeck Monday night.

Warner has a population of 1666—a falling off of 305 since 1860. Acworth has 1059—a falling off of 121.

—A Glen's Fall merchant recently hired a new clerk, and of course initiated him at once into the mystery of the "trade mark." The same afternoon the newly inducted knight of the yard stick was showing some goods to a lady customer when she demurred to the price of the articles. The feelings of the merchant may be imagined when the young man called at the top of his voice: "What shall I sell this for? It is marked $4.50 and cost fifty cents."

N. H. Legislature.

The House passed the bill extending the charter of Portsmouth & Dover Railroad to 1888, on Monday.

The Committee on Banking recommended the indefinite postponement of legislation on the subject of the Portsmouth Savings Bank.

Our Legislative Correspondence.

CONCORD, June 29.

Dear Chronicle:—The hearings before the special committees on railways and on banks, have been the engrossing topics of the past week. The fact of the Manchester, Concord and Nashua Savings Banks forming or joining the ring to buy up and control the Concord Railroad to their own liking, is the occasion of both these committees. After a long and full hearing of Messrs. Moody Currier and Frederick Smyth of Manchester, Messrs. Spalding of Nashua and others, the Committee are asked or expected to report to-day a bill prohibiting treasurers of savings banks from holding office in railroad corporations. Whatever may be the result, we must say that we do not like the policy of spectators using the people's money to control the people's railroads.

The Railroad question is brought by the Northern and Concord "contractors" asking virtually that the Legislature legalize or oppose their contract—which if the question really ever comes before the House, many think will be done, so unpopular seems to be the policy of rings. Among others, Gov. Stearns has been before the committee, and his examination continued for upwards of an hour. The Governor's friends are highly pleased with his appearance upon the stand, and they claim that he has admirably vindicated his course in connection with the Concord railroad contract. During the evening session, Judge Minot was examined at g[illegible] length, and minutely explained [illegible] took in the negotiation of [illegible] between the Concord [illegible] Boston [illegible] the [illegible] is [illegible] lawyers [illegible] the friends [illegible] and vigilant [illegible] by the friends [illegible] as will [illegible] at least, give legislative s[illegible] it, while the friends of the [illegible] Road maintain that there should [illegible] interference by the Legislature, [illegible] that there can be no legal ratifica[illegible] now, as the Concord Road has w[illegible] drawn its assent from it.

Will the Session close this week, i[illegible] another matter of interest. Both the House and Senate we believe have voted to do so, and all seem determined to stick to it. If the railroad and other matters can't get finished, it is proposed to pass them over to the next Legislature.

I hear the Massachusetts Legislature, or a delegation from them, are to visit Concord this week.

The Senate has repealed the new milk measure, but I give the farmers in the House credit for more sense than to again sell the only liquid they do sell by large measure, while they buy everything (even their beer and rum) by the small measure. Beer measure is an anomaly and an absurdity and [illegible] of milk [illegible] to do with [illegible] other [illegible]

THE MA[illegible] TION met in [illegible] nate a can[illegible] supported [illegible] the coming [illegible] day of Aug[illegible] 22d the usu[illegible] appointed, [illegible] "Lankerified" [illegible] among themselves [illegible] candidate. [illegible] were red-hot for [illegible] borlain! asserting [illegible] the people of Maine [illegible] nate any of the "o[illegible] backs would be merely getting [illegible] for another funeral of [illegible] party,—which would make about 20 [illegible] times that obsolete part[illegible] ried, in Maine.

Gov. Chamberlain's [illegible] warmly opposed by the [illegible] who scouted the notion that [illegible] man would accept a nomination [illegible] from such a source; and after a very [illegible] debate, of the "you're another" style, the Convention adjourned without [illegible] fecting a nomination, to meet again in Bangor, August 16.

The vote on adjourning stood 263 for and 162 against. This was counted as a victory by the young democracy, who are tired of the misrule and blundering obstinacy of their old party hacks; and they let themselves out in a prolonged cheering whoop of victory, the opposition charging mistakes and cheating in the count. Mr. Pillsbury did up the formalities of declaring the adjournment, &c., and thus ended one of the most excited political gatherings Maine has had for many years. No resolutions were offered.

BASE BALL.—The match at Boston, on Tuesday, between the Chicago White Stockings and the Lowells, resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 43 to 25. Had the Lowells fielded decently they might have won the game easily. As it was, they played three of their second nine, and two of the three played as well as the regulars. The Lowell nine is considerably demoralized, just now. Lovett, the pitcher, was unable to play on account of having a forefinger put out of joint, a few days since; Reed had his left hand split open the whole length of the palm by trying to stop a "hot one" batted by a White Stocking; and Alline is suffering from an attempt to throw a ball a great distance, which being an overstraining of his muscles, will last many months, if not years. The batting on both sides was heavy. On the 5th inning the White Stocking score was 14 to 13 for the Lowells. The Westerners made 29 runs on the last four innings to 12 for the Lowells.

ALMOST TRUE.—A sensational story recently published in the Portland Argus and copied by some other papers, respecting improper conduct on the part of a Methodist minister in Waterford, Me., has its foundations somewhat shaken by a writer in the Portland Press, who says the story is all true except in a few details, viz.:

The affair did not occur at Waterford, nor is the pastor of the church at Waterford connected with it. It did not occur on Sunday week. He had not preached on that Sabbath. He was not seen to follow any young lady—nor were they detected in any unlawful act. He has not fled, and consequently has not left his wife, nor any young girl ruined by him, behind. The Methodist church in Waterford has no pastor. In other respects the statement is undoubtedly correct!

IT IS NO WONDER that invalids lose faith in all specifics, when so many worthless medicines are advertised for the cure of various diseases; but which, when tried, are "found wanting." We have yet to learn, however, of the failure of Dr. Water's Balsam of Wild Cherry, to cure coughs, colds, and pulmonary disease.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Want of Vitality.

Sometimes there is a lack of vitality in large and apparently well developed framer. Herculean sinews and muscles are not always indicative of stamina and constitutional vigor in their possessor. Health depends more upon the condition of the stomach, the liver and the bowels, than upon the breadth of the shoulders, or the size of loose levers and pulleys of the system it which strength is supposed to reside. All this grand animal machinery is of itself not protection against sickness and decay. Easy and perfect digestion, regular and healthy secretions, uncontaminated blood, and a regular discharge of the waste matter of the body through the intestines, the kidneys and the pores, are the most potent safeguards against disease, the best guarantees of longevity. To promote these objects is the great end and purpose of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The ingredients of which the Great Tonic and Alterative is composed are taken solely from the vegetable kingdom and their medicinal virtues are not counterbalanced by the acid and poisonous elements which exist, more or less, in all the powerful mineral drugs. Sufferers from indigestion, biliousness, intermittent fevers, nervous debility or constipation, not only find immediate relief from the use of this agreeable stimulant and invigorant, but become conscious, as time wears on, of an increase of constitutional elasticity and vital force. Labor and exposure no longer produce the same effect upon them as heretofore and they feel as if they had acquired a new lease on life, a new reserve of physical and mental energy.

This has been the experience of thousands of both sexes, and every day adds to the mass of confirmatory testimony. At this season of the year when the temperature and state of the atmosphere exercise a peculiarly depressing influence over the minds and bodies of invalids, Hostetter's Bitters is the only tonic upon which the debilitated can rely for swift and permanent restoration.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung diseases in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it, and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says, I believe that it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

Morning Chronicle.

CONCORD RAILROAD QUESTION.—Having given the statements of Judge Minot and Mr. Sawyer, it is but just to the gentlemen of the other party to state that they deny their soft impeachment, or at least the motives imputed to them, and claim that they were acting in good faith for the benefit of the public. However, we shall now merely present the statements of the Northern side of the story, which is all we have room for.

Judge Sawyer goes on to state that the Northern Road, from its location, would be at the mercy of the Concord, under any adverse management; and shows that while President Stark of the Nashua and Lowell Roads was in favor of consolidation—the great Massachusetts and New York consolidation—Judge Minot and Gov. Stearns were decidedly opposed to it. He also says:

At a former period there was a written contract between the Northern & Concord Railroads, substantially such a contract as was recently entered into between those roads, in reference to their joint business, but with some additional provisions. That contract had expired, but the two corporations had continued to do business upon the basis of that written arrangement, there being an agreement that either party could terminate it by giving three or six months notice. While the Concord Railroad continued under the old management, therefore, there was no difficulty in conducting the joint business between the roads. The matter was well understood and arranged, although efforts had been made within the last six or eight months, on the part of the Northern road, to secure a permanent arrangement.

Judge Sawyer claims that it will appear in the course of the inquiry, that the contract recently made was a block directly before the wheels of consolidation. He says:

The Massachusetts act was passed in 1869. When it was introduced [illegible] the names of certain gentlemen of New Hampshire were included in the charter, without their authority. Gen. Stark was informed that Judge Minot objected to the insertion of his name, and it was struck out, but a good deal of disaffection resulted between those two gentlemen in reference to the matter.

When Judge Minot and Gov. Stearns learned that these gentlemen (the new ring) were likely to succeed in their project, they felt a great deal of anxiety as to the position in which it would place the Concord and the Northern roads. The Northern road is dependent almost entirely on [illegible] through business from White River Junction over that road and the Concord road to Boston; its local business is comparatively small. * * * * *

The result would be, that these new parties, if successful in their designs, would not only have the control of the Concord road, but of the Northern road also. It might be suggested that the Legislature had power to regulate terms upon which this business should be done, but practically this [illegible] could not be exercised. The new Directors would have taken possession in May; the Legislature would meet in June, and there would no be such a [illegible] as would require the immediate interference of the Legislature, and the matter would be suffered to rest till the adjournment, and the Northern road at their mercy for a year at [illegible]. If resort should be had to the Legislature, it would take a long period to make an investigation into these complicated railroad connections, and all the complicated matters pertaining to them; * * * and an appeal to the Legislature would be practically useless, on account of the time it would require for proper investigation.

Judge Sawyer said he referred to this to show the condition in which Gov. Stearns found himself placed when he learned that those gentlemen had succeeded in securing control of the road and knew their object and determination in regard to the matter. Gov. Stearns and Judge Minot then called upon Gen. Stark, and he confirmed them:—"You would not go into project here and aid me in obtaining the consolidation of these lines, and you must take care of yourselves; I will take care of my end of this line." They found that because of the opposition to consolidation, under Massachusetts legislation, Gen. Stark turned the cold shoulder to them.

When Gov. Stearns found himself in this situation, a suggestion was made to him that some of these gentlemen would like to negotiate with him. He was visited by Mr. James W. Johnson, who made certain propositions. Mr. Johnson was one of the men who signed the written agreement, and spoke for himself and his associates. He told Gov. Stearns that they had obtained a majority of the stock, or if not quite a majority, were determined to obtain it if they had to pay $100 a share, there being no limit in the agreement as to the price they were to pay.

He stated that they had got a good thing, which was worth $50,000 to them; that the capital stock of the corporation ought to be $3,000,000, and that the business of the road would pay ten per cent. on that capital. He also said that the parties might be disposed to negotiate with him if they could make $160,000, and that they would make such a contract with the Northern Road for twenty years as would secure them against the mischief which would result from their being left without a contract, and enable them to make $20,000 or $30,000 a year. [Mr. Johnson, over his own signature, denies these statements.]

Gov. Stearns was satisfied that the proposed contract would be beneficial to both roads and to the public, and did all he could to secure its completion and to end the controversy. He therefore proceeded to negotiate with these gentlemen. There is no limit to the power of the Concord Railroad to increase its stock, but a bill had been introduced to modify the charter in that respect, which the speaker hoped would be passed.

The Northern Railroad, if these parties succeeded in their object, would be at their mercy; and the only way to avoid being placed in such a position was to enter into a contract, which he understood, under the advice of counsel, would be legal and binding, providing for the transaction of the joint business and preventing consolidation by a vote of the stockholders of the Concord road during its continuance.

It was such a contract as existed between numerous roads throughout the State. A controversy had arisen in the courts of the State on the subject. A bill in equity had been filed; threats were thrown out that the directors chosen in May were to obtain possession of the road by force if necessary, and in consequence thereof the joint management had asked for an injunction restraining the new directors from any such proceedings, and from interfering with the contract until the courts determine whether it is legally binding or not. In closing, Judge Sawyer said:

We say that the Legislature should now interfere, that this is a just and fair contract between these roads, that it protects all these stockholders and protects the interest of both roads, and we say the contract should be proved legal at your hands. Make it a legal contract that this pressure that is commenced—and when it will terminate, unless by legislation, is mortal can predict, or what will be the results of this litigation [illegible] be stopped, that the public [illegible] inconvenience [illegible] the stockholders [illegible] need not be [illegible] inducement [illegible] for [illegible] Concord re[illegible] control of matter. —Agentleman coming to an inn in Ohio, and seeing the hostler very expert and tractable about the horses, asked how long he had lived there, and what countryman he was. "I'm a Yankee," said the man, "and have lived sixteen years here." "I wonder," replied the gentleman, "that in so long a time, so clever a fellow as you seem to be have not come to be master of an inn yourself." "Ay," answered the hostler, "but the landlord is a Yankee, too."

The semi-annual convention of the G. A. R., department of New Hampshire will be held in Concord on Friday next.

☞ X sends us another communication on the bond question, but as he has already had sufficient space for stating his views, we must use our columns for more important matters.

☞ Sagamore Steam Fire Engine is undergoing some repairs,—for the first time to any extent since she came into the posession of the city,—by Messrs. Critchley and Whalley, who are putting in brass boiler tubes in place of the iron ones,—the same as was done for steamer Dearborn a year or so ago.

☞ The lady who lost one of a pair of gold sleeve buttons on Haymarket Square at the time of the Band Concert there lately, not having recovered it by advertising, is willing to draw lots with any one who has found it, to decide who shall have both; or she will present the lucky finder with the one she now holds, sooner than they should be separated, on proper proof being shown that the other one has been found.

☞ The Strawberry Festival given by the ladies of the Universalist Society on Wednesday evening, at Congress Hall, was largely attended and in every way a success. The strawberries and ice creams were delicious, and extensively patronized; and the floral show was very beautiful. A large ring cake (containing two rings) brought $49, and about $45 was received at the door. The gross receipts were between $250 and $275, which should leave a comfortable balance after all expenses are paid.

A RUMPUS IN THE 1ST MAINE REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION. The convention met on Wednesday. Our reporter telegraphs us that the York county delegation met and passed the following resolution:—

Resolved, that usage in this district has been to alternate the nomination between the two counties, and that it is right and politic to make the nomination from York county.

This resolution was rejected by the Convention and most of the York delegates withdrew. The Cumberland delegates then nominated Hon. John Lynch of Portland for re-election.

☞ It is worth a visit to the old "Spring Market" (now kept by Messrs. Randall & Caswell,) early any morning, to see the amount and variety of fish which arrives there, and is sent off on the morning trains north and west. Wednesday we noticed four splendid halibut, caught off this harbor, and weighing about 1000 lbs., cod, haddock, mackerel, live lobsters packed in sea-weed for shipment, boiled lobsters, lobsters being boiled, &c; the best of all, however, was the malacopterygious fish of the genus Salmo. R. & Co. have made arrangements to have constantly on hand salmon for retail.

Is the Middle Street Baptist Church of this city to furnish the Republican and Democratic candidates for Governor next year? Why not!

If it takes from now until 1888 to build the Railroad to Dover, 10 1-2 miles, how many rails should be laid each week?

If there is public spirit sufficient to hire a band from across the Piscataqua to concertize in this city once a week, will there ever be as much displayed for the encouragement of "our band?"

ATTORNEY GENERAL AKERMAN.—We clip the following from an article on the new member of the Cabinet, in the Nashua Telegraph:—

The Georgia Democrat concludes its "first rate puff" of Mr. Akerman by affirming that he "has the will and industry to make himself an efficient law officer. He differs from his party in two respects, viz: he is honest and personally clean. He is narrow-minded, full of the prejudices which come of his birthplace and education, and hates Southern gentlemen as the devil is said to abhor holy water." As his enemies bear witness to his honesty, loyalty, industry and ability, and only make out that the worst points in his character are incident to his birth-place on old Strawberry Bank, his education at old Dartmouth, and his aversion to "Southern gentlemen," alias unrepentant rebels, we think Mr. Akerman will do for a member of the Cabinet and of the Republican party.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

THE REFORM SCHOOL.—The Legislature has acted wisely in making a liberal appropriation for the support of the State Reform School. It was established for the reformation of youth of vicious habits, whose parents are generally, regardless of the morals of their children, are indifferent to their evil propensities, or their early education. The parents are even more culpable than their children. There are other children, orphans, left to the mercies of the world, who contract evil habits and commit offence, or crimes. Another such children may be sent to the Reform School, instead of the State Prison.

Now although the support of the school may cost the State some seven or eight thousand dollars, in addition to the first appropriation, it will ultimately be a public saving, besides giving a rudimental education to and reforming the morals of the inmates. One effect of the institution will be to dry up the source of crimes. The vicious youth, or many of them, unless committed to the school, when they become adults, would commit crimes of various kinds. Their trial for offences would cost the State a very large amount in the aggregate. Consider also the loss to individuals by theft, robberies and by incendiaries, of which our public Journals weekly give us appalling accounts. The most vicious boys have the most influence in inducing others to commit offences, and ought to be sent to the reform school. In this city, they are generally the children of Irish parents. Several hundred of them, instead of attending school, run about the streets, many of them meeting together, playing truant, and making great noise, and using profane language. Their parents, influenced by Catholic priests, will not send them to our schools, under excellent teachers, preferring to let them grow up in ignorance. Our city authorities ought to provide some remedy for this increasing evil. To send the worst of them to the reform school, would be a blessing to them, and have a salutary effect upon others, as well as upon their parents. There are also bad boys of native parents, who ought to receive similar treatment. We need not speak of our excellent school system, and schoolhouses, open to all desirous of receiving a good education.

SAD ACCIDENT AT NEWBURYPORT.—The Boston train due here at 10 o'clock, A. M., Wednesday, ran over Mr. Geo. Brown of Salem, Mass., at Newburyport. The train had started from the depot and Mr. Brown endeavored to get on while the speed was being rapidly increased, but could not succeed. A brakeman seeing that he must fell under the car, pushed Mr. Brown clear of the train, hoping thereby to save him from death, but he rolled under the next car, which cut off one leg above the knee and the other at the ankle. He will not probably recover from his injuries. A sad warning to people who are so reckless in getting on and off cars in motion!

☞ Our readers, in search of a superior Portable Steam Engine, are referred to the card of J. C. Hoadley & Co., in this paper. Over eight hundred of these engines are in use, sold within the past thirteen years, and every one, without exception, so far as known, continues to give entire satisfaction. The demand is so urgent that Messrs. J. C. H. & Co., have been constantly driven to fill their orders; but have recently enlarged their works, and are now able to fill all orders promptly. All engines warranted satisfactory, or no sale.

RICHARDSON'S

LITTLE WASHER!

PRICE $5.00.

The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!

☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bed-quilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts without washing the whole garments in the same time.

More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring a machine as here described, and yet doubting the statements, can have a washing done in our own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:

Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.

MR. J. J. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no further for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.

MR. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success.

MRS. L. E. MARTIN.

MR. HATLINGER,

Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer," I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.

A WONDERFUL MILEAGE SHRINKAGE. A Washington correspondent of an Indiana paper discloses some very interesting statistics relative to the past and present mileage of members of Congress. He says:

"I cannot stop to enumerate the thousand and one queer things which meet one on every hand in looking over these old books of the Senate, but there is one portion, a very funny part of the record, which I cannot pass without mentioning. I discovered what I had either forgotten or never known before, that our good old economical friends used to pay themselves forty cents for every mile they travelled in going to and from the capital. I suppose it ordinarily costs about as much for a Republican to travel as a Democrat; but however that may be, no sooner had the Republican party come into power than they deliberately cut down this mileage just one half. In 1859 there was paid to Senators $75,911 as mileage. In 1869, with six more Senators, there was paid $29,312.40, a difference of $46,597.60. Taking a like ratio for the House, and the total amount paid to members of Congress in 1859 as mileage was in round numbers $363,000, while the amount paid in 1869 was $109,000, a yearly difference and saving of $254,000. But, says one, "How can this be? If the mileage in 1859 at 40 cents, was $363,000, it certainly, at 20 cents, should be just half that sum, or $181,000. How is it then that these Republicans draw $72,000 less than half as much as was formerly paid the simple-hearted and unselfish Democracy?"

I must confess that I was a little puzzled over this myself, but after awhile I discovered where the joke came in. Here it is then. Members of Congress certify to the number of miles which they travel, and their word of honor has usually been deemed sufficient. According to their certificates, then, these old fathers of Israel travelled a good many more miles than their Republican successors, and my heart finally bled for the virtuous old gentlemen, when I noted their long and weary search for this historic spot on the banks of the placid Potomac. Paul was an impostor. The pilgrimage of Japhet in search of his father was a pleasure excursion. Weston's trip to Chicago sinks into nothingness. The only difference between them and the Wandering Jew is the fact that they sometimes came to a halt, while he, like Tennyson's brook, went on forever; and he got no forty cents a mile for it either. There was Johnson of Arkansas; when he was a Senator it was 4,000 miles from Little Rock to Washington and back. Now it is not so much by a thousand miles, at least so says Rice, his Republican successor. Think of poor Green of Missouri, tramping 3,500 miles to reach the Capitol, while Drake meanly cuts in across lots and saves over 1,500 miles, the former coming up at a cost to the people of $1,400, the latter for less than $600. We used to pay that eminent diplomat, Gwin of California, nearly $6,000 for coming to Washington. We get Cole, a Republican, here for $1,300. It cost us $800 every time that shining Democrat, Jesse D. Bright, turned his face to the Capitol; but Morton comes down for $359 a year. Graham N. Fitch of Indiana had a very weary time of it, for he traveled 2,865 miles, and finally reached Washington after much suffering, at a national expense of $1,146. Pratt, though living in the same town, discovered some wonderful route twelve hundred miles shorter, and so we got him here and back again, heavy as he is, for $339.20.

That great and good man, David Turple, when he had the misfortune to be a Senator for a few days, wandered about like a lost sheep, until finally his eyes were gladdened at the sight of the dome, after having travelled 2,636 miles. Everybody knows that David had an eye single to the glory of his country; that he is boiling over with economy; that so far as national interests are at stake, if a single improvement could be made in his mental organization, it would be by plucking a feather from the wings of his integrity and sticking it in the tail of his generosity; and yet Colfax, Packard, and others make the distance from Northern Indiana to the Capitol from eight to nine hundred miles shorter than did Turple. The trouble was doubtless with the arithmetic and not with David, but from one cause or another the calculation was wrong.

Davis, the great and costly Jefferson, travelled four thousand miles every time he came up to the Capitol, and charged us one thousand six hundred dollars for the trip. Revels, blacker, but more modest, living one hundred and fifty miles further away, cuts across the country a thousand miles nearer, and charges a thousand dollars less for the job. These figures are from the official records and challenge contradiction.

A CHEAP FILTER.—The Manufacturer and Builder gives the following directions for a simple filter to purify cistern water: Place on the perforated bottom of a box a piece of flannel, and on this some coarsely powdered charcoal, then coarse river sand, and cover the whole with sandstone broken into small pieces.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILLY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, JULY 1, 1870.

NEWSPAPERS.—The largest paper in the United States is the New York Independent, and it has also the largest advertising patronage of any weekly paper in the country. Its editor is the best paid of any editor of a periodical other than daily. The largest daily is either the New York Tribune or the New York Journal of Commerce; which, it is difficult to decide. The smallest is the Ithaca Leader, at Ithaca, N. Y. The New York Weekly and Bonner's Ledger have each more than three hundred thousand circulation, and exceed any others in the United States in this respect. Among the newspapers which are printed with news the New York Tribune and Pomeroy's Democrat have the greatest issue—about two hundred thousand each—but, on the contrary some newspapers in the South do not claim over one hundred and twenty.

The average circulation of a weekly in the Western States is about six hundred and fifty, in the South five hundred and fifty, and in the East nine hundred. There is a weekly country paper in Rhode Island, however, which has a circulation of seven thousand. There is one daily in New York which annually receives over eight hundred thousand dollars a year for advertisements, and there are two others which receive over four hundred thousand. The total number of newspapers is 5,319, out of which about five hundred and fifty are daily. Two hundred and fifty-eight German newspapers are printed in the United States and British Provinces, of which about one-quarter come from Pennsylvania; forty-eight are issued in French, fifteen in the Scandinavian languages, ten in Spanish, five in Dutch, four in Italian, three in Welsh, four in Bohemian, one in Russian and English, and one in Chinese and English. San Francisco has the greatest proportion of periodicals published in foreign languages, although the aggregate number is in this proportion reversed. New York has six German dailies, two French, and one Scandinavian, besides twenty-three in English. The highest salary paid to an editor in America is ten thousand a year; we would not dare to say how small the lowest is.

NEW VESSEL.—Messrs. Atkinson & Fillmore have just finished the barque Escort, which now lies at the head of City wharf, Newburyport, all rigged and complete with the exception of the bending of her sails. The length of the Escort is 143 feet, width 32 feet, depth 18 1-2 feet, and she measures 636 tons. She is of a very handsome model, has $5300 worth of fastenings, bilge bolted and copper fastened, and the agents of both the French and American Lloyds, after having thoroughly inspected every department of workmanship, speak of her in the highest terms, she being rated at the French Lloyds A1* ten years. She has been chartered by the Peabody line of Boston, and will go to Melbourne, Australia, with an assorted cargo, commanded by Capt. Joshua B. Nichols, of Searsport, Me., a young man full of energy and thoroughly master of his business. The Escort is owned by Messrs. Albert Currier, John B. Pritchard & Co., Capt. J. B. Nichols, J. H. Butler, of Nottingham, and others.

THE TIME TO CUT GRASS FOR HAY. As it is the stems, leaves and heads of grasses that are valuable rather than the seeds, it is for the interest of the farmer and for the health and the thrift of his farm stock to cut his grass for hay at the time it will yield the greatest amount of available nutriment. At what particular stage of growth this precise time is, is a point upon which farmers differ.

Plants at the time of flowering contain starch, gum, sugar and mucilage, all of which are readily digested in the stomach of cattle, sheep, horses, etc.; and these are all known to nourish them. In the promotion of the seed, the stem and leaves of our forage plants are greatly exhausted of these essential food products, and the great bulk which remains and is saved for fodder, is chiefly woody fibre, a less nutritive and a less easily digested substance.

As far as my observation extends, the advocates of cutting grass earlier than was the general practice years ago, are largely on the increase. The introduction of mowing machines, hay-tedders, horse-rakes and forks, and hay-caps, has very much expedited the ingathering of the hay crops. With the present scarcity of help and the high price of labor, it becomes farmers to make use of all labor-saving implements that will cheapen and hasten the securing in season of this important crop.—Levi Bartlett, in N. H. Statesman.

Robert Wiggin of Wolfeboro' planted dry corn on the 17th inst.; just two weeks from planting it measured thirteen inches in height.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

RURAL FELICITY.—During my boyhood—which took place some time ago—I used to hear a good deal of the delight of farming and the happy independence of the farmer; and not unfrequently the same themes are dwelt upon in these later days, by enthusiasts who dwell in cities. My ambition, when a boy, was to become a farmer when I grew up; now that I have grown up, my ambition does not point in that direction. I have weighed farming in the balance, and bound it mighty light weight.

It is very nice and invigorating, no doubt, to get up at 4 o'clock in the morning, and tramp around in wet grass, and get hooked by cows, and kicked by horses, and knocked over by pigs, and bitten by mosquitoes, and stung by hornets, and scratched by thorns, and sun-struck, and run over by mowing machines and patent horse rakes, and have to work hard; but I don't want to be invigorated by any such means. Farmers may be healthy and strong, but that is because the weak ones don't stand it a great while, and those that are left can't be used up any way.

I have tried farming, and speak from experience. A few evenings ago, the farmer's wife who takes care of me sent me out to weed the onion bed and to mow down some thorn bushes, while supper was being prepared; telling me that her husband had hoed between the rows of onions, and that I would find a scythe hanging on the fence. Through a defect in my botany, I pulled up all the onions in the bed, and left long rows of nice, lively pig-weed growing; and mowed down a fine hedge of arbor vitæ instead of the thorns.

Just as I cut down the last bush of the hedge, the scythe, owing to some cause I cannot explain, ran more than half its length into the ground. I pulled it out, was just going to straighten it, when I heard a loud buzzing, as of bumble-bees; and not desiring a conflict with such ferocious insects, I grabbed up the scythe and ran. But I was not destined to escape; the fiery bumble-bees caught me, and I was stung on the back of my neck, under the left eye, and on various parts of my body. After running three-quarters of a mile, I discovered that the bumble-bees' nest was sticking on the point of my scythe; so I dropped the implement and got clear at last.

I was called various names, the most flattering of which were "villain" and "scamp," for my industry; and my sufferings from the bumble-bees won me no sympathy. I have been in disgrace ever since; and next morning had to sew a button on my shirt, myself, as no one would do it for me. I was unable to make use of the miserable little button that came off the shirt, so I had to cut one off my trowsers, to put on in its place. It don't look very well. [I'll never sew another button on a shirt as long as I live—I'll get married first.]

Mental exertion is more exhausting than physical labor. So folks say. But I notice that many people prefer to do the former for a living, exhausting as it is. For instance; some months ago a gentleman sent me a note, offering to furnish me with a large amount of greenbacks of his own manufacture, each more genuine and undetectable than those coined at the mint, for a trifle of Uncle Sam's inferior issue. And one of our citizens who got bitten by a dog, immediately found a good Samaritan who wanted to prevent him from having hydrophobia, $25 worth. These gentlemen preferred mental to physical labor.

Since I became a farmer I have experienced mosquitoes. I have bathed my face and hands with camphor, pain killer and Hostetter's bitters, in hopes to keep them away, but the only result has been to make all the skin come off, and give the mosquitoes a better chance. I find spiders in my boots, and caterpillars roost on my shirt-collar and the rim of my hat. In addition to all this, I have twice been pursued and harassed by a green snake; my slumbers are constantly disturbed by an uproarious Shanghai; and only yesterday, while I was on my hands and knees in a field, drinking from a brook, an old ram made a cowardly and unprovoked attack upon me, in the rear, and drove my head into the mud in the middle of the ditch.

Farming would be well enough if there was no hard work, and no horses, bees, geese, mosquitoes, &c.; but all these drawbacks do exist, and if any man can find happiness amongst them, that man is not me. PAKEHA.

The U. S. House of Representatives defeated the report of the conference committee on the currency bill, Wednesday; it is said that the Senate will not vote for inflation.

Newslings.

The Republicans of the second Maine district have refused to re-nominate Hon. S. P. Morrill for Congress, although he had served but one term. Hon. Wm. P. Frye of Lewiston was nominated unanimously instead.

Mr. Fechter's trip to England is made for the purpose of bringing his family West, and to facilitate matters connected with his managerial career in Boston, which will begin Sept. 5th.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $13 50 @ $14 00; first quality $12 75 @ $13 25; second quality $11 50 @ $12?0; third quality $10 21 @$11 25; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $8 50 @ $10 00 ₱ cwt. (the final weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Brighton Hides 7c @ 7½c ₱ lb; Country Hides 6¼ @ 7c ₱ lb.

Brighton Tallow 6¼ @ 7c per lb; Country Tallow 6 @ 6½c ₱ lb.

Sheep and Lamb Skins $1 50 @ $2 00 each; Calf Skins 16 @ 17c ₱ lb.

The market this week for good Cattle has been quick, and the prices for the best grades are fully equal to those of last week. The quality of the Beeves was not so good, in comparison, as those of last week. The best Cattle sold at 14c ₱ lb, 30 per cent. shrink; a few very nice ones sold at 14½c. Most of the Maine Cattle sold for Beef. Nearly all were sold yesterday. Next week the market days at Brighton will be changed to Tuesday and Wednesday of each week, instead of Thursday as at present.

Store Cattle—Nearly all the small Cattle in a fair condition are bought up to slaughter. But a few Stores in market at this season of the year.

Working Oxen—The demand is not very active and a few pairs is all that the market requires. We quote sales at $135, $160, $175, $180, $225.

Milch Cows—Extra $85 @ $115; ordinary $50 @ $80; Store Cows $35 @ $55 ₱ head. Most of the Cows in market are of ordinary grade. But a few extra ones in market.

Sheep and Lambs—Most of the Sheep and Lambs were from the West and taken at a commission. A few Maine Lambs sold at $4 00 @ $4 02 ₱ head.

Swine—Store Pigs—Wholesale 10 @ 10½c ₱ lb; retail 12 @ 15c ₱ lb. Spring Pigs 17 @ 17½c ₱ lb.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Living Machine.

Injure the main spring of a watch, and every portion of the works become disordered. The human stomach is to the human system what that elastic piece of metal is to a chronometer. It influences the action of the other organs, and controls to a certain degree, the whole living machine. The comparison may be carried further, for as the weakness of other imperfections of the main spring is indicated on the face of the timepiece, so also is the weakness or other disorder of the stomach betrayed by the face of the invalid. The complexion is shallow or faded, the eyes are deficient in lustre and intelligence and there is a worn, anxious expression in the whole countenance which tell as plainly as written words could do, that the great nourishing organ whose office it is to minister to the wants of the body, and to sustain and renew all its parts, is not performing its duty.

It requires renovating and regulating, and to accomplish this end HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS may be truly said to be the one thing needful. The broken main spring of a watch may be replaced by a new one, but the stomach can only be repaired and strengthened, and this is one of the objects of the famous vegetable restorative which for eighteen years has been waging a successful contest with dyspepsia in all climates. As a specific for indigestion it stands alone. When the resources of the pharmacopœia have been exhausted, without at bad, doing more than mitigating the complaint, a course of these wholesome and palatable, yet powerful, stomachic effects a perfect and permanent cure. In all cases of dyspepsia the liver is more or less disordered, and upon this important gland, as well as upon the stomach and bowels, the Bitters act with singular distinctness, regulating and reinvigorating every secretive and assimilating organ on which bodily and mental health depend.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung diseases in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a tact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from any taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which lead the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Believe which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended a PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is now restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application.—Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

4th of July Excursion—Steamer Appledore.

☞ The time for the meeting of the Maine and New Hampshire Publishers at Rye Beach has been postponed to July 27 and 28.

☞ Schooner Freedom, Captain Poole, from Gloucester, ran ashore at Boone Island, Wednesday night. She may come off. The crew were rescued.

☞ There is a beautiful breeze every afternoon in the Lower Harbor which makes it delightful sailing. Tide serves right this week and next, to return home in the evening.

☞ Mr. W. I. Trafton has chartered the steamer Appledore for a moonlight excursion to the Isles of Shals on Friday evening, July 8th. Harlow's Marine Band has been engaged to go with the party.

ANOTHER BUSINESS CHANGE.—By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that Mr. E. A. Batchelder has disposed of his newspaper establishment in Congress Block, and is succeeded by a well known citizen of Portsmouth, Capt. Eben G. Adams, who requests and will receive a continuance of the patronage so long extended to his predecessors.

☞ Steamer Achilles, of and from Philadelphia, loaded with coal,—of which she carries about 1200 tons,—arrived at this port Wednesday morning, and discharged her cargo at the North End; three hoisting engines—two aboard the vessel and one on the wharf,—being employed for the purpose. The Achilles is of iron, with water-tight compartments, about 1000 tons burthen, is said to be very fast, and is of beautiful model. Her cargo goes over the Railroad.

☞ The Newburyport Herald of Thursday says the unfortunate man who was run over by the cars at that station on Wednesday, had his legs amputated but died the same evening. His name was said to be George Brown of Salem, Mass., but this is a mistake. No one knows who he is. He had but $8 upon his person and no ticket. He was about 45 years of age, 5 feet and 6 inches high, light complexion, dark hair and eyes and weighed about 140 pounds. He had a large mole on his left shoulder. He wore a suit of Harris' light mixed goods and a Panama hat.

OUR BRETHREN across the river seem to have slipped up on their calculations considerably, as far as the Congressional candidate was concerned, but have the advantage of martyrdom to carry with them as their war cry for the convention of 1872. Both sides must feel a little uneasy about the result; the defeated because of their defeat, the victors because of their mean victory, which was won by selfishness and force of numbers. We hope it has not been the means of creating dissensions that cannot be healed, or feuds that will be lasting. The plain facts of the case are that John Lynch did not deserve a renomination for a fourth term, and may, two years from now, claim with as much justice another re-election.

It is every man's privilege to have an honorable ambition; it is a true man's duty not to thrust himself on even a minority to whom he is obnoxious. Mr. Lynch would honor himself more by declining than accepting the nomination, but as we presume he cares more for the opportunity to make raids into the Republican ranks from New Hampshire than for harmony in the party, he will probably not think of declining. Meanwhile, we advise our friends to forget who the nominee is, vote for him, make a successful struggle for York county, and help keep the Congressional delegation from Maine a unit for the cause of right, liberty and justice. Patient waiters are no losers, and disappointment chasteneth and maketh people wiser and better—if they so regard it.

The REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL Convention of the 1st Maine District held at Saco on Wednesday, was presided over by Nathaniel Hobbs, Esq., of Lebanon. The resolution to make the nomination from York county was offered by Mr. Grant of Lebanon, who stated that his resolution was adopted that morning at a meeting of York County delegates.

Mr. Dame of Eliot declared that a large portion of the York County delegates knew nothing of it.

Mr. Bryant of Kennebunk advocated the resolution, and Judge Davis opposed it.

He moved to amend the motion of Mr. Grant by substituting a resolution to the effect that a congressional district is a unit, and that to allow local considerations to determine the selection of a congressional representative would be inimical to the interests of the party and country.

Mr. Grant advocated the claims of York County to the position in an urgent manner.

General Neal Dow of Portland advocated the claims of Mr. Lynch upon the ground of his experience and his ability to grapple with our financial and navigation questions.

H. H. Burbank of Limerick spoke in support of the Grant resolution, and advocated the nomination of some other man than Mr. Lynch. He warned the convention to look well to the prosperity of the party.

General Neal Dow deprecated the spirit displayed by those who threatened almost open secession in case a York County man should not be nominated, and hoped that these threats had been made without due deliberation.

Seth E. Bryant of Kennebunk spoke in opposition to General Dow and Judge Davis.

John E. Butler of Biddeford followed in favor of the Grant resolution. He declared that the whole question was whether the republicans of York County had any rights which those of Cumberland County were bound to respect.

At the conclusion of Mr. Butler's remarks, the vote was taken upon Judge Davis' amendment, which was generally understood to mean Mr. Lynch for Congress. The vote stood 156 yeas to 73 nays, and the amendment was declared carried. Mr. Sanborn of York then moved an adjournment for one hour.

Judge Davis opposed the motion and declared that the passage of the amendment decided that this is a convention of the district and that action by sections of this district would be unprecedented and unwise.

Mr. Sanborn then stated that if the adjournment could not be granted the York County men would take a recess any way.

General Dow followed in opposition to adjournment.

George C. Yeaton of South Berwick and H. H. Burbank spoke in favor of adjournment. The motion to adjourn was amended by substituting thirty minutes for one hour.

The vote upon adjourning for half an hour was carried. The meeting of the York County delegates was decidedly warm. John H. Burleigh of South Berwick presided. Speeches were made in favor of not going back into convention, or of going back and withdrawing, unless York County could have its rights.

A motion was made by Dr. Parker that the York County delegates return and demand the reconsideration of the Davis amendment, and withdraw in case of refusal. The motion was carried, with some opposition.

The half hour having expired the convention re-assembled, and C. J. Copeland, in behalf of the York County special convention, asked a withdrawal of the Davis amendment, which was refused. The name of Hon. R. F. Tapley as a candidate for representative was withdrawn by his friends.

At this stage some of the York County men seceded, and attempted to make the movement general among the York County delegates, but they failed.

The ballot was then taken and resulted as follows:—

Whole number of votes	189
Necessary to a choice	95
John Lynch	174
Mark F. Wentworth	6
J. M. Stone	5
N. G. Marshall	2
R. H. Tapley	1
George Goodwin	1

The count shows that 79 members of the convention did not vote at all.

The following district committee was appointed:—

Jason W. Bently, Saco; John Wentworth, Kittery; Jere M. Mason, Limerick; John F. Hull, Portland; Thomas Hancock, Gray; G. M. Stevens, Westbrook; O. B. Dike, Sebago.

RICHARDSON'S
LITTLE WASHER!
PRICE $5.00.
The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the First Premium over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!
☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bed-quilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.
More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:
Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.
MR. J. J. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.
MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success. MRS. L. E. MARTIN.
MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.
J. J. HATLINGER, Sole Agent for Portsmouth.
HEADQUARTERS AT PORTSMOUTH:—SWEETSER & CLARK'S, 46 Market Street; OXFORD & JOHNSTON'S, Grocers, 78 State St. and 521-2 Middle Street; and D. H. MONTGOMERY'S Music Store, Daniel St., where machines can be seen, and orders left for the Agent to call at houses to demonstrate its qualities. je18tf

Morning Chronicle.

HILLING CORN.—Thomas Meehan, an intelligent observer, and editor of the Gardener's Monthly, writes as follows to the Philadelphia Press:

"It is surprising that the barbarous old practice of hilling up corn should still find advocates and followers. After years of effort on the part of the intelligent portion of the agricultural and horticultural press, it is now pretty well understood that it will not do to continually plough and injure the surface roots of fruit trees in the orchard. But we have heard intelligent men say that though they would disturb an orchard as little as possible in this way, yet corn was quite another matter. But the laws which govern the nutrition of plants are pretty much the same all through. Roots love darkness, and yet wish to be as near as possible to the surface; and whether it is the root of an apple tree or the root of a cornstalk, makes no difference in the working of this law. If we plough deep and cut off the surface roots, the deeper ones are unable to reap any benefit from the atmosphere; and those covered by the soil ploughed over them are in just the same position. This is the science of the thing. But better than all this is the experience of those who have tried the matter by careful and intelligent experiments. So far as we know, every such test has resulted in favor of flat culture and against hilling up.

It is very fashionable to rail at 'mere theorists;' yet we believe that many of our absurdest practices have resulted in the most common-place theories, and that this is one of them. Some one probably noted the little rootlets coming out of the joints above the soil, and thought they wanted earth to cover them. Hilling was started in the theory that it was helping nature, or it may have originated with some lazy fellow who thought he would not hoe or harrow early, but wait a little longer, and then one good ploughing would do the whole job.

However, no matter how it originated, it is an unmistakeable bad practice, and should be left to go the way of many absurd things."

HOW TO MAKE CUTTINGS GROW.—It has been ascertained that a cutting will develop roots much sooner in moist sand than in rich soil. But the sand cannot maintain its growth for any length of time. To prepare pots for raising cuttings, they should be filled nearly to the brim with rich garden loam—dark and porous, not clayey and soggy; then pour in one inch in depth of scouring sand—sea sand will do as well as the yellow sand. Wet this thoroughly, and place the cutting, from which all but three or four upper leaves have been removed, close to the side of the pot; the contact of the ware against the stem of the cutting promotes its growth. Press the wet sand firmly around the tiny stem. A great deal of your chance for success in raising slips or cuttings depends upon this.

Plant as many cuttings as the pot will hold, from six to a dozen, according to the size of your pot; when they are firmly set in the sand, two or three can be inserted in the middle of the pot. Set them away in a dark warm place for 24 or 36 hours. Thus, cuttings will grow quickly in a hot bed, because the temperature is not dry. Their growth depends a great deal upon light, heat and moisture. If a bud is close at the base of a cutting it will strike root more easily—it is not so apt to decay. The roots shoot from a bud, and the lower down it is the surer your success. When the leaves drop, the plant is commencing to grow; if they wither on the stem, it has begun to decay. By following these directions no one can fail to grow all kinds of house plants. Roses and all the rarest flowers of the green-houses are propagated in this manner.—N. E. Farmer.

THE FLOWER GARDEN.—The Gardener's Monthly for June, has an article on this subject, from which we make an extract; "Towards the end of June propagation by budding commences. This is very commonly employed with the rose; but ornamental trees and shrubs may be increased in the same way. Closely allied species must be chosen to work together.

Bulbous roots, when done flowering, and the leaves have faded, should be taken up and dried, mixed with chaff, or other light loose material, placed in paper bags and stowed away in a dry place till fall.

Dahlias should not flower early. Keep them growing till fall, when they will flower finely.

Propagation by layering may be performed any time when strong, vigorous growing shoots can be had. Any plant can be propagated by layers. Many can be readily propagated no other way. Cut a notch on the upper side of the shoot, not below, as all the books recommend, and bend down into, and cover with rich soil. In a few weeks they root and can be removed

THE COMING WEATHER.—In a communication to the Lebanon Free Press, Mr. William B. Leavitt, the weather-wise man of Grantham, prognosticates as follows:—

The next three months will not produce so steady heat as it has been since the first of June. The atmosphere will be more fluctuating, and barometrical changes more sudden and varied, as may be seen by the graduated scale. The thermometer also will be more fluctuating. We shall experience much of the red ray, which will cause intense heat. The violet ray is magnetic, and will cause electricity to be active, which will bring much thunder and lightning; in many sections terrible hail showers. August will be more checkered and variable than July.

BONE AND CROCKERY DUST FOR HENS.—A contributor to one of our exchanges has been experimenting to find how much of this material his hens will consume. He says: "A flock of hens confined in a small yard and fed on wheat, bran, corn and oats, ate during each day in two weeks' time, an average of half an ounce per hen of pounded bones and china ware in equal proportions. Only one-third of the hens were laying at the time, and it is commonly supposed that laying hens require more than others.

Now if they would continue to consume such material at this rate the year round, it would require between eleven and twelve pounds to supply each hen during the year. Supposing ten pounds per hen to be sufficient, and you have a flock of ten hens, you will have to provide them with eight and one-third pounds per month. Now just stop and think a moment. Is that amount accessible to them, and in condition for them to make use of it? Let it not be in large fragments of crockery and china-ware, and great pieces of bones and whole oysters or mussel shells, but have all these pounded up in small bits so the fowls can eat them easily, and if your ten hens do not put away one hundred pounds in the course of a year, supposing, of course, they can get some but what you give them, they must have some other kind of gizzard or be in some other way very differently constituted from hens in this region.

HE THOUGHT HE'D WADE.—It was election day, and Grimes having assisted on the occasion by the deposit of his vote and the absorption of as much old rye as he could walk under, started with two of his neighbors who were in the same state of elevation, to make their way home. They had to cross the Wissahickon creek by a foot bridge constructed by a single log thrown across, and hewn flat on the upper side, but without any hand rail to aid in the transit. There would have been no difficulty with a clear head and steady legs in crossing, but with our party it was felt to be not devoid of difficulties under the existing circumstances. However, the creek must be crossed. Grimes' friend took the lead, and with much swinging of arms and contortion of the body, reached the farther side. It was now Grimes' turn to face the music, and making a bold start, he succeeded in getting about one-third of the way over, when a loud splash announced that he was overboard. Emerging from the water, it being about up to his breast, he quietly said, as if his course was the result of mature deliberation: "I guess I'll wade!"

HOW TO PREPARE BONES.—With a sledge hammer break the bone into pieces of one, two or three inches; take a hogshead tub, and put in two or three inches of hardwood ashes, the depth of the bones, then ashes and bones until full; pound or dress solid as convenient; fill with water or urine, all that it will absorb. If done in the spring or summer, by the spring it will show not one fully decomposed, the bone being soft as chalk. Then add all your hen manure, shovel and rake it over once a week, for three or four weeks before planting time; by that time it will be finely powdered. Put about equal to a handful of compost into a hill for corn, potatoes, squashes, melons, etc., when will be it found to forward the crops to a wonderful degree.—Southern Farmer.

DUPONCO'S GOLDEN PILL, FOR FEMALES.

Infallible in correcting irregularities, and removing obstructions of the monthly periods. It is over forty years since these now so well known pills were first brought to notice by Dr. Duponco, of Paris, during which time they have been extensively and successfully used by some of the leading physicians, with unparalleled success. Ladies in poor health, either married or single, suffering from any of the Complaints peculiar to Females, will find the Duponco Golden Pills invaluable, viz., General Debility, Headache, Dainness, Loss of Appetite, Mental Depression, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Pain in the Loins, Bearing-down Pains, Palpitation of the Heart, Retained, Excessive, Irregular or Painful Menstruation, Rush of Blood to Head, Dizziness, Dimness of Sight, Fatigue on any slight exertion, and particularly that most annoying, weakening ailment, so common among Females, both married and single, the Leucorrhœa or Whites. Females in every period of life will find Duponco's Pills a remedy to aid nature in the discharge of its functions. They invigorate the debilitated and delicate, and by regulating and strengthening the system, prepare the youthful constitution for the duties of life, and when taken by those in middle life or old age they prove a perfect blessing. There is nothing in the pills that can do injury to life or health. Safe in their operation, perpetual in their happy influences upon the Nerves, the Mind and the entire organization.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS. — Could the number of persons killed, since the first construction of our Railroads, by what are called railroad accidents, be correctly computed, it would astonish everybody. And the number wounded and maimed for life is doubtless tenfold more than the number of deaths. Various are the causes of the latter. Some may truly be called accidents, as they could not be foreseen. But most of the destruction of human life, and broken limbs, must be attributed to carlessness, defects in the road, and cars, collisions, and the want of a proper supervision by competent officers. These corporations, having no souls, of course regardnot the loss of life, so much as the payment of damage to which they are sometimes subjected. But the damage is no benefit to the person killed, and is not an adequate atonement for broken limbs. People have little or no fears in travelling in the cars, yet many are terrified by thunder and lightning, although more than twenty—perhaps forty—times as many persons are killed by Railroad accidents as by the lightning bolts from the clouds.

We hear of few railroad accidents in England, because there is a judicious system, under proper supervision, and safeguard laws. Surely it is high time that our Congress should adopt some wise measures for the safety of human life, wherever railroads are constructed in the Union, with Supervisors or other officers vested with sufficient authority in every State over the roads and their equipments. To frame an act, which would be an adequate safeguard against the dangers and evils now endured, would require much reflection. H. S.

A. P. Welcome of Newport lately sheared a sheep whose fleece weighs 17 1-2 lbs., it being precisely one year's growth.

On the 25th, in Keene, the barn of Ashley Mason was struck by lightning and burned, with his dwelling-house attached. The contents of the house were mostly saved. Loss about $2500; insured for $1100 in the Farmers' Company. A valuable horse in the barn, belonging to Allen Clapp of Manchester, was killed by the lightning.

WINE SHOPS.—The following from Dickens is to the point, and he had a good opportunity of knowing whereof he speaks:

The wine shops are the colleges and chapels of the poor in France. History, morals, politics, jurisprudence and literature, iniquitous forms, are all taught in these colleges and chapels, where professors of evil continually deliver those lessons, and where hymns are sung nightly to the demons of demoralization. In these haunts of the poor, theft is taught as the morality of property, falsehood as speech and assassination as the justice of the people. It is in the wine shop the cabman is taught to think it heroic to shoot the middle class man who disputes his fares. It is in the wine shop the workman is taught to admire the man who stabs his faithless mistress. It is in the wine shop the doom is pronounced of the employer who lowers the pay of employed. The wine shops breed, in a physical atmosphere of malaria, and a moral pestilence of envy and vengeance, the men of crime and revolution. Hunger is proverbially a bad counsellor, but drink is worse.

STOCK FARMING.—Gen. Capron, Commissioner of Agriculture, in his forthcoming report, says:—"The tendency of present prices of farm products indicates the necessity of increased attention to the propagation, growing and fattening of farm animals, and production of meats, poultry, butter, cheese, milk, and various other animal products, while the prevalence of special cropping upon a depleting and exhaustive system, enforces urgently the appeal for a mixed husbandry based upon stock growing."

NAVAL.—U. S. S. Plymouth, from this port, arrived at New York on Wednesday. Capt. W. H. Macomb has been detached and is ordered for examination for promotion.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary passages, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, mortbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of action in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

TESTIMONY.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold, Sir,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and it gives me pleasure to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonderfully. A man in our county, named J. B. Smith, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

And many others if necessary.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the boasted advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to be worthy effect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unmeasurable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,
D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion of Helmbold's Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.
August 11, 1865.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unnanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Inclosed please find our rates of advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know how hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse in last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had madeup my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing the work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. This was for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud dauber's nest, and as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time, so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD,

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Corner of 5th av. and 19th St., Central Park.
(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles gave of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from ignorance than from habit, may be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it is a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it was recommended to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting with a leading Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to delay, and see if it would effect a permanent cure; feeling that it would be of greater value to you and your patrons than now.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not suffered any pain for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste or odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

M. McCORMICK.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,
FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,
Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but thorough purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it know for that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting other disorders they cause such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these PILLS rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. And when feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawje3eodsm

N. H. Legislature.

The Senate, on Wednesday, passed the bill extending the charter of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

The House passed the bill allowing the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad to change its route from Union Village to Brookfield and Wolfeborough.

The bill to constitute the town of Harrisonville from parts of Dublin and Nelson was passed.

On Thursday, the bill to incorporate the Exeter Railroad, which was previously amended and passed by the Senate, was passed in concurrence.

A bill to incorporate the Exeter Horse Railroad was passed.

The Committee on Agriculture reported by majority, recommending the indefinite postponement of the Senate bill for the repeal of the law in relation to the measurement of milk. By minority, in favor of a repeal of the law.

Mr. Ballou of Weare moved the substitution of the minority report for that of the majority.

After a long discussion, participated in by Messrs. Wyatt of Dover, Hodgman of Bedford, Kidder of Manchester, Brown of Hill, Cummings of Concord, Ballou of Weare, Hunt of Charlestown, Trickey of Dover, Collins of Marlborough, Wilson of Keene, Mason of Sullivan, Sweeny of Londonderry, Hill of Windham, Miller of Portsmouth, Woodward of Concord, Locke of Portsmouth, French of Hopkinton, and Dustin of Peterborough, a division was called for, which resulted in yeas 77, nays, 151, and Mr. Ballou's motion was lost and the resolution of the commitee agreed to.

The select committee appointed to investigate the late transactions of the Concord and Northern Railroads, made their reports. Seven of the committee sustained the "business contract" between those roads, and recommended its approval by the Legislature, and severely condemned the "ring" for the use of Savings Bank funds in the purchase of stock to gain control of the Concord Railroad.

The minority report, signed by D. H. Hill, J. W. Busiel and Lorenzo Farr, condemned the course of the "ring" in the matter, but thought it inexpedient to legislate in regard to the contract.

An evening session was held at which these reports were fully discussed.

The evening session was a very exciting one. Messrs. Adams of Manchester, Lang of Orford, Hill of Sandwich, Holt of Manchester, Walker and Miller of Portsmouth, Cummings of Concord, Ramsdell of Nashua, Putnam of Warren and others participated in the debate. A motion to postpone the matter to next legislature was rejected, 187 to 107, and a motion to adjourn was defeated, 209 to 88. The bill was then passed and at half past 12 o'clock the House adjourned.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

FASHION A TYRANT—WATERFALLS, &c.—Of all the fashions ever adopted in this part of the Union, that of ladies sticking waterfalls on the back of their heads is the most supremely ridiculous, disgusting, offensive and injurious to the head. These waterfalls, (other names are given to them) are made of bark peelings, hair of dead persons, tails of horses, cows or oxen, or any kind of hair which can be procured by manufacturers. They often contract parasistic vermin, as has been proved. It would be strange that they should not, as those minute insects or bugs naturally seek warm places, and feed upon the head.

These bunches stuck upon the back and neck, with only a pretence of a bonnet on the top of the cranium, are far from being ornamental. The lower end of a dog's tail, the other end concealed in the hair, would not be more ridiculous than a waterfall. Nature has given to females handsome long hair. Why do they wish to conceal it, under the described clotted bunch!

We allude to another fashion almost equally detestable,—that of wire hoops. Women who are not well formed, may not be censurable for advocating hoops, because then their external appearance may resemble that of well formed ladies who also wear them. Now we deny that the figure of a lady, well formed by nature, can be rendered more beautiful by hoops. Why should she wish to disguise the beautiful form given her by the God of nature? We have heard of hoops made of wood being worn by females a century ago; but being encountered by ridicule, they soon went out of fashion, and we think that wire hoops will soon meet a similar fate. A handsome woman needs no ornaments. "Beauty when unadorned, is adorned the most!"

CONGRESS.—The Senate on Thursday rejected the treaty for the annexation of San Domingo, the vote standing 28 to 28. The House bill regulating the fur-seal fisheries was passed. Progress was made on the tax-tariff bill, the rates for Bessemer steel and iron being reduced.

The House sent the Indian appropriation bill to a conference committee, and spent the remainder of the session considering the funding bill of Mr. Schenck.

THE DOUBLE TEAM RACE over the Fashion course, Wednesday, for a purse of $2000, mile heats, best three in five, was won by Jessie Wales and Darkness, in three straight heats, beating Honest Allen and Belle Strickland, and Kirkwood and Medoc. Time, 2:32 3-4, 2:31 1-2, 2:31 3-4.

IT IS NO WONDER that invalids lose faith in all specifics, when so many worthless medicines are advertised for the cure of various diseases; but which, when tried, are "found wanting." We have yet to learn, however, of the first failure of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, to cure coughs, colds, and pulmonary disease.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY is no Patent medicine humbug, gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, nor is it represented as being "composed of rare and precious substances, brought from the four corners of the earth, carried seven times across the Great Desert of Sahara, on the backs of fourteen camels, and brought across the Atlantic Ocean on two ships." It is a mild soothing pleasant Remedy, a perfect Specific for Chronic Nasal Catarrh, "Cold in the head," and kindred diseases. The proprietor, R. V. Pierce, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y., (whose private Government Stamp is on every package of the Genuine,) offers a reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh he cannot cure. For sale by druggists. Sent by mail, postpaid, for sixty cents. Address the proprietor as above. je27ToThSa

At 2½ and 8 o'clock, Afternoon and Evening.

BAILEY'S & CO.

FAMOUS

MENAGERIE.

THE LARGEST, OLDEST, MOST ATTRACTIVE, AND UNOBJECTIONABLE PAVILION ENTERTAINMENT IN THE WORLD!

240 MEN AND HORSES!

Now on its 22nd annual tour; after an absence of four years it will revisit and exhibit in this place as above stated.

Among its manifold attractions is a Monster

RHINOCEROS.

"He, fearless, walks the plains, or seeks the hills;
Where, as he crops his varied fare, the herds
In wondering circle round forget their food,
And at the awful monster wondering gaze."

African hunters assert they had rather face

FIFTY LIVING LIONS!

Than this enraged monster.

Herds of Dromedaries!

—AND A—

MAN-EATING TIGRESS!

The Proprietor is pleased to announce that he can present to his patrons the rarest, the most amusing and instructive sight ever beheld in a Menagerie.

FOUR

LITTLE BABY LIONS!

They were born last month, are as playful and harmless as kittens, and at the afternoon exhibitions will be taken from the lioness' cage and carried among the audience, and the ladies and children will be permitted to hold them. More than 30,000 Children

have visited these nursing lions during the past three weeks. Included in the collection of wild animals are the following:—

A Polar Bear, direct from the North Ocean; A Brown Guanaco—new variety of Llama; The Sacred Cattle, Bengal Tigers, Black Maned Lions, White Bears, Laughing Hyenas, Brazilian Jaguars, Senegal Leopards, South American Guanacos, Gazelles, Panthers, Emues, Camels, Grizzly Bears, Zebu or Sacred Ox, Buffaloes, Black Wolves, Black Bears, Alpine Goat, Llamas, Dromedaries, Bisons, Axis, Deer, Wild Hogs, Swine, Striped Hyenas, Tapirs, Quagga, Zebras, Eagles, Peccaries, Vultures, Monkeys, Apes, Baboons, etc., and beautiful birds from all parts of the world.

There will also be introduced

3 Performing Elephants!

"——wisest of brutes;"
Oh, truly wise; with gentle might endowed;
Tho' powerful, not destructive.

Our aim being to "please the people" and suit ALL TASTES, we have engaged

Sig. SEBASTIAN'S

ELEGANT

which has long been accounted the

MOST FAULTLESS CIRCUS TROUPE IN EUROPE,

accompanied by many of the best artists obtainable in this country. We do not travel by railroad, as many small concerns are obliged to, but with a working force of 240 Men and Horses we move over the country as an "army with banners"—with golden chariots, with elephants from distant India, with droves of camels from Egypt's ancient plains, and a long line of massive animal cages filled with denizens from the forests of Ceylon, the dreary wastes of Nova Zembla, and from the banks of the sacred Ganges and the classic Nile, truly presenting a ROYAL RETINUE of Oriental splendor and magnificence, as they pass over the land.

"Menagerie Levees"

are held one hour before the Circus commences, and ample time is allowed all leisurely to inspect the Wild Animals and Beautiful Birds before the Circus entertainment commences. Wither's Regimental Band will be present to enliven the occasion with their choicest music.

OBSERVE, READ AND REMEMBER!

The Circus and Menagerie constitute distinct exhibitions, one ticket and one price admits to BOTH Circus and Menagerie.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Living Machine.

Injure the main spring of a watch, and every portion of the works become disordered. The human stomach is to the human system what that elastic piece of metal is to a chronometer. It influences the action of the other organs, and controls to a certain degree, the whole living machine. The comparison may be carried further, for as the weakness of other imperfections of the main spring is indicated on the face of the timepiece, so also is the weakness or other disorder of the stomach betrayed by the face of the invalid. The complexion is shallow or faded, the eyes are deficient in lustre and intelligence, and there is a worn, anxious expression in the whole countenance which tell as plainly as written words could do, that the great nourishing organ whose office it is to minister to the wants of the body, and to sustain and renew all its parts, is not performing its duty.

It requires renovating and regulating, and to accomplish this end HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS may be truly said to be the one thing needful. The broken main spring of a watch may be replaced by a new one, but the stomach can only be repaired and strengthened, and this is one of the objects of the famous vegetable restorative which for eighteen years has been waging a successful contest with dyspepsia in all climates. As a specific for indigestion it stands alone. When the resources of the pharmacopœia have been exhausted, without, at best, doing more than mitigating the complaint, a course of these wholesome and palatable, yet powerful, stomachic effects a perfect and permanent cure. In all cases of dyspepsia the liver is more or less disordered, and upon this important gland, as well as upon the stomach and bowels, the Bitters act with singular distinctness, regulating and reinvigorating every secretive and assimilating organ on which bodily and mental health depend.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a test. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and he can speak from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT in the house, you never need fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 22 years since I have put up my Liniment, and never heard of a child dying of Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Swellings, Mumps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores and Pains in the Limbs, Back, Chest. No one who once tries it is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers in the United States. A RADICAL REVOLUTION

Has been accomplished in hair dyes. The horrible compounds containing LEAD, SALT and SULPHUR are discarded. The leading chemists implore the public not to use them, and Professor Chilton, whose reputation is second to that of no analytic chemist in America, has recommended

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

a PERFECTLY INNOCUOUS ARTICLE, which may be used without fear. Remember, it is the only one that has been analyzed and found wholesome. Its effects are instantaneous, and the color it imparts natural.

TO THE SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

ROCKINGHAM, ss. SARAH A. TOWNSEND of Portsmouth in said County, brings this her libel against JOHN E. TOWNSEND of said Portsmouth, and states that she was lawfully married to said John at Newburyport, in the State of Massachusetts, by a then settled Clergyman of that city, on the twenty-eighth day of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and fifty-two, and has ever since conducted herself as a chaste and faithful wife.

That she and her husband came to said Portsmouth to reside in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-four, and have since resided there, and where she now resides.

That her said husband, said JOHN E. TOWNSEND, has willing absented himself from this libellant for three years together, without making suitable provisions for her support and maintenance, which said abandonment has continued down to the filing of this libel, and commencing in March, A. D. 1867.

Wherefore she prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony existing between said John and herself may be decreed—and that the custody of Arthur Everett Townsend, her child, an infant of tender years, who has been supported solely by her, during said period referred to above, may be decreed to her. SARAH A. TOWNSEND.

In the Supreme Judicial Court.

Rockingham, ss. June Law Term, 1870. This libel having been filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court and entered at this term. It is ordered that said SARAH A. TOWNSEND notify the said JOHN E. TOWNSEND to appear at an adjourned Law Term of said Court, to be held at Manchester on the eleventh day of August next, then and there show cause, if any he has, why the prayer thereof should not be granted, by causing a true and attested copy of said libel and this order thereon to be published once a week for three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed in Portsmouth in said County of Rockingham, the last publication whereof to be at least thirty days before said term.

Attest, C. G. CONNER, Clerk.

A true copy of the original libel, and of the original order thereon.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

A Column of Advertisements on 4th page, from Advertising Agency, Geo. P. Rowell & Co., N. Y.

☞ The Yacht Swan, owned by our worthy Postmaster, made her appearance in the lower harbor Friday afternoon.

☞ Harlow's Marine Band gave another of their popular concerts at Spring Hill, Friday evening. A large crowd was in attendance.

☞ The indications are that Capt. Baker will take out a nice party to the Shoals on the Fourth. Fare only 50 cents for the trip. Cheap enough.

☞ The fire laddies are indignant over the defeat of the proposed amendment of the charter of the Portsmouth Aqueduct Company, in the legislature.

☞ Rev. James DeNormandie will preach a Fourth of July sermon upon "the Law of Liberty and the dangers of its violation" at the vesper service to-morrow.

CONCORD & PORTSMOUTH RAILROAD. The dividends on the stock in this corporation due persons in this city will be paid at the office of William H. Hackett on Thursday next.

☞ Mr. Wendell will offer for sale by public Auction, on the premises, at 12 o'clock, noon, this day (Saturday,) the Brick Store No. 24 Bow Street, with the Wharf and privilege, formerly occupied by the late Peter Jenness.

BAILEY'S MENAGERIE AND CIRCUS is advertised to appear here July 11th. Full particulars of the attractions offered will be found in another column. The show is one of the largest travelling, and will be remembered by many of our citizens, having appeared here about four years ago, when it was well received and largely patronized, and gave general satisfaction.

☞ The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the Middle St. Baptist Church, Rev. Wm. H. Alden, pastor, to-morrow, at the close of the forenoon service.

The Pearl street Baptist, and the Court street Christian Baptist, with the Methodist will unite in the same ordinance at Noble's Island on the same day, at 1 3-4 o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Adams, will also administer the same rite in the North Church, in the forenoon, to eleven candidates.

SOMETHING NEW.—The Patentees and proprietors of the celebrated "Gem Churn" are stopping at the Franklin House in this city and will give daily evening exhibitions demonstrating the principles connected with the manufacture of butter. Any one wishing to see good butter manufactured in a brief period of time can do so by visiting the Franklin House at 7 1-2 o'clock this evening. We shall call the attention of the people to it again. Go and see for yourselves and be satisfied that it is just what the proprietors claim for it.

NARROW ESCAPE.—As the schooner E. Segur, Capt. Grogan, sailed from this port on Thursday, when about seven miles outside Whale's Back, Mr. Wm. Tindall of this city, was employed putting a new painter in the boat swung at the stern davits; one of the davits broke, striking Mr. Tindall on the head, completely stunning him, letting the bow of the boat down, and precipitating him into the sea. The plunge in the water seemed to revive him, and with great presence of mind he seized the boat's painter, and held on for ten minutes, until the vessel,—going at the rate of 7 or 8 knots—could be brought too, when he was rescued. Mr. T. was brought to his home, and will be confined a week or two by the injuries received.

☞ For amusements, Monday, the Antiques and Horribles will parade in the morning, and a tub race on the South Millpond will come off during the forenoon; and in the afternoon there are to be three horse races (and good ones too, judging from the horses entered,) at the Trotting Park, a special train to accommodate visitors to the grounds starting from the Concord depot at 2 o'clock. For those who feel inclined to be aquatic, the steamer Appledore will make a special trip to the Shoals, startling at half-past 1 o'clock, P. M., taking passengers at 50 cents for the round trip. The little boat travels finely since her propeller has been changed, running more smoothly and at higher speed than she did last year; and her passenger accommodation has been much increased and improved.

There will also be a base ball match at the Plains, between the Lazy Club of Rochester and the Granite State of this city.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Thursday evening, the Mayor and six Aldermen were present, the absentees being Ald. Pendexter and Miller.

Relay of sidewalk of heirs John B. Haley on Richards Avenue and sidewalk for T. J. Sheldon on Langdon Street were granted.

Leave to encumber streets for building purposes was granted to J. M. Edmunds on Congress Street and the North Church Society on Middle and Warren Streets.

The petition of John W. Stavers for a license for a bowling alley in the Temple, and the subject of licensing billiard tables and bowling alleys were referred to Finance Committee.

William H. Lowell was appointed Engineer of S. F. Engine Cos. and Wm. Gardner, Fireman.

The Superintendent of City Hearse was authorized to put the hearses in the engine house on Pleasant Street.

An Ordinance regulating trucks, job wagons, furniture wagons and hacks was introduced and referred to the Committee on 2d Reading of Bills. It forbids their standing on Market Street and authorizes them to stand near the North Church.

Petition of J. F. Adams for permission to build a tomb in Cotton's Burying Yard was referred to the Committee on Burying Grounds.

Voted to locate a gas post near the Court House.

A profile of the grade of Union Street was accepted and sent to the Common Council.

The Mayor and Committee on Police presented a report of the evidence in the case of the Police Officers complained of for receiving money from a prisoner.

EDITORIAL CONVENTION.—On account of Dartmouth Commencement, and to secure the attendance of several Members of Congress from this and other States, and also prominent gentlemen of the quill, who are detained at Washington during the session—the Committee of Arrangements for the New Hampshire and Maine Editors' Convention at Rye Beach, announce a postponement to July 27th and 28th, Wednesday and Thursday.

The party will stop at the North Hampton station on the Eastern Railroad, proceed thence in carriages to the Ocean House at Rye Beach, and spend the day there. Next morning, if practicable, proceed to the Sagamore House, and take steamer for the Shoals; returning to Portsmouth in season for the afternoon trains home, although it is proposed to have Railroad tickets good until the next Monday. All the Maine and New Hampshire editors, and many from Massachusetts, Vermont, and the other New England States, New York and elsewhere, are expected; and the occasion promises to be an event unique in the history of the fraternity. Messrs. Job Jenness & Son, the famous hotel-keepers, will entertain a large number of distinguished guests at the Ocean House.

☞ Three small boys were drowned in Manchester while bathing, Thursday afternoon. One of them, named Francis Ivers, was five years old. Another, James Savage, was seven and one-half years of age. The third was named E. Bertie Lawrence and was eight and a half years of age.

Commodore A. M. Pennock relieved Rear Admiral Winslow as Commandant of this Station on Friday, receiving the usual salute. He was serenaded at the Rockingham House, Thursday evening by the Post Band.

☞ The heavy shower of Thursday evening caught hundreds of people napping, and awnings and doorways gave them partial shelter for an hour or more. Friday was delightfully cool.

☞ During the past week, the sewer on Congress Street has been extended from Chestnut to Fleet Street, under the supervision of Street Commissioner Ham.

RICHARDSON'S
LITTLE WASHER!
PRICE $5.00.
The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!
☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; Its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bedquilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.
More than twenty thousand families in New England alone, have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:
Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.
MR. J. J. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.
MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success.
MRS. L. E. MARTIN.
MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. H. W. WEBSTER.
J. J. HATLINGER, Sole Agent for Portsmouth.
HEADQUARTERS AT PORTSMOUTH:—SWEETSER & CLARK'S, 46 Market Street; OXFORD & JOHNSTON'S, Grocers, 78 State St. and 52 1-2 Middle Street; and D. H. MONTGOMERY'S Music Store, Daniel St., where machines can be seen, and orders left for the Agent to call at houses to demonstrate its qualities. je16tf

RESUMPTION OF SPECIE PAYMENTS. Gold and silver is the only currency authorized by the Federal Constitution. When Congress passed an act making green backs and other securities a legal tender in payment of debts, it exceeded its lawful authority. But the act was justified from the necessity of the crisis,—a necessity, which overrides all law. Had the rebellion been successful, the Constitution would have been a dead letter. Money is the sinews of war, and the illegal paper currency answered the ends intended. As we are now at peace, that necessity is removed, and the public welfare requires a speedy return to the Constitutional currency. No valid objection can be raised against it by the powerful combined opposition, actuated by mercenary motives, to increase their wealth by impoverishing the people. Business and trade will remain unsettled and in a fluctuating state, in respect to prices, until resumption takes place, and then there will be one currency of equal value. When resumption takes place there will be a general jubilee throughout the country, except at "the corrupt city"—the modern Babylon.

Nearly one half of our specie has been exported to foreign countries, chiefly to England, to purchase merchandise, which can be manufactured now in our own country, and this prevents the export of specie, under a wise tariff. But our present object is to examine some of the positions of the able speech of Senator Patterson, delivered in the U. S. Senate on the 24th of February. He says:—

"Our national debt and depreciated currency have bred a swarm of financial empyrics, as serviceable and numerous as the locusts of Egypt. The gold and stock-gamblers, from the magnate of the banking-house to the lackey of the gold room and exchange, believe the technical slang banded by the unscrupulous fanatics of Broad street to be the language of profound knowledge, and affect to despise as impracticable dreamers the men who could apply to the tangled web of our monetary affairs the principles which have been established by centuries of study and experience.

Originally, money was designed as a medium of exchange, and as such its theory is very simple and easily understood. Nothing can permanently discharge the functions of a circulating medium which has not either an intrinsic or an exchangeable market value at par. Wealth in gold and silver has a form which neither time nor the misfortunes of government can destroy, for having a natural and universal value, it will survive the mutations of institutions and peoples, and be exchangeable when they have passed away. The specie is its own security, and only introduced a more convenient and potent system of barter. On the other hand, a paper circulation brings between the exchanges a mere promise, exposed to all the frailties of human nature, and all the fluctuations and uncertainties of human fortune.

No legislation, no financial expedients will bring the industry and trade of the country to their normal condition and restore our old time prosperity so long as we fail to bring our currency to the basis of gold. Gold and silver, or paper convertible at pleasure into these at par, constitute a sound currency. Such a circulation has a natural and absolute limit.

Paper money is a cunning engine in the hands of capital, by which it may suck up invisibly the profits of industry and transform the yeomanry of a country into a nation of beggars! This remark is applicable to our national banking system, and the holders of over a billion of property in bonds held in the United States, exempted from taxation. A restriction of paper within the limits of convertibility is indispensible to the welfare of labor. We can never get back to the old and healthy ways of business till we return to a specie basis! This certainly is true. Let us come to that golden epoch, and establish a system of free banks upon a coin basis and we shall have a circulation which will adjust itself to the demands of trade by a law as natural and irresistable as gravitation."

By an improved condition of our financial affairs, the importers, gold-gamblers and speculators of the "corrupt city" and the bondholders, and bank stockholders throughout the country would fret and grumble, but they could not control the general voice of the people. All upright business men and even many capitalists, from motives of interest, would uphold such a new banking system, as it would promote the national prosperity. We have become a great, powerful, and wealthy nation with inexhaustible resources, and gold constantly flowing in from our mines.

If four hundred million of our specie has been exported to Europe, we have as much more left in the public treasury and all other parts of the country. Two hundred millions properly distributed in banks, if we can rely upon experience under the former free banking system, would be sufficient to maintain a convertable paper currency of three times that amount. But "timeo Danaos aurum ferentes!" A million, or at least half a million of gold could be raised in a day in New York to prevent immediate resumption, provided any considerable number of the members of Congress would be willing to receive such a donation.

If Congress will not authorize an immediate return to resumption of specie payments, Senator Patterson alludes to another scheme of continuing a paper currency. But our enlightened people will submit to no half-way measure tending to enrich capitalists, and speculators. X.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.—At a meeting called to consider the matter, on Wednesday last, at Concord, the County Convention voted to authorize the Commissioners to buy a wood lot for the use of the County, if they deem advisable. In answer to previous instructions from the Convention, the Commissioners reported that there are three lots near the Farm which they can purchase, and either of which they think would be a saving to the County, as the cost of wood last year was more than $1200. One of these is the Ladd farm, so called, which was at one time talked of for the County Farm, and which with a new barn, can now be bought for $5500; and which contains a large quantity of wood and timber, besides mowing and tillage land, and good buildings. As a barn and other buildings are to be built for the County, and this farm will supply lumber for these and for fencing, &c., it was thought the Commissioners would probably select this Ladd property; as the other lots were simply wood lots—one the Lawrence lot of 40 acres at $20 per acre, and the other about the same size at $25 per acre. The Commissioners were empowered to purchase either of the three.

The Convention voted unanimously to reconsider their vote of a previous meeting, leaving the settlement of the dispute between their building committee and the contractors, in the charge of said committee and the Commissioners—and voted to relieve said committee from further duty, and to direct them to turn over to the Commissioners all County documents in their hands. A vote of thanks was passed to the Committee for their services, and the Commissioners were directed to adjust the matter in dispute to the best interests of the County.

On Tuesday last, the Convention, and other gentlemen, with a few ladies, paid a visit to the County Institution at Brentwood. They were left at Epping by the morning trains up and down, and conveyed about three miles in carriages to the Farm, where the Superintendent and Commissioners received them, exhibited the premises, supplied an excellent dinner, and returned the party to the depot, where a special train was furnished by Supt. Kendrick of the, Concord Railroad, to Concord, in season for the afternoon session of the Legislature. The visitors were generally well satisfied with the arrangements for the County poor, and especially so with the management of Supt. Philbrick; and notwithstanding the great unpopularity of the institution at first, it is fast growing in favor wherever it becomes known, not only as the most economical, but also the best and most humane plan of providing for the destitute. The thanks of the Convention were returned to Supt. Kendrick and the Commissioners, for courtesies on the occasion.

The Convention voted that Towns and cities may send their Town Paupers to the County Farm, on such terms as the Commissioners shall decide. Under this arrangement, there would seem to be little need for towns or cities maintaining pauper institutions of their own, and it will probably be but a short time before most of these will be disposed of, and town taxes thus lessened. The sum raised for support of County paupers was last year $32,000—this year $20,000, a saving of $1,000 per month.

REMEDY FOR LICE IN POULTRY HOUSES.—Mr. D. B. Bruen says: I was troubled with hen lice very much, and listened to most everybody's directions and tried everything. Still no relief came. My hen house had a dry sand bottom. I put mixed ashes with the sand, but no good; I put lime in the nest but no good. At last I thought of the virtues of brimstone. I turned the fowls out, and fumigated charcoal and sulphur. I used four or five pounds, and it made a big smoke. The neighbors thought the building was on fire, but it wasn't, and the result was that the lice were all killed, and I have seen no more of them.

THE LORRAINE VEGETABLE CATHARTIC PILL.
DR. LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILL,
—OR—
LA MEDICINE CURATIVE.

Mild, Certain, Safe, Efficient. It is far the best Cathartic remedy yet discovered, and at once relieves and invigorates all the vital functions, without causing injury to any of them. The most complete success has long attended its use in many localities; and it is now offered to the general public with the conviction that it can never fail to accomplish all that is claimed for it. It produces little or no pain; leaves the organs free from irritation, and never over takes or excites the nervous system. In all diseases of the skin, blood, stomach, liver, kidneys,—of children, and in many difficulties peculiar to women, it brings prompt relief and speedy cure. The best physicians recommend and prescribe it; and no person who once uses this, will voluntarily return to the use of any other cathartic.

MEDICAL MADNESS.

LET US HOPE THAT the insane practice of administering poisonous evacuants in cases of indigestion, biliousness, constipation, and female debility, is almost out of date. When the Tonic-Cathartic produced by Nature herself in the most valuable Sanitary Spring in the world is reproduced by science, in the form of Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient, it is indeed midsummer madness to rack, relax and irritate the diseased or enfeebled system with drastic purgatives. This refreshing and delicious counterpart of a remedy prepared by the creative hand of the Omnipotent Physician, that is in everywhere superseeding the nauseous and sickening compounds heretofore used as laxatives. jy4w

Senator Cragin's Letter of Acceptance.

U. S. SENATE CHAMBER,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.

To the Committee of the Joint Convention of the New Hampshire Senate and House of Representatives.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 15th inst., officially announcing my election as U. S. Senator for the State of New Hampshire, for the term of six years, commencing March 4, 1871. In making this acknowledgement, and in notifying the two houses of the Legislature through you of my acceptance of the great trust thus again confided in me, I improve the occasion to express my deep gratitude to the people of New Hampshire for this their approval of my past labors in the Senate, and to renew my sincere purpose, with such abilities as I possess, and with such energy as I can command, ever to labor for the best interests of the nation, and of my own beloved commonwealth. Please accept assurances of my highest esteem, and believe me to be Faithfully, your servant,

(Signed) A. H. CRAGIN

To Hon. George C. Peavey, Hon. Horton D. Walker, Hon. John Bedel, Committee.

THE SACO CONVENTION.—The Portland Advertiser says that one at least of the York candidates declares his intention to labor with all his might for the defeat of Mr. Lynch. It reports that when Mr. Sanborn of Kittery moved, as instructed by the York caucus, for a recess of an hour, objection was made and he added that if the request was refused his friends had already decided to take a recess anyway. Mr. Dow of Portland rose at this threat and expressed the opinion that this disgraceful squealing came from the pigs who couldn't get up to the trough. Capt. Burbank replied, at a white heat, that the pigs on the other side had both feet in the trough, and Mr. Sanborn got called to order for saying that Mr. Dow was never a Republican except incidentally, when he had ridden his rum hobby into the party.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation or the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

TESTIMONY.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
BOGLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder disease, for which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unmeasurable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgement to him, and as a matter of suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER

is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not tried and known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Incosed please find our rates o advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, and could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost mes much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt that it was doing me good, and another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had madeup my mind it was of no use, trying any more—and all the time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took my vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a sea turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking that one might not be behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever. I was in my life. The stone was securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see me they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time. so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD,

Corner of 5th av. and 76th st., Central Park.

(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and the result is perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning unpleasantness of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance, and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from habit, may be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have tried various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experienced no permanent relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to making a trial of your Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. I was thus the more prepared to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me as being quite a happy combination; and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to delay, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected by using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?
IF SO, SELECT THE BEST, which is the
AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.
It has proved by all West, North and South, to be the best Paint known. It will not peel, crack, nor chalk off, and will last twice as long as the best Lead Paints.
It is cheaper, handsomer and more elastic, than the best of other Paints. It is the most convenient Paint made, being mixed, ready for application; it dries rapidly, and works free from skin perfectly, with a beautiful surface and glossy finish, and for years retains its gloss and beauty. It is sold by the gallon, in cans of 1 to 5 gals. of any color, making a smooth glossy finish, which can be cleaned with hot suds without injury.
One Gallon of Mixed Lead Paint weighs 20 lbs. and costs $2.72, and will only cover 16 square yds, 2 coats: while one gallon of the Chemical Paint only weighs 12 lbs., and costs but $2.20, and will cover 20 square yds., 2 coats,—thus making a saving of 22 cts., per gallon, besides covering 4 yards more than Lead Paint, and will last twice as long and look far better.
The Chemical Paint is sold by the gallon in quantities to suit purchasers, in 40 different shades and pure white, and will be applied by experienced workmen and satisfaction given in every case; or in case of dissatisfaction in one year after put on, the whole cost of Paint will be refunded.
The sale of these unequalled Paints are daily increasing. Call and examine these ready mixed Paints, both in kegs, and applied to Buildings one year ago, before buying elsewhere, and save your money and money, and beautify your dwelling by using the Newslings.

A man named St. John was instantly killed a few days since, at Northfield, Vt., in a singular manner. Arriving at Northfield the unfortunate man attempted to pass from one car to the other just as the connecting pin was drawn for the purpose of switching off some of the cars without stopping the train. The car in front of him moving ahead unexpectedly he was thrown to the ground and in front of the car in which he had been riding. He was killed almost instantly.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, Friday, Mr. Anthony was elected President, until after July 4th, in consequence of the absence of the Vice-President.

The tax bill was taken up, the question being on the amendment to tax the interest on United States bonds five per cent.

Mr. Edmunds of Vermont characterized the proposition as direct repudiation and untenable on constitutional grounds, not to say dishonorable. If the principle was correct, the government might take from the bonds fifty or one hundred per cent., and thus repudiate the whole interest.

Mr. Thurman of Ohio denied that there was any substantial difference between the taxing interest on bonds and the taxing income.

The amendment was rejected—12 to 36. The bill was reported to the Senate. The first vote was on the amendment striking out the income tax.

Mr. Wilson of Massachusetts moved an amendment continuing the tax two years longer at 2 1-2 per cent. Rejected—23 to 28.

Mr. Drake of Missouri moved to make the rate 5 per cent. Lost—13 to 35.

Mr. Drake moved to make an exemption of $1000. Rejected—11 to 33.

The Senate then concurred, 26 to 21, in the amendment striking out the income tax section, the vote being regarded as a finality.

The new section providing that the tax on government salaries should cease after August 1st, 1870, was concurred in.

Mr. Sherman's motion to continue the tax on gross receipts was lost by a tie vote of 25 to 25.

Mr. Edmunds of Vermont gave notice that, in consequence of this vote, he would move to reconsider the vote striking out the income tax.

At the evening session Mr. Edmund's motion prevailed, 26 to 25, and Mr. Wilson's amendment continuing the income tax until the end of the year 1870, at the rate of 2 1-2 per cent., was agreed to 27 to 21.

The Senate then refused—22 to 26—strike out the sections imposing an income tax as amended, thus reversing its former decision. The vote was as follows:—

Yeas—Messrs. Bayard, Casserly, Corbett, Fenton, Gilbert, Hamilton o, Maryland, Harris, Johnson, Kellogg, Lewis, McCreary, McDonald, Osborn Pomeroy, Robertson, Scott, Stewart, Stockton, Sumner, Thurman, Trumball and Vickers—22.

Nays—Messrs. Abbott, Anthony, Chandler, Cragin, Drake, Edmunds, Hamlin, Harlan, Howe, Howell, Morrill of Maine, Morrill of Vermont, Patterson, Pool, Pratt, Ramsey, Rice, Ross, Schurz, Sherman, Spencer, Tipton, Warner, Willey, Williams and Wilson—26.

The House passed the funding bill by a vote of 129 to 41, all the democrats voting no. The bill is a substitute for the Senate bill which created three classes of bonds at 4, 4 1-2 and 5 per cent. interest, while this provides for but one class at 4 per cent. Senator Sherman will probably insist on his measure and ask a committee of conference, which it is thought may agree on one bond at 4 1-2 per cent.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

WOMAN'S TONGUE.—I am enraged. I hate everybody in the world. My heart (it ought to be pretty tough by this time, having been broken and repaired hundreds of times,—but it isn't,) has been lacerated, my sensibilities outraged, and my youthful vanity knocked all to smithereens,—all by a woman. I undertook to pay her a delicate compliment, (told her she was the handsomest woman in the world,) and she told me to "get out, you horrid homely old bachelor!" I wouldn't have cared a snap about it if she had been old and plain; but she isn't—she's young, and as "pretty as a picture,"—a great deal better looking than some pictures I've seen. Consequently, I'm as mad as a hornet.

I at once determined to write a fierce and scathing article which should make women go out of fashion forever—which should virtually annihilate the whole sex. But while hunting for something sufficiently awful to say about them, I stumbled across the following broadside by Rev. John F. W. Ware, in the Baltimore County Union; my heart leaped for joy, and I determined to copy it at once—would have published it as original, if I hadn't been afraid of getting found out.

"If a woman's tongue sets itself against you, you may just as well give it up. You have got to bear it were it seven-fold the agony and the wrong of the martyr. She knows it, and that is part of her reason and her triumph. No fallen fiend so ugly in soul as such a woman, who, guerrilla-like, from her place of safety, in malignant cold blood shoots her victim.

Oh! the woe such women have inwrought into many a life; Oh! the woe that shall be as fires that do not go out, when their conscience shall get waked by-and-by. There is nothing more belittles woman than this license of her tongue against those powerless to meet it; there is no greater meanness than her presumption upon her immunity to attack, slander, insult a man, and there is nothing more desirable or more needed in the whole anticipated result of the woman's rights question, than the putting her upon a platform where she will have to take care what she says, just as a man has to take care what he says.

A woman's malice any day is worse than a man's malice; a woman's word means more than a man's word. The law of libel, personal redress, exposure of malice or of falsehood are open against a man, but you cannot yet use these against a woman, and she gathers up all the spiteful venom of her heart, and with rapid snake-like plunge plants the poison just where she knows it must do its deadly work, while she draws back secure.

Are we always to be under this weak opinion, this despicable tyranny? Is there any reason why any innocence should suffer, any guilt escape? Must life lie in shadow because of a woman's falseness and temper? Must her lie live, when a man's lie would have been hushed into death? If woman has not of herself sense enough to control her tongue, if she have not heart enough to be just, if she persist in using her busy implement against man, let us hasten and welcome the time when her most ardent prayer shall be answered, when with ballot in hand she shall be altogether such as we. It will be our millennium. The day of our thraldom will be over. Her fangs will be powerless."

There! The foregoing extract expresses my opinion of women, exactly. I endorse all Bro. Ware has said, and all he wanted to say but didn't dare to. I wonder what woman had been saying something true about him? Of course it was true, or it wouldn't have made him so savage—the reason I hate all women so, now, is because what that impudent girl said about me was true, —that's what's the matter. Can't something be done to stop women from telling the truth? My blood boils so that the steam comes out of my nostrils, when I reflect on how many men's characters are blackened by the malicious attacks of the venomous sex—that means the women, vide Bro. Ware, —on the many men of pure lives who shed scalding tears over the undeserved clouding of their fair fame by injurious suspicions and rumors, often resting on no more solid foundation than a leer, a word or a mocking laugh of some depraved, heartless scoundrel of a woman. Hasten, oh, hasten the happy day when man's reputation shall be safe from the fangs of woman—even as the virtuous woman's reputation is never tarnished nor her happiness blasted by the false and malicious slanders and innendoes of her lord and master, man. PAKEHA.

☞ The President has removed Collector Moses H. Grinnell of New York and appointed him Naval Officer. Thos. Murphy is appointed Collector and Thomas Hillhouse, Assistant Treasurer of New York. These appointments are regarded as a victory for Senator Conkling over Senator Fenton.

THE PUBLIC DEBT statement, just issued, shows a reduction during June of $20,203,772.04; decrease since March 1st, 1870, $51,968,877. Total debt less amount in the Treasury, $2,386,358,599.

N. H. Legislature.

The bill approving the contract between the Concord and Northern railroads, which passed the House Friday morning, came before the Senate in the afternoon, and a motion to refer it to the judiciary committee being lost, it was made the special order for the evening, at 7 o'clock, before the Senate as a committee of the whole, allowing the counsel for each side an hour to argue the case. Hon. Harry Bingham of Littleton, counsel for the new board of directors, argued against the bill, and was followed by Hon. Austin F. Pike, of Franklin, in favor of it. Senators Peavey, Small and Colby spoke in favor of the postponement, and none against it. It was finally decided to postpone the matter till the next session of the legislature by a vote of 8 to 4.

Those voting in the affirmative were Senators Small, Holbrook, French, Peavey, Gordon, Albee, Colby and Putnam. The four votes against the motion were cast by Senators Blair, Whittemore, Scripture and Taylor.

The savings bank investigation committee's report shows that a large amount of money was drawn from the banks in Manchester and Nashua to use in purchasing Concord Railroad stock, but it likewise conclusively appears that excellent security was furnished in every instance, so that no censure can justly attach to the transaction.

Legislature adjourned sine die Saturday.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—I have been a constant reader of your valuable paper, and have always paid for the same ever since it was published; and shall continue to do so, for I think it is an excellent advertising medium, and its reading columns are interesting, instructive, and amusing. For instance, —in Friday's issue, somebody writes a lamentation about "Our Brethren across the River," and all because John Lynch receives the nomination for representative to Congress, by a very complimentary vote.

He says:—"The mean victory was won by selfishness and force of numbers." Most any one can see he is correct about the numbers, for he received all the votes cast but fifteen.

Now we are glad of his nomination because he has in all cases looked after the interest of the men that voted for him, and his record places him beyond the reach of malice.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

Our correspondent neglects to state that 79 delegates refused to take part in the Convention, when they found that the Cumberland men persisted in forcing Mr. Lynch upon them. That fact speaks volumes and being a fact is not at all complimentary to Mr. Lynch. Mr. Lynch's acceptance under such circumstances would be only additional proof of his greediness. People who ride rough shod over their neighbors are more liable to lose than gain by it in the long run.

The Red Stockings have arrived home.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Living Machine.

Injure the main spring of a watch, and every portion of the works become disordered. The human stomach is to the human system what that elastic piece of metal is to a chronometer. It influences the action of the other organs, and controls to a certain degree, the whole living machine. The comparison may be carried further, for as the weakness of other imperfections of the man spring is indicated on the face of the timepiece, so also is the weakness or disorder of the stomach betrayed by the face of the invalid. The complexion is shallow or faded, the eyes are deficient in lustre and intelligence, and there is a worn, anxious expression in the whole countenance which tell as plainly as written words could do, that the great nourishing organ whose office it is to minister to the wants of the body, and to sustain and renew all its parts, is not performing its duty.

It requires renovating and regulating, and to accomplish this end HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS may be truly said to be the one thing needful. The broken main spring of a watch may be replaced by a new one, but the stomach can only be repaired and strengthened, and this is one of the objects of the famous vegetable restorative which for eighteen years has been waging a successful contest with dyspepsia in all climates. As a specific for indigestion it stands alone; When the resources of the pharmacopœia have been exhausted, without, at best, doing more than mitigating the complaint, a course of these wholesome and palatable, yet powerful, stomachic effects a perfect and permanent cure. In all cases of dyspepsia the liver is more or less disordered, and upon this important gland, as well as upon the stomach and bowels, the Bitters act with singular distinctness, regulating and reinvigorating every secretive and assimilating organ on which bodily and mental health depend.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung diseases in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a tact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Heartburn, when every other medicine had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1868.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or Gray Hair is restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by this use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning, falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor resin, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

☞ Mr. Horace M. Smith, at the Oriental Coffee House on Ladd Street, has had another nice room finished and furnished expressly for the ladies and their escorts, just in season to furnish them with delicious ice creams and strawberries.

☞ Rev. James DeNormandie delivered a very able discourse at Vesper Service, at the Unitarian Church, Sunday afternoon, on the law of Liberty and the danger of its violation. He spoke against the growing looseness of morals as caused by a defective and too convenient system of divorce. He also spoke against legislation for the prevention of the extension of the same privileges to the pagans of Asia already enjoyed by the citizens of other nations who immigrate to this country.

THE TROTTING MATCHES at the Rockingham Park this (Monday) afternoon will afford some fine sport for those who enjoy well contested trials of the speed of fast horses, besides furnishing those who wish to take their wives or sweethearts for a walk or drive over the most beautiful Trotting Park we know of, with a good excuse for so doing—if any excuse is needed for doing so commendable an act.

All the horses entered for the various trots will come to the score; and as they are so evenly matched that it is a toss-up which will win, some close racing may be looked for. The races will be conducted according to the rules and regulations of the National Association for the promotion of the interests of the American Trotting Turf; and no liquor traffic will be allowed on the grounds.

A special train for the accommodation of visitors to the Park, will leave the Concord depot at 2 o'clock, stopping within a half mile of the race grounds, and returning at half-past 6 o'clock, after the sport is over.

THE SUBJECT OF LICENSING BOWLING ALLEYS AND BILLIARD TABLES has been brought up once more before the Board of Aldermen and referred to the Finance Committee, who upon investigation will probably ascertain that there is no bowling alley in the compact part of this city, and no public billiard table which pays expenses. The folly of demanding a license for either is at once apparent. There is no more harm in playing billiards and bowling than in playing marbles; all three require skill. Billiards and bowling would be more popular with the public were they not associated generally with bars where intoxicating liquors may be had.

To require a license for billiard tables would only serve to prohibit their use, while the bars would be in full operation without license. The proprietor of the largest and best billiard hall in Portsmouth undertook to dispose of his four tables at auction lately, because of his inability to pay the expenses of running it, a government license being paid for each table; but he could only dispose of them at a ruinous sacrifice. It is very evident that the city of Portsmouth cannot reap any pecuniary advantage from an attempt to exact licenses from that source.

At the request of many good citizens, Mr. Stavers proposes to open ab owling alley at the Temple. He refused to rent the same place for a liquor saloon, recently, although a large rent was offered,—larger than he has heretofore asked. His reply was that he would not allow any liquor selling on the premises. We honor such conduct, more especially as other people, who make great professions sometimes, do not hesitate to let buildings to keepers of brothels and liquor sellers. Wouldn't it be absurd on the part of our City Fathers to refuse to allow Mr. Stavers to establish a bowling alley without a license on his own premises, knowing that no liquor will be sold there, and at the same time permit him, if he chose, to establish a rum shop there without asking license or attempting to enforce the law for the suppression of liquor selling?

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT;—AN OLD LADY BURNED TO DEATH.—Our citizens were furnished with a horrible sensation, Sunday afternoon, by the announcement that Mrs. Eliza H. Barber, widow of Jethro L. Barber, had been burned to death at her residence on the corner of Cass and Islington Streets. Her grandson Daniel had left her about half an hour before fire was discovered in her room; she was then sitting at a table near and back to a stove, eating strawberries. Shortly before 5 o'clock, Mr. David Marshall, a neighbor, discovered smoke issuing from the house and endeavored to get in at the back door. Failing to do so, on account of the smoke, he went to the front door and met Mrs John H. Piper, who had been in another apartment of the same house, and had just discovered the smoke. Mr. Marshall and others rushed into Mrs. Barber's room, found it on fire and full of smoke, the old lady lying dead upon the floor, her clothes being burned off and her body blackened and burned to a crisp.

Water was brought, and the fire was speedily extinguished. It was then found that the chair on which she had been sitting was scorched and a closet door against which she had fallen was badly scorched and had some of the flesh from her face adhering to it. Her body presented a horrible spectacle. No doubt the fire was communicated to her clothing by the stove.

Mrs. Barber was 78 years of age, was lame, and feeble in health; so much so that she probably had not sufficient strength to raise her voice loud enough to be heard by any one in the house or on the street. Mayor Adams, on hearing of the sad accident, summoned Dr. Hall, but life was extinct long before the news of the old lady's awful death had become generally known.

THE PROGRAMME for the celebration of the Fourth of July in this city will probably attract some attention, although no general turnout will take place. The boys will make things lively and build bonfires at midnight; the bells will ring and the usual salutes will be fired at sunrise, noon and sunset. The Antiques and Horribles will parade at 7 o'clock A. M., starting from Richards Avenue and parading through Middle, Congress, Market, Hanover, High, Deer, Vaughan, Elm, North, Fleet, Court, Pleasant, Water, Gates, Washington, State, Cass and Islington Streets to Congress Street, where it will pass in review before the distinguished officials who may be present.

The award of prizes will be made at the close of the performances.

On account of want of pecuniary encouragement by our citizens, the proposed tub, sack and other races and the potato contest have been abandoned. Our patriotic citizens subscribed just $15 for the celebration of the Fourth of July!

The Portsmouth Cornet Band will play on Haymarket Square at 8 o'clock A. M. and on Market Square in the evening, at 8.

At 2 o'clock P. M. the Granite States will play a match game of base ball with the Lazy Club of Rochester.

Steamer Appledore will make two trips to the Shoals—at 1-4 before 11 A. M. and at 1 1-2 P. M.

The trot at the Piscataqua Grounds will commence at 2.30 P. M.

A RARE CHANCE is offered to settlers on the great "Piper Grant," in Bolivia, in the advertisement headed "El Dorado." Three hundred and twenty acres of land are given to settlers, in a region claimed to be one of the finest in the world. For full particulars address the Boston or New York Agents.

PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.—A meeting of this Society will take place at G. A. R. Hall, to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, July 5th, at which all members are requested to be present—promptly at 8 o'clock. Important business will be presented for the action of the Society.

☞ Over forty persons received the rite of baptism in this city on Sunday.

RICHARDSON'S
LITTLE WASHER!
PRICE $5.00.
The Simplest, Cheapest, and most Successful WASHING MACHINE ever invented. Took the FIRST PREMIUM over all other Washing Machines at the Mechanics' Fair at Springfield, Mass., March, 1868; and was Awarded a Silver Medal!
☞ The qualities that place the LITTLE WASHER beyond competition are; its cheapness; its simplicity, (it cannot get out of order, and can be operated by a child;) its lightness, which renders it easily removed; and the perfect manner in which it does its work, adjusting itself to any sized article, from a handkerchief to a bed-quilt, without alteration, and washing clothes perfectly clean without wearing the garments in the least. You can expend all your labor on the soiled parts, without washing the whole garments at the same time.
More than twenty thousand families in New England have already been supplied with this new and useful invention. Persons desiring such a machine as here described, and yet doubtful about its merits, can have a washing done in their own families, by the Agent. The following testimonials need no comment:
Portsmouth, N. H., June 9, 1870.
MR. J. J. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—The test of "Richardson's Little Washer" that I witnessed this week convinced me that we need look no farther for Washing Machines. It does its work perfectly, and is all you say of it. Yours truly, L. W. BREWSTER.
MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—I have tested the "Little Washer" and think it a perfect success.
MRS. L. E. MARTIN.
MR. HATLINGER,
Dear Sir:—Having tested the "Little Washer", I fully concur with the above testimonials, and think it superior to any other Washing Machine. It will do all you say of it. R. W. WEBSTER.

Morning Chronicle.

OUR LEGISLATIVE DELEGATION.—The Manchester Mirror gives a series of personal sketches of members of the State Government, from which we take the following:—

Among the solid men the city of Portsmouth has frequently sent to the General Court is the Representative from the Third Ward, Hon. Daniel Marcy.

Though the foreign commerce of our only seaport has declined from its former extent, the substantial merchants and shipowners are still a prominent class at "Strawberry Bank." Such men as Ex-Gov. Goodwin, Daniel Marcy, Horton D. Walker, and others we might name, have alike an influence at home and abroad. The business in which they engage tends to develop enlarged ideas and liberal views, and they are always the valuable men of the community which is fortunate enough to contain them.

Capt. Marcy is eminently a self-made man. Born in Portsmouth, he commenced life at the lower round of the ladder, but, by untiring industry, he has acquired a handsome competence, and indirectly given much aid to his fellow-citizens. In early life he went to sea, and, by the usual grades, advanced to the command of some of the best ships that have ever ploughed the deep. He is a man of generous impulses, large heart, and charitable deeds. As a politician, Capt. Marcy has always remained firm in the education of his youth, and persistently adhered to the Democratic faith. He has held the offices of Senator and Representative in the Legislature, and represented his district in Congress. His present election was entirely unsought, he having been nominated and elected without his knowledge, while absent in New Orleans last spring. As a Representative of his native city, he has always labored for her good. Possessing sound ideas of economy, he has always sustained, in municipal affairs, a high character as a sound, practical officer. His remarks upon the State Reform School, in the House, recently, showed that his life had been passed in keen observation of the wants of the State, and his honest expression of his sentiments seemed to win the hearts of all who heard him. His present business is mostly confined to ship-owning, although he owns a fine ship-yard in which he has constructed many celebrated specimens of naval architecture. Capt. Marcy has been a Director in the New Hampshire National Bank at Portsmouth from its first commencement, and his opinion on financial and mercantile affairs is frequently sought by his fellow-citizens. He is a constant attendant of the sessions of the House, and one of its most valuable members.

Another valuable member from Portsmouth, and of opposite political belief, is Hon. Horton D. Walker. He was born about 59 years ago, in the rural town of Chesterfield, in Cheshire County, and, at an early age, was deprived of home by the death of both father and mother. Becoming old enough to work, he went to Salem, Mass., and began to labor at a trade. He remained in this occupation until he rose from apprentice to foreman, and length (some 30 years ago) removed to Portsmouth and engaged in business for himself. He had an interest in some ship-building, but has been mostly engaged in what is called navigation, in which he has made a handsome property.

Few men have been more in public life than Mr. Walker, or transacted public business more faithfully. Aside from the minor offices pertaining to ward and city management, he has officiated many years on the Board of School Committee in his city, been three years Mayor, seven sessions a member of the House, two years in the Governor's Council, and is now named among the candidates for the gubernatorial chair next March. From the establishment of the Reform School, Mr. Walker has been a Trustee in the Portsmouth Savings Bank. Denominationally he is a Baptist, and is an active man in all moral and religious enterprises.

A genial, courteous and exemplary man, at all times, is Hon. Horton D. Walker. A good financier, a superior legislator, and a fair and convincing debater; would we had more such men in all departments.

John H. Slater, from Ward 1, Portsmouth, is a native of England. When quite a young man he went to Portsmouth, and for some time was connected with the steam cotton factory there. He afterwards engaged in the grocery trade.

There is in Portsmouth a protective union store, which has ever been managed with perfect success. Many large corporations which have sunk immense sums of money, had they been engineered with the ability of this concern would have shown different results. The success of this is largely owing to the sagacity and foresight of Mr. Slater. He has been for two years an Alderman in his ward and a moving spirit in his party. This is his first term in the House, and his practical business knowledge makes him, in the committee room and elsewhere, a sound member of the delegation from our only seaport.

Mr. Charles H. Sides, of the rich and central Ward Two of Portsmouth, is a native of that city, and about 40 years of age. From childhood, as was his father before him, he has been engaged in the teaming, livery and hack business. Of late years he has been engaged somewhat in real estate operations, and is a man of enterprise, public spirit and good judgment. He is one of a large family of brothers, who have a good war record.

Mr. Francis W. Ham is a watchmaker, and son of a watchmaker, and a member of a large and highly respectable old family of Portsmouth, many of whom have been engaged in the same business, and most of whom have shown good musical acquirements. Mr. Ham is also interested in floriculture, has much taste and skill in machinery, and has long been a prominent member of the fire department. He is about 42 years of age, and a gentleman of genial qualities and good capacity.

Mr. John H. Locke, of Ward One, Portsmouth, is one of the youngest members of the House, being but 29 years of age. He is a native of Barrington, which town formerly held a very intimate connection with Portsmouth, and has, of late, sent a good many capable, and several prominent men to the city, including Hon. Frank Jones and brothers, Aaron Young Esq., Dr. Frank Fuller, and others. Mr. Locke commenced life as a newspaper carrier, was formerly engaged in the newspaper and periodical business, served during the war as a non-commissioned officer in the 5th N. H. Regt., and is now engaged as a surveyor of lumber in the Navy Yard. He is a capable and worthy young man, and, like Mr. Ham, is also one of the Board of Engineers of his city.

Mr. John H. Flagg, also of Portsmouth (Ward Two), is a native of Dover, and a little rising 40 years of age. He formerly was engaged in trade, afterwards served several years as a railroad engineer, and has for a few years occupied the position of Quarterman Machinist in the Navy Yard.

The other members of the Portsmouth delegation were so fully noticed last year as not to require mention the present season.

LINE OFFICERS AS NAVAL CONSTRUCTORS.—In a report of three line officers to the Secretary of the Navy, on "the condition of our navy-yards," there occurs the following remarkable language: "the army officers built their forts, and the navy officers should build their ships. They must understand better than a citizen who has never sailed or fought a ship, or, perhaps, been at sea in his life, what an efficient man-of-war should be in seagoing and fighting qualities."

These gentlemen of the line seem to be not aware of the fact that the "army officers who built their forts" do not command, and are educated especially for the "Engineer Corps," whose duties are the planning and building of fortifications, bridges, and siege works of an army.

The navy officers should build their ships! Why? Because the "army officers build their forts." Is the naval officer's education of such a character as to fit him for the highly responsible duty of designing and building a ship of war, or to warrant the government in squandering the people's money in his abortive efforts? We venture to assert, without fear of contradiction, that there is not one line officer in the service who, if left to himself, could design or build a ship of war: we will go further, and say that there is not one of these men who would dare undertake the responsible duty of personally directing the launching of a ship after she had been completed in all respects, ready for launching.—Cor. N. Y. Standard.

☞ The Portland Argus says that there would seem to be little doubt but that a most shocking crime was perpetrated in connection with the sail boat disaster in that harbor last Monday, by which three men lost their lives. One of the victims, Mr. Rogers of Boston, was known to have on his person quite a sum of money, a gold watch, valuable pin, &c. He was found floating on the surface soon after the accident, by a boy in a wherry, who attached a rope to the body and towed it to the shore. None of the property was found upon the person. It is said when the boy found him, there were signs of life. The boy further says that while Rogers was sustaining himself in the water a schooner hove to and a boat containing two men put off; it reached the man in the water, and he was partially raised and sustained for some little time, and was then dropped back into the water and the boat returned to the schooner, which sailed away, from which the inference is, that Mr. Rogers was picked up in an exhausted condition, robbed, and thrown back into the water, again.

On Tuesday the captain and crew of the schooner Myra, which had arrived from Belfast, Me., were arrested in Boston, on a charge of robbing the body of Mr. Rogers.

☞ Besides the gentlemen mentioned by the Manchester Mirror who came from Barrington and became prominent citizens of Portsmouth were Hons. Samuel Hale and Isaac Waldron, two very distinguished citizens in days of long ago.

☞ Some people commenced early to celebrate the glorious Fourth. About a score of individuals were on the streets with unsteady pendulums, Sunday afternoon.

☞ Schooner Freedom came off Boone Island, Friday night, and sailed for Gloucester on Saturday.

THE LORRAINE VEGETABLE CATHARTIC PILL.

DR. LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILL,

—OR—

LA MEDICINE CURATIVE.

Mild, Certain, Safe, Efficient. It is far the best Cathartic remedy yet discovered, and at once relieves and invigorates all the vital functions, without causing injury to any of them. The most complete success has long attended its use in many localities; and it is now offered to the general public with the conviction that it can never fail to accomplish all that is claimed for it. It produces little or no griping; leaves the organs free from irritation, and never over taxes or excites the nervous system. In all diseases of the skin blood, stomach, liver, kidneys,—of children, and in many difficulties peculiar to women, gives prompt relief and certain cure. The best physicians recommend and prescribe it; and no person who once uses it will voluntarily return to the use of any other cathartic.

MEDICAL MADNESS.

LET US HOPE THAT the insane practice of administering poisonous evacuants in cases of indigestion, biliousness, constipation, and female debility, is almost out of date. When the Tonic-Cathartic produced by Nature herself in the medicinal Sulphur Spring in the world is reproduced by science, in the form of Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient, it is indeed midsummer madness to rack, relax and irritate the diseased or enfeebled system with drastic purgatives. This refreshing and delicious counterpart of a remedy prepared by the creative hand of the Omnipotent Physician Hilarious, is everywhere superseding the nauseous and sickening compounds heretofore used as laxatives. jy4w

From the Galaxy for June.

A PROBLEM.

BY LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON.

My darling has a merry eye,
And voice like silver bells;
How shall I win her, prithee, say—
By what magic spells?

If I frown she shakes her head,
If I weep she smiles;
Time would fail me to recount
All her willful wiles.

She flouts me so—she stings me so—
Yet will not let me stir—
In vain I try to pass her by,
My little chestnut bur.

When I yield to every whim,
She straight begins to pout,
Teach me how to read my love,
How to find her out!

For flowers she gives me thistle blooms;
Her turtle doves are crows—
I am the groaning weather-vane,
And she the wind that blows.

My little love! My teasing love!
Was woman made for man—
A rose that blossomed from his side?
Believe it—those who can.

I went to sleep—I'm sure of it—
Some luckless summer morn;
A rib was taken from my side,
And of it made a thorn.

But still I seek by some fond art
To link it to my life,
Come, solve my problem, married men;
Teach me to win my wife.

FEEDING HORSES. — The amount of food given to a horse each day, should depend upon two things; the size of the horse; and the kind and amount of work required of him.

A horse worked all day in the usual employments of the farm, changing from one work to another, will not shrink so much, nor require so much food, as a horse on the road travelling at the rate of eight miles per hour for two hours.

For a roadster we should prefer oats, and even for heavy teaming should rather have a mixure of oats and corn meal, than an equivalent in meal alone.

Among farmers and livery stable people, oats are usually considered to contain about one half the nutritive power that corn meal has. Acording to the analysis which we have seen, however there is not so much difference in their nuritive properties. In the items of starch, gum and sugar the oat has three-fourths as much as the corn meal.

No other grain will impart so much spirit to the horse as oats. They seem admirable adapted to his nature, so that he will gain spirit, courage and strength from them when all other feed seems to fail.

As in the case of roots fed to milch cows, it is evident that their value does not lie entirely in the amount of the nutritive properties which they possess and impart, but in assisting in a more perfect digestion of other food taken, or sustaining the body by some other process, which is as yet to us mysterious or unknown.

Horses are quite often over-fed. Six quarts of crushed oats, with about fifteen pounds of hay, cut, moistened and mingled with the oats, will sustain a horse weighing between nine and ten hundred pounds in any ordinary labor, if he is used judiciously.

A horse that is in the harness every day needs an abundance of food and the right kind. Oats make more muscle than corn, and should always form part of the food of a hard-working horse. Corn gives plumpness and imparts warmth. The colder the weather, the more corn; the harder the work, the more oats.—N. E. Farmer.

HEMLOCK HEDGES.—The Gardener's Monthly remarks: "Some think that as the hemlock is a large forest timber tree, it cannot be kept down as a hedge plant; but summer pruning will keep ihe strongest tree in a dwarf condition for a great number of years. The pruning has to be done just after the young growth pushes out, which generally is about the end of May. It is very important the hedge should be cut with sloping sides, so that every part of the surface should have the fall benefit of the light. No hedge with upright sides or a square top will keep thick at the bottom long."

Newburyport has opened a new public free reading room. Nice rooms have been fitted up by the trustees of the public library fund; the Peabody fund pays for attendants, and William C. Todd guarantees $300 a year to be expended on newspapers and periodicals, which shall be absolutely free to all who shall please to use them.

—An Ohio youth, sitting in church, mistook the gentle touch of the plume on the jaunty hat of a young lady for a fly on his neck, and with the energy of exasperation sent plume, hat and chignon flying into a distant pew.

—It is alleged that in some parts of Pennsylvania, mosquitoes are so thick that after you punch your fist into a flock of them it takes about half an hour to fill up the hole.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,
FOR ALL PURPOSES of a LAXATIVE MEDICINE,
Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PILL. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures so soon in their vicinity as to be well known, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever it may exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these PILLS rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a DINNER PILL, take one or two PILLS to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these PILLS makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus. dawjedlecodim

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

BERWICK, ME., July 4.

Every honorable man will acknowledge that there should be honor in political affairs as well as in all other matters—that purity and justice should be more regarded than even successful organization. But such was not the case at the Republican Convention of the First District of Maine, held at Saco June 24th. Cumberland County, under the dictation of the press, the Custom House and the Post Office of Portland, relying on numerical strength, committed an outrage on the rights of York County that will not soon be lost sight of. Many openly say they had rather have an honorable political opponent elected, than to countenance such disgraceful proceedings in the party, and believe that now is a good time to purify the organization, so that two years from now we may elect a man who will dare to advocate wholesome statutes without fear or favor, and who will not spend his time in recreation. If there is not virtue enough in the Republican or any other party to do this, we must look around for protection.

It is time for laboring men, and men who stood by the country in its hour of danger, and indeed all good and true men, to claim a voice and to act in the matter of self-protection. We have Ulysses S. Grant, our good and noble chief magistrate, to re-elect in 1872. Let us rally around him for our standard bearer and take this opportunity to organize, and we have strength to start with.

Nearly ninety York County delegates—in fact, about all that had any respect for the character of the county, took no part in the Convention; and many of them are leading men, political warhorses of the party, and will not go back on their action at Saco. The most radical papers have not given the break so bad as it was; and here I would suggest that it is high time to condemn papers that suppress fair reports of public proceedings, else where is our protection from fraud, knavery and speculation.

I have always personally had great respect for Mr. Lynch, and hope he will decline the nomination, both for his own and the Republican party's sake. But he has around him some unprincipled men, who care no more for his welfare than they do for that of the Republican party—and they would rather see the latter destroyed than themselves prevented from diving deep into the Treasury—who from interested motives will advise him otherwise. And to these demagogues are we indebted for the action of the Convention.

Dear Chronicle, your advice to York County to try to forget who the nominees are, will hardly be accepted; honest self-respect will not allow it; not many men will eat their own words, I assure you.

Voters of York County, we have in Cumberland County friends who have promised to assist us; stand firm, and we shall see the monied aristocracy and Treasury sappers fall; they will learn that the true friends of our County are ever vigilant, and Republican to the core, and don't walk under any disguise. Yours, B. E. N.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

KITTERY, ME., July 5.

Kittery celebrated the 4th in the usual style. At midnight the boys started a "thundering" clatter, with drums beating and fifes playing, and kept it up until daylight. The law forbidding the sale of fire crackers in the State, we find creates a great improvement. I have heard of no accident whatever, in this vicinity.

The 2nd N. E. Society had a picnic in Keen's Grove, near the depot, all day; the Congregational picnicked in Gerrish's Grove at the Point, the Free Will Baptist in Deering's Grove, the 1st Christian and 1st Methodist at York Beach, and the 2nd Christian Society had a levee in their vestry during the afternoon and eve'g. About 50 young folks went over to Freeman's Cape Neddick House, and various private parties went down among the islands. They all report good times.

Mr. Theodore Keene has a chicken of the Rocky mountain breed, that has got three legs. It is bright and lively, and seems likely to live. The hen that laid the egg from which it was hatched, got caught in a barrel, and lost a leg. This is the supposed cause of the curious occurrence. K. M.

* * * To complete the amusements of our national anniversary week so auspiciously begun in this town, the First Universalist Ladies Aid Society will hold a Strawberry Festival at Armory Hall on Thursday evening next, commencing at 8 o'clock. The manifest zeal among the "Aids" promises a pleasant entertainment.

Contrary to the expectations of some of the Kittery people, the Universalists have succeeded in effecting a permanent organization under guardianship of Rev. Geo. W. Bicknell of your city, whose eloquence will call around him hundreds who desire to keep pace with the progress of the religious thoughts of the age—prompted by the pure motive of "doing good, in a good way" and carried forward by a remarkable zeal. Success will crown their efforts. NED.

New Publications Received.

The Technologist, a Monthly Magazine devoted to Engineering, Manufacturing and Building, for July, contains much valuable information upon the above subjects, is handsomely illustrated and should be in the hands of every manufacturer and mechanic. Issued by the Industrial Publication Company, 176 Broadway, New York, at $2 per year.

The Overland Monthly for July has for its contents—My First Visit to Brook Farm, Joe of Lahaina, An Evening and Morning in Carolina, Sail Ho, A Dark Night on Picket, The Donner Party, Through the Lower Coast Countries, Lumbering in Washington Territory, If Only, The Spectre Bull of Salimas, The Farmsley House, Sacramento Etchings, Yosemite on Foot, Dickens in Camp, Mr. Thompson's Prodigy. It's good! John H. Carmany, Publisher, 409 Washington St., San Francisco. $4 per annum.

Punchinello, bearing date July 9, contains heaps of good things, including Orpheus C. Kerr's continuation of The Mystery of Mr. E. Drood.

The American Odd Fellow closes its Ninth Volume with the issue for June. This is the oldest, and conceded to be the best Odd Fellow publication in existence. Published by John W. Orr, No. 96 Nassau Street, New York. $1.25 per volume.

The Water Power of Maine is fully described, illustrated and explained, in a creditable volume of 500 pages, from the State Printers at Augusta, being the second report from the Hydrographic Survey of Maine, of which Walter Wells is Superintendent. As was stated in the New Hampshire Legislature, this is merely an advertisement of the resources of the State; and the mistake was, that our State did not do likewise now, instead of postponing it.

☞ The examination of Charles O. Smith, Scott Brigham and Henry Bennett, the three young men charged with the outrage upon the person of a young girl at Amesbury about ten days since, was held in the Police Court at Newburyport, on Tuesday week. Bertha Bird, the injured party, is a young and delicate looking girl, not yet fourteen years of age, with rather a pretty but innocent looking countenance. The cross examination of this witness was very searching, but in the main her statements were straight-forward and consistent. After hearing a large number of witnesses on both sides the court ordered the parties to be fully committed to the October term of the Superior Court.

AHEM!—The Sawyer base ball club of Dover issue the following challenge in the Dover Gazette.

The Sawyer Base Ball Club of Dover, N. H., do hereby challenge any club within the State of New Hampshire to play them a game for the championship of the State, said game to be played according to the rules of the Mass. B. B. Association, within six weeks from date. Address

SAWYER BASE BALL CLUB,
Lock Box 35, Dover, N. H.

Dover, June30, 1870.

Rather loud talk, that! But the Gazette goes on editorially thuswise;

The Sawyer Base Ball Club won a splendid victory on Saturday in playing a match game with the Atlantics of Rochester. The work was done in the eye of a blazing sun, and the score stood with five innings—Sawyer 19, Atlantics 16. The Sawyer boys are spoiling for another hack at the Portsmouth Club, and as the games now stand one and one are confident they can win at the next trial, and we will go our "little pile" that they will do it. If pluck and game are of any account, they will come winners.

Not exactly true about the "one and one," Bro. Mellows! The Granite States of Portsmouth went to Dover to play with the Sawyers, were obliged to hunt them up after they got there and finally induced them to commence a game which was interrupted by rain and terminated before half a game was played. The score stood, on four inninge, 21 for the Sawyers to 12 for the Granite States. The National Association of base ball players have it as a rule that nine innings shall be a full game, and that there can be no game until five innings are played. Therefore, the Sawyers have never won a game with the Granite States. They undertook to, in this city, after the above mentioned attempt, and were "swarmed" by the Granite States, on May 30th, the score of the game (9 innings) being—Granite States 40, Sawyers 11. The Granite States treated their visitors handsomely while here, and sent them home well pleased with their courteous reception.

If the Sawyers desire a little preliminary practice for the championship, we opine that the Lazy club of Rochester can furnish them with all they desire; and the Granite States will attend to their case after finishing the matches they now have on hand.

IT IS NO WONDER that invalids lose faith in all specifics, when so many worthless medicines are advertised for the cure of various diseases, but which, when tried, are "found wanting." We have yet to learn, however, of the first failure of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, to cure coughs, colds, and pulmonary disease.

THE AMERICAN HOUSE, BOSTON, has large and airy family rooms, quiet and retired, although in the centre of business and places of amusement. This house has no superior in New England.

PANIC-STRUCK BEAUTY.—It is a terrible shock to a charming woman—indeed, to any woman, to find that her teeth are "beginning to go." Never will any human being who uses the fragrant SOZODONT, make THAT discovery.

"SPALDING'S GLUE," no well-regulated family will be without it.

$1,000 REWARD is offered by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all diseases for which it is recommended. For Bronchitis, severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty by its wonderful cures, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. As a cure for Pimples on the face, Eruptions, Blotches, Scrofulous diseases, and "Liver Complaint" or Biliousness, it has never been equaled. Sold by druggists. The Genuine has Dr. Pierce's private Government Revenue Stamp, on the outside wrapper.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Living Machine.

Injure the main spring of a watch, and every portion of the works become disordered. The human stomach is to the human system what that elastic piece of metal is to a chronometer. It influences the action of the other organs, and controls to a certain degree, the whole living machine. The comparison may be carried further, for as the weakness of other imperfections of the main spring is indicated on the face of the timepiece, so also is the weakness or other disorder of the stomach betrayed by the face of the invalid. The complexion is shallow or sallow, the eyes are deficient in lustre and intelligence, and there is a worn, anxious expression in the whole countenance which tell as plainly as written words could do, that the great nourishing organ whose office it is to minister to the wants of the body, and to sustain and renew all its parts, is not performing its duty.

It requires renovating and regulating, and to accomplish this and REMOVE THE STOMACH BITTERS may be truly said to be the one thing needful. The broken main spring of a watch may be replaced by a new one, but the stomach can only be repaired and strengthened, and this is one of the objects of the famous vegetable restorative which for eighteen years has been waging a successful contest with dyspepsia in all climates. As a specific for indigestion it stands alone. When the resources of the pharmacopœia have been exhausted, without, at best, doing more than mitigating the complaint, a course of these wholesome and palatable bitters restores a stomach to effects a perfect and permanent cure. In all cases of dyspepsia the liver is more or less disordered, and upon this important gland, as well as upon the stomach and bowels, the Bitters act with singular distinctness, regulating and reinvigorating every secretive and assimilating organ on which bodily and mental health depend.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middleburg, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.

Their great value consists in this: They may be used so long as any disease affects any of the body; and by thus persevering in their use the disease will be cured, and the body restored to health, free from every taint and impurity. Their reputation proves their merit.

Thomas Smith, Coroner and Justice of the Peace, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, says BRANDRETH'S PILLS cured him of Dyspepsia and Biliousness, when other medicines had failed to relieve him. Certificate dated April 2, 1866.

Dr. Turner, of Savannah, Ga., says he has, for nearly forty years, recommended BRANDRETH'S PILLS as a specific in Yellow Fever; that he never knew a patient to die who took them for this malady, being otherwise sound. Their prompt use takes out of the body those matters which feed the fatality of the disease. As a general family medicine he considers them far in advance of all others, and here he speaks from personal experience of their qualities. mh12

"Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cts."

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN DIE ANNUALLY OF CROUP. Now, Mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of DR. LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Reed Organ Companion—Oliver Ditson & Co.
Portsmouth Savings Bank—J. F. Shores, Jr.
Durham Bull—J. F. Adams.
Notice—J. Disco Jenness.

THE FOURTH OF JULY was as pleasant and comfortable a day as we have had for that occasion for many years. The boys refrained from commencing their fun until midnight, but some were so anxious to be on hand at 12 o'clock that they reclined on doorsteps and snored away until the time arrived to let off their surplus of patriotic enthusiasm. Then they started an uproar that disturbed the sleep of several thousand people, and kept it up long after daylight did appear.

Some graceless chaps, who acted as if liberty meant license, disgraced themselves by tearing down stands, barbers' poles, fences and signs. The contributions to the bon-fires about town were numerous and plentiful, and the delighted youngsters cracked away with their pistols, guns, cannon, crackers and other nuisances until everybody ears ached and everybody accustomed to, and many who had forgotten how, prayed for blessings on their bodies, boots and breeches.

At sunrise, the bells chimed in and were rung at noon and sunset—a half hour each time. The appearance of the Antiques and Horribles at 7 o'clock was a disappointment to thousands of lookers on, as to numbers and make up. But the Marshal of the affair thinks the citizens got their $15 worth, and so think we.

The morning and evening concerts on Haymarket Square, by the Cornet Band, were very enjoyable—so thought the thousands who promenaded in that vicinity.

The steamer Appledore made two trips to the Shoals, carrying out large parties both times. Sail boats were in demand, hundreds availing themselves of the fine opportunity for sailing in the lower harbor.

The base ball match and the trot at the Fair Grounds were the principal attractions of the afternoon. In the evening, rockets and other fireworks served to amuse the crowds who gathered about private residences where they were being "let off."

A boy named Thomas Moulton succeeded in getting a charge of powder blown into his abdomen and another boy named Brooks was run over by a carriage, but was not seriously injured. These are all the accidents we hear of during the day.

There was a general regret that there was no general celebration of the day, more especially as there were many strangers in town. We hope that before many years Portsmouth will greet once more its Sons from abroad.

TROTTING.—At the Piscataqua Park, on the afternoon of the Fourth, the three trots by horses owned in the Association, made fair sport for a respectable attendance. The weather was lovely, and the scene presented was a beautiful one, many ladies and families in carriages being present.

For the first race, open to all horses, the three entries appeared, H. R. Stoddard's c. m. Fanny, F. Jones's s. m. Lady Emma, and W. Locke's b. m. Rosa Bonheur. This race was for $50 and $25,—and all were mile heats, two in three. Emma won in three straight heats, Bonheur second, Fanny distanced in third heat—time not declared.

For the $100 purse, to horses that never beat 3 minutes, four of the five horses entered came to the score; these were J. H. Ferguson's br. g. Greenland Boy, C. C. Whittemore's blk. m. Fanny, True W. Jones' r. g. Honest Quaker, and F. Jones' g. m. Lawrence Maid. Blackbird was withdrawn. Lawrence Maid won in three heats, time 3:12, 3:10, 3:10—Greenland Boy second, Fanny drawn on second heat, and Quaker distanced on the third.

In the 2:45 race, for purse of $200, H. R. Stoddard's s. m. Topsey, F. Jones' br. mare Mountain Maid, and G. H. Shannon's g. g. Wild Eddy made a very pretty race, Mountain Maid winning in 2:53, 2:54, 2:54, Eddy second, Topsey third.

The loose footing on the track forbid fast time, but every heat was well contested, and all was plainly on the square. The races were trotted under the new rules, which forbid drivers shouting at their horses, and all was quiet and peaceful. The judges were John Wiggin of Dover, W. H. Laws and Frank W. Miller of this city.

ALMOST A FIRE.—The roof of Mr. Moses H. Goodrich's Currier shop on Christian Shore caught fire, probably from a spark, about 1-2 past 12 o'clock, Tuesday, and but for prompt assistance by the neighbors, would have been destroyed.

THE BASE BALL MATCH at the Plains on the Fourth of July was attended by about a thousand spectators, the contestants being the Lazy Club, made up from the Lafayette club of Rochester, and the Granite States of this city. The Portsmouth nine won the toss, sent the Rochester boys to the bat and allowed them six runs for the first inning, following it up with seven for themselves. The Granite States held the lead throughout the game, winning by 12 runs at the end of the 9th inning, in which both sides made the same score as in the first.

The Rochester boys were white-washed four times and the Portsmouth nine once. Kimball of the Granite States made a fine play near 2d base in the 3d inning, a la George Wright of the Red Stockings, by capturing a fly muffed by Donnell. Ela of the Rochester nine, who by the way is a son of Congressman Ela, caught a difficult foul ball on the first bound and held it, although he fell over among the crowd of small boys who always manage to get in the way at base ball matches. Ham distinguished himself in the field by some splendid fly catches, and Hackett played finely at first base. The umpire was evidently impartial in his decisions during the game, but could not see that Ela held the ball and decided it "not out." He made things even, afterwards, however, by a close decision at first base in favor of a Rochester player. He was a little too lenient and should have shortened the game by calling balls and strikes.

We append the score.

UMBRELLA WANTED.—The subscriber wishes to procure an umbrella of such a fearful and wonderful appearance that not even the most inveterate umbrella borrower will ever be tempted to steal it, while at the same time it must be good enough to keep the rain off a new hat the umbrella loser is intending shortly to purchase, if he can find a hatter of sufficiently confiding disposition. Any person acquainted with an umbrella that will fulfil the above conditions, will confer a favor by making it known. Price no object.

In the meantime, until the new umbrella is discovered, if the careless soul who inadvertantly walked off with the subscriber's good one, last week, has got any kind of an old concern to lend him for a little while, the generous lender will secure the gratitude and good wishes of the man he accommodates. PARETHA.

ADMIRAL FARRAGUT arrived at this Naval Station on Monday, July 4th, in the U. S. Steamer Tallapoosa, and was received with the usual honors. The old hero saw his 69th birthday on the 5th, (Tuesday,) and has been in the navy 60 years, having entered the service when only 9 years old. He is the guest of Commodore Pennock, who we are informed is his brother-in-law. We regret to learn that the Admiral's health is impaired, and that since his arrival he has been confined to the house. He has never fully recovered from his severe illness at Chicago, some months since; but we earnestly hope that the brave old seaman will speedily regain his health, and live long to enjoy the high rank and honors which have been so gallantly won and are so richly deserved.
